Mrs. Johnson contacted the Indiana woman and sure enough, she knew of a John Leffew who had been placed in an orphanage at an early age. In fact, she had married one of his three brothers — now all deceased.

Mrs. Johnson immediately wrote to the retired chief, who was soon in contact with his sister-in-law.

SMALL WONDER that tears filled the eyes of Mrs. Johnson Friday when she received a letter from John Leffew, expressing his sincere thanks and saying he was planning a visit to Valparaiso.

For the Clinton resident, "This was much more thrilling than finding a batch of rare tokens."

VOICE of THE HERALD

We Can Be Proud

School officials and the School Board should be commended on the way they handled an unfortunate incident on last week's senior class trip to Washington, D. C.

What happened has been blown out of proportion. Some members had a sip or two of beer, and were sent home. There was no intoxication — or even near it — and no carousing.

We can't condone what happened, but neither do we believe the young folks should be barred from participating in commencement exercises.

Three to five-day suspension from classes and cancellation of participation in any extra curricular activity for the balance of the year seems sufficient — and fair.

We can be proud of the Class of 1967, and think you will agree. Others, as the writer of the following letter, also agree.

Mr. James McDowell
Superintendent of Schools
Tecumseh, Michigan

Dear Mr. McDowell:

While having dinner in a Washington restaurant last night, a large crowd of young people poured into the place from a couple of tour busses.

In contrast to a great many groups who visit the Capital, this was one of the best-behaved crowds of young people my wife and I have ever encountered. No boisterous shouting. No dirty slacks. No beatniks with long hair.

We were so struck by their exceptional behavior that I took time to ask where they came from.

Frankly, they were akin to the type of boys and girls I went to school with long ago in the little town of Newberg, Oregon.

At any rate, I wanted to drop you a letter complimenting you and your school board for turning out such an appealing product.

Just so you will not assume I am an emotional character prone to turning to with a pen on any occasion, I will briefly identify myself. I am a retired Naval captain living in Alexandria, Virginia, and representing some Oregon business organizations here in Washington.

Anyway, my compliments to you and the City of Tecumseh for turning out such a quality product against some of the trend of the times.

Sincerely,
Harold B. Say
835 Woodward Bldg.
Washington, D.C.

Cards Boost Fund

Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary's Heart Fund will be increased by approximately $1,200 soon.

Mrs. Al Merz, who has been chairman of the 1966-67 Bridge and Euchre Tournament sponsored by the organization, estimates profits from this year's play at that figure.

The tournament is winding up this month. Final elimination games were played during April or will be finished by mid-May. Playoffs begin some time late in May.

Hostesses with scores not yet turned in should submit them to Mrs. Merz.

Thirteen groups of 16 players entered this year's competition.

First and second place teams in each of the eight ladies' bridge groups, the two euchre groups and the three couples' bridge groups will receive cash awards.

After playoff games have been completed this summer, grand prizes will go to the top winners in each of the three categories. These will be engraved mementos, the exact nature of which is to be a surprise.

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

I would like to congratulate the parents of the 225 teenagers who attended the Tecumseh Teen Club last Friday night. They and the community have something to be proud of in their young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Work, my husband and I chaperoned and were so pleased with their responsibility and organization that we couldn't believe there were so many until counting the admissions. The only time I've ever seen that many teenagers at once has been in newspaper photos where unruliness in action and appearance is predominate.

The teenagers Friday night were all very courteous and well-groomed. Hair clean and neat, skirts at the knee or slightly above. I know it will please others as it did me to hear that the mode of dress was decided by the representatives of the students for the Teen Club and the High School.

They all deserve more than just a pat on the back from the adults of the community. Only way of helping is to be a willing and responsible chaperon. Little to ask when you think only two couples can make it possible for so many to have such good clean fun. Loud it is, but it's happy noise.

Another problem they have which will be more difficult to solve is the heat. All that activity generates a lot. The quarters are cozy in the winter, but on warm nights its like a hay loft.

Meeting on the first floor has been allowed in the summer, but all the doors which cannot be locked due to fire regulations, makes it a prime spot for cruising youngsters, mostly out-of-towners, looking for action.

More chaperons would help, but in the summers they are even harder to find. Or air conditioning the Teen Club center.

I'm grateful to Mrs. Robert Moore and her family who, through their willingness to accept the responsibility as adult advisor, has helped keep this fine organization going.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Carlton Cook.

TO THE EDITORS:

I have just come across an old photograph which I feel you may have some interest in viewing with the idea of possibly publishing it.

It is a fairly well-preserved picture of what I believe may have been Tecumseh's first band, taken, I think in 1903. Since I was the youngest member by several years there may not be many of the others still around.

Of the 17 men in the group the only names I can remember are Lester Coller, Sheldon Southwait (or is it "Southworth"?), — Dickinson, — Frost, — Ebersole, Keyser and a fellow named Bert, who as I recall drove a bakery wagon.

The organizer and leader was an Italian fellow who was connected with a recently opened macaroni factory. I was 13 years old at the time the picture was taken, which established the date the picture was snapped.

If you have any interest I'll be glad to drop it off when I go to Macon to visit the graves of my parents in the near future.

Very truly yours,
Clarence F. Avery
Rt. 1,
Richland

TO THE EDITORS:

When this renewal came, it always makes me realize how we would miss the Tecumseh paper if we didn't get it every week. Some of the people I don't regularly correspond with, are back in my memory each week.

I really thought the personal items of the tornado scare were especially interesting this past week. Of the Gillis' (old friends) who were chaperoning at the dance, etc. — and I know how efficient those nurses are at the Herrick Memorial Hospital.

Our mother is at the Herrick Nursing Home and wrote how well they were cared for.

I might add this little item about our family. Our Richard passed his State Board exams for Pharmacy and is now working in the McCullough Drug Store in Lake Geneva, Wis.

He is married and just recently bought a home there. If any of the Tecumsehites come through that "vacation - type" town, stop in and say "Hi, Rick."

Ross will graduate next month from the University of Wisconsin. They have been over to Michigan looking for teaching jobs.

His wife teaches English and he will be able to teach General Sciences or World History.

It's funny for them to head for Michigan for a job.

I said, "You can take the boy out of Michigan, but not Michigan out of the boy."

Keep up the good work on your weekly.

Mrs. Charles Stephenson

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Vale Valevenia is a dreamer.

But unlike many, he does something about his hopes — like starting his own machine shop.

During the day, Vale is plant superintendent for H. W. Tuttle Co., having been with the firm a dozen years.

Evenings and weekends, he assumes the role of president of Tec Machine & Tool Co., 411 Russell Rd.

But it's no desk job. Vale goes right onto the machines — and there are nine, from lathe and three-spindle drill press to surface grinder and vertical milling machine.

Vale says the operation is the complete machine shop, with facilities to do everything and do it right."

The firm's first job is to rebuild a unique machine owned by the Tuttle Co. — an automatic clip insulator — which was designed and built from scratch by Vale 10 years ago.

It has served the firm well, producing the work of seven people.

VALE'S background is solid. He spent nine years as a navy machinest, serving during World War II and the Korean conflict. He took a discharge from the service in 1953 when he got married.

A graduate of Toledo Macomber Vocational High School, he well remembers his final school assignment — build a complete drill press.

Getting $20,000 worth of rebuilt machines was a dive off the high board and Vale thanks the confidence of Sam Beal of Adrian, who allowed the purchase to be backed up by the credit rating of his Industrial Mill Supply Co.

Vale explains that his firm would love to have business places come with their production problems. Tec Machine & Tool will attack the situation, maybe even develop automatic machines to lick it.

Small production jobs and repair work is also on the planned agenda.

Right now there is one full-time employee, Lyn Beard, Jr. of Tecumseh. Vale hopes eventually to have four men working days and three at night. He has room for four benches.

Added to that is the fact when Mr. Mackey put up the shop, he installed a "knock-out" wall at the back, the easier to make a fast addition should one be needed.

VALE VALEVENIA RE-BUILDS TUTTLE MACHINE HE DESIGNED.

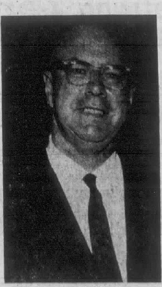
2 Getting Awards for Their Kind Acts

"Be Kind to Animals Week" (May 7-14) has prompted the Petwatcher's Club to make two awards for outstanding kindness to animals during the past year in this area.



St. Joseph Mayor W. H. (Duke) Ehrenberg will visit Tecumseh Thursday, May 25, Mayor Exchange Day during Michigan Week, May 21-27. Following the Michigan Week parade at 6 p.m. Mayor Ehrenberg will be honored at a banquet at St. Elizabeth auditorium at 7 p.m. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Thomas Morgan. Week's activities include Spiritual Foundations Sunday, Tecumseh Mayor Harold Easton and party going to St. Joseph on Monday, Education Day Tuesday, Heritage Day Wednesday, Hospitality Day Friday and Pet Parade Saturday.

One award goes to 16-year-old Sandy Poley, 408 S. Pearl St., for taking care of Lady, a German Shorthair and her litter of 13 pups until they were old enough to be adopted and finding homes for them.

For several months Lady had been a stray foraging for food and shelter. No one was able to make friends with her.

When the pups arrived Sandy took them to a shelter at her home and fed mother and pups for several weeks.

The runt of the litter needed special attention and, following the advice of Dr. Carlos Knisely, Sandy pulled him through a critical period.

THE SECOND award goes to the Joseph Schafer family at 10700 Tecumseh-Macon Rd.

A stray German Shepherd dog came to their house several weeks ago, made a bed underneath the grainery and gave birth to eight pups.

The Schafers, although having two dogs of their own, were loath to have mother and pups picked up by the dog warden and disposed of, so they called the Petwatcher's who have furnished food.

The Schafers and their six children have given tender loving care for the past six weeks and the pups are now ready for adoption.

Clinic Stops Rabies Threat for 126 Dogs

Rabies is no longer a threat to 126 area dogs.

New city licenses are jingling on the collars of 121 of the same animals.

The turnout at the Rabies Clinic May 4 was termed a "huge success" by Mrs. Albert H. Caesar Jr., president of the sponsors, Pet Watchers of Tecumseh.

Dr. Carlos Knisely, local veterinarian, donated his services, inoculating all the dogs, with vaccine sold at cost.

Kindergarten Roundup To Be Tuesday, May 16

The annual kindergarten roundup for parents of all children who will be five years old on or before Dec. 1 will be in Tecumseh Acres Elementary School Tuesday, May 16 at 7:30 p.m.

Both mothers and fathers of the prospective kindergartners can attend. Information will be available which can help materially in giving children a good start in formal education, reports Superintendent James McDowell.

Purpose of roundup is to acquaint parents with class work and enrollment.

Parents are requested not to bring their child but to bring his or her birth certificate.

Manuals will be distributed and there will be refreshments and open house in the kindergarten room.

DeVannas Move to Mesa, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph De Vanna and daughter moved Saturday to Mesa, Ariz., to make their home. Mr. De Vanna has been employed with the Tecumseh Public Schools. Their new address will be 435 N. Cherry St., Mesa, Ariz.

Merchant Ends 42-Year Career

Marv Watkins is retiring June 1.

After 42 years on business row at the corner of E. Chicago and Ottawa, he is clearing the stock in Marv's Food Market and closing shop.

He came to Tecumseh in 1925, when the town population totaled 2,700, to manage the grocery store for the C. F. Smith Co., "an old-time farmers' store."

When the company sold out in 1953 he became an independent grocer.

"Tecumseh was a farming community," he said. "The big day was Saturday, when people from the area came in to shop. The downtown was packed that night."

"Of course, the Wednesday night vaudeville shows at the four corners also filled the town."

'THERE HAVE been a lot of changes," he said. Including the demise of passenger trains.

He now sells sweets to grandchildren of children who used to frequent his candy counter.

Marv, who will be 70 in September, said he has no definite plans, although his wife, Goldie, who has operated the Watkins Shop for 30 years, wants him to join in that business.

Plans for future use of his building are incomplete.

HE'S BEEN active in the community, serving as president of the village council in 1948-49. He is a past commander of the American Legion Post and a member of the Masonic Lodge.

He and Goldie live at 112 S. Oneida. They have one son, Dr. Richard Watkins, a psychiatrist at Mercywood Hospital, who lives with his wife and six children in Ann Arbor.

"I'm going to take it easy," he said.

It's Tecumseh to Tecumseh

Initial plans were originated last Wednesday night for Tecumseh's participation in the July 1 centennial celebration for its counterpart in Canada — Tecumseh, Ontario.

Six city officials met with their summer hosts to map various phases of the event.

The THS band will be asked to participate, as well as other local marching groups, Boy Scouts, pony and horse riding clubs, individuals, and other usual parade participants.

A welcome will be offered to all here to attend the festivities, which will also include dedication of the Canadian community's new swimming pool — and a chance for a swim — fireworks, and a baseball game.

Local folks were told that everything possible would be done to expedite them through the city of Windsor, getting through customs and providing picnic facilities in the Ontario city.

Mayor Harold Easton told them that his city would start to line up parade participants and urge local residents to attend.

Other officials attending the meeting included City Manager Cal Zorn, Police Chief Murell Clark, Ray Puffer, George McCombs and Donald Sunderland.

Hoof Beats Horse Show Is Sunday

By JUANITA DeWIT

Lenawee Hoof-Beats will stage their fifth annual All-Western Show Sunday.

Being held in the Burgett Arena on Sutton Rd., two miles east of M-52, the show will begin at 9 a.m. with a lunch break at noon.

Roy Estes will be the judge and Daryl Hidreth is the announcer.

High point trophies, one for age 14 and under class, women and men, will be awarded.

Five prize ribbons will be presented to each class and event.

Entry fee for adults and open classes is $2. and $1 for the 14 and under classes.

Another is the scoop shovel, in which the rider runs to the far end of the arena and ties a scoop shovel with rope and plenty of slack.

On it is a horseman who has to be pulled back to the starting line by the rider.

Contestants are expected from Michigan, Ohio and Indiana. A refreshment stand will be in operation throughout the show.

A pony, saddle or $50 will be given as raffle prize.

Conference on Dairy Foods

Editor's Note: Karen Rathke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rathke, 1208 Murray Dr., is a sophomore at Tecumseh High School and has been a member of the Tecumseh Top Notchers for five years, taking Food and Clothing projects. She is planning to study for a home economics career. She tells of her trip to the 4-H Foods Conference.

By KAREN RATHKE

I was selected to represent Lenawee County and was among 80 4-H girls attending the Fourth Annual Dairy Foods Conference at Michigan State University's Kellogg Center April 23 to 25.

I enjoy telling others about my wonderful educational experience.

Going up on Sunday, I accompanied Linda Onweller of Morenci and the Lenawee County representative and chaperone, Mrs. Leon Brugger of Palmyra.

We registered and were given folders and pamphlets about dairy products.

KELLOGG CENTER for Continuing Education is one of the largest and finest equipped conference centers in the nation.

The Center is headquarters for nearly 60,000 adults attending conferences and meetings. The building also serves as the nation's largest laboratory for hotel and restaurant management training and guest house for the University.

We heard lectures by professors and radio broadcasters.

Main purposes of the conference were to teach nutritious values of dairy food products, the importance of the dairy industry in Michigan, create an awareness of the many career opportunities offered and to send the delegates to their home counties to tell others about dairy foods.

Charles Lassiter, chairman of Dairy Department at MSU, gave a resume of the dairy industry and its importance to Michigan as an $100-million industry.

Mr. Lassiter stated that dairy profits were lowest in 1966 and consumers have benefited.

"There is room for future expansion in the dairy industry and new dairy products," he said. "Consumers should be encouraged to try new products on the market."

A TOUR was conducted through the new $4½ million Food-Science building on campus, where food experiments are done. The dairy plant where all dairy products are produced for the cafeterias on campus was also visited.

Speaking on "Careers" Lee Murray, radio broadcaster, urged students to "stay with it — study and learn to become an eager, outgoing person."

Mary Sue Brecker spoke on "You Can Be Better Than You Are."

I would never have had this opportunity were it not for the 4-H.

I cannot put into words or begin to express what I learned in those short three days on the Michigan State campus.

Airline Frauds Double

Air line ticket frauds have nearly doubled since the first of the year.

"Illegal purchase and sale of the tickets has become a major criminal activity," Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien said.

In one instance, tickets are ordered, billed either to a fictitious name or another person, then resold for up to 60% of their value.

The Postmaster General offered these tips for combatting the fraud:

► Report all offers to sell tickets at discount — air line tickets just aren't sold at discount, except to special groups or authorized agents.

► Immediately report the loss or theft of a credit card — a major source of the fraudulently purchased tickets.

► Notify authorities if you receive a billing for a flight you didn't take — the criminals may be using your name to obtain tickets.

Purebred

Purebred houseflies are raised by the thousands in the Michigan Department of Agriculture laboratory. The flies are highly sensitive to the presence of chemicals on food crops since their ancestors have never been exposed to agricultural chemicals. Thus they provide an excellent test for the presence of chemical residues.

Tecumseh Council went on record Monday night as opposed to a new city-county building, now being considered by Lenawee County supervisors.

Tribute to Mothers in-law.

"She's such a sweet person. I think of her as my own mother," said Mrs. George Heeman of her husband's mother in Deerfield as we spoke on the phone Wednesday morning.

Completely unsolicited, the remark brought a flood of sunshine to the mind just in time to include it in our thinking of mothers on their day, May 14.

Our call to Mrs. Heeman had to do with her son, George, who will observe his birthday anniversary May 17 in Vietnam. Flash. Light bulb appeared in brain. How about a card shower for George?

'Thy Kingdom Come — But Not Now'

"Thy Kingdom Come — But Not Now," was the theme of a skit presented during the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Tecumseh Methodist Church annual meeting.

Emphasis was placed on the possession of worldly goods as against the unfailing gifts from God.

Those participating included Mrs. Norman Jolliff, Mrs. Robert Bonner, Mrs. Carlton Cushing, Mrs. William Steele, Jr., Mrs. Carl Meyer, who also played the musical interludes and Mrs. William Brandstadt.

The latter led the devotional portion with an original meditation based on "Talking In Circles."

Mrs. Carroll Sprague gave an extensive report of the Society's programs, projects, membership and financial standing for the entire year.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Clifford Deaner and Mrs. Glenn Work. Greeters were Mrs. Dale Perry and Mrs. Wilfred Waldron.

Little Theatre To Present 3 One-Act Plays

THS Little Theatre is again the scene of hurried activity as Mark Renfro's speech class begins rehearsals on three one-act plays to be presented to the public May 19 and 22.

William Saroyan's fantasy, "Coming Through The Rye," has student director, Bob Murray, who also plays the part of Steve, a cynical young man waiting to make his appearance in the world. Meryl Eaton portrays Mr. Carroll, a wise gent of 70, who keeps the narrative of the entire play moving.

"The Case of the Crushed Petunias," by Tennessee Williams, is directed by Barbara Clark, who plays the lead, Dorothy Simple. Opposite her is Jeff Barritt, who portrays a young man with a vastly different outlook on life than that of Miss Simple.

The third play, by Gore Vidal, "Visit To A Small Planet," has appeared on TV several times and was also made into a movie. Student director is Sue Smith. Jerry Gainey plays the lead of Kreton, a visitor from another planet. Kreton's boyish ambition of controlling the world highlight the satirical farce.

Curtain time for the plays will be 7:30 p.m. Tickets are available at Flanders Music Store, adults 75c and students 50c.

Study Compares Local, Oriental Health Contrast

Ivan J. Duff, Willard J. Hendrickson and William Martel, all University of Michigan doctors, have been awarded Commonwealth Fund fellowships for extended study of adolescent psychiatry, arthritis and gout.

Dr. Duff was awarded $2,634 to travel to Japan to continue studies of arthritis among survivors of the Hiroshima and Nagasaki atomic bombings.

Data already collected there, when compared with findings in the U-M's Tecumseh Project indicate that the bomb radiation has no effect on the prevalence of arthritis.

He plans to compare uric acid levels among the Asians and Polynesians with those of Tecumseh residents to see if there are ethnic variations.

Norma Luce Marries Bruce Norton

Norma Faye Luce and Bruce Russell Norton were married Saturday afternoon by Dr. Howard C. Emrick, chaplain, in the Adrian College Chapel.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Fay E. Luce of Tipton and Mrs. Keith R. Hill of Pontiac and the late Roy E. Norton.

Dr. Robert Roubos accompanied the soloist on the organ.

Pyramid arrangements of white gladioli and yellow carnations flanked the altar.

On the arm of her father, the bride entered the Chapel in a floor length cage style gown of illusion and lace with chapel train.

Her veil was secured to a crown of seed pearls and lily of the valley and she carried a cascade arrangement of Snow Song Supreme roses and ivy accented with lilies of the valley.

Judy McMichael was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Meyers and Mrs. David Smith, sorority sisters of the bride.

The attendants were gowned alike in floor length gowns of maize with clusters of white chrysanthemums, roses and daisies in their hair to hold their matching face veils in place.

They carried topiary ball arrangements of white pompons chrysanthemums, Goldilock roses and ivy.

Laurie Rudd and Jeffrey Bird of Adrian, niece and nephew of the bride, were flower girl and ring bearer.

The bride was graduated from Tecumseh High School in 1962 and Adrian College in 1966. She is affiliated with Alpha Phi Sorority.

Her husband is a 1961 graduate of Pontiac Northern High School and 1965 graduate of Adrian College. He is affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

The couple are living at 9034 Tipton Hwy. They plan a two-week trip to Florida in June.

The rehearsal dinner was given at Bauer Manor Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hill.

New Budget, Tax Increase Are Approved

1967-68 budget of $847,000 and an increase in taxes, amounting to 1.4 mills, was approved by Council Monday night.

Present millage is 11.6 mills.

Councilmen and other officials have studied the budget for the past few weeks and held a special session on the budget two weeks ago.

Alumni Banquet Chicken Barbeque Is Outdoor Casual

The Tecumseh High School banquet will be casual this year — an outdoor chicken barbecue.

The party will be held on the St. Elizabeth Church parking lot Saturday, June 24.

In case of rain, the dinner will be indoors.

Plans are being arranged by members of the class of 1957, which is celebrating its tenth anniversary.

Coffee hour will be held prior to the 6:30 p.m. banquet.

Harry Teets, treasurer, will soon be taking reservations.

1 Mishap Involves Injuries

Tecumseh police investigated only three accidents during the past week with one mishap involving minor personal injuries

A resume is:

May 3 — A city grass cutter, operated by Vergil Smith, tossed a rock into the windshield of a car operated by Karen Sue Miller, 30, of 115 W. Logan. Accident occurred on Tecumseh-Clinton Rd.

May 8 — Harold E. Sibrel, 35, Adrian, and George J. Brablec, 55, Britton, had a minor mishap on Adrian St., near W. Cummins. Sibrel had backed out of a driveway and Brablec had turned off W. Cummins, with Brablec's car bumping Sibrel's from the rear.

May 8 — Charles F. Wild, 17, Adrian, was cited for failure to yield the right of way after running into Eileen M. Carlton, 39, Manchester, at the intersection of N. Evans St. and Brown. Fern Christensen, 67, passenger in the Carlton car, suffered a scalp laceration and was treated by a physician. Two passengers with Wild, David Damon, 506 Seminole Dr., and Chris Doan, Adrian, complained of bruises.

Flanders Music Will Open New Service Center

Flanders Music will open a service center and shop for used music instruments in the building formerly occupied several years ago by Eggleston Cleaners.

The new store will allow expansion of several departments in the present shop, Bill and Betty Flanders, owners, announce.

At the present, practically the entire rear section of music store is devoted to servicing TV's, radios and other similar merchandise.

Sheriff Will Take Raisin Fire Calls

Next Monday, May 15, Raisin Township residents will have to call the county sheriff's department of the Holloway fire department for fire protection service.

Township officials cancelled its agreement with Tecumseh last month and apparently no efforts have been made to renew it.

City Manager Cal Zorn has notified the city department that as of 12:01 a.m., May 15, no fire runs are to be made into Raisin Township.

He cited the request of township officials and informed the department that there are to be no exceptions.

Let's Get Organized

"Let's get organized!" is the cry heard in Spring.

And the Girl Scouts in the Tecumseh Neighborhood will be endeavoring to do just that during the month of May.

All first grade girls who are planning to become Brownie Girl Scouts next fall, when they are in second grade, will be contacted shortly through their schools.

They will receive a note telling them of a meeting date when they and their mothers may meet with a Brownie troop organizer in order to fill out applications and plan the troop for the coming year.

Mothers of Brownie age girls, 7-9, are urged to consider lending an afternoon a week as coleader or assistant leader for their girl's troop.

Leaders will be needed and training is provided at no charge. There are troop consultants and troop organizers right here in Tecumseh ready to help new leaders also.

If you are willing to help Girl Scouts by sharing a little of your time and talents (you don't have to be an arts and crafts or camping expert!!) please call Mrs. William Norris, 423-3509 or Mrs. Richard Egli, 423-4557.

Any Think

By JUDY FIELDER

Dear Jody, Jennifer, Jacqueline and Jill,

Sunday is Mother's Day.

This isn't a plug for a gift, because I already have a present that money can't buy.

I REMEMBER:

Jim and I were staying at his folks while we finished working on our house. One March morning I told Dad Fielder to tell my Dad that he would probably become a grandad that day. (The same day Everett's wife, Julie, gave birth their youngest, Patrick).

I tried to call my mother, but she was out taking Dad to work.

Dad called her and asked if she had heard from me.

As she was saying no, the operator cut in, "Judy was trying to call you." (This was before the onslaught of the dial system.)

Panic! Dad says, "I'm coming home." Mom drops phone and rushes over to Jim's folks, breezes in back door carrying our dog. "Are you all right?"

"Yes," I reply. "Where did you get the dog?"

"What dog? . . . Oh!"

Jody was born that afternoon.

I REMEMBER:

A sunny spring morning, rushing to iron the last of the dining room curtains while Jim hung them and a timer clock sitting on the ironing board.

Curtains hung, away to the hospital we went for our May baby, Jennifer.

I REMEMBER:

Worrying whether or not Jacqueline would ever get teeth. They finally came in, long after she passed the year mark.

Last month, she tripped while running up the stairs and knocked two of the cherished, oh-so-anticipated choppers out.

I REMEMBER:

The nurse saying, "She looks just like her daddy. And she even has her daddy's hair."

Surprised because all the other babies had been bald, it was several minutes before I realized she meant "red".

Poor Jill had to be tipped upside down because close inspection was necessary for me to be convinced.

I REMEMBER:

Messy diapers, formula, dusting powder after morning baths, measles, chicken pox, baby food, the first step, the long walks and the constant running.

These are memories that only a mother can cherish.

Thanks, kids, for being a great gift.

No Race Forms with Petitions for School Board

Unless there's a last minute rush for petitions, there is little chance for a race developing for three seats up for election on June 12.

Petitions must be filed this Saturday, May 13, by 4 p.m., at the Board of Education office on W. Chicago Blvd.

There are two four-year terms and one one-year term posts involved. Incumbents Mrs. Donald Cobb, William Brown and Dr. Harold Ocamb are seeking re-election.

Norval Bovee, assistant superintendent, reports another petition was taken out by an unidentified party but it has not been filed.

Eleven Will Be Confirmed at Gloria Dei

Pentecost Sunday, May 14, 11 boys and girls, Jerrald Warner, David Geringer, Richard Boyers, John Williams, Neil Booze, Gloria Lathrop, Dolores Ruttkofsky, Kim Goldmann, Rita Pace, Deborah Fairbanks and Dona Jean Bowser, will be confirmed into the adult membership of the church.

The confirmants were taught by the pastor for two years.

Sunday they will confirm their Christian faith before the Altar and will receive Holy Communion for the first time.

The worship service starts at 10:30 a.m. and Chancel Choir will sing under the leadership of Mrs. Gabe French.

THE MICHIGAN Synod of the Lutheran Church Association will begin a three-day convention Pentecost Sunday in Bay City.

Gloria Dei Church will be represented by Dr. Laszlo Gero, pastor and Albert Tonneberger, lay-delegate.

JC Relays Saturday

By JIM LINCOLN

Track fans will have a treat Saturday when the 9th annual Tecumseh Jaycee Relays will be held on the local oval.

Unlike preceding years, the relays will be held in the afternoon and evening, with all but one final scheduled under the lights.

A new event, a distance medley relay — 440, 880, ¾ mile and mile — will be run in the afternoon.

Field events and preliminaries will start at 3 p.m. Evening events are scheduled to begin at 7 p.m.

A strong Cranbrook squad is expected to romp in the B meets, and Ann Arbor University High is favored for the C teams.

Besides the field events — shot, long jump, high jump and pole vault — the relays will include the 120-yard high hurdles, Tecumseh Medley Relay (110, 110, 220 and 440), two-mile relay, mile run, 100-yard dash, shuttle-hurdle relay, 880 relay and mile relay.

ALTHOUGH the Indians lack depth, Tecumseh could come through in the shuttle hurdle event, and could pick up some points in the shot put and a couple of other events.

They're not expected to be title contenders.

Class B teams participating besides Cranbrook, Willow Run and THS, include Blissfield, Grosse Ile, South Lyon, Pinckney, Milan, Saline and Dexter.

In Class C, in addition to Ann Arbor U. High and Napoleon, there'll be Morenci, Ann Arbor St. Thomas, Vandercook Lake, Ypsilanti Roosevelt, Madison, Clinton, Onsted and Addison.

Don Brazee, high school assistant principal and former THS track coach, will serve as meet manager.

Matt Lunn, veteran track official who teaches in Adrian, will be starter and referee.

Dick Eggleston, owner of Eggleston's Jewelry store, will again provide six Bulova stopwatches.

These watches are used in both national and international sporting events, attesting to their accuracy.

She Sews Bridal Gown

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Sewing for some may be a lost art but not for Mrs. Charles Franke who lives on Gady Rd. in Lee Villa Mobile Court.

A seamstress since she was 10 years old, Mrs. Franke, known to her friends as Rae, has made 95% of her own clothing since she graduated from doll clothes.

Her skill recently has proved to also be the therapy she needs to recover from a badly fractured leg. Physicians tell her it will be another five months before she can walk and Christmas time before she is as good as before the slip on the ice last February.

Besides sewing, caring for her eight-month-old son, Brian, keeps the ambitious young woman from being discouraged while confined to her wheel chair.

Rae insists that sewing is not the only activity she enjoys because she also crochets, knits, cooks and does a multitude of other things that make home-making happy.

She "blames" her mother for the whole business, having been in the 4-H program under her guiding hand for over a 10-year period.

Born the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Thornton on the second largest dairy farm in Clinton County near Elsie, north of Lansing, she had many projects in 4-H, such as cooking, cattle, wild flowers, etc. and she also played a tenor sax in the school band.

BEING THE OLDEST of the family with one brother and two sisters, Rae helped do the family sewing. She made her sister's complete college wardrobe including suits and shells a little later during the first year.

Completing high school, Rae determined to come to Adrian College in preference to Michigan State University because of the broader Home Economics program, she said.

She received her degree in 36 months and did graduate work at Eastern Michigan University during the last semester of her work at Adrian.

She bought only one ready-made dress during her college career.

Then came her wedding to Charles Franke, manager of the Burger Ranch of Adrian. True to form, she made her own wedding dress and those of her attendants.

RAE TAUGHT Home Economics in Romulus High School for a year after receiving her degree but is now employed by The Singer Co. in Adrian.

She worked as a saleslady and taught all of the various sewing courses offered by Singer until the accident on the ice interrupted.

Now she is making a bridal gown and attendants dresses for display in the store window and doing some of the bookkeeping but her classes had to be assigned to another teacher.

Besides all this sewing, the capable housewife and mother makes much of the clothing for little Brian and jackets for her husband.

SOON AFTER their marriage while Chuck was still in school, they wanted to attend a fraternity ball and he needed a white dinner jacket.

In shopping for it, Rae decided that she could make the jacket for about the same price as one evening's rental. That done, she made a corduroy jacket for him too.

Obviously considerable money is saved the family budget by Rae's sewing talent besides providing special "fun to wear" garments for all the family.

Future plans of the sewing lady include more bridal party clothing for those who wish it and perhaps some designing she would like to do.

A visit to Rae Franke is enough to make any woman's fingers itch to get pattern, material and accessories and get to work at the sewing machine.

Senator Bursley's LANSING REPORT

Let's all be ambassadors for Michigan! We have a great product to sell!

Michigan's 8,317,000 people live in the heartland of North America surrounded by half of the world's fresh water supply. (And water today is a most valuable commodity as it becomes polluted and scarce in the face of rising populations and intensified industrialization.)

Michigan's industrial production and agricultural output is fabulous.

Michigan has almost $27 billion in personal incomes and $34 [illegible] in total production of goods and services.

Now let's rank the countries of the world in terms of GNP. The USA is first with a figure currently around 750 billion dollars.

Other leading countries with almost 100 billion dollars are West Germany, United Kingdom, France, Japan, Canada, India and Italy.

The USSR would probably be a second and Red China somewhere in the group, but comparable figures from a Communist economy are not available.

Michigan would rank 11th with its 34 billion and trailing well behind Michigan would be Brazil in 12th place.

MICHIGAN IS first in the nation in the production of automobiles (over 37%); truck trailers and mobile homes; boat building; conveyors; machine shop work; gray iron foundry production; metal stampings; hardware supplies, salt; sporting and athletic goods; steel springs; cereals; public building fixtures; padding and upholstery filling; and internal combustion engines.

Michigan agriculture leads the nation in the production of navy beans, pickles and tart cherries. Michigan is a leader in carrots, cantaloupes, celery, fresh tomatoes, processing asparagus, apples, peaches, pears, grapes and plums.

More than half of Michigan's 83 counties rank among the top 100 counties in the nation in the production of field crops, fruit and livestock.

Michigan is the nation's vacationland in all seasons, leading all other states in the sale of hunting and fishing licenses, in the number of state parks and prepared campsites, and with almost 100 ski resort areas to rival the thousands of miles of summer beaches. (We sold 1.3 million hunting licenses last year against New York's 1 million.)

Michigan has the finest public education system in the country with 11 independent state universities, featuring superior professional training in medicine, law, public health, engineering, aeronautics, metallurgy and agricultural research.

Michigan had an estimated 72,500 teachers in 1966: average salary $6,850. Michigan is known as the research center of America. In 1964 Michigan had 11,741 physicians, 4,253 dentists, and 255 hospitals.

Michigan has five deep water ports on America's fourth seacoast, opened up by the St. Lawrence Seaway. Ships from the Far East are frequently seen in Michigan waters.

MICHIGAN HAS a major role in world markets. The state exported over $1.5 billion last year and imported another $1 billion. Some 500 Michigan businesses sell goods abroad worth $25,000 or more.

These establishments employ half a million workers. Michigan's agricultural exports now surpass $100 million annually. Transportation equipment makes up half of Michigan's exports.

Michigan is tops!

MRS. GERALD RHOADES

Mrs. Wayne Hulett was the organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long-sleeved gown of Rachel lace, with a basque bodice and Sabrina neckline. The bouffant skirt styled with four tiers of lace was accented with a chapel train.

A cap of crystal and pearls held the bride's tiered veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Maid of honor was Lu Ann Rhoades, sister of the bridegroom with bridesmaids Cynthia Young, Mary Alice Staib, Cheryl Stout and Lois Stamats, sister of the bride.

Their Empire gowns in pastel pink organza over peau with long sleeves had French folds accenting long skirts. Waistline and sleeves were highlighted with garlands of rosebuds and matching rosebud garlands circled net headpieces.

Lace parasols filled with pink carnations, red rosebuds and trailing ivy were carried.

Jody and Jimmy Barr of Marshall were flower girl and ring bearer.

Elwyn Baird was the best man and ushers were William Stamats, brother of the bride, Gordon Greiman, cousin of the bridegroom, of Tecumseh, Roger Rush of Ashland, Ohio, Lynn Grinnell and Kim Rhoades, cousin of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hunt and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Caruso were hosts at the reception attended by more than 200 guests in the Tecumseh Products Union Hall.

Cutting the tiered wedding cake at a pink-skirted table centered with bouquets of lilies of the valley were Mrs. Roy Holmburg of Burlington, Iowa, aunt of the bride and Lynn Amon of Dryden.

The bride is a 1965 graudate of Clinton High School and is employed at Universal Die Casting Company in Saline. Mr. Rhoades, a 1961 graduate of Clinton High School, was in the Air Force four years, attended Aero Mechanics School in Detroit and is employed at Willow Run Airport.

Upon their return from a week's wedding trip to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Rhoades will reside at an apartment at 504 Jackson St.

Bridal Fashions of Past Century Featured at Show

By MAXINE CALHOUN

CLINTON — Bridal fashions of the past century were viewed by more than 150 guests of the Episcopal Church Women Saturday night.

Mrs. Paul McKenna was narrator for the event staged in the dining room of the United Church of Christ.

Bouquets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums graced the small altar which was the focal point for the appearance of the 22 models.

Beginning with the 1878 era when dark colors and even black wedding gowns were fashionable, through the roaring 20's when knee-length styles were the rage to the recent period of hoop-skirted bouffant gowns, each one shown nostalgically recalled when village residents were united in marriage.

Some models were descendants of the original owners, while a few women wore their own gowns.

Rotary Mower Safety Tips Are To Stop Injury

Rotary-type power lawn mowers are second only to automobiles in personal injury accidents.

Rotary machine must be treated with respect because of the danger of getting a foot or a hand under it and the hazard of a stone or piece of metal being batted like a missile from the whirling blades.

With time and repeated use, people get a relaxed attitude about the dangers.

Safety rules to keep in mind are:

- ► Keep both feet in safe positions when starting the engine. Many accidents happen when one foot or the other is under the machine when it is started or when the machine is dragged onto the operator's foot as the starter cord is pulled. Most manufacturers recommend a "safe foot" position for starting their machine.
- ► Before mowing, inspect lawn for objects that might be hit or picked up and ejected from the spinning blades and watch ahead of the machine while mowing.
- ► Keep children and pets away.
- ► Don't leave the machine unattended when running.
- ► Don't fill gas tank when machine is running or when engine is hot.
- ► Always mow sideways on grades, hills or banks. Mowing up and down invites the machine to roll back over feet.
- ► Don't do any work under the machine without first disconnecting the spark plug. Merely rotating the blade could start the engine.

Carelessness often leads to serious personal injury. Treat the mower like it was new.

Flesh Is Flesh

"That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit."

This verse from the gospel of John is the Golden Text of the Lesson-Sermon on "Mortals and Immortals" to be read in the Christian Science churches this Sunday.

Social Security Pays Off Working or Not

"Many people of retirement age do not realize that they may be able to collect some social security benefits although they are still employed," Paul Hughes, social security district manager said.

"The amount of benefits you get will depend on how much you earn and how many months you work in a year," he said.

Anyone earning $1,500 or less in a year can collect all social security checks. With more than $1,500 income, a person will receive benefits.

"For example: If you earn over $1,500, but not more than $2,700, one dollar in benefits is withheld for each two dollars earned. If you earn over $2,700, a dollar in benefits is deducted for each dollar earned," said Mr. Hughes.

"If work is seasonal and a person is unemployed for several months in the year, he can get social security check for every month he is out of work, even if he earns $7,000-$8,000 or more during the rest of the year.

The self-employed can get a benefit payment for any month not actively working in his business.

Hughes noted that a person 72 or over receives benefits for all months beginning with the month he becomes 72 — no matter how much he earns.

"Even if you are still working, it's definitely to your advantage to apply for benefits as soon as you reach 65," Hughes said. "At the end of each year, your benefit will be automatically refigured to determine if additional earnings will increase the benefit amount — so you can't lose by filing an application."

Hughes urged those who desire additional information about social security payments while still employed to visit the district social security office at 536 N. Jackson Street or call 784-9171.

Record Setter

Steve Derby, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Derby, 607 W. Kilbuck St., has been honored by Michigan State University for a perfect 4.0 academic average.

A dinner for 468 students attaining perfect marks during the winter term was given by MSU President John A. Hannah.

Steve, a crack hurdler for the Spartans varsity, is only a sophomore — majoring in engineering — and was one of 36 varsity letter winners earning all A's.

The 1965 THS graduate is a member of MSU's 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay squad that set a new varsity mark of 0:57.3 in the recent Drake Relays.

Steve still holds THS school records of 14.9 for the 120-yard high hurdles and 20.1 for the 180-yard lows.

University officials rate him "sure-fire material for stardom in the future, forecast record-shattering times in both the Big Ten and NCAA meets."

OFF the TOP

By CHRISTINE FAIRBANKS

It's Monday morning again.

What is it about Monday morning that sets it apart so from every other morning. What makes a person so reluctant to drag herself from the security of the warm bed?

Monday morning marks the return to the routine, I suppose.

Whatever respite the weekend offers from the day-to-day art of living, Monday signifies the beginning again of that daily round of tasks we have.

Monday morning is IT.

If you hate your every-day life, you dread Monday most of all. If you love your work and can't wait to get on the job, Monday is a day you love.

For most, Monday is neither hated or loved, but merely accepted. Might as well shrug your shoulders and get going.

THERE IS something, however, about these May Monday mornings that move even the near-40 matrons to restlessness.

The younger kids turn to wading in the creek and sand-lot baseball. Their college-age brothers stage panty raids in our institutions of higher learning. The hippies resort to love-ins.

Rumbling protests are heard across the land.

But what can a frazzled mother resort to? I told friend husband I was getting stir-crazy. After the winter we've had, I need a break away from the routine for at least a couple of days or I'd be climbing the walls.

I'M TRYING to convince him that a jaunt to see the famed Tulip Festival across the state would be just the thing to restore my shattered nerves, what with the colorful displays of blooms and the imported windmill.

I have enlisted the aid of our nine-year-old daughter in the campaign to "get mother away for a couple of days."

If she can't turn on the charm and wrangle a "yes" from daddy, I don't know who can!

Keep your fingers crossed.

Child Study Club Tours EvelDean

A tour of the EvelDean salon was a highlight of the Child Study Club meeting which concluded the season Monday.

The visitors were shown sketches, bolts of material and several partially finished dresses by the couturiers, Evel Garrido and Dean Heimerdinger.

The tour followed a banquet at the Country House. Mrs. William Snook and Mrs. Richard Chatters arranged floral centerpieces for the dinner tables.

Mrs. L. H. Titley conducted an installation of the new officers:

President — Mrs. Stephen Fulop

Vice-president — Mrs. Joseph Schneider

Secretary — Mrs. Robert Marsh

Corresponding secretary — Mrs. Wayne Kaiser

Treasurer — Mrs. Franklin Schroeder.

The engagement of Carolyn Marie Denz to John Michael Carter is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Denz, 6303 Green Hwy. Mr. Carter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Carter, 1797 W. Valley Rd. The bride-elect is a Tecumseh High School and Cleary Business College graduate and is mployed at Gray Manufacturing Co. Her fiance attended Adrian High School and is employed at the Tecumseh Products Co. The wedding date has been set for Sept. 9 at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

When you look for the most room and the smoothest ride and the best value, you'll end up with a Chevrolet wagon everytime.

Chevrolet Impala, roomiest in its class. While extra roominess is perhaps the best reason for buying a Chevrolet wagon, consider, also, these bonuses: Body by Fisher, Chevrolet dependability, flush-and-dry rocker panels and Magic-Mirror finish. Chevelle Malibu, smoother, quieter ride. A Malibu not only gives you a Full Coil suspension ride, but the body mountings are double-cushioned. And Chevelle carries plenty. It opens wide. 54.6 inches, to be exact, 28.5 inches high. Flip the second seat down and you've got 86 cubic feet of cargo space for all your gear. Chevelle was built to take a lot. Chevy II Nova, best equipped for the money. All-vinyl upholstery is standard. Flush-and-dry rocker panels that clean themselves are standard. Separate panels beneath each fender to inhibit rust are standard. Mono-Plate rear suspension to smooth the ride is standard. Price? Below standard.

Moods of Music Are Explained by Mrs. Mason

In recognition of National Music Week Mrs. Earl Mason spoke to the Half Notes Music Club at the final meeting of the season.

Her topic was "Music Can Talk."

Different variations of "Mary Had a Little Lamb" were played by Mrs. Mason on the piano. By listening and feeling the simple melody, the 13 members present were able to distinguish the various moods presented.

On the program were Paula Brantingham, Vickey Vincze, Nancy MacDonald, Lynn Peck, Julie Coak, Chris Stanifer and Jeff Downing. Refreshments were served by Debra Fogelsong and Paula Brantingham.

'Odd Couple' Stellar Roles Feature 'Fun

"The Odd Couple," Broadway's comedy smash of the decade, begins an eight-week engagement at the Fisher Monday with comedians George Gobel and Phil Foster in the stellar roles.

"The Odd Couple" brings together two men: one, divorced, careless, happy-go-lucky and living in disheveled splendor in an eight-room apartment; the other, overly - fastidious, compulsively neat — and recently ejected by his wife — taken in as a somewhat precarious roommate.

There will be one Sunday performance only on May 21 at 7:30 p.m. All other performances are Monday through Saturdays at 8:30 and matinees on Wednesday and Saturdays at 2 p.m.

Seats are on sale now at the Fisher boxoffice for all performances.

by GORDON CHARLES

Fishermen tend to be snobbish about the kind of fish they catch. They will brag mightily about the trout or bass or muskies they outwit with rod and reel but who ever gets excited about a string of suckers?

Well, actually there are some people who enjoy fishing for suckers. It may not be the fastest sport in the world but then most of us tend to feel frustrated if we can't manage to be where the real action is. Maybe we should try sucker fishing once in a while just to slow down a little.

A friend of ours once ventured the opinion that the old, bugle-mouthed sucker was deliberately designed by the Creator to make a guy slow down to a decent pace. And this, he pointed out, not only means the fishing, but the eating, too!

NOBODY IN his right mind will try to eat a sucker fast because here is a fish loaded with bones that defy a filet knife. The only sure way to remove these tiny bones is to carefully take them from your mouth, one at a time, and place them around the rim of your plate.

Catching a sucker is no big problem. The fish have a small mouth and a little hook covered with a bit of worm is a pretty sure bait. Just add enough sinker to get your line down on the bottom and wait.

A sucker bite is a lot different from the slashing strike of a trout but it still stirs the same electric interest when the rod begins to twitch. Since they usually run in schools, a missed bite isn't serious — another one will be along in a minute.

It is a good idea, though, to set the hook before they gulp the worm all the way down. Otherwise, you may have to perform quite an operation to recover your hook.

There are a number of ways to make suckers really edible but our favorite is to smoke them. It doesn't seem to matter how bony a fish may be when it is smoked; you pick small chunks of meat away in countless samples until finally the skeleton is bare. With that flavor, who minds a few bones.

Or, if bones really bother you, score each side of the fish with a sharp razor blade until you are sure the bones are all in short lengths, then deep fry. Another method is to grind the fish and make "suckerburgers."

We understand that suckers can also be pressure-cooked, then fried, to neutralize the bones.

SOMEPLACE, too, we heard of a recipe for pickling suckers which will give the bones the same texture as those in a can of salmon. The bones are all still in the fish but they are so soft and crumbly they don't interfere with the eating.

If any of our readers has this recipe and wants to send it to us in care of this newspaper, we will be glad to pass it along in a future column.

The High School marching band appeared in the Safety Check Parade in Tecumseh Wednesday evening.

WORK AND PLAY — Members of the Britton High School Junior Class pitched in and produced an outstanding play last Thursday and Friday. The creepy comedy "Boys and Ghouls Together" featured Stephanie McMahon, Eileen Perry, Jerry Korican, Martha Wetter, Lynn Palmer and Kathy Conrad in the lead parts.

Ladies Quartette Is Entertainment for Moms-Daughters

BRITTON — The Shamrockettes, a ladies' barbershop quartet from the Irish Hills, entertained at the Mother-Daughter Buffet for the women of the Congregational Christian Church at the school Saturday evening. The quartet sang a number of familiar tunes and also led in group singing.

"Mother in Wonderland" was the theme of the decorations and program. Upon entering the lobby, guests were greeted with the sight of a large looking glass, representing the one Alice stepped through.

Fruit juice was served by a hostess from a wishing well. Programs in the shape of hand mirrors were picked from a tree in the hall.

Proceeding down the hall to the dining area, guests served themselves from a buffet of ham, turkey, molded salads, relishes and rolls.

Tables were decorated with cakes set on pedestal dishes, each one baked by the table hostess.

Following the meal, toastmistress Mrs. Donald Berkley told the "Alice in Wonderland" story to the 240 guests. Kathy Morse gave the tribute to mothers, and Mrs. Clare Morse responded with the tribute to daughters.

A poem, "My Grandmother," was given by Laurie Hall, Darlene Fairbanks and Julie Osterhout. Mrs. Donald Judd explained the origin of Mother's Day.

Door prizes were biven by Jan Frayer to winning number holders. Mrs. Gustav Hannevik gave the benediction.

Mrs. William Raeburn headed the committee of selected members of each circle which planned the banquet arrangements, program and decorations. Men and young men of the church helped with the serving.

WHAT A LEMON — All big things do not come from Texas. Charles Howe brought this huge lemon with him from Sebring, Fla. It weighs two and one-half pounds and measures 18½ inches around lengthwise and 14 inches around the center. Now — if we had the hot weather to go with the lemonade.

VOICE of THE HERALD

As Ladies and Gentlemen

We would like to add an "Amen" to the letter written by Mrs. Carlton Cook in last week's edition, following her pleasant experience as a chaperon at a Teen Club dance.

Mrs. Cook lauded the young people's exemplary conduct, dress and considerate manners.

A week after her experience, there was another teen affair at which several Herald people helped out as chaperones.

As in the case of Mrs. Cook's tour of duty, ours proved an enjoyable evening. The guests conducted themselves as young ladies and gentlemen.

We admit it's difficult to grasp the modern mode of dancing, but the teenagers certainly seem to love it. Four hours on the floor for a teen is equal to about four months of intense conditioning at a Vic Tanny salon for an adult, we'd guess.

Right up until the final bar of music (?), the 180 youths were swinging cats. The signal that the fun was over was greeted without rancor and off they trooped to waiting parents' cars.

We'd say there are some pretty fine young people living in this town.

Show Me Something

"Go to work and show me something." Sound familiar?

That's a chant from a children's game and it's also what a number of Tecumseh youngsters are doing — going to work and showing their elders that Community Pride takes work as well as talk.

So far, they have planted trees and cleaned a church yard. Between now and May 20, Community Pride Day of Michigan Week, at least one more group will be cleaning up some of the city parks.

And they help at home, where their parents are as interested as the children in more beautiful surroundings.

There's the gimmick: the kids have the energy and the desire to make this a better place to live, if they can find the right examples to follow.

A 70-year-old housewife in Mamaroneck, N. Y., got tired of looking at the polluted river running through her town. So she organized a crew of 200 men, women and children who removed truckloads of junk from the riverbanks and waterway.

They made Mamaroneck, not only lovelier to see, but a more healthful place to live.

The first step is a general clean-up. The next could be a fresh coat of paint, replacing a broken window pane, nailing a wobbly stairway, replacing a broken sidewalk.

The mind boggles at what could start with a rake and broom.

Why the big difference in dental fees?

My wife and I took a week vacation from March 24 to April 1, and went to Mt. Vernon, Ky., for two reasons, namely to do a little fishing and have some denture work done at Doctor Henderson's Dental Clinic.

The fees are as follows: 50c for extracting a tooth, $50 to make a complete set of dentures. All work is guaranteed, using the best materials available.

This clinic is open 24 hours a day with three dentists on duty. On entering for work to be done you sign a register and each day's work is taken in turn from the register.

In looking over this register you can readily see the names of people from all over the United States coming here to have their dental problems corrected.

Gifts Welcome to Heart Fund at Bank Windows

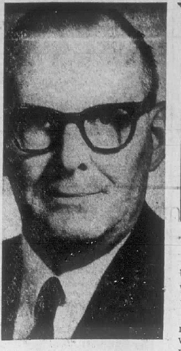
In response to many recent requests, Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary offers the following information on methods of making memorial contributions to the group's Heart Fund.

All tellers at United Savings Bank will accept donations to the Heart Fund.

Memorial contributions to the Fund often are made by friends and relatives. Envelopes for this purpose are available at both of Tecumseh's funeral homes, as well as those in Britton, Clinton, Deerfield and Manchester.

Envelopes also can be picked up at the hospital desk.

The Fund was established for the purpose of purchasing cardiology equipment for the hospital. Profits from the Auxiliary's recent fund-raising projects have been directed into this continued program.



The Rev. C. L. Elston of Howell is speaking in evangelistic services at the Tecumseh Church of the Nazarene each evening this week at 7:30 p.m. through Sunday. He will also be featured in the Mother's Day service Sunday at 11 a.m. The Rev. Herbert Nation, pastor of the church, extends an invitation to the public to attend the services at the church, 807 Sunset Drive.

Mrs. Cook Is Sorority Girl of Year

Iota Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi named Mrs. Orville Cook of Ridgeway "Girl of the Year" at the annual Founder's Day banquet at Ritchie Hall, Adrian College, April 27. She was presented an engraved trophy and charm.

Tecumseh Chapter provided entertainment with a skit, "The Meg Sullivan Shew". Cast included Mrs. D. J. Martin, Mrs. Jack Whelan, Mrs. Howard Wilson, Mrs. John Korican, Mrs. Robert Martin, Mrs. Harley Slick, Mrs. Dan Viergever and Mrs. Cook.

The following Sunday, April 30, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Slick and Mrs. Viergever attended Centennial Founder's Day Banquet in Windsor, Ontario, along with 900 other Beta Sigma Phi's.

Highlight of the day was a fashion show featuring Canadian styles for the past 100 years.

Walter W. Ross, founder of the 85,000 Beta Sigma Phi Chapters throughout the world, was present.

A CASE OF MISTAKEN IDENTITY

We were so anxious for something new and different that I suppose we were just a tiny bit prejudiced. When you want something to happen it is easy to convince yourself that it really is.

But everybody else was hosting newcomers — Clara had seen a white-crowned sparrow and a ruby-crowned kinglet, the General and his Lady had bluebirds — and we wanted to get in on the action, too.

Therefore, when Mom saw something in the yard, a something which was a bird with a dark head and a robin red breast with a white streak on it, we immediately jumped to the conclusion that a towhee was visiting.

OH, THE excitement of it. These are mervelous birds, fun to watch and nice to hear. At first glance, the male towhee looks much like a robin.

He is slightly shorter and not quite so full chested or round tummied but the towhee does have a black head and part of his front side is much the same color as a robin's.

Down the middle of his breast, however, is a wide band of white. He also has large white spots on the corners of his rather long and slightly rounded tail.

In this part of the country our towhees have red eyes, too, but it takes a good close-up or binoculars to see them, I would imagine.

TOWHEES ARE excellent examples of a color characteristic among birds which we have often discussed. Sexual dimorphism is the high-brow term which means nothing much more than that the males and females are not colored the same. Cardinals are another example which come quickly to mind. But getting back to our towhees — she wears quite a different color combination, too. She is a rich brown where her husband shows black.

These birds are not a bit gregarious, in fact they are loners who seem to prefer their own company. However, they can sometimes cause commotion enough to equal a whole army. A towhee kicking through dry rattley leaves in a thicket can be just unbelievably noisy.

They are excellent scratchers, this is how they find their food, of course. Their insect diet lives on the floor of underbush thickets and other such buggy places and the birds are well equipped to go after it. We have laughed at a towhee scratching along the creek bank for his dinner, leaves and dead grass were kicked sky-high.

CIVILIZATION has benefited the towhees in that they like a grown-over, almost gone wild type of country. As the land was cleared for farming and then some of it abandoned and left to revert back, the towhee population increased. We have a marvelous weed and grown-over patch across the creek, hope the towhees find it.

Usually they will raise two families a year; and this is a bit unusual, the first was built on the ground whereas the second one is often in a small scrubby tree or a hardy bush. Again, across the creek should afford an ideal habitat.

In the vocal department, their song is a loud and cheery "Cheewink". From this, of course, comes the towhee's other name, cheewink. In addition to the happy sound of this song, it can be heard anytime throughout the day.

This we appreciate, especially on the warm summer days when we are out on the porch. Many birds tend to be quiet during the middle of the day but the good old towhees will sound off any time.

OH, OH, — our visitor just hopped into view again and guess what, he isn't a towhee at all. Mom had a good look this time and he is merely a robin with a faded-out light spot on his breast.

So it is that we do not have a new bird after all, at least, we had a few minutes of fun, thanks to a case of mistaken identity.

26 Pages — Ten Cents

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

It's getting so nearly everyone on The Herald staff is writing a personal column.

Newest to join the parade is Chris Fairbanks, our Britton editor. Her first two "Off the Top" offerings have shown a lot of class.

Dorothy Grigg, with her "You Told Us" and Judy Fielder's "Any Think" have been appearing on our pages for some time — and I hasten to add that I think they're both great. (Would I risk a couple of Karate chops by not praising their work after giving Chris such a boost?)

This whole business got a good going-over a couple of weeks back when the girls on our staff attended a workshop at Wayne State University on the art of preparing personal columns.

They all came back bubbling with enthusiasm and the first thing Chris did was announce she would start doing her own column each week.

It would seem there are others in town also quite capable of column writing and this brings me around to a letter received a couple of days back.

From Mrs. Howard Milton Walcott Blake, the note cut us to shreds, but brings up one point, about which I'll comment on at the tag end.

In any event, an item last week in Behind Page One referred to Mrs. Blake. However, we mistakenly identified her by her sister's name, Mrs. Pat Kureth.

This hurt.

So Rita chided:

Dear Dick or is it Harry?

One of my colleagues, who knew I had attended the business of the recent Junior High School Art Fair, handed me this clipping Thursday morning last. It is, you might say, the pluperfect squelch, and by your own hand, or more accurately, foot in mouth.

I have not used calling cards since I left Boston for the friendly mid-west where everyone calls each other by his first name — or somebody's first name, but should I call again at The Herald office, I will avail myself of that gentle custom.

As a school teacher I am more than a little sensible to the erosion of fact, as well as of opinion, by subtle inaccuracies of reporting, and constantly chide my pupils to be wary of such distortions, which, however, slight, falsify the whole presentation.

I said, "I do not read The Herald." Why would I (after reading some hundred-odd papers each week from students whose age and lack of experience somewhat excuses their writing) read a newspaper which offers further assaults on the language?

Let me recommend to you a useful handbook for newspaper men — "Watch Your Language" by Theodore M. Bernstein, managing editor for The New York Times — which I do read.

And, yes, the dictionary — I don't think you'll find "braggery" even in Webster's Third.

As a teacher I do not admit "invincible ignorance", which should explain my lengthy letter/lesson.

We are not amused.

All of which should settle our hash.

Now as to the use of "braggery." Maybe it appears in no dictionary, but there is a ring about it which leads us to think there should be such a word.

That reminds me of Uncle Anthony Riordan's column for The Herald about the Indianapolis race time trials a few years back.

Tampa Tony noted that the crowd of 200,000 was gaining nourishment from all sorts of "eatments".

From Toledo came a squawk loud enough to be heard without benefit of General Telephone.

Said erudite Bill Day, assistant to the publisher of The Blade, "There is no such word."

True. There wasn't.

But now there is, as far as Herald personal columnists are concerned.

Ditto, braggery.

Can't Ride

Bicycle riding on sidewalks in downtown Tecumseh came under criticism of Council Monday night.

Reports that two persons had been hit by bicyclists recently led officials to authorize posting the downtown business area.

Senior Citizens Arrange Displays of Historic Items

Senior Citizens have arranged displays for Michigan Week in the windows of Helms Furniture, Hite's Hardware, Cal's Tog Shop, Baldwin's Hardware, Dr. Burkhard's and The Herald.

Marian Whelan has placed a display in the show case at the Library.

A chair made in Tecumseh in 1847, a wash bowl and pitcher and bed coverlet, over 100 years old, a high chair and two rockers with a couple of pictures are at Helms, along with a child's rocker that has been in use for five generations.

An iron kettle, fry pan, griddle and two place settings of dishes and pictures of early Tecumseh may be seen in Baldwin's.

A Martha Washington gown and a wedding dress of yesteryear with some beaded handbags, bonnets, a cape, plug hat and cane are on display at Cal's.

Night Relays Big Success

Running under the lights for the first time, the Jaycee Relays probably ranked as the best in nine outings. The local service club assumes all financial obligations for the event and this year's budget topped $700. Paid admissions and entry fees totaled about $500. A big share of credit for organizing the meet goes to Tecumseh High School principal and athletic director, Don Brazee, who annually works closely with the Jaycee committee, which this year was headed by Jim Bashore. Complete details of Relays appear on back

GOING TO BECOME COLEMAN SUPERINTENDENT

Bovee Hands in Resignation

NORVAL BOVEE

Norval Bovee, business manager and assistant superintendent in the Tecumseh Schools for the past five years, has resigned to become school superintendent at Coleman.

He signed a three-year contract with the Coleman School Board last Friday night. Coleman, located about 10 miles east of Clare, has an enrollment of approximately 1,500 students.

Mr. Bovee was the first official business manager the local schools ever employed, and is largely responsible for modernizing business and office procedures here.

Before coming to Tecumseh, he was high school principal at Ravenna. He assumes the Coleman superintendency on July 1.

Supt. James McDowell is now taking applications for his replacement. Qualifications are a Master's Degree in administration and supervision with a major or minor in business administration; or, a Master's Degree in administration and supervision and experience as a superintendent or business manager.

Box Company Builds in Ohio

By JIM LINCOLN

Tecumseh Corrugated Box has announced plans to construct a 21,000-square-foot plant on a 10-acre site at Van Wert, Ohio.

James Robideau, executive vice-president and general manager of the company here, says work is expected to start June 1 with completion by Sept. 1.

Officials indicate the new plant is an expansion of operations here and that future expansion at Van Wert is foreseeable in the future.

VAN WERT representatives have been cooperative and the "business climate is very receptive," Mr. Robideau explained in responding to a question about expanding the home plant here.

The new plant will employ between 25 to 35 at the start. One or two representatives of the Tecumseh plant will be transferred there.

Tecumseh Corrugated was formed here as a brand new company in March, 1963, employing about 18 to begin with. Employment now is over 120.

Although the company plans to continue operating here as in the past, no expansion in Tecumseh is contemplated.

Early last year, the company proposed an expansion of 9,000 square feet for Tecumseh, but was turned down by the Board of Appeals.

The addition, which would have been built along S. Evans St., did not conform with zoning regulations, company officials were told.

When the city rejected Corrugated's program, other expansion plans here were cancelled.

Tecumseh Corrugated is working at capacity in its 71,000-square-foot plant, and increased operations and production have necessitated the expansion at Van Wert, according to officials.

Ground Will Be Broken for Church

Ground - breaking ceremonies will be held Sunday at noon for the new Church of the Nazarene of Tecumseh at 807 Sunset Dr.

The Rev. Herbert Nation, pastor of the church, invited the public to attend immediately following the morning worship at 11 a.m.

Construction for the new building will begin Monday. The contractor is William Gilroy of Wayne.

The church will be located directly behind the present building which will be used for a parsonage.

BEHIND PAGE ONE

Unsung heroes department: Mrs. Charles Gross, of Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, has delighted patients at both Hospital and Nursing Home through past months with seasonal favors and occasional tray decorations to brighten the routine. Her latest creation: gaily-decorated May baskets, 115 in all, fashioned from construction paper and full of mints and paper flowers. A note on each basket called attention to National Hospital Wek May 7-13. Mrs. William Adams and Mrs. J. J. Walper helped.

There was some confusion last week when we ran the Chicken Basket's big anniversary deal for a Thursday and it should have been Friday. So this time, we're checking it carefully. The free chicken dinner (when you buy one) goes next Friday — May 26.

At the turn of the century Roscoe Hewlett, 4508 Macon Rd. saw someone sit without moving in the window of a store in the east block of the downtown section of Tecumseh. A woman said, "I'm going to find out whether he is alive or not" and started to go inside the store, after first grabbing her hat pin from her chapeau. The man moved. Roscoe wonders if anyone else in the area remembers the incident which occurred when he was a small boy.

Petunicacidal. Petoon-i- Petooni — Well, you try it. No, you won't find it in the dictionary. But it is still the word for this week. Players from Tecumseh High School Speech Class coined that one and here is a clue. It has to do with "The Case of the Crushed Petunias", a play they will present May 19 and 22 in the THS Little Theatre. Curtain time is 7:30 p.m.

General Motors dealers in the United States sold 171,722 new passenger cars and commercial vehicles in the first 10 days of May, a record for the period.

A pair of keys were found May 8 near the main four corners in Tecumseh. Owner may pick them up at The Herald office.

A summer in Africa for Dave Porteous has had to be postponed one year. A bout with mononucleosis kicked Dave's plans into a cocked hat for 1967, but he was assured he'd get the call from the sponsors for 1968.

The bugs are coming to Tecumseh.

Gleaned from the Britton Baptist Church Bulletin — William McKinley was once asked the question, "What is the greatest blessing an American boy can have?" His reply: "To be born poor, and have a mother that knows God."

County Schools Discuss Mergers

A county-wide meeting of school board members and superintendents will be held Thursday evening at Lenawee Institute for a discussion of merging school districts.

County Supt. Milton Porter called the session at the request of the University of Michigan Bureau of Services.

The Bureau, which already is working with four of the 12 school districts, has proposed mergers in solving school problems.

Basis for the Bureau's proposal includes a low tax base and student enrollment for some districts.

Schools To Spend $1,750,000

A tentative 1967-68 school budget — with expenditures of $1,750,000 and an income of $1,800,000 — was presented to the school board Monday night.

The new budget, which must be approved by August, is practically the same as the current one.

School officials anticipate expenditures for 1967-68 to increase over the figure presented Monday night. Negotiations with teachers, custodians, maintenance, bus drivers and other school employees have not been completed.

The School Board negotiating team is meeting with the teachers Monday night.

Supt. James McDowell says the negotiations will be completed in time for teachers to have their contracts before school adjourns June 9.

BIG WINNER — Mrs. Kenneth Munger, 1825 Taylor Rd., won $100 in the "Quick Cash" promotion at the Kroger Co. May 3. When queried about what she was going to do with the money, Mrs. Munger said, "No problem about that. We are remodeling our kitchen, new cupboards, appliances and everything." She said that Mr. Munger is doing most of the work with the help of Uncle Max Munger of Clinton. The lucky lady also won $5 last fall in a Kroger promotion and she plans to try for more.

Veterinarian Resigns

Dr. Carlos Knisely notified the Council by letter Monday night that he was resigning as a caretaker for dogs picked up by the local warden and Pet Watchers Club.

He told officials that some people believe that he has ulterior motives in working with the city and had been criticized.

Unless the city uses his kennels, Tecumseh will have to construct its own and employ a person to take care of them and the dogs.

City Manager Cal Zorn told Councilmen that without an agreement with Dr. Knisely, the city would have a large expenditure in providing new facilities.

Some councilmen were puzzled as to why residents would ever consider that the local veterinarian was exploiting a workable arrangement with the city.

He fed and took care of dogs brought to him at the rate of $2 a day.

Mayor Harold Easton appointed Councilman Gene Tuckey and Dr. Carlton Cook to discuss the matter and attempt to persuade him to continue working with the city.

Officials praised Dr. Knisely for his cooperation with the city and Mrs. Al Caesar of the Pet Watchers Club.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Wow! What a trip Al and Doris Bagshaw contemplate. They left Saturday for Stanford, Calif., where they will spend some time with their son, Dr. Malcolm Bagshaw and attend graduation ceremonies for their granddaughter, Cassie, June 12.

In their trusty camper they will trek north across Canada to spend the summer at their cabin at Blind River, Ontario. Next comes Expose '67 of course, and autumn at Cape Cod, then back to Ann Arbor for a couple of weeks with . . . .

But there is still more. Would you believe — the winter in Arizona?

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lantz, 403 Herrick Park Dr., and their two children will move soon to Worchester, Mass., where he has accepted a position as research engineer with Alden Research Laboratories. Mr. Lantz submitted his resignation as Lenawee County director of environmental health effective May 31.

Mrs. Clair Camburn of Macon submits her entry for "mother of the year" to readers at this appropriate time in May. She states that Mrs. Elwood Bush, 9381 Pennington Rd., seems to her to be an excellent candidate.

Mrs. Bush recently gave birth to her 12th child in a family of "talented, good looking and efficient children."

"They never seem to bother her, either," remarked Mrs. Camburn when she called The Herald a few weeks ago to suggest that credit be given to this mother. Herald employees had determined a bit earlier in the year that Mrs. Bush was not eligible to become a candidate for Michigan Mother of the Year as her tykes are not yet grown.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ries are proud maternal grandparents of a little girl, Julie Anne, 7 lbs., 12 oz., born May 9 at the Oakwood Hospital, Dearborn, to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brungard of Taylor. Sharon's room number is 611. Mr. and Mrs. Ries visited the new baby and her parents and also sister, Lori, who will be three in July.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mull entertained 40 friends and relatives Saturday evening honoring her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Doren, of Canton, Ohio, on their 40th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Doren spent the weekend with the Mulls and the actual anniversary date is May 18. Guests attended the event from as far away as Wisconsin. Mrs. Mull and Mrs. William Flanders presented a program of music on drums and piano and dancing was enjoyed by the group.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Keller observed their 48th wedding anniversary Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Whiting and son, Bill, flew to Chicago, Ill., Saturday, where the couple sponsored the baptism of their niece, Linda Heath, of Evanston, who will be wed May 27. They returned home Sunday.

Riley Koertge, owner and manager of the Chicken Basket, is coach of the Adrian Elks ritualistic team and will go with the team May 19 to Muskegon where they will participate in the state contest. He expects to return home Sunday.

Mrs. Archie Dunsmore, president of the Garden Club, will attend the 36th meeting of the Federation of Garden Clubs at Dearborn Inn, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Mrs. Dunsmore was formerly a member of the Dearborn Garden Club, host of the event.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Whipple and Penny, 407 Herrick Park Dr., returned Saturday from Palmetto, Fla., where they attended the funeral of James Thompson. The Thompsons were former residents of Weston and Mrs. Whipple at one time made her home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ruttkofsky entertained for their daughter, Dolores, who was confirmed Sunday morning in the Glorie Dei Lutheran Church. Forty aunts, uncles and cousins of the honored guest gathered at the Ruttkofsky residence, bringing greetings and gifts for Dolores.

Jan Felton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Felton, was feted at a dinner Sunday at the VFW Post Home in honor of her confirmation at Grace Lutheran Church. Eighty guests from Britton, Blissfield, Adrian, Inkster, Owosso and Tecumseh attended, bringing gifts for Miss Felton. Assisting were Mr. and Mrs. Leland Kapnick, Mr. and Mrs. William Horkey, Mrs. Duane Bihlmeyer, Mrs. Harold Broderick and Mrs. Ronald Plummer. Each assisting hostess was given a centerpiece in appreciation for her service.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gillespie's family was home Sunday afternoon in observance of Mother's Day. The Harold Easton family with Linda and Gary and Mr. and Mrs. George Van Camp, Jr., and their family were all seated for the evening repast.

Lesson-Sermon 'Soul and Body'

"Soul and Body" is the subject of this week's Lesson-Sermon at the Christian Science church Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Lamentations: "The Lord is good unto them that wait for him, to the soul that seeketh him. It is good that a man should both hope and quietly wait for the salvation of the Lord."

GIVES DONATION — F. F. vanWestrenen, (left), plant manager and chairman of the plant-city committee at the Tecumseh Fisher Body, presents a check to Dr. John H. Helping Hand

The Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary is presently the "Helping Hand" project to the PTA's in the Tecumseh area with Mrs. John Day as general chairman.

For helping children in difficulties or possible danger, the program has been in effect for two years at Tecumseh Acres School, used twice during that time.

A small boy walked out the wrong door of the school and started for home, he thought. Soon he found that he was turned around and lost. He saw a Helping Hand emblem and went to it. In a matter of minutes he was safe and sound at his own home.

"A simple thing," Mrs. Day stated, "But what would have happened to your child?"

The dark hand on a white background is a wordless sign that the smallest child can read as a symbol of help and haven.

All homes displaying the emblem will provide refuge to children who are hurt, lost, ill or in trouble from dogs, bullies, strangers or a child molester.

Mrs. Day said, "We feel a project of this scope will unite the residents of the school district into a feeling of community mindedness. It will also build the image of Tecumseh as a "Community That Cares."

THE HANDS will symbolize islands of safety to youngsters and also serve as a preventive insurance for crimes against children.

Local emergency phone numbers are listed on the back of the hand along with instructions for participants, two in a block, displayed in a window within clear view of the street.

Mayor Harold Easton has endorsed the project.

Mrs. Sydney Adams introduced the program to the Herrick Park PTA members and Mrs. George Van Camp Jr. is the chairman of that area including Burt St. and River Acres up to Chicago Blvd.

Anyone interested in promoting the project in the Patterson School may call R. T. Gillam, principal.

Methodists To Hear Guest

Ford Philpot, a Methodist evangelist and a man who was converted to the Christian ministry by the Rev. Donald Porteous of the Tecumseh Methodist Church, will speak to the members of that congregation Sunday morning during the worship service.

The Rev. Philpot, born in the Cumberland Mountains of Kentucky, was brought up under the guidance of a Christian mother, but he did not accept a call into the ministry until he was 30 years of age.

After two years of guidance and direction by Rev. Porteous, who was then a student minister from Asbury College in Wilmore, Ky., he was led to the ministry which has culminated in more than 600 evangelistic crusades from coast to coast.

THE REV. PHILPOT is host and minister on the television series, "The Story," which was America's first religious color series. He has produced 250 thirty minute programs, also seen in Korea and Japan. In one of these programs the Rev. Porteous was asked to participate two years ago in Dallas, Texas, where the conversion experience of Ford was discussed.

He is the author of a volume of sermons, "So You Want a Mountain," editor of "Guest Pulpit," and contributes many sermons and articles for religious periodicals.

He has conducted city-wide crusades in Wichita and Dodge City, Kan.; Charlotte, N.C.; Fort Wayne, Ind.; Dayton, Ohio and Flint and Muskegon.

He led his team on a seven week crusade in the summer of 1966 to the Congo where over 10,000 persons responded to the invitation.

IN JANUARY 1965 the Rev. Philpot was elected president of the National Association of Conference Evangelists of the Methodist Church. His television program was voted the most outstanding religious program produced each of the last four years by the National Evangelical Film Foundation and has just received an honor citation from the National Religious Broadcasters at their convention in Chicago.

He resides with his wife, Virginia and their two sons, Tim and Danny, in Lexington, where his headquarters, directed by a board of 45 businessmen, is located.

ACCOMPANYING him will be Howard Whitmore, a member of the Philpot team since 1955, who is recognized as one of America's finest lyric tenor soloists.

Mr. Whitmore has appeared in more than 300 crusades with Mr. Philpot and is a regular member of his television show, "The Story."

Whitmore has recorded several hi-fi and stereo albums. He resides in Nicholasville, Ky., with his wife, Dorothy, and son, Timothy. His oldest son, Michael, is in the Air Force.

Saturday evening the Kuples Klub of the church will host a reception for the Rev. Philpot and Mr. Whitmore at 7:45 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall, when the film of "The Story" which relates the television interview with the Rev. Porteous will be shown.

Action Started To Condemn Land for Fresh Water

A resolution to condemn 24 acres of land for a new city well field was passed by Council Monday night.

The area is just north of Tecumseh, lying between River Raisin and the railroad tracks, south of Staib Rd.

George Underwood, Clinton auto dealer, has exercised his option on the 607-acre Charles Houtman farm, on which the proposed well field is situated.

James Beardsley, city attorney, says the condemnation case should be in court for action by late summer.

Flat Rock Falls, 4-3

By KATHY HALL

In THS diamond action last week, the Indians split a pair of Huron League contests.

The Airport Jets played host to the Indians Tuesday and served up a 9-0 defeat.

Pitching strength seemed to be the answer for the Jets, as Alan Kwiatkowski allowed only one hit and struck out 15.

On the other hand, Tecumseh pitchers Jim Hunt and Wendell Petty were unable to hold Airport down, as the Jets pounded out 12 hits, including two triples.

The loss was Tecumseh's second to Airport this season. Earlier the Indians bowed 4-1.

THE INDIANS turned the table on first place Flat Rock by upsetting them Friday, 4-3.

Wendell Petty did a fine job on the mound, allowing only four hits, one walk, and fanning five.

Tecumseh racked up five big hits and got six walks. Petty and Bob Cunningham each got two-baggers, while Buddy Work, Jim Mobley and Denny Lewis each singled.

In the last meeting of the two teams, the Rams beat the Indians, 5-1. In that game, Tecumseh had five hits and Flat Rock had six, the exact opposite of Friday's contest.

THS Hurlers Strike Out 27, Still Can't Win

Tecumseh hurlers fanned 27 batters in three games last week, but failed to come up with a win.

Sophomore Wendell Petty was on the mound Tuesday as the Indians bowed to Grosse Ile, 5-3.

Behind some strong hitting by Petty and junior Buddy Work, aided by Henry Mensing, Jim Upell, Butch Quinn and Bob Cunningham, victory hopes were still high until the final frame.

A couple of errors in the seventh gave the Red Devils a two-run advantage that the Indians could not overcome.

Outstanding play of the game also came in the seventh, as two Red Devils found themselves in "hot boxes" and were put out in the same play that relief pitcher Jim Hunt struck out a teammate.

HUNT TOOK the pitching chores Thursday, as the Flat Rock Rams shut down the Indians, 5-1.

Bob Cunningham was Tecumseh's leading batter with two singles and a walk in four trips. Buddy Work contributed a double and Petty and Richard Sweet each singled.

Flat Rock's Steve Balyo took game honors, striking out nine Indians and walking only two. He aided the effort with a single of his own.

Tecumseh's sole run came late in the fifth, as Sweet scored on Cunningham's single.

IN THE third contest last week the Milan Big Reds took revenge of their April 18 loss to the Indians by beating them, 5-2.

Friday's loss was taken by Petty, who sparkled all the way to what should have been an easy win. The sophomore ace struck out 13 and allowed only three singles and four walks.

Petty also picked up one of the Indians' three hits, along with Jim Hunt and Bob Cunningham.

But the game was marred by five Indian errors, while the Big Reds showed adeptness at stealing bases, picking up a total of four.

The victory was an especially sweet one for Milan coach Jim Curth, who is a former Tecumseh baseball standout.

"Would you excuse me—I have to catch a plane."

Indians Take Second

By JIM LINCOLN

Cranbrook won the ninth running of the Tecumseh Jaycee Relays here Saturday as expected.

But surprisingly, Tecumseh Indians finished second, edging both Willow Run and Grosse Ile by one point.

Final Class B totals were:

- ► Cranbrook — 62
- ► Tecumseh — 45
- ► Grosse Ile — 44
- ► Willow Run — 44
- ► Blissfield — 34½
- ► South Lyon — 22½
- ► Dexter — 16
- ► Hillsdale — 12
- ► Milan — 3
- ► Pinckney — 2

Four new records were set with the Indians' fine hurdlers— Randy Robinson, Gary Fairbanks, Gus Bishop and Lee Hannibal — setting one of 60.0 in the shuttle-hurdle relay.

In individual events, Joe Vargo won a first in the shot put with a 47'7" mark. Hannibal trimmed the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.5, with teammate Gary Fairbanks coming in second.

Other Indians with points were:

- ► Steve Dalton, high jump.
- ► Jim Collins, pole vault.

The Tecumseh medley relay team finished fourth, and the 880-yard relay team also finished fourth.

IN CLASS C, Napoleon surprised Ann Arbor University High to repeat as champions. Five records were set and some of the C marks were better than recorded by the Class B. schools.

Butch Hoelzer of Clinton won the high jump at 5'11", and Jim Schuler finished third in the mile run.

THS Trackmen Run String To 8

Coach Tom Fagan's tracksters ran to their eighth straight victory in dual and triangular meets as they squeezed by the Grosse Ile Red Devils, 64-54.

Practically every one of the 14 events was decided by fractions of inches. First places were split almost evenly, Tecumseh taking eight places and GI gathering in six.

FORTUNATELY, for the Indians, they scored in 13 of the 14 events, being shut out only in the 880 relay.

One Tecumseh sweep was recorded by Joe Vargo, Bob Allen and Jim Parros in the shot put, won by Vargo with a toss of 46'3".

Pole vaulters Bruce Costigan, Rick Lopez and Tim Cheever all cleared the bar at 0'6" for another.

Other Indians who took firsts, recording their best times of this season — Lee Hannibal, who sped over the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.7 and Roger Young in the 100-yard dash, clocked at 10.7.

Rick Graf, who already holds the school record for the fastest time in the grueling two-mile run at 10:43.5, lowered it to 10:35.6.

Tom Stormes barely nipped GI's Charlie Johnson in the 440-yard dash in 54.9 while Lee Hannibal swept the hurdles by taking the 180-yard lows in 21.6.

At the end of 13 events, Tecumseh led by five points.

The mile relay, last race of the day, was a thriller.

THS anchorman Tom Stormes caught his man going around the final turn, the same Charlie Johnson whom he had barely managed to beat in the 440.

The two runners pounded down the home stretch stride for stride. Johnson lunged at the wire while Stormes ran upright.

By virtue of his chest breaking the tape just ahead of the falling Johnson, Stormes was declared the winner and the Indian track record remained unblemished.

But No. 9 Eludes Them

After racking up eight straight victories in dual and triangular competition, Coach Tom Fagan's trackmen were nosed out by Adrian Maples, 63-55.

The 14 events were almost evenly split, with Adrian grabbing eight firsts to Tecumseh's six.

Indians scored in 12 of the 14 events, being shut out in both relays.

One relay loss was offset by a Tecumseh slam in the 120-yard high hurdles with Randy Robinson and Gary Fairbanks finishing second and third behind winner, Lee Hannibal.

Hannibal's 15.2 time was his best of the season. However, it was recorded as a "wind-assisted" time.

Roger Young, in two efforts, also hit "best times" of the season in the dashes, clocked at 10.5 in the 100 and 22.8 in the 220, both wind-assisted.

Wind or not, each race was a thrilling contest with Young nosing out Bud Rowley in the 100, Rowley also being clocked at 10.5 and Gordon Averil in the 220, Averill having run the 100 in 10.6.

Other Indian winners were Joe Vargo in the shot put with a toss of 46'6", Steve Dalton in the high jump with a leap of 5'6" and Hannibal in the low hurdles in 20.4.

It all came down to the final event, the mile relay, with Tecumseh three points behind, 55-58.

A five-point relay victory would have given the Indians their ninth straight meet of the year, 60-58.

Instead, they tasted their first defeat.

3 Schools Will Clean Oil Tanks

Tecumseh School Board Monday night approved cleaning oil tanks at three elementary schools in hopes of correcting heating problems there.

Cost of cleaning the tanks is estimated at $600.

Schools affected are Patterson, Herrick Park and Tecumseh Acres.

Cub League Tryouts Are May 22, 23

Tryouts for the Cub League will be next week.

On Monday, 9 and 10-year-old boys should report to Nelson Field at 5 p.m.

On Tuesday, 11 and 12-year-olds should be on hand at the same time and place.

In event of bad weather, the schedule will be moved up one day.

THIS SUMMER, Jaycee members are pitching in to help operate the league, with Russ Hyatt again serving as commissioner.

Managers will draft players for their rosters following the second day of tryouts, states Jim Bashore, who is co-chairman of the Jaycee committee.

Children Are Helped

Mrs. H. H. Hanna, Protective Service Director, enlightened the women of the First Baptist Church at the meeting May 8 as to various ways citizens of the community may cooperate.

A qualified Citizens' Committee of 25 has been chosen to assist. The office is in the former Methodist Church education building on W. Chicago Blvd.

A total of 35 referrals have been made with approximately 50 children involved.

Referrals may be made by family, friends, schools or churches. Anyone truly interested.

PURPOSE of the program is to give personal attention and help to pre-delinquency or neglect cases before it is necessary for youths to be taken into court.

"Varying circumstances cause 'chips' on youngsters shoulders to grow to the size of logs before the Protective Service Program is contacted for aid," Mrs. Hanna commented.

There is no stigma on a youngster being helped by his own community. If a person needs help beyond this agency, cases are referred to other proper agencies," she continued.

"Above all, children need a decent example shown in the home and community."

"The Protective Service extends a friendly hand to any who will call them," the director concluded.

MRS. GEORGE French, retiring president, directed the business meeting. Mrs. R. C. Pennington, hospitality chairman, was elected secretary to fill the vacancy of Mrs. Bertram Updike who will be president this year.

Ellen Snedecor led devotions and Mrs. Ed Christison, Mrs. Stanley Cook, Mrs. Richard Fielder and Mrs. Blair Bashore served as hostesses with Mrs. Fred Bryan and Mrs. Henry Howard, new Circle leaders, pouring tea.

Fifty dollars was donated toward sending young people to summer camps and members voted to furnish money to send a nurse to school in India for a year.

Next month the Circles will host a Family Cooperative dinner with Mrs. Robert Manogg of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society showing pictures of her three-month tour of Baptist Mission stations throughout the world.

The women were urged to make health kits, cloth bags with draw strings and fill each with a towel, washcloth, tooth brush, tooth paste, comb, bar of soap, box of band aids and tube of first aid cream to assist in providing emergency needs for migrants or ex-migrants under the Economic Opportunities Projects aided by the Lenawee County Church Women United.

Any Think

By JUDY FIELDER

'Twas a cool spring evening
When all through the house
Not a creature was stirring
Not even a mouse.

The children were nestled
All snug in their beds
While visions of waffles
Danced in their heads.

Papa lounged on the couch
Watching movie on TV
Looked at Mama in chair
And said, "I'm hungry!"

"Me, too," said Mama.
Let's split a steak."
"The meat you can cook,
"Onion rings I'll make."

"While I get the fixin's
"Out of the freezer,
"You start the charcoal
"On the outdoor brazier."

Papa thought for a second,
Then groaned, "Oh, darn,"
"The grill's at the folks
"And coal's in the barn."

Mama went to the kitchen
And hauled out the grate.
Turned on the broiler,
Slipped the steak to its fate.

Papa called from his couch,
"Please treat it with care.
Don't overcook.
"It's best medium rare."

While fresh grease was heating
In the old iron spider,
Big sweet onion was sliced
Like for salad, but wider.

She stirred up with water
A "Quick" "Bis" cuit mix
Making a batter of thickness
To the onions it sticks.

A sprinkle of salt,
In went the rings.
Blend with a fork
Until coating clings

Now, one at a time
After excess had dropped,
Goo-covered rings
Into hot grease were flopped.

Sizzle on one side
Until light brown
Flip over gently
And start short countdown.

Lift fluffy light rings
With a golden hue
By fork from the oil
Right on cue.

Lots of paper towel
Is needed to drain.
Don't pile rings up,
Less oil is big gain.

While cooking the onions
Turn steak, don't forget,
A gourmet's appetite
The two would whet.

The food is all cooked.
Coffee table is spot.
Papa and Mama have feast.
Eat it all they can not.

Used Spectacles Wanted

In cooperation with the IOOF Michigan Grand Lodge, United Savings Bank and Adrian Federal Savings Bank of Tecumseh will be collection centers for used eye glasses for needy persons.

Mrs. Roy Allshouse of the Tecumseh Rebekah Lodge was named local chairman of the project. Boxes have been placed in the two buildings.

The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs are cooperating with a New Jersey charitable organization known as "New Eyes For the Needy" whose sole purpose is to provide better vision for the poor the world over — through the collection of used eye glasses and frames.

The glasses are sorted, tested, classified and disbured to medical missions and welfare agencies for redistribution in the Philippines, France, Oman, Arabia, Labrador, India, Africa and South America.

Free prescription service and artificial eye care is established in 89 hospitals and agencies in 29 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and Haiti.

In addition to used eye glasses, all kinds of gold and silver scrap, broken and outdated jewelry and other valuable metals are used to buy new prescription lenses and artificial eyes for less fortunate persons.

"Praying Hands Pens" are on sale by Lodges, the proceeds being added to aid the Eye Project.

Anyone can "will their eyes" at death to the Eye Bank Program. In this territory, they will be delivered to the hospital in Ann Arbor.

Some person, maybe a relative, friend or next door neighbor who has had the misfortune to lose their eye sight by sickness or accident through this program, may see again.

A person does not have to be a member of the order to participate.

Anyone wishing to enter this program or wishing more information may contact Mrs. Allshouse, phone 423-3415 or Carl A. Greenwald, phone 263-1261 in Adrian.

Pianist Gives Concert

By KATHRYN SOMMERS

If all the world's a stage, as Shakespeare said, then Mrs. Nicholaas DeWit is the artist to perform upon it.

Mrs. DeWit has played professionally as a concert pianist.

Last Tuesday evening, she delighted members and guests of the Tecumseh Music Club with piano music at her home.

Since the age of seven, Tineke DeWit has studied piano, first encouraged by her musical parents who were composers. Later her education included study in France and at the Hague.

Now she is a member of Tecumseh's community, thanks to Stauffer Chemical Co., where Dr. DeWit is employed.

For her program, Mrs. DeWit chose waltzes and etudes by Chopin, Mozart's "Sonata in A Major" and Roumanian Folk dances by Bela Bartok.

Then turning to Spanish music she played works by Soler, Antonio Pacre, Mateo Albeniz and "Andaluza" by Granados.

PRECEEDING the program 20 ladies met at Don's Beef Buffet for dinner. This evening was the final meeting of the Tecumseh Music Club for the year.

Mrs. Owen Merrill and Mrs. Ray Sommers were in charge of arrangements.

Archdiocese Synod Opens on Saturday

Greatest mass participation event in the history of Detroit-area Catholics, their first Synod based on the Vatican Council call for increased participation by laymen, will be formally launched Saturday by Archbishop John F. Dearden in Sacred Heart Seminary.

A meeting of the minds of 1,500,000 Catholics in the eight-county Archdiocese of Detroit, the Synod has been in preparation since April, 1966.

The stage will be set by commission members for deliberations in parishes and Catholic organizations that will lead early next year to promulgation of new local Church laws by Archbishop Dearden.

The Very Rev. Eugene I. Van Antwerp, S. S., rector of St. John Provincial Seminary, will delineate the task facing Synod participants in the light of Vatican Council decrees.

The Archbishop is expected to repeat the warning he gave to the first Synod planners: "The Synod is going to mean a prodigious amount of work; it is going to call for a great deal of time and great deal of patient understanding.

"But it is only through doing it in this fashion that we can really open up to the entire Church of the Archdiocese the prospect of giving expression to its feelings and judgments."

IN AD CAMPAIGN — Mrs. Phyllis Roe, seamstress at the Tecumseh Fisher Body plant, is featured in the "General Motors is People Making Better Products for People" magazine advertising campaign. Mrs. Roe, an Onsted resident, joined Fisher Body on Aug. 26, 1965, as a Sewing Machine Operator in the Trim Fabrication Department. Fisher Tecumseh is one of five General Motors trim fabricating plants located in the United States. It fabricates interior trim for Oldsmobile F-85 and Pontiac Tempests. Trim sets consist of seat cushions and backs, doors, headlining and sunshades.

Roads Are Obsolete

By MAXINE CALHOUN

"Obsolescence is gaining faster than finances on our county roads," William Burchfield, Lenawee County Highway Engineer, told the members of the County Planning Commission last week.

Mr. Burchfield told how 63% of the county highways were in "adequate" condition last fall.

But since the severe winter, only an estimated 35% of the roads are now in good condition.

Appearing on the program were Carl McMonagle, transportation planner and Robert Hotaling, Community Development Division for the Institute of Community Development at MSU, and Robert Boatmen, Director of Planning for the Michigan Highway Department.

Largely due to the fact that the origin and destination survey on county highways has not been completed, the data available is not complete, so the information given held no surprises.

MAPS WERE shown of the most heavily-traveled areas of the county — Occidental Hwy., between M-52 and Tecumseh, and the Tecumseh-Clinton Rd. Each of these roads are carrying 5,000 cars daily.

Mr. Boatman said the highway department needs five to seven years lead time to plan new highways and is running about 1½ years behind now because Federal funds have been held up recently.

Only improvement scheduled this year is the M-52 and Valley Rd. intersection.

Questions from the audience concerned the possible effect of the announced raceway in the Cambridge Twp. area. Mr. Burchfield said it was expected that there would be considerable traffic channeled onto Onsted Hwy.

MR. BOATMAN stated there were no plans for a new major highway in the county by the state for five to seven years. The US-223 project is still on the books for 1972, he said.

Edmon [illegible] announced in conclusion, that the next meeting on highways would be in the fall when survey reports would be complete, and there "should be some plans emerging by then."

Milton Porter will arrange a meeting of the Planning Commission for May 24 when the county education system will be discussed.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By RICK CURRIE

Boysville's open house is Sunday from noon to 5 p.m. A chicken barbecue, dancing, ball games and other activities will be featured.

There's music again in the rec halls. Through the generosity of Harold Christiansen, president of Wurlitzer's Angott District Company of Detroit, Neri Hall was presented with a juke box. Andy Nazelli fixed Dettman Hall's juke box so that both rec halls now have music to fill the campus air. The faculty is looking for ear plugs.

The cheerleaders started spring training. Every Monday and Wednesday evening several boys interested in cheering next year have been working on preliminary and advanced tumbling. Newcomers will learn the art of the mini-tramp and the oldtimers are trying to conquer the back flip.

A new high jump record was set by Richard Kayl, senior at Boysville, at the River Raisin League Conference Track meet last Saturday. Richard topped Ida's Winklemen's record of 5'9" by one inch.

Boysville placed fourth in the conference meet. Whiteford took the meet with Ida placing second and Summerfield third.

The Old Timers game was the big highlight at the junior class annual trip to Notre Dame. Brother Aloysius bused the junior class to South Bend May 13. The Knights saw campus spirit typical during the usual football season. But most of all, the chance to see the number one team in action was a real thrill.

Ida downed the Knights 3-0 ending the first round of league play.

Summerfield knocked them out of the park with an 8-1 defeat and the Knights split with Sand Creek 5-1 and then winning 2-3 here. Boysville has four games remaining.

Mother's Day was spent at home for the Boysville students. The last week-end of the school calendar was taken by the students. Now begins the countdown to graduation June 4 and school's termination June 9.

"Moonlight Night" was the formal closing of Boysville's dances. The prom presented by the junior class at the Monaghan Council of the Knights of Columbus found some 20 couples in attendance. Music was presented by "Art-Wise".

The evening closed with a turkey dinner served in an atmosphere of blue and white flowers. Each girl was presented with a gold necklace cross. Much of the planning and work is accredited to the junior class officers, Charles Bromirski, Brother Aloysius and Mrs. Marene Barlage.

May Day at Monroe saw the Boysville Drum & Bugle Corp marching. The corp combined with the Knights of Columbus, Monroe Central Catholic band, St. Mary's Academy and the Hall of the Divine Child for the festival parade honoring the Blessed Virgin.

Sure, you can get a great deal on a new car right now.

But be sure you get a great car.

Leave it to Pontiac to take the mediocrity out of car deals. You see, Pontiac dealers aren't limiting you to a so-called "special" deal on a so-called "special" car.

Their specials carry names like Firebird, GTO, Le Mans, Grand Prix, Bonneville, 2+2, Executive and Catalina.

Their specials are endowed with distinctive split-grille styling, the road-hugging security of Wide-Track—a Pontiac exclusive—and years-ahead styling slickeries like disappearing windshield wipers.

If all that sounds like your Pontiac dealer has great cars, you're getting the message. Now all you need is the great deal.

You can get that at your Pontiac dealer's today.

OUTDOORS with GORDIE

by GORDON CHARLES

Wildlife authorities in Michigan and many other states are pondering over the rather steadily decline in pheasant numbers.

To date, most research has centered upon the possible effects of insecticides, such as DDT, which may prevent the formation of fertile eggs. The "clean farming" theory has also been advanced to show that few pheasants can survive on big, heavily cultivated farms. So far, no positive answer has emerged from Michigan research.

It is quite possible that Ohio came up with the answer 10 years ago.

We recently ran across an account of a mysterious pheasant die-off among Ohio's pen-reared birds. It was in the spring of 1957 and pheasant-rearing pens where birds were placed to strengthen their flight, had been prepared. Planted with cover crops, the ground had been heavily fertilized with 12-12-12 granules.

Rainfall that year in that area was only half of normal and the fertilizer failed to dissolve as it was supposed to do. Instead, the granules tended to settle down just under the surface of the ground.

AS PHEASANTS were released into the flight pens, the weather turned hot. The birds, which had been scratching the ground and pecking then drank abnormally large quantities of water. Soon they began to show signs of paralysis and died by the hundreds.

Puzzled authorities, checking for disease and other causes, continued to put new birds into the pens and they, too, died. Eventually, they came to the conclusion that the birds were being killed by nitrate poisoning as a result of swallowing the granules of commercial fertilizer.

Birds released into unfertilized pens continued in a healthy state, regardless of high temperatures and drouth conditions.

During 1961-65 we happened to be living (and hunting) in South Dakota, one of the greatest pheasant areas in the world. The first two years we enjoyed tremendous shooting in the vast soil bank areas that produced as many as a thousand birds to a field.

THE LAST TWO years, though, hit South Dakota at the same time that much of the land was coming out of soil bank and going back into agriculture. The pheasants have slipped to an all-time low there since then.

We happen to know that over 120,000 TONS of commercial fertilizer was sold in South Dakota in 1965, with 80-90 percent of it the granular type. Is this coincidence?

Far be it from us to tell wildlife researchers how to do their job, but to date we have heard nothing about any research into the possibility of nitrate poisoning in Michigan pheasants. Maybe a closer working relationship between states engaged in wildlife research would not only pay off in more information but in a saving of funds for all concerned.

One thing is for sure — our Michigan pheasant population is declining the same as that of other pheasant states. Pen-rearing pheasants is not the answer — South Dakota has never done it. The answer is still waiting to be found. Or has it already been found in Ohio?

Ag Industry in Michigan Hits $2 Billion

Growing and processing agricultural products is a $2 billion dollar industry in Michigan, ranking second in economic importance to the automobile industry, according to figures released today by Senator Gilbert E. Bursley, chairman of the Senate committee on agriculture and economic development.

"Farmers received $843 million for their crops last year and another [illegible] million was added by manufacturing of farm products, a $1,584 billion total," Senator Bursley said.

"If the $435 million generated through processing of forest products, is added along with farm crop transportation, agricultural-based business tops two billion dollars annually."

"Total investment in Michigan farms is a staggering $4.7 billion and farmers' annual operating expenses total $687 million a year.

"Use of gasoline and other fuels in farming totaled $42 million and transportation of agricultural products is a $118 million annual industry," the Senate agricultural leader said.

Senior Trip Discussed

Over 70 parents and school officials met Monday night at the high school cafeteria and discussed the recent senior trip from which many seniors were sent home for drinking.

Most of the discussion centered on the punishment given to the students by the School Board.

The meeting was a closed session and not an official board meeting.

Esch Asks AEC Chief About Site

Congressman Marvin L. Esch has requested a clarification from the Atomic Energy Commission on the selection of Weston, Ill., as the site of the federal nuclear accelerator project.

In a letter to Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, AEC Chairman, Rep. Esch said, "Recent questions surrounding the selection . . . . prompt me to request official clarification from your Commission."

Specifically, he requested the Commission to comment on race relations in Weston and the adequacy of Illinois water resources.

"These questions," Rep. Esch said, "have naturally raised anxiety and anticipation on the part of Ann Arbor and Michigan which worked so hard to secure the final selection."

Loughneys' Next Stop Is Pakistan

Those of you remembering the Richard Loughneys will be interested to know that Dick, Mona and their daughter, Peggy, 15, will leave soon for Pakistan.

They have been in Little Rock, Ark., for some time now.

Dick's job with the Commonwealth Associates, Inc., takes him to Lahore, Pakistan, where a whole new power system will be installed under a U. S. Federal Aid program to lower the water table and enable people there to farm the land.

En route, the Laughneys hope to see some of London, England and Luzerne, Switzerland. They will be in Lahore for two years, Dick said. Mona and Peggy are presently in Little Rock.

OFF the TOP

By CHRISTINE FAIRBANKS

It just had to happen.

In spite of Sunday's ominous skies and the definite chill in the air, the outdoor barbecue season on our block is now officially opened.

Dinner was cooked on the grill at our house. Of course, the whole outfit — grill, turning spit and all — had to be lifted up onto the sanctity of the porch when the late afternoon raindrops began to fall.

But we had planned to cook outdoors and cook outdoors we did.

WE ARE usually the first in our neighborhood to bring out the grill in the spring (this is spring??) and one of the last to fold it up for storage in the fall.

Somehow [illegible] tastes so much better cooked over the open fire. And besides, a clever gal can usually wangle friend husband into taking over the culinary duties.

Even husbands who never show their face in the kitchen except to grumble, "How long before dinner?" are quite willing to preside over the outdoor cookery.

It is a pleasant change from cooking on our electronic marvels, to return even partially to the ways of our ancestors. (Although I must admit we rely on an electric starter).

There is just a hint of primitive campfires in the rituals of preparation.

Dad prepares the bed of charcoal. When the dusty black chunks are transformed into a glowing bed of coals, say about half an hour later, the chickens are carried out, tied to the spit, with all the ceremony of a sacrificial offering.

THEN THE most difficult part begins. After half an hour of slowly revolving over the coals, the browning chickens begin to emit a provocative aroma which tantalizes our nostrils and makes the hungry mouths water in anticipation.

We figure it takes nearly two hours for whole chickens on the spit to be thoroughly cooked. No half-baked birds for us!

The kids keep coming up to say, "How much longer now, Dad?"

With two teen-age sons and a younger daughter, we have to expect the question to be asked many times before Dad finally calls out, "Chicken's done! Is everything else ready?"

Now comes the moment we have so eagerly awaited. With great ceremony, the chickens, now turned a crisp golden brown, but tender and juicy on the inside, are carried in for carving into serving size pieces.

Mmmm! That's real eatin'!

I defy anyone to turn out tastier chicken than that roasted slowly over the open coals.

Come on and turn on the sun, Mr. Weatherman, so we can all get out in the backyard for some more of the same!

Washington Report

by Congressman

MARVIN L. ESCH

Economic plight of the American farmer continues to worsen.

Unfortunately, federal programs, which have for the most part been responsible for existing conditions, do not appear headed toward any major corrections.

Recent statistics, released by the Republican Task Force on Agriculture and supported in the main by the Department of Agriculture itself, highlight the serious trends in agriculture:

- ► Farm parity ration now stands at 74 — the lowest point since 1934.
- ►122,000 farms folded last year; at least another 82,000 drop-off is expected this year.
- ► 1966 total farm debt increased 10% over 1965, an average of over $1,200 increased indebtedness per farm.

Most startling is the comparison between farm income and that of non-agricultural sources.

From March, 1966, to March, 1967, non-farm income rose approximately 8% while farm income dropped 16% according to the President's Council of Economic Advisors.

This same report showed all selected sources of income on the rise except that of the farmer.

At the root of many of these problems is basic economic discrimination practiced by the government against the farmer. By permitting large amounts of foreign imports to flood the domestic market, the government has acted to hold prices down.

The dairy industry has been particularly hard hit in this regard. Last year's dairy import equaled the milk which could have been produced by over 300,000 American cows.

This week I am appearing before the Tariff Commission to urge an end to these practices.

Imports, however, are only one of many government maneuvers which have hurt agriculture. There has been a multitude of other decisions acting to the detriment of the American farmer. Had they been avoided, he would be in a far better financial condition today.

Senior citizens are going to find that there's been a thief in their pocketbooks when it comes time to pay income taxes next year unless Congress acts soon.

This year elderly people who filed income tax returns were allowed to deduct the full cost of drugs and medicines, doctors' bills and other medical expenses to the extent that these expenses were not reimbursed.

But what many do not realize is that, unless the law is changed, they will not be allowed to deduct full medical expenses when they make out their 1967 returns next year.

AT THE TIME Medicare was passed the right to deduct full medical expenses was repealed because it was felt that it would no longer be necessary. Medicare, however, does not provide for payment of any drugs except those administered in hospitals.

The senior citizen who has to pay for costly drugs cannot look to Medicare to pay even part of these costs. Under the voluntary portion of the plan doctors' bills may be paid, but even here an elderly person must pay a deductible of $50 and 20% of the cost.

Many senior citizens will find themselves heavily penalized if the present income tax provisions remain unchanged. That's why I have recommended and am working for the restoration of the right previously granted elderly people to deduct full medical expenses.

This is an incredible plan which would levy income tax on Social Security benefits paid to persons over 65.

Parisian Street Scene

BRITTON — "Some Enchanted Evening" was the theme of the Junior-Senior banquet and prom Saturday evening.

The cafeteria and gym were decorated in Parisian style. The graduating seniors, faculty members and school boardmen were guests of the junior class.

The meal, featuring Swiss steak and topped off with strawberry shortcake, was prepared and served by the cafeteria staff.

Norm Auten served as master of ceremonies for the banquet program. The president of the junior class, Jerry Korican, welcomed the seniors, and the response was given by senior class president Larry Ash.

The giftatory was presented by Tom Schroeder, Jerry Korican, Janie Griffin, Dianne Downing and Kathy Conrad.

For the dance which followed, juniors worked long and hard to transform the gym into a typical Paris street scene, lined with little shops.

The small tables were arranged under awnings similar to a sidewalk cafe. Red-and-white checked cloths covered the tables, which also were enhanced by lighted candles in bottles. A multitude of stars were suspended from the dropped ceiling.

Punch and cheese wafers were served to the 140 guests from a table centered with blue-and-yellow flowers.

Mrs. Fred Long and Paul Marks are the junior class advisors.

Mrs. Delmar Manchester, worthy matron of Clinton, was welcomed.

Mrs. Sherman McRae was the soloist.

Friendship nights were announced at Petersburg May 19 and Onsted May 25.

Ritual books were presented to the new members by Worthy Patron, Mr. Miller.

Refreshments were served from tables decorated with spring flowers by Mrs. Weldon Hollar, Mrs. Harry Stanifer, Mrs. Ogland Lay and Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Kidman.

The next meeting will be held June 1.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

A prudent person begins to trim his family's expenditures when he is uncertain about the size of his future paychecks.

Planned purchases of new household furniture are delayed, reserve supplies in the pantry are used up without being replaced, and a plan is developed for foregoing the lowest priority demands on the family's financial resources.

This is the position your state government now is in.

Because of uncertainties about the level of income the state can expect next year, I have ordered all state department heads to take several steps to limit expenditures.

First, I have ordered deferral of the purchase of office equipment and furniture, curtailing of travel by state employees, and a minimal restocking of items for which there are existing inventories.

Second, I have ordered deferral of filling vacancies among the personnel of the departments for the current fiscal year and limited filling of such vacancies for the fiscal year starting in July.

Third, I have ordered the departments to develop and submit to me plans for curtailing the lowest priority activities of their departments and for other possible cost reductions.

MY administration has always had a basic policy of achieving reductions in the cost of providing needed state services through greater efficiency. We have made considerable progress in this direction. But the additional steps I have ordered were necessary because I could not be certain about the level of appropriations and tax revenues which would be approved by the Legislature.

I have insisted that approval of appropriations bills be delayed until a tax reform program is approved so we can determine how much money the state will have to spend before we begin spending it.

Unfortunately there has been a delay in approving a tax reform program.

The second round of consideration of tax reform ended recently without affirmative action. Certainly I am disappointed.

But I believe that encouraging results have come out of the recent deliberations.

THERE APPEARS to be a genuine desire on the part of a majority of the members of the Legislature for tax reform.

It is also apparent that neither party by itself has sufficient votes for adoption of such a program.

My goal continues to be adoption of a program that will bring equity to our tax system and at the same time provide a sound financial base for meeting our essential public service obligations.

I remain optimistic that a majority of our lawmakers share this goal and intend to make it a reality. But this is going to require compromise and a willingness to sacrifice personal desires for the common good. And time is running out.

We cannot base our decisions on optimism alone. Like a prudent individual, we have to start making our plans for what we will do if we do not get future paychecks, which permit continuance of our current level of services.

Good potato, but we won't use it

This is a NO. 1 grade potato.
But we won't use it for Jane Parker Potato Chips because it measures more than 4 inches in diameter.
We have minimum and maximum sizes to insure the best chips…the best eating.

But size isn't the only thing we're fussy about.
We'll use only certain varieties of potatoes.
There are 20 or more varieties we wouldn't think of using
…they just don't make good chips.

We're careful about potato sugar content.
It must be low to produce chips of uniform color.
We're fussy too about crispness, thickness and lots of other things.

This may seem like an awful lot of fussing, but that's the way we are about all Jane Parker products…
about all the products we make.

When you think about it, shouldn't fussy A&P be your store?

VOICE of THE HERALD

A Community's Heritage

Editor's note — Michigan Week opens Sunday and it was suggested by councilman George McCombs that an editorial appear touching upon the heritage of our community. Who better to write such a piece but city historian Clara Waldron? When asked, Clara readily agreed and, as always, did a magnificent job.

By CLARA WALDRON

"Never again will the vast succession of coming people know how beautiful this land was in nature. No pen picture can describe the park-like plains and rolling openings or the solemn grandeur of the timber land."

So wrote L. D. Watkins of this part of Michigan when he took 1,000 acres of it for his home in 1825.

It was the fertility of this beautiful land, its useful timber and the power of its then clear and limpid river that led Musgrove Evans to lay here the foundation of the community we call Tecumseh.

Those were the assets — those and the people who have used them over the years — that is our heritage today.

They have not been spectacular people as a whole. Just ordinary, hardworking, mainly unselfish people who have used those assets, not for their own gain, but for the good of their town.

The second building erected in that new settlement was a schoolhouse and when, after two years, they were visited by a minister of the gospel, every man, woman and child (save one hopelessly bedridden woman) went to hear him preach.

So education and church-going are part of the tradition of Tecumseh.

There have been dedicated doctors, like "Saddle-bag Doctor" M. A. Patterson who almost singlehanded cared for the new community. Dedicated educators, like Benjamin Baxter, who conducted the first "high school" in the old court house. Men and women who have devoted long hours to public service as members of school board and Council and businessmen of vision, like Ray Herrick, who has made the present Tecumseh possible.

Hundreds of "just good citizens," like these individuals, are part of our heritage, but they have left the most moving memories when they have banded together.

No one who ever took part will ever forget World War II "D-Day" when streams of silent people, clad in their working clothes, converged on the Presbyterian church to pray together for victory and the safety of their loved ones. That day too is part of our heritage.

No, we will never know the beauty that Mr. Watkins saw or have again the unspoiled assets of Musgrove Evans. But they are part of our background. Perhaps, like the people who have come between, we may find the vision to produce a different kind of beauty that will be worthy of our heritage.

'Retail Swinger' on Its Way

Every so often a retail business promotion comes along which can be classified as a "real swinger."

A little bird flew through our window to tell us such an event is heading Tecumseh's way.

That makes us feel good, because it has been a while since our town has had a sales event that promises excitement, fun and extra cash register jingling.

A promotion is only as good as its allure to customers — the guys and gals who do the spending. If they get keyed up and yell "Amen," then businessmen can nod their collective heads and say, "Good show."

That was all the feathered fellow told us, said he'd be back in a couple of weeks.

We'll pass along the news as it develops.

A decorated birthday cake presented to Carl Thompson was a feature at the Pythian potluck supper Saturday.

Mr. Thompson, whose anniversary was May 12, was presented with a gift as a token of appreciation for his faithful service to the Pythian Order.

Tables were decorated with spring flowers and colored candles and individual nut cups marked the place settings.

Robert Todd showed colored slides taken in parts of Canada, New York and Washington, D.C.

The Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters had charge of the event.

'Silver Dolphins' Now Are Worn by Larry Harper

USS TRITON — Interior Communications Electrician Second Class Larry D. Harper, son of Edward A. Harper, 112 N. Oneida St., has earned the right to wear the "silver dolphins" of a qualified enlisted submariner.

He is a crewmember aboard this nuclear-powered attack submarine.

His submarine qualification was granted after he demonstrated his proficiency in, and thorough knowledge of the operational system of his submarine.

He was examined by both a written test, and observance of his "on-the-job" techniques.

The Triton is the United States' largest attack submarine and is homeported in Norfolk, Va.

HOME SWEET HOME

This is the time of year when every available nesting site is taken or is at least being considered. Building a nest and raising a family are the dominating drives in the bird world on these fine May days. Everybody is thus involved, everybody that is, except the goldfinches.

These little characters are extremely late nesters and are now occupied only with flitting around, poking into every little new elm leaf — let the rest of the folks worry about family, the goldfinches are still all out for fun and games.

Many birds, of course, will accept and use man-made bird houses. Some, purple martins are, perhaps, the best example: are completely dependent upon them. Others are merely helped if we put out houses.

Bluebirds, wrens and wood ducks fall into this category. However, it is late to put out bird houses. This should have been done a month or so ago, and thus today we shall limit our discussion to what the birds do for themselves.

THE PLACES where nests are built and the type of nests themselves are as varied as the birds who engage in their construction. The height of elegance is the Baltimore oriole's home, an exquisite woven basket dangling at the end of a limb in a tall tree.

In co[illegible] this are the mourning doves who live almost in squalor; they jam a few sticks together, criss-crossing them so loosely that often the eggs fall through, and this is home.

Cowbirds, of course, don't even have a home, she lays her eggs in other birds' nests and lets them 'bring up the kids'.

Trees are extremely popular nesting sites, many, many birds build either 'on or in' them. Flickers, woodpeckers and sapsuckers chisel out cavities — just think of how the entrance hole to a flicker or red-headed woodpecker's home would be.

The yellow-bellied sapsuckers excavate a deep hole, 12 inches or even more, but it's entrance way is just barely enough for the parent bird to squeeze through.

Our pert little tufted titmouse uses a natural cavity in the tree or an abandoned woodpecker hole for her nest. She fills it with leaves and bark, then lines the cup with softer and finer material.

Nuthatches and chicka-dees do much the same thing.

BLUEJAYS and robins are examples of birds who build their "Home sweet home" on the trees. The jays seem to prefer the crotch of a main limb where it branches away from the trunk of the tree. The robins — well, actually they will build almost any place.

Any place in a tree, a bush, the rafters of a porch or even on a man-made sheltered shelf. And their nests, of course, are so very familiar, heavy and well-made with mud serving as the cementing agent.

The rose-breasted grosbeaks like a tree home, too. But these birds are quite selective and usually pick the lower branches of a tree for their rather flat and somewhat loosely woven nests.

They also enjoy being near water — we have some ideal sites, hope they sign a lease soon.

Bushes and thickets are favored by many birds. In our own yard, for example, the clump of barberry by the drive is the exclusive property of the catbirds whereas the cardinals have always preferred the honeysuckle bushes and, when the evergreens are big enough, we hope to host the chipping sparrows.

The catbird's nest is extremely well-hidden and although bulky and even ragged on the outside, the egg-holding cup is well-made and carefully lined.

Our cardinal, by the way, has been dispossessed this year. One of it's favorite honeysuckle bushes has been taken over by a robin.

BUT I SEEM to be getting in trouble, space is running out and we have just barely started. Only a few of our everyday birds have been mentioned and I have not even started on the ground nesters.

Perhaps we shall get back to bird nests some day but better still, look around your yard and see who is sharing it with you.

So it is that everywhere this time of year the "vacancy" signs are coming down and being replaced with ones reading "Home Sweet Home".

A Dream Come

From the time they were in pharmacy school, Ken and Ray Dubrinsky dreamed of having their own drug store. It all came true--three times over.

Following graduation from Detroit Institute of Technology School of Pharmacy, the Dubrinsky brothers established a store in Berkley, later added two more.

Newest outlet of the Ken-Ray group is the Tecumseh store, which the Dubrinsky brothers began Sept. 15, 1964.

Originally, their layout here was limited to 1,500 - square - feet. It now covers 4,500 - square - feet, including a basement storage area, allowing for a tremendous depth of inventory.

The sales volume at Ken-Ray, including its prescription business, has shown an increase over every month of the preceding year. The recent remodeling of the store here was dictated by the continued jump in business.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Folks along Wisner Hwy., near Tipton, are fascinated by a newcomer to the neighborhood.

About a month ago, he was spotted standing near the Raymond Bolz home. He's been all around since then.

The fellow is a year-old deer who was a fawn must have been someone's pet.

Mrs. Bolz first saw him when she was alerted by the family dog barking. This didn't phase the deer who just stood and looked.

A week went by, when the 130-pound buck strolled into the backyard of Warren Duckworth. The animal was quickly befriended by a batch of neighborhood children, who soon were petting and feeding the deer.

It ate sparingly, probably just being polite.

As Mrs. Bolz points out, "There are lots of crops around here, plus plenty of grass and leaves on trees."

One of the Bolz children raced home to tell his folks, who hustled over to Duckworth's.

"Darndest thing we ever saw," exclaimed Mrs. Bolz.

But that was only the beginning. After Mr. and Mrs. Bolz had watched the youngsters frolic a while with the deer, they started back to their home, which is about 500 yards from Duckworths.

Who tagged right along? Of course, the deer.

He walked them all the way back, then wandered down to the lawn in front of Mrs. Ann Allen's.

Somebody suggested to Ann that maybe the animal had gotten loose from Frontier City, so she telephones Ivan Hunt, owner of the theme park.

Ivan said none of his deer were missing. But Ivan couldn't resist getting through a chuckle so confirmed that he knew the deer.

"His name is Bambi and he likes chocolate candy," chortled Ivan.

When Ron Bolz got home from work at Clinton Tool & Die, where he was learning the trade on an apprenticeship program, he grabbed the family camera and snapped a series of pictures of "Bambi."

On Friday evening, Mrs. Bolz last saw the deer.

She was starting to drive down Wisner towards M-50 and there was Bambi standing in the middle of the road.

Stopping the car, she waited until he ambled into a field.

As she drove on, he stood there, watching her.

Woman Industrialist Honored

By JIM LINCOLN

One of the highest — if not the highest — awards for an industrialist to receive is state and national recognition from the Small Business Association.

Mrs. Madeline K. Tuttle, former president and now board chairman of the H. W. Tuttle Co., of Tecumseh, has been selected by SBA as "Michigan's Outstanding Businesswoman of 1967."

A recognition luncheon was held Wednesday afternoon at the Tecumseh Country Club where Robert Phillips, regional manager of the SBA from Chicago, presented Mrs. Tuttle with a certificate for her success and achievements.

Jackson TV-WILX taped the proceedings and planned to televise the presentation.

Thursday morning at the Detroit SBA office, a press conference will be held for city news representatives.

At 12:15 noon, Mrs. Tuttle will be interviewed by J. P. McCarthy on his WJR Focus program.

Saturday afternoon at 5:30, she will participate in the Small Business Quorum program over WLBK radio.

Prior to the TCC ceremony, the SBA held a press conference at city hall and announced the award. Area TV, radio and press representatives were on hand.

Mayor Harold Easton presided at both the press conference and luncheon and introduced state and national SBA representatives.

Selection of Mrs. Tuttle was made by a 27-man advisory council for the SBA from hundreds of eligible businessmen.

FAIRY BOOK success has been the rule since the Tuttle company moved to Tecumseh from Adrian early in 1959. Employment has grown from 60 to approximately 220 and production has necessitated three plant expansions.

Since 1954, gross sales have soared from $700,000 to nearly $3.5 million.

The company started in Detroit in 1933, and after a six-month interim period here in Tecumseh, moved to Adrian in 1938. Tuttle has been in Tecumseh since 1959.

Early production consisted of portable immersion electric water heaters and soon expanded to service parts for electric appliances.

After World War II, Mrs. Tuttle decided to specialize in the electrical appliance field. At this time in 1946, she became major stockholder and assumed the presidency.

Heating elements for ranges, ironers and dryers were manufactured. At the present, Tuttle's produce heating elements for home laundry and home heating fields for most of the major manufacturers.

Mrs. Tuttle is a member of several trade organizations and is a past chairman of the Electrical Women's Round Table, Detroit chapter. She's also a national board member and a past national treasurer.

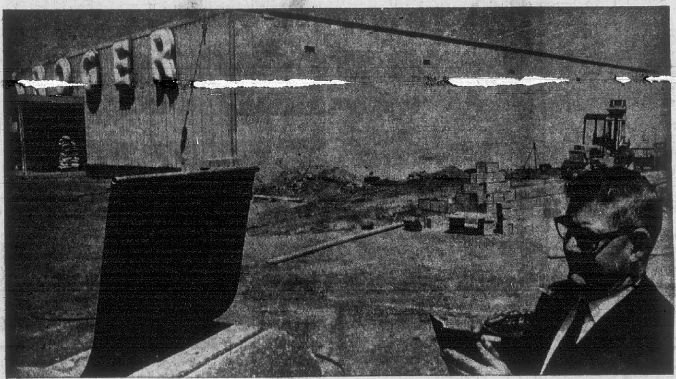
ONE OF HER cherished honors is a personal invitation from President Eisenhower to participate in the President's Conference on Small Business.

Since WW II, her son Harold has assisted in plant management and became president in 1965.

A daughter, Mrs. Barbara [illegible], is a former Tecumseh High School counselor and is presently earning her doctorate degree at the University of Indiana.

NO. 1 IN STATE — MRS. MADELINE TUTTLE



KROGER IS EXPANDING — Walt Rowley, manager of Kroger, does some figuring for a 3,000-square-feet addition to his store, shown in the background. Completion is expected by mid-summer and there'll be 2,820 additional square feet of selling area, featuring an attractive new decor, along with renovation of the front exterior. A 48-ft. vertical deck dairy case will highlight a convenience merchandise selection. Ultra-modern cases will also be added in the meat and produce departments. More than 380 feet of shelving is planned for the grocery section, plus a new bakery goods display rack.

Threat of War May End Plans

Editor's note — That explosive Middle Eastern situation may endanger study plans of Britton Lutheran minister, the Rev. Thomas Drobena. In any event, he's got his fingers crossed this week.

BRITTON — Emmanuel Lutheran Church of Britton held a farewell banquet for their parish pastor of five years, the Rev. Thomas John Drobena.

Mr. Drobena announced his resignation earlier this year. He plans to complete his masters degree in archeology in Israel, during the coming year.

The degree will come from the American Institute of Holy Land Studies, cooperating with Harvard University.

In addition to his parish, Mr. Drobena has served as chaplain for the Air Force at Adrian, with the Civil Air Patrol for the past four years.

He is also chaplain, with the rank of captain, of the 191st Combat Support Squadron ANG, stationed at Inkster.

On Pentecost, Mr. Drobena confirmed his last class of young people at Emmanuel.

The 10, who promised "to remain faithful to their Lord and Savior Jesus Christ" during the rite of Confirmation were Martin Billau, Polimir Burns, Darrel J. Bush, Roger Furgason, Clifford Hofmann, Connie Miller, Susan Schafer, Pamela Schmidt, Linda Schroeder and Michele Vershum.

Walter Miller, president of the congregation, presented their former pastor with a farewell gift from the members of the parish.

While Mr. Drobena is in Israel, his wife, Irene, and their three children will be staying in Chicago with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Drobena, Sr.

Parade, Banquet Cap Busy Week

The Michigan Week Parade today at 6 p.m. will highlight St. Joseph Mayor W. H. Ehrenberg's visit to Tecumseh for Thursday's Mayor Exchange Day.

The parade will form at City Hall and, with three bands, will proceed to Union St. and return to the reviewing stand at Chicago and Pearl.

The banquet in Mayor Ehrenberg's honor will be held at St. Elizabeth auditorium at 7 p.m.

Dr. Elven Duvall, superintendent of Jackson Public Schools, will be the speaker. Dr. Duvall initiated his career in education at Tecumseh High School from 1948-52.

Reservations have nearly filled the quota of 200 attendance for the $2.50 swiss steak dinner, but Mrs. Thomas Morgan, dinner chairman, said, "A few tickets are still available from Don Sunderland or they may be purchased at the door."

FRIDAY, Hospitality Day, autos with out-of-state license plates will be stopped by members of the Welcome Wagon Club, with the help of Tecumseh Police.

Service stations will donate gas, restaurants offer noon meals and gift packets will be presented to the travelers.

ON DISPLAY throughout the week in store windows are items depicting the history of Tecumseh, prepared by the Senior Citizens.

Lance Corporal J. A. Tonneberger Receives Honors

Lance Corporal J. A. Tonneberger received recognition in the weekly news bulletin printed for marine personnel at Danang, Vietnam.

The item told of the Flarelight Theatre which presents a new movie each night and double features when available on Saturdays.

"It's almost like being in Continental United States, except you just can't bring your favorite girl," the item stated.

Corporal Tonneberger and two others of the Marine Aircraft Wing Support Group were instrumental in building the frame for the screen and covering it in one day.

That night the movie was shown on the back of a truck but did not work out so well, the boys constructed a projection booth which still stands, though it has suffered many beer can barrages.

The same three men are responsible for the permanent benches and have plans for the construction of a stage for the theatre, probably completed at this printing.

The bulletin, called "The Sierra Sentinel," printed that the MWSG — 17 can boast one of the finest theatres in the Republic of Vietnam and congratulated the men participating for a job well done.

Goodman Tops Class

James Goodman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Goodman of 413 W. Brown St. is valedictorian of the 1967 graduating class at Tecumseh High School.

Ivan Hunt Has Troubles During May

Ivan Hunt is recuperating at his home after an unfortunate series of events starting with an entanglement with one of the horses at the Frontier Stables, on M-50.

The owner of the Stables tried to go with the horse out of the door of the barn May 7 and received some cracked ribs in the close engagement.

He continued to carry on his work in getting everything ship shape at the Stables and Frontier City.

While fitting some land, he suffered a fainting spell, later diagnosed as a heart attack, and the result of the whole business is that he is unable to lie down to sleep.

Physicians insist that the busy president of the Irish Hills Tourist Association slow up a bit.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Si Quaeris Peninsulam Amoenam Circumspice. No truer words were ever spoken and just as true today as in 1835. Translation from the latin — "If you seek a beautiful peninsula, look about you."

It seems fitting during Michigan Week to give a few seconds thought to Lewis Cass, governor of Michigan territory in 1813 and 1817, who designed the Michigan seal incorporating the above motto and presented it to the Constitutional Convention of 1835. Patterned after the seal of the Hudson Bay Co. the seal was adopted that same year.

It's a wonderful motto and Michiganites love our state even though many of them trip off to spend the colder months in that other state peninsula to the south of us.

Memoriam

IN SAD but loving memory of our loved one, G. A. Abner who passed away nine years ago, May 26, 1958.

We hold our tears when we speak your name,
But the ache in our hearts remain the same.
When we get together and you are not there,
It fills our hearts with sadness,
Thinking of the way it used to be.
For nine years your face is missing
You, we no longer see.
Life isn't the same since our loved one isn't here.
Loving you and will miss you always.
Your wife, children, grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Roger Young's Great Finish Clinches Win Over Royals

By JIM LINCOLN

A final-event victory Tuesday against Blissfield not only gave Tecumseh a 60-58 dual meet win, but also assured the Indians a share of the Huron League track crown.

The Royals had edged the Indians here in the all-league meet, 63-56, but needed to whip Tecumseh on the Royals' track to gain sole possession of the title.

Against Blissfield, Coach Tom Fagan juggled his runners and it paid off.

Instead of placing Roger Young in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, he inserted the speedy senior in the 440 and let him anchor the mile relay team.

The mile relay, last event on the card, found Young about 15 yards behind the Blissfield runner on the last lap. Roger, who holds the school record here in the 440 at 52 seconds flat, caught the Royal and won by several feet.

In the league meet last week, history repeated itself. Tecumseh favored to win, found itself struggling, and perhaps was lucky to finish second.

Lee Hannibal, handicapped with a leg injury, failed to qualify for the 120-yard high hurdles and ran only third in the 180 lows.

The lanky hurdler is easily the best in the league, and proved it against Blissfield when he won both hurdle events handily.

Joe Vargo in the shot put and Tony Lopez in the pole vault were the only firsts copped by the Indians in the league meet.

Health Study Opens 3rd Round

A new phase of activity began for the Tecumseh Community Health Study this month with the beginning of the second cycle of annual interviews and the third round of medical examinations.

Visits will be made to every home in the study area.

Information about health status will be asked of everyone, including persons new to the community.

As in earlier phases, appointments for medical examinations will be made at the time of the interviewer's visits.

DURING THE current cycle of visits, medical examinations will be scheduled for selected persons who were examined in either or both of the earlier rounds of examinations in 1959-1960 and 1962-1965.

During the third cycle of annual visits, starting in 1968, all other previously examined persons will be scheduled for re-examination.

Dr. Frederick H. Epstein, who with Dr. Thomas Francis, Jr. and John A. Napier, has ben associated with these studies from the beginning, explained the reasons for this plan.

"We are particularly anxious to have new and up-to-date sets of clinical information for persons who were examined earlier," he said.

"These observations will make it possible to compare changes in health status between examinations and to search for the reasons for any such changes," Dr. Epstein stated.

He also stated that all persons new to the community would be asked to come for examination at a later date, in order to "provide as broad a basis as possible for assessment of known or suspected causes of major chronic disease, with a view to earlier detection and prevention."

Dr. Epstein noted that one of the major strengths of the Tecumseh Community Health Study lies in the fact that many important observations and sub-studies can be made simultaneously as part of the total endeavor, with great savings in time, effort and expense.

He cited, as examples, the study of the common cold and other respiratory illnesses which began in December, 1965, and the study of dental malocclusion in a group of children, completed last spring, in two of the 10 population samples, which is now being repeated for these same children.

THE HEALTH STUDY clinic and offices for the field interview staff are now housed under one roof, at 9301 Tecumseh-Clinton Rd. near Meyers Airport.

The new quarters were occupied last fall and over 1,000 persons in the community have already come in as part of the family studies of the common cold and other respiratory illnesses.

Several new procedures have been added to the study because of their known or expected relationship to health.

All persons, age 16-69, to be examined are being asked to prepare a report of their usual daily leisure-time activities and to give information to the interviewer about their activities at work.

In a special study of dietary habits, each person age 16-69 is asked at the clinic visit to sort a group of prepared cards to show how often he eats various major food items.

Men and boys age 10-69 are asked to return for a second clinic visit to take a treadmill exercise test aimed at a more precise measurement of physical fitness.

A SPECIAL piece of electronically controlled equipment will test adequacy of lung function.

Two kinds of electrocardiograms, taken both in the standard way, and using a new recording system will also be obtained on magnetic tape for detailed study and comparison with similar information obtained from studies elsewhere.

A promising new device for recording blood pressures will provide more accurate readings on this important health factor.

THE LIST of publications in scientific journals and reports from the study made to scientific audiences in this country and in a number of foreign countries continues to mount.

The list has grown steadily and over 100 articles and reports from the study have been published to date in scientific journals.

The Tecumseh Study has truly become a standard against which findings from other investigations are measured. The people of Tecumseh can be justly proud, noted Dr. Epstein.

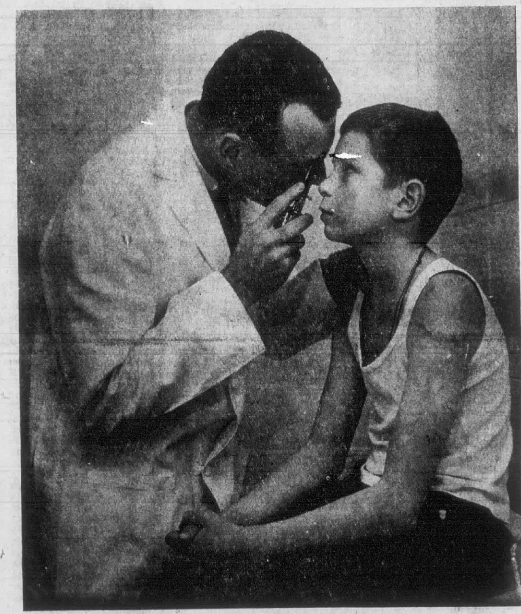
ENTIRE STAFF of the Cardiovascular Research Center of the University of Michigan "are profoundly grateful and deeply appreciative for the continued support of the people of Tecumseh without whose personal contributions these studies would not be possible," he said.

To be worthy of this confidence and trust, the study must remain productive.

Results so far, as measured by the favorable response of the scientific community, are most encouraging.



EACH PARTICIPANT GETS THOROUGH EXAM

Soil Should Be Improved

"Rediscover Hidden Lake Gardens" will be a July program for the Tecumseh Little Garden Club.

Members also plan a pool party for June.

Mrs. Donald Moffatt, president, will attend the annual three-day meeting and State Flower Show of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan in Dearborn.

The group met at the home of Mrs. William Holmes last week with Mrs. Earl Mason, a member of the horticulture committee, providing a program on "Starting your Garden, soil preparation, fertilizer and seeds."

She stated, "We must remember that gardens are made not born. Our garden moments of inspiration are altered by money, family, weather and soil.

"Without these moments of inspiration we would have no courage to get ahead. The most beautiful gardens are always in the mind, and it is fortunate when they get partially into the soil," she said.

Mrs. Mason emphasized the importance of improving the physical condition of the soil.

Organic matter from a compost pile s best. She said to remember to use limestone to sweeten soil and alum sulphate to make acid.

In planting flowers in the gardens, a good point to remember is white flowers glow at night. Also consider the interior color scheme of your home, she noted, cut flowers must look well inside.

Two common types of soil found around Tecumseh are sand and clay. Sandy soils are easier to work, but dry out faster and lost plant foods quicker.

Clay soil is heavier because it has finer particles in it. To make it "breathe," various types of home-made conditioners such as ground corncobs, leaves, sawdust and peat moss may be used.

DO NOT add sand, she warned.

Limestone has a loosening effect on a heavy clay soil, allowing air and water to pass through easier. Everyone received useful hints and worthwhile information for their gardens and lawn.

Assisting Mrs. Holmes for the evening were Mrs. Sydney Turner and Mrs. Richard Gobba.

At the next regular meeting John Kukini Prible, floral designer of Clinton, will demonstrate the mechanics in floral arranging.

Nurses Relax 'Island Style'

As guests relaxed in muumuus, munched Hawaiian puspus and sipped punch, little Cheryl Moll performed a hula.

This was the "island atmosphere" as Lenawee District Nurses met at the Holloway home of Mrs. Lavern Moll.

Each nurse in Michigan is being asked to purchase a $10 bond to help erect the new MNA offices. These can be obtained from Mrs. Journey Stoner in the Tecumseh area.

Mrs. Moll reported on the success of the Shock Workshop, held recently for Lenawee nurses. Speakers stimulated the nurses and presented them with a challenge.

A mimeographed summary of the clinical manifestations and the nurses role in caring for a shock patient is available for anyone interested.

Mrs. Moll and her committee served the fresh fruit, sherbet, crackers and coffee to round out the Hawaiian theme for the evening.

Mrs. Graham Is Honored for Scholastics

Mrs. Paul Graham, wife of the principal of elementary schools in Brooklyn, was among 147 Jackson Community College students honored Sunday.

Students feted at the annual Academic Honors Convocation have maintained scholastic averages of B or better.

Mrs. Graham is Joyce, the daughter of Mrs. David Taylor of Ridgeway and the late Mr. Taylor.

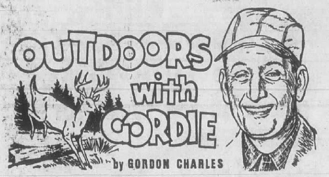
VETERAN MADE POPPIES — Mrs. William Flanders pokes a dollar bill into the canister for Buddy Poppies sold last weekend by the VFW and Auxiliary to continue the rehabilitation work for veterans and their families. Volunteer workers collected more than $500. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eisenminger were chairmen of the sale.



Figuring on doing some camping this year? The mark of a good camper is to leave a clean camp. Tin cans, paper, bottles and other trash just don't belong in the kind of place where most folks like to camp.

They should not be left to clutter up the area when you break camp.

There's sort of a two-way street involved here. The fellow who leaves his camp site clean sets an example for the next camper. And even though the two never meet, the outgoing camper will unknowingly win the respect of the incomer.

MICHIGAN is endowed with a number of beautiful camping areas and every effort is made to keep them beautiful.

This cannot be an exclusive job for the state or federal group usually in charge. The responsibility must be shared by every person who uses these areas.

These are for the public's enjoyment — to give everyone who wants to, and can take advantage of them, the opportunity to spend a few days and nights in the open away from the busy bustle of day-to-day living.

Treat these areas as though they belonged to you — for that is exactly what they do.

Even though a state or federal agency may handle the upkeep, you pay the bill in one way or another. Treat the area you camp in as if it were your own front yard at home. Leave it as clean as you found it — cleaner if possible.

PUT YOUR tin cans and other cast-offs in one place. When you are ready to break camp, throw everything but glass into the fire. Paper and food remnants will burn.

Even the cans will lose their rust-proof tin and their labels. When the cans cool off, mash them flat and bury them unless a trash container is available. In this case, use the container.

Don't dump your trash down outdoor toilets, either.

Whatever you do, please don't throw your excess tin cans, bottles, garbage and other trash into that pretty little stream or lake. And don't pitch it back into the bushes. In either case, it will show up later on when another camper finds it.

SPARE THE trees and wild flowers near your camp site. The other fellow who will follow you will enjoy these as much as you did if you leave them intact.

Wild flowers are usually difficult to transplant and will likely die before you could get them home, anyhow. Let them thrive in their own habitat.

Above all, watch your fire! Soak your campfire thoroughly with water when leaving the area, then check it again for that final, faint ember.

By thinking of the other fellow you will actually enjoy your camping trip more. Doing unto others as you would have them do unto you is more than a casual motto.

One-Fourth Single Homes Are Mobile

Professor C. M. Edwards, housing specialist from Michigan State University, dispeled some popular myths about taxation and mobile homes in a recent article which appeared in The Michigan Challenge.

Prof. Edwards wrote:

In 1966, the number of mobile homes built was about 24% of the number of single family housing starts in the U.S. The percentage of mobile homes in relation to fixed houses has about doubled in the last five years.

Mobile homes constitute about the only housing available under $10,000. Most segments of the mobile home industry say that the bottleneck to increased sales is appropriate places to locate mobile homes.

The principal reason that mobile home parks are not being built at a more rapid rate is because planning commissions and zoning boards do not see the mobile home and the park as they are today.

They may have a trailer park within their jurisdiction which was built 20 to 30 years ago, and from it they have formed a concept of a mobile home park.

THEN, TOO, there is the old myth that mobile homeowners do not pay their fair share of taxes. And still another myth, that the people who live in those mobile homes have so many kids that it is crowding the local schools.

First, let us consider the mobile home tax situation. Actually, it is good business from the standpoint of tax revenue for local government to encourage the development of mobile home parks. It is also good for the citizens of that area.

House owners are misled in comparing tax payments by looking at the dollars per year paid on a house in contrast to the dollars paid by a mobile homeowner for his living unit.

In Michigan, mobile home taxes are fixed by legislation at $3 per month, which is paid by the mobile homeowner through the park operator as tax collector and turned over to the local government.

HOMEOWNERS are immediately aroused to anger when they figure this $3 per month times 12 months is $36 per year. They view this as the only tax paid on this mobile home as a dwelling, and they compare that with the several hundred dollars which they pay on their house and lot.

Actually, when comparing tax revenue, one must consider the number of mobile homes per acre of land and multiply the amount of tax per home by the number on that acre, and then add to this figure the amount of tax paid by the park owner on that acre of land.

The park owner provides and maintains the local streets, water lines, sewer lines, and miscellaneous services customarily provided by local government, such as garbage disposal, and so forth, so that less money needs to be collected per acre of space devoted to mobile home parks than per acre of space devoted to a conventional housing development.

At one particular location in Michigan, an in-depth study was conducted of the tax situation, with the following results.

A park of five acres with 43 developed mobile home sites paid taxes as follows: on the mobile homes, school taxes — $1,032; town taxes — $258; total — $1,548. Park owner's tax on the 43 spaces of developed land: school tax — $538; town tax — $24; total — $648. Giving a total tax revenue on the 43 mobile homes and the developed spaces for them of: school tax—$1,570; town tax — $282; and a total of $2,196.

The tax revenue from an equivalent space in single family residences surrounding this park, with figures taken from the local tax roles, showed the total taxes paid on those single family residences was $1,579.

So, with $2,196 collected from the acreage in the park, it shows that $617 more tax revenue was received from the mobile home park than an equivalent space in surrounding single family residences.

THE SECOND widespread myth about mobile homes is in regard to the number of school-age children and the amount of school tax paid.

What people don't realize until they actually make a study of the situation is that there are few school-age children living in mobile homes.

A recent national study shows that although over 59 per cent of the mobile homes had no pre-school-age children, 63 per cent had no grammar school-age children, and over 70% had no high school-age children.

Of the mobile homes that did have pre-school-age children, slightly less than 14 per cent had one, and just less than 12 per cent had one grammar school-age child, and just about 8 per cent had one high school-age child.

"Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him."

Party Bids Farewell to Drobenas

MACON — The dining room of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church on Ridge Hwy., was the setting for a farewell for Pastor Thomas Drobena and family Sunday evening.

The tables were decorated with bouquets of tulips, lilacs and other spring flowers.

A buffet supper was served.

Pastor Borhman of Petersburg gave the invocation. Clarence Schroeder was master of ceremonies.

Following the supper the choir, under the direction of Helen Bendis of Tecumseh, sang two selections, accompanied by Miss Bendis on the piano.

Pastor Brondos of Sandy Creek, Monroe, was the guest speaker.

Walter Miller presented a gift of money to the Drobena family.

The choir closed with singing the "Doxology" and "Blessed Be the Tie that Binds" with the congregation joining in. Pastor Hafner of Milan, pronounced the benediction.

The wives of Pastor Borhman, Brondos and Hafner were among the guests.

Pastor Drobena and family will be leaving June 1.

Wear Poppies for Patriotism

Mrs. Robert Smith, chairman of the Poppy Sale for the American Legion Auxiliary, suggests that Tecumseh area residents wear a poppy this weekend in memory of America's heroic dead.

She stated, "This year, it seems to me, we have an urgent need for a patriotic awakening. Today's unrest calls for courage to serve and sacrifice to keep America secure from mounting dangers and a calm determination never to surrender any part of our freedoms.

'The bright little poppy, speaking of lives gallantly given, has a message which it is our duty to put before the citizens of our community," Mrs. Smith continued.

"Our baskets are filled with poppies made by the hands of disabled veterans working painstakingly side by side in hospitals throughout the nation. The flowers are purchased from the veterans by the Auxiliary to take to the people of the community," the chairman commented.

"It is a privilege entrusted to us to receive contributions to fulfill the program of rehabiliation and child welfare," she concluded.

Mrs. Smith and other members of the Underwood-Orr American Legion Auxiliary, assisted by Post members, will be selling poppies Friday and Saturday.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

Any Michigan citizen who has not yet completed his vacation plans should give serious consideration to visiting Expo '67 in Montreal for several days.

I had the pleasure recently of leading a delegation of about 1,400 Michigan citizens on a visit to the Canadian exposition and I feel it was worthwhile for all those who attended.

Of all the values which Expo '67 may serve, none is more important than the education about Canada that it will bring to millions of Americans.

For too long, Americans have tended to take Canada and Canadians for granted. Canada is just too close, geographically and culturally, for us to see her clearly as the great nation she is.

TOO OFTEN we are so preoccupied with crises that we have hardly any time left over for anything else. And our relations with Canada are not in the crisis category so our attention is not drawn to the Canadians.

But America must stop ignoring Canada.

For our two nations must not miss our opportunity, in partnership, to define for the rest of the world what international relations can mean in its best sense.

Our relations with Canada are based not only on the fact that we are allies, but also on the fact that we are neighbors.

And as neighbors, we share far more than just an abundant continent, a common frontier, and a similar heritage.

We also share the opportunity to set an example to the world—an example of peace and stability between two independent neighbors, each with its own sovereignty and each with its own proud identity.

WE MUST demonstrate to the rest of the world that international cooperation is built best when relationship between two countries are based on true partnership, not domination and control by one of the partners.

Our concern should always be for what will benefit us both, as friends and equal partners. We must work to improve both the climate and the machinery for problem-solving discussion and joint action between our two great nations.

One way this can be done is through strengthening of our International Joint Commission, which already is a successful international institution without parallel in history.

Today, the IJC can consider only those matters which are brought before it. Its role could be strengthened if it were authorized to initiate the negotiations which are sometimes difficult to start through the normal channels of diplomacy.

THIS WOULD make it an international institution without automatic loyalty to one country above the other and with the authority to act as the conscience of both.

This would be a helpful innovation in international diplomacy.

By this example and others like it, we can encourage and inspire all neighbors everywhere.

Diane Kime Marries John Schuler

CLINTON — Nuptial vows were exchanged by Diane Kime and S/4 John J. Schuler in the United Church of Christ Saturday.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Kime, of 116 Litchfield St. and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. John Schuler of 216 Tyrell St., and the late John J. Schuler.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Paul McKenna at 8 p.m.

Organist Mrs. John Fox accompanied soloist Donald Steffens.

Approaching the altar with her father, the bride wore a gown of Rachel lace with fitted bodice, scalloped neckline and long sleeves. Tiers of lace formed the bouffant skirt and a matching lace chapel train was held to the shoulders in back.

Jewel trimmed petals held her veil of illusion and the bride carried a cascade of miniature white carnations centered with white glamellias.

Valerie Kime, sister of the bride, was flower girl.

James J. Schuler was his brother's best man. Guests were seated by Dennis Kime, brother of the bride, Terry Dickerson of Dundee and Richard Thomas.

David Rafferty Jr. was ringbearer.

A reception at Tecumseh Grange Hall was attended by 200 guests, including great-grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. Cora Myers of Fairfield and Mrs. Louise Cole of Weston.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennison Howard of Onsted, aunt and uncle of the bride, were hosts at the reception.

The bride is a senior at Clinton High School and the bridegroom is a 1964 graduate of Clinton High School. He attended Jackson Community College and entered the Army in March 1966.

Upon their return from a four-day wedding trip in northern Michigan, Specialist Schuler will return to Union Lake Nike Base.

The bridegroom's mother entertained members of the wedding party at a rehearsal dinner Friday night at Cambridge Junction.

A bridal shower was given by Mrs. David Rafferty at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Kime, Thursday evening with 18 guests present.

A feature of the refreshment table was a cake with a simulated bridal party around a May Pole, decorated by Mrs. Robert Weinberg.

A shower of miscellaneous gifts were presented to Miss Kime.

Any Think

By JUDY FIELDER

Our flowers are finally blooming. Two years ago everything got transplanted, so last year, although a few hardy bulbs showed off, there wasn't much to shout about.

But now — finally — after a miserable winter and cold spring, the fruits of labor are paying off —with dividends.

The lilacs are loaded, tulips are gorgeous and white narcissus are pungently sweet.

In fact, the neighbors are getting sick of excess lilac deliveries.

The kids were busy for an hour Saturday delivering blooms to neighbors.

One gal called, "Thanks, but my back yard is full. I'm having trouble getting rid of them, too."

Now, one of the gals in the office has come up with something else to look foreward to.

While trees are loaded with blossoms, the fruit is yet to come . . .and what do we have . . .a cool summer recipe that makes us wish July was here.

FRESH PEACH CHEESECAKE
1 9-inch pie

1 pound fresh peaches
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1½ packages (8 oz.) soft cream cheese
¾ cup sour cream
1 teasp. pure vanilla extract
1 9-inch graham cracker pie shell
Sliced fresh peaches

Peel peaches by dipping in boiling water for a few seconds and slipping off skins. Chop peaches finely. There should be about 1 cup.

Combine chopped peaches, sugar and lemon juice. Cover and refrigerate 20 minutes. Drain liquid from peaches. There should be about ½ cup. Soften gelatine with peaches. Cool, stirring occasionally, until slightly thickened.

Beat cream cheese until light. Stir in sour cream and vanilla. Fold peaches into cheese mixture. Turn into pie shell and refrigerate until firm. Before serving garnish with sliced peaches.

A BUSY THURSDAY

That Wednesday evening, as the bottom fell out of the barometer and the wind switched around until it was blowing out of the south southwest, we wondered and wondered. Would Thursday be the day we had been looking for and expecting?

Once or twice each spring we have a warbler day. These are always fun-packed days, full of excitement, much activity and utter frustration.

Warblers are marvelous migrators. They are smart too and, on their surprisingly long trips, eagerly accept a helping hand from Mother Nature.

Often traveling at night and in huge flocks, they will hitchhike north on a strong south wind.

Thus it is that in the spring, when all conditions are right, we open the drapes in the morning and look out on a tree-top world which is absolutely alive with tiny birds.

HOORAY! Thursday, May 11, did turn out to be a warbler day. A wave of the birds had come through, the invasion was on. For awhile we were happy just watching them flit and dart.

The big elm tree was still leafed out only in a fine delicate lace and so our view there was reasonably unobstructed. It was a different matter, however, with the maples because their leaves were already big enough to hide a three or four-inch bird.

Soon, of course, we were not content merely to watch the visitors bounding about and snatching up their buggy lunches, we wanted to know names. This is where the frustration always starts.

Tiny birds, with unlimited energy and a genius type talent for not coming close to my window, afford all sorts of trouble.

It is hard enough to hold heavy binoculars up to your own eyes and focus in on such an active little subject as a warbler but, for compounded problems, just try holding glasses up for someone else to use.

ACTUALLY, Liz and I worked together well and I caught an extremely good look at a small black and yellow bird. A quick check through the "Audubon Field Guide" and our newly-arrived friend was named a myrtle warbler.

At least we believe he was. Black bib, black back, yellow spot at base of tail, yellow at side of body near wings and white bars on wings.

Just think, if the many black-and-yellow warblers we saw that day were indeed myrtles, they conceivably could have come from as far south as Panama and were probably heading for Canada.

Some of the other visitors did not fall so easily into name. There were black and orange ones who would not match anything.

Neither Liz nor I could get a good enough look — they were just a blur of Tecumseh High colors.

An invading army of warblers is a happy, high spirited group and joining the revelers were some of our goldfinches. It restored our confidence a bit to be able to identify them quickly.

OTHER OLD friends who joined the busy, busy throng, in fact they had probably arrived with it, were the yellow warblers. They are a beautiful lemon color, slightly tinged with a greenish hue when seen in the proper light, and most welcome.

They, of course, will be with us all summer. There were other warblers whom we could not even begin to identify, they just added to the fun and excitement of the day.

There were even some tiny wren type characters — they were maddeningly fond of the big leaf maple trees.

So it is that the warbler excitement, frustration, but always fun all started with a busy Thursday.

NEXT WEEK:

Well, Welcome Bluejays!

Some random thoughts —

It's great for your ego when you see commendable traits show up in your children, which you can proudly trace back to yourself.

But it's rather upsetting to recognize the source of the less admirable ones.

Why is it that after you dutifully provide a suitable sandbox, swing set, nationally advertised toys and other such privileges for the pre-school set, they prefer to play in the gravel at the edge of the street?

And why are children so suspicious of any unfamiliar food on the table? If they can't tell what it is, right away they don't like it. You'd think we were trying to poison the little darlings.

It is a good habit for children to learn to keep their own rooms clean — it develops a sense of neatness and responsibility. 'Besides," one mother was overheard to say recently, "It sure helps me out a lot!"

Nothing will bring a tear to a mother's eye quicker than a sensational, handmade Mother's Day card. It may be a bit smeary or lopsided, or the spelling may not be correct, but you can bet that "I luv you" is heart - felt.

The most crucial task parents face, that of raising children, is one for which most of us are woefully unprepared. We sort of "learn by doing." It's a wonder the results are as good as they are.

It doesn't pay to brag too much on your kids. They have a way of making liars out of you soon after you say "My child wouldn't do that!"

Heard a good suggestion the other day, to the effect that we should all trade kids, because everyone seems to know how to raise the other folks' young ones.

Public Relations Clinic Gets Praise from Social Services

Catholic Social Services of Lenawee County board members met on May 17.

Mrs. Francis Faulhaber praised the organization of the May 10 United Fund Public Relations Clinic, which she and James Fennelly, executive secretary, attended at Siena Heights College.

She outlined presentations by Sister M. Leonella, O.P. who conducted a TV orientation and demonstration.

Sister M. Jeannine, O.P., demonstrated some of the technical aspects of designing display material.

Hoig Gay of the Adrian Daily Telegram and Tom Riordan of The Tecumseh Herald gave informal talks on the requirements and problems of newspapers.

Gene Baril of WABJ explained the use of radio as media for public information.

Mr. Fennelly brought to the attention of the Board the need for competent volunteers to assist Catholic Social Services of Lenawee County in the transportation of infants in the foster care program due to the increase in work with unmarried parents.

Church Is Outgrown

Sunday has been designated as Expansion Day at the Church of God, 605 S. Pearl St.

According to the pastor the Rev. Alfred Sheley, the 15-year-old church building is badly overcrowded. The only Sunday School classroom space at the church is in the sanctuary.

With attendance running over 100, all students from the age of 13-years and up have to be combined into one class.

The Junior Department has to utilize the pastor's living quarters, next door at the parsonage to conduct classes.

Eleven have joined the church since Easter.

At 2:30 Sunday afternoon a special service is to be held to discuss whether to secure additional space and build a church addition or to sell the church and relocate elsewhere, possibly in the south end of Tecumseh.

Rev. Sheley was elected president of the Tecumseh Ministerial Association last March.

Fire Destroys Robert LeBarons' Trailer Home

Fire caused by an exploded oil furnace completely destroyed the house trailer residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert LeBaron, on Matthews Hwy. Saturday afternoon.

The family, which includes a son, Robert, 4, and a daughter, Tammy, 2, was in Adrian when the fire was discovered by a neighbor, Ben Sherman.

Clinton Fire Department was called but was unable to save any of the family's clothing or furniture.

The LeBarons are staying with her mother, Mrs. Jennie Bird, who lives in a trailer on Matthews Hwy., at the intersection of Munger Rd.

Mr. LeBaron was employed at Ford Motor Company, Rawsonville, but has been ill for the past six weeks.

The family is in need of clothing, furniture and a place to live, Mrs. Bird said.

Food is still a bargain. Average incomes in the U. S. have doubled since 1950 while food costs have risen only 25%.

Buicks From Schneiders Are Always IN THE Parade

HOW MANY REMEMBER THIS MEMORIAL DAY PARADE?

This photo shows a Memorial Day parade of yesterday — and even then we participated. An article about the old Buick and parade was taken from The Herald, July 10, 1924:

"Schneider Bros. surely had some floats and their tire cannon was both unique and picturesque in the extreme. By skilful work they had fashioned a huge cannon out of tires that looked as real as some of the big guns that boomed in the late war and it deserves special mention. Their other floats represented by the modern Buick very prettily decorated caused much favorable comment while the old Buick of other years raised a storm of approval as it drove along apparently as good as the days when it was the pride of someone's heart."

Wisdom from Holland

It's getting to be vacation time again and if you have never seen the genuine windmill in Holland, situated on its own island, a trip there should be considered.

In addition to the windmill itself, there are many interesting items, including some "editorial paragraphs" with the display of wooden shoes. The Dutch call them klompen and a fellow named Sipp Houtman dreamed up the bits of wisdom.

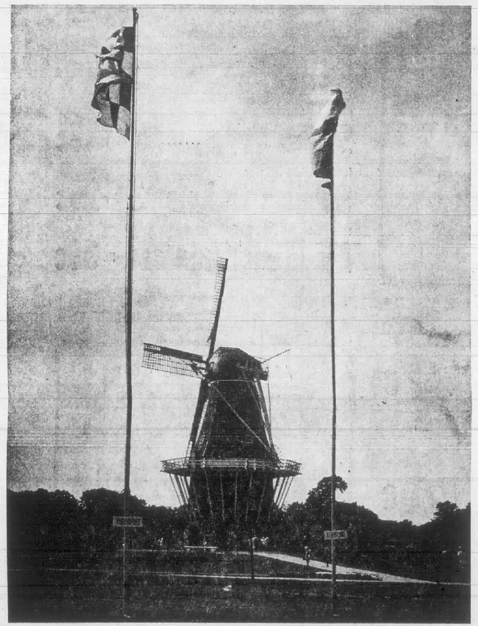
► Should your child address you in hard words, apply a klomp to his soft parts.

► Father, tuck your temper in a klomp outside the door, give your family tenderness they'll ask for little more.

► Grandpa said, 'Get your Sunday klompen large enough to stuff with straw. Churches are cold and sermons long, warm feet good Christians make."

► Mother's klomp and daughter's klomp are of a pattern, as mother is, so daughter likely will be — neat or slattern.

► A rich man lived but to skimp and save, a poor man only spent and gave — each wears but two klompen in his grave!



WINDMILL ISLAND IN HOLLAND IS FASCINATING PLACE

Was Zoning at Fault?

When an industrial plant is operating at capacity and can do more business, it usually expands.

Last week's announcement by Tecumseh Corrugated Box was not exactly a surprise. Neither was it a surprise that its expansion is to be outside Tecumseh.

Company officials originally had plans to increase operations here. Such a plan would have meant more employment and more city and school tax dollars.

Expansion here is no longer conceiveable, which brings up the question "why?"

Has the city gone too far in telling industry how it can expand and where it can expand? This appears to be the case with Tecumseh Corrugated Box.

Let's hope that it's not the case in the future when other local industries want to expand. When our zoning rules prohibit expansion, especially a plan submitted by Tecumseh Corrugated, then we had better take a second look at our regulations.

Thoughtless Comment Challenged

TO THE EDITORS:

In last week's Herald it was stated Dr. Knisley was quitting his service to Tecumseh that called for him to care for stray dogs picked up by the Dog Warden.

His reason being he had received complaints that he was doing this for personal motive. Just why don't we let the story out?

It seems a fairly new resident of our fair city allowed his dog to run loose. The Dog Warden, doing his job, picked up the dog and took it to Dr. Knisely.

The warden has one of two choices when he sees a stray — either pick it up or warn the owner about letting his dog run loose, and in case of no license he warns the owner to get one.

A short while later the owner called the police about his dog and was told to check with Dr. Knisely.

After checking and going for his dog he was told he owed $2 for his care. To say he hit the ceiling is putting it mildly.

It came down to the fact he believed Dr. Knisely had a personal motive in his arrangement to care for any stray at $2 a day with the city.

This is all Dr. Knisely gets for his service outside of feeling good that he cares for a dumb animal.

This man became a veterinarian because he loved animals and didn't want to see them suffer.

Mrs. Albert Caesar (a fairly new resident herself) upon going down to get her own dog license, found out that the money was not used for anything.

This energetic lady did something about it. She founded a Lost Pet Service. When a stray is picked up she is told and she tries to find the owner or gets a new one instead.

She receives nothing for this service but personal pleasure. For this is one of the most kind, unselfish and sweetest women God put on Earth.

ASK DR. KNISELY about some of the strays he has taken care of. Ask about the little fellow who was dumped off and a string tied around one leg so he had no use of it at the time.

You should see that now. You just wouldn't believe it is the same one. Ask about the dogs who had distemper.

Now think if we didn't have Mrs. Caesar or a dog warden or a veterinarian who cares. Who's to say that some sick stray wouldn't attack and injure one of our children?

You sure would yell why don't we have a dog warden, wouldn't you? Well we do and we have a city ordinance that says it's against the law to allow your dog to run loose.

Now we are going to lose the service of Dr. Knisely and what are we going to do about these stray dogs?

There is no other place to put them and Dr. Knisely has nice clean, warm kennels.

I would hate to think the city dog warden would have to do what the county dog warden does.

Any stray (license or not) he puts to sleep five minutes after he picks them up.

I know what my children would feel if they lost their pet dog in such a cruel way. What would you feel?

Well, I hope Dr. Knisely does not let a few blowhards allow us to do without his services.

If this guy that complained so much will contact me I'll see that he gets his $2 back.

It doesn't seem fair that a lady who works so hard to keep dogs off the street and our children safe to be slapped down like this. I say three cheers for Mrs. Caesar. Will you join me?

Thoughts on Vietnam

TO THE EDITORS:

I would like to at this time thank everyone around the Britton area for their wonderful get well cards. They were well appreciated and thought of.

During the three months I spent in the hospital, these cards brought me a little closer to home and the way of life in the states.

Ever since I've been over here on Okinawa, I've heard so much about the people in the states protesting the war in Vietnam. Well here is something to think on.

While I was in the hospital I saw guys come and go and most of them were from down South. Many had lost legs, arms and some will never see the states again.

I've talked to plenty of them and here is what some of them say.

"Well, I'm just down there trying to protect the American way of life and the way I've always been taught to believe in."

Others say.

"I don't know what I'm fighting for because of the people (mostly kids) who are doing all of the anti-war marching or sit-ins. I just can't figure it out."

Myself, I think if the people could see some of these GI's who are fighting (18, 19 and 20) and talk to them they would agree with me these young men are doing a lot besides fighting for their country.

Myself, I've never been in Vietnam and don't consider myself an expert on the subject, but I know what I see and what I hear from the guys themselves.

I have a few friends who graduated with me from Britton High in 1965 and who are now on their way South. I wish them all the most, because they are my fellow classmates.

I feel if we help our boys who are in the service or going into the service, to let them know that we are behind them 100% they will know what they are fighting for.

I don't want anyone to get the idea that I'm just writing this letter because I was lucky and not over there.

If I could I would be right over there with the rest of the boys, but it is impossible for me because of my leg.

The preceeding letter is my idea and not the views of anyone else.

Relatives Are Sought

TO THE EDITORS:

My great grandfather, Timothy Mitchell, was an early settler in Tecumseh, coming there in the early 1800's. I think he was a surveyor. He was married three times (Lovina Dawley, Martha Jane Brooks Ives and Jerusha Brooks Calkins). He and his three wives are buried at or near Tecumseh. He died in 1879 at age 89.

I would be very pleased to hear from anyone who is a descendant or relative of his, or of Lee and Nancy Mitchell; Nathaniel Mitchell and his two wives; Moses and Elizabeth (Mitchell) Calkins; John and Jerusha (Mitchell) Judson; or where any of them are buried or anything about any of them.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Sunday was an important milestone in the life of Clarence Hall.

It marked the 50th consecutive year that he served as chairman of the annual Macon Cemetery Memorial Day program.

Now 74, Clarence has been on the cemetery board at Macon since 1917, knows every family plot, can tell you where each grave is located.

The ceremony to honor war dead is traditionally held the Sunday prior to Memorial Day and is coupled with the Macon homecoming.

Clarence assumed the Memorial Day chairmanship from the late Allen Collins, who handled the chore 37 years himself.

With a beautiful sky overhead and a gentle breeze, Sunday offered a perfect time for the event and Clarence was in complete command — except when Bob Osborne took to the rostrum to give the invocation.

He asked Mr. Hall to stand by as he fished a bundle of papers from his pocket. They turned out to be neatly mimeographed programs for the day, apparently the first time any had ever been done.

Explained Mr. Osborne, "The youngsters in band (Basic Five Plus) felt that there should be something special for today and so David Bush (saxophone) got these printed at his church (Britton Emmanual Lutheran.)"

Clarence was pretty pleased by the whole thing, but he's not the sort to get dewy-eyed.

The Basic Five Plus got things rolling with a sharp rendition of the Battle Hymn of the Republic.

STATE SENATOR Gil Bursley clambered onto the rostrum, which happened to be the flat bed of a Ford pickup, and delivered the day's address.

"What better time could there be for a reawakening of the spirit of America and how could it better be accomplished than by recalling those heroes and events that made — and kept — America great?

"The battle casualty lists from far off Vietnam grow longer daily as (Americans) die in the muddy rice paddies, the steaming water and missile-infested skies.

"American boys fight — and many die — for their principles of freedom, without hope of directly gaining a better life for themselves.

"Sacrifices of these heroes of today remind us — as the heroes of the past have — that the freedom, which we often take so lightly and so much for granted, comes always with a costly price tag.

"But while our brave men are slogging through dense, mine-trapped jungles, disrupting forces at home are urging people to 'sell out' and quit Vietnam.

"Under the guise of peace, these people destroy our cherished American heritage.

"Through the path of our history, more than 30 million Americans have borne arms in time of war. A million of our finest young men have died for the cause of freedom. Two million more have shed their blood in the cause.

"May we always remember to use reverently the freedom so costly won by those whose memory we honor and to use them wisely in promoting justice and peace among all men and all nations," the senator concluded.

FOR THE 17th straight year the Tecumseh VFW color guard was on hand to fire a salute to the war dead.

So were a bunch of Clarence's grandchildren and great grandchildren.

I overheard one of the youngest telling a group of other kids, as she led them on a tour, "This is my grandfather's cemetery, it's his very own cemetery."

Which isn't stretching the truth too much.

Alumni To Dine at Outdoor Meal

Reservations for the Tecumseh High School Alumni Banquet may be mailed to Harry Teets, treasurer, 1107 Willow Ct.

The outdoor chicken barbecue at $2.25 person will be held on St. Elizabeth parking lot Saturday, June 24.

A dance, music by the Raisin Rats, will be held in the auditorium following the 6:30 p.m. banquet, which will be preceded by a 5:30 p.m. coffee hour.

Russian Youths Get Early Indoctrination

Most Russian youngsters, between two and six, are kept in boarding schools, Dr. Elvan Duvall told 200 attending last week's mayor exchange banquet.

Now the superintendent of Jackson schools, Dr. Duvall started his teaching career more than 15 years ago at Tecumseh High.

He was one of 12 administrators from across the United States who made a tour of the Soviet Union recently.

He said that with parental consent, nearly 90% of pre-school boys and girls in Russia spend four years in state schools.

There and later in school they are grounded in communism and atheism.

DR. DUVALL reported most Russians they saw were somber and close-mouthed.

Whenever they did talk, they said, "Let's live in peace. We don't want war."

The one-time Tecumseh teacher and coach showed a series of color pictures he took — some without the knowledge of the Russian official who accompanied the party of Americans.

A few showed slum housing, which is often hidden from view by modern, high-rise apartments.

Lenin is worshipped by Russians as a god, Dr. Duvall said, with evidence of shrines and statues wherever the Americans went.

Currently, the Soviet Union is celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Russian revolution.

THE DINNER, prepared by the women of the St. Elizabeth Altar Society, was served by daughters of members.

The Rev. Blair Bashore was toastmaster with the Rev. Laszlo Gero giving the invocation and the Rev. Fr. Thomas J. Collins the benediction.

Mayor Harold Easton introduced city officials and spoke glowingly of the Tecumseh party's day in St. Joseph, which was the previous Monday.

St. Joe's chief executive W. H. Ehrenberg said he was greatly impressed with Tecumseh and the "genuine people" he met here. He noted residents here are "blessed with many things."

Mayor Easton, in referring to his opposite number told folks at the dinner, "If you visit St. Joe you have my permission to buy Standard Oil gasoline. Duke (Mayor Ehrenberg) is the Standard Oil dealer there."

Mayor Easton owns a Mobil station here.

Young Girl in Serious Condition

Sharyl Steiner, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Steiner, 7218 N. Ridge Rd., was struck by a car and seriously injured Wednesday morning, May 31, while crossing the highway near her home.

Frank Becker, Britton police chief who investigated the accident, said the young girl suffered head and back injuries and abrasions. She was rushed to Herrick Memorial Hospital.

According to the police report, the young girl was on her way to play with a neighboring friend when she apparently came out onto the road from behind some trees.

Howard W. Wilke, 64, of 80 Willow Rd., Milan, driver of the car, was not held responsible for the mishap.

Accident occured about one-fourth mile north of M-50 on Ridge Rd.

Everyone Must Labor for Unity Among Men

"When taps are sounded and the bugle's voice rings out and rifles bark their stern message of death, even the smallest child has some stirring of awe . . . and silence falls like a pall for one brief moment."

So noted the Rev. Fr. Thomas J. Collins, pastor of St. Elizabeth's Church at the city's Memorial Day service in Brookside Cemetery.

"'Whatever you may hold, the future is before us and the light and torch of knowledge and science must forge a new path, a new way to a better world.

"Religion and morality and science must walk hand in hand in this building of the future till mankind reaches the Omega, the realization of its destiny — in the kingdom of heaven," the speaker said.

Fr. Collins told the audience "if our presence has meaning, every one of us is charged with the duty to labor for peace, for unity among men."

His talk climaxed Tecumseh's annual celebration, which began with a brief ceremony at city hall and continued with a giant parade to the cemetery.

Ducks Teach Fire Hazard

Donald Duck has taught a lesson to 1,875 elementary children at nine Tecumseh area schools.

A cartoon "Donald Duck's Fire Survival Plan" was sponsored jointly by Consumers Power Company and Tecumseh firemen "to get the kids to go home and talk about the film with parents," said fire chief Wallace MacGeorge.

"We hope they will pre-plan for fire emergencies — to eliminate panic," he added.

Two representatives from Consumers, Everett Beemer of Adrian and Walt Rothman of Jackson and three firemen, Chief MacGeorge, Buck Maynard and Ralph Sager, spent three days showing the film and answering questions.

Highlights of the film include:

- Make fire escape plan of house.
- Don't hide from fire in closet or under bed.
- Be sure bedroom windows open easily and that children know how to open them.
- Shut bedroom doors at night.
- If smoke is smelled in the night, stay low — move along floor.
- Feel door to see if it is hot before opening.
- Upstairs — if no roof, make rope ladder for escape.
- Have alarm available, a whistle or other noisemaker.

In the United States every day there are 1,500 fires with 18 deaths, one-third of which are small children, mostly due to heat and smoke suffocation.

AMERICAN LEGION HONOR GUARD AND FIRING SQUAD SENDS UP VOLLEY IN MEMORY OF WAR DEAD

Stranger Returns $150 Purse

BRITTON — No one is a stronger believer in human honesty than Mrs. Agnes Federspiel of rural Britton, especially after last Sunday.

She lost her purse, which contained $150 in cash and other valuables, Sunday morning.

While at the Dundee cemetery, she set her purse on the trunk of the car and drove away with it still there. The purse fell off along the highway.

Later, when she missed it, she couldn't remember what she had done with it.

Everett Payette of South Custer Road, Monroe, driving along the highway that afternoon, saw the purse and stopped.

He picked up the scattered contents and drove to Britton.

He turned it in to the Britton Police, who called Mrs. Federspiel, who was surprised and overjoyed.

"It sure seems to renew your faith in people — there are still honest people in the world after all," she said.

Mr. Payette refused to accept any reward.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Everyone Pitched In

Michigan Week in Tecumseh was once more a grand success — thanks to efforts of many people.

Particularly impressive was the parade to honor visiting mayor Duke Ehrenberg of St. Joseph and the banquet following. Jaycees were in charge of both events and didn't leave a stone unturned.

The Pet Parade, handled by Kiwanians, also was a highlight.

Another event of the week — although taking place by coincidence and not part of the celebration — was the naming of Mrs. Madeline K. Tuttle as Michigan's "Small Businessman of the Year."

Among many congratulatory messages sent to Mrs. Tuttle was the note from Congressman Marvin Esch, who said:

I am aware of the vital role small business plays in our free enterprise economy and am especially proud of your contribution in this field."

Mayor Ehrenberg was especially lavish in his praise of Tecumseh and its governmental officials, who hosted him during the day. "You are to be considered fortunate to have these people running your town," he told the 200 at the banquet.

There were ample servings of humor, thanks mainly to the Rev. Blair Bashore, toastmaster of the evening. Among his off-the-cuff comments, after lengthy introduction of city officials: "There are so many boards, you'd think we'd be getting something done besides giving me a parking ticket." (The Baptist minister had just been cited for a meter violation.)

Chamber of Commerce board members — Mrs. Robert Bowers, Mrs. Bill Flanders, Don Martin, Joe Hayden and Arnie Saylor — were never without their Indian headdresses, wearing them throughout the banquet.

Finally, we'd like to compliment the American Legion and teenagers who kept the downtown flags flying each day during Michigan Week.

Action Is Their Motto

During the past 12 months, Tecumseh Jaycee and Auxiliary members have been hustling crews.

All told, they worked on 64 projects.

Their efforts envolved $28,005.45. All of that cash came from Jaycee money-raising efforts.

At last week's Jaycee dinner-dance at the American Legion Treasurer Ronald Albert gave a penny-by-penny accounting of the group's efforts, which run such diverse undertakings as football lights, fire siren, girls softball team, Santa calling, Carnival, Treasure Hunt, Christmas trees, junior golf, Follies, track relays.

It would seem that should you want something done — and done right — give the chore to the Jaycees and Auxiliary.

To My Son, at Graduation

By CHRIS FAIRBANKS

Too soon, too soon,
The years have hurried by,
The happy years, the carefree years,
Yet not without their sighs.

That far-off day, set eighteen years ago
When I so proudly held you to my breast,
Now fast approaches, and you soon must fly
And leave the sheltered nest.

The world awaits: the future, yours to take;
The laughter, love and heartaches still unplanned;
While I remain behind remembering with pride
The infant son, the toddler, schoolboy — now a man.

The schoolboy games are near forgotten now —
You soon will strive for life's far greater prize;
Be strong of heart, my son; the world needs men
Who falter not, but ever stand for Right.

And who can tell just where your steps may lead?
Into the secret future, our eyes but dimly see;
And only God can view the mysteries ahead,
While we with hopeful heart await the fates' decree.

Your feet must make their own strong way,
I cannot follow now —
But still my love goes with you, every step,
And though my head does bow.

My spirit soars, my heart takes wing,
And I pray that I have so fulfilled my task,
That you will live to honor self and parents, your country and your God.
This is what I humbly now do ask.

BRITTON — Elaine Cadmus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Cadmus of 8248 Milwaukee Rd., Tecumseh, became the bride of Bob Renka, son of Mrs. James Renka of Columbus, Ga., and the late Mr. Renka, Saturday evening. The vows were repeated in the soft glow of candlelight.

The Rev. Gustav Hannevik performed the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. in the Congregational Christian Church.

MRS. BOB RENKA

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, approached the altar wearing a gown of imported ronda satin, appliqued with Alencon lace. The bodice featured a round neckline accented with pearls, sequins, rhinestones and lace. Long sleeves tapered to points over the wrists. The A-line skirt was floor-length with a cathedral train and her elbow-length veil was fastened to a crown of lace, pearls and sequins.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Donald Mueller, sister of the bride, was attired in a floor-length gown of blue crystalette satin, designed with a round neckline, elbow-length sleeves and A-line skirt with train attached with a bow at the back.

Attendants were Mrs. Jack Patterson of Adrian, sister of the bride, Mrs. Joseph Laslo of Tecumseh, sister of the groom and Cynthia Frayer of Britton, cousin of the bride. Their gowns were identical to that of the matron of honor in ice blue. The attendants all wore matching picture hats.

The bridal gown and the attendants' dresses were made by the bride's sister, Mrs. Donald Mueller.

Joseph Laslo of Tecumseh attended his brother-in-law as best man. Ushers were Gary Jackson, George Downard and Tom Cadmus.

Mrs. William Raeburn, organist, accompanied the soloist William Hettrick, who sang "The Wedding Prayer"" and "The Lord's Prayer."

After a week in Acapulco Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. Renka will be at home at 412 West Chicago Blvd., Tecumseh.

Any Think

By JUDY FIELDER

We have just returned from a delightful weekend vacation — thank goodness.

Have to brag a little about eldest, Jody, who was flower girl in cousin Linda Heath's wedding in Evanston, Ill., last Saturday.

She was a picture in her bright pink full-length gown carrying a flower-filled basket down the aisle with ringbearer cousin Terry, decked out in full tux.

A particularly special wedding this, Linda being the baby girl of the family.

I had planned to make Jody's dress and the material was on hand for a month before good friend Helene Ruhl came to the rescue and spent many hours — because Ol' Mom couldn't get the courage to "put it to the scissors."

Last week when the bride and her father called to see how things were progressing, the report was good. (Didn't feel there was any reason to tell them the kids had been exposed to the mumps the week before, figuring time would tell.)

THE WEDDING party waited at the altar as Linda, in her mother's bridal gown, turned to her father at the front of the church. He lifted her veil, gave her a lingering kiss and she then turned to Bob, her husband-to-be and the Catholic high mass began.

For the first time, Dad and brother Bill sang the wedding mass in duet, the closest sound to heaven on earth.

Don't think there was a dry cloth left in the church. I even soaked Jim's handkerchief, after running out of my own plentiful supply.

Being fully aware of my prejudice, I listened for comments afterward.

One long-time parishioner said, "That the second time I ever heard that priest sing the mass — it was too beautiful for him to resist."

An old friend of the family, "When I saw the bride give a quick wave to the choir loft as she and her father started down the aisle, I knew it was someone close to her, but when they sang, I poked my husband, "That's Wallace. Nobody else can sing like that!"

Yeah, boys, it was really "out of this world."

LONG CEREMONY, warm church and the wedding party had to kneel through most of it, so the inevitable.

Bridesmaid Emily stuck it out until she was blind — not wanting to goof the ceremony (sitting right behind her, I noticed next maid take her elbow as she wavered).

The bride's father helped her off the altar and out the side door we went.

Back in the dresing room, revived, she wanted to go back in, "Oh, I don't want to ruin it. How will Lon (her escort — Linda's brother) ever get out?"

"Sit down kiddo, your face is slightly green. Besides, everything can't go perfectly — the kids have to have something to talk about in their old age."

Most of the people in the church didn't realize the crisis as Lon slipped out the side door after the ceremony.

OUR DRIVE to Evanston Friday had a few distractions.

Like the animal prancing in the middle of US-12, mooing at a batch of cows on the other side of the fence.

We stopped at nearby farmhouse, then I said to Jim, "Don't you think we ought to go chase that cow off the road?"

"Honey," he answers, "That's a bull — you're not going to chase him anywhere."

WE PULLED off the Chicago Skyway onto the Dan Ryan Expressway — hot — 96 degrees at O'Hare Airport.

Shortly after, DJ on Illinois radio station blurts, "Hey, all you folks in cars, stay off the Dan Ryan X-Way — it's a parking lot from the skyway to the other side of the Loop."

Thanks a lot, buddy, you could have told us 10 minutes earlier and saved us four hours of steaming, starting, stopping and swearing with four tired kids in the back end.

We sneaked off the expressway just in time to hit the industrial traffic — red light at each block.

WE CHECKED in at the motel, threw the room key and three kids at the sitter (a friend of the Heath family, who offered to help out — poor gal) hopped back in the car and zipped to the church, after stopping for directions, with Jody changing into presentables in the back seat, in the nick of time for the 7 p.m. rehearsal.

Mission accomplished, we collapsed back to the motel, ready for a quick dip in the pool (which was empty), sent kids and sitter to restaurant, had a cold tranquilizer, quickly showered and dressed for the rehearsal dinner amid wall-to-wall beds (two double and two rollaways make for little floor space).

Sunday morning we checked out (strobe light charger for camera is still plugged in behind room 114 TV set) and headed for home, running into several relaxing rainstorms.

DURING LUNCH, I casually mentioned, "Think I'll take a nap when we get back on the road."

Jim, who ate his meal after the rest of us had finished because the waitress misunderstood his order, choked, "I was just going to ask you to drive. Don't you dare fall asleep."

Ahhhhh, no place like home! Kids pile out, hug and kiss the neighbors, promptly start a ferocious game of kickball and squabbles while parents collapse.

Monday, it's back to the completely shot diet after eating everything from filet mignon to blueberry pancakes — three squares a day, plus.

HISTORY OF MICHIGAN

Consumers Offers Film

A third and final film in a unique motion picture trilogy gives Michigan schools their state's complete history.

"Michigan in Motion," the newest of the historical trio, is now available to schools, said A. F. Brewer, Division Manager for Consumers Power Company.

The half-hour film is companion to two earlier award-winning motion pictures, "When Michigan Was Young," produced by Consumers Power in 1964, and "Mich-I-Gan-I-A" produced in 1965. More than 500,000 people have veiwed each of the two earlier films.

The first in the series tells the story of Michigan from the Ice Age to about the year 1800.

"Mich-I-Gan-I-A" (its title derives from a popular song in the middle 1800's) uses historical drawings, sketches, paintings and old photographs to tell a fast-moving story of hardship, warfare, community growth and early industrial and commercial expansion during the 19th century.

"Michigan in Motion" brings the audience along on a trip through the era of the automobile's development, the Great War that was followed by a Great Depression and then to World War II.

It runs into the surging economic growth that accompanied the arrival of the Space Age. It even reaches a bit beyond the present, as it ends with an optimistic look toward the year 2000.

All films are available through Consumers Power, as a public service.

The Historical Society of Michigan and the Michigan Curriculum Planning Committee acclaimed the films.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Time was — a long time ago, when a Vern Hathaway family lived on Centennial Rd. and their daughter, Sena, taught school at the end of the road intersecting Rogers Hwy. She not only taught eight grades, reading, writing, 'rithmetic and singing as she pumped the wheezy old organ with her feet, but she built the fire in the big old basement furnace too. At noon, the glowing embers made a marvelous place to toast sandwiches.

Sometimes she mended somebody's pants that were ripped in the recess. "Pom Pom Pull Away" contest and now we read that Sena Hathaway Baker is retiring after 24 years in Adrian Public Schools.

Had I not been one of those urchins she cared for diligently while trying to plant some seeds of learning in their heads, I would not understand how very much she deserves a happy retirement. Bless you, teacher.

Car Skids on Gravel, Hits Stump

'Go Slow on Building'

By MAXINE CALHOUN

Members of the Lenawee County Planning Commission heard several proposals for the improvement of county education last week.

Milton Porter, County School Superintendent, cautioned county schools now planning more buildings to meet immediate needs to, "take another look," at school reorganization.

Schools in Tecumseh, Clinton, Morenci, Sand Creek, Madison, and Adrian are all in the process of planning more buildings.

Mr. Porter recalled how the county school system has changed from 187 districts in 1947 to the present 12, with 23,000 students. He predicted the number of students will grow to 35,000 by 1985.

Mrs. Marion Donaldson, county film librarian, said the film library now has 300 16 mm films, purchased with the $40,000 Federal grant received this year for audio-visual aids.

These films are available on a rental basis by all the county schools, and there is a wide range of subject matter.

Jerry Gaviglio, assistant to the superintendent of Adrian schools, talked of the problems created by the new state law, which permits collective bargaining by teachers' groups.

Mr. Gaviglio stated, "Teachers feel they have always subsidized education and they are no longer willing to do so."

"As future teacher salaries increase, so will taxes and eventually teachers will have state guaranteed minimum salaries," Mr. Gaviglio said.

RICHARD WEGNER, superintendent of Clinton Community Schools talked of the benefits of schools using data processing.

He declared, "Data processing is the greatest innovation in education."

The first school in the county to use data processing, Clinton has enrolled in the Washtenaw Intermediate office at a cost of $2 per student, a total of $2,200 per year.

The processing of payrolls is the most important service offered, Mr. Wegner said, and it relieves a full-time secretary for other duties.

Data processing is also used for school census data and for student curriculum scheduling. Soon it will be used for test scoring where it will permit detailed analysis of student ratings.

"Why don't we share with Washtenaw County?" asked Mr. Wegner, who explained that the data computer which is rented by the neighboring county at a cost of $45,000 per year, stands idle part of the time.

The computer could handle all the work of two more counties, he said, and it could also be a valuable teaching tool for vocational classes.

Mr. Wegner also mentioned the co-operative buying efforts of the county schools which, this year, included 10 major items for seven schools.

WITH THE AID of charts, the vocational and technical education in the county, was reviewed by the survey co-ordinator, Mrs. Margaret Kaiser.

She reported that 74% of the employers in the county, which employs 91% of the working force, responded to a recent survey, which shows a need for improvement in vocational education.

Those employers predict some 2,066 jobs will be available each year for youths 18 years of age entering the labor market.

Of these jobs 12% will be for the unskilled, and the remainder will require additional vocational training.

With only 40% of the county's graduates going to college, there is an "apparent great need for vocational training facilities in the county," Mrs. Kaiser concluded.

William J. Ross, County Vocational Education Director described the crash program which resulted from the survey.

Beginning second semester, this winter, and using existing school facilities, four vocational courses were offered county high school juniors and seniors.

FOUR TIMES as many students applied for the auto mechanics course as could be accommodated in the after-school sessions, Mr. Ross reported, and next fall the program may be expanded during the day in the Adrian Public School shop.

Mr. Ross, who recently returned from a visit to vocational educational schools in New York State said, "This kind of facility should be brought to the Lenawee area as soon as possible."

A large portion of the cost for a building would be available from recent Federal aid to vocational education legislation.

It is expected that a plan for such a facility will be offered for consideration by the voters later this year.

David J. Young, Superintendent of Madison, outlined innovations being used there.

In an area with an unusually large number of disadvantaged children, Madison Schools have used as much Federal funds as possible to provide additional programs including Head Start.

This summer there will be an Outdoor Appreciation program of activities for fifth through eighth graders, to be funded by a $13,000 Federal grant.

Madison Schools are experimenting with the non-graded kindergarten through third grade. Early elementary students move up as they are able and may pass any time of the year.

MRS. JUANITA DAVIS, business manager for the Lenawee Intermediate Schools, reported that county schools represented nearly $10 million business last year.

Responding to a question about using present school buildings more hours, Mr. Porter stated, "We could use our schools around the clock. They belong to the taxpayers."

"We better start working together. We've been short changing 54% of our children," Mr. Porter said in conclusion.

Vargo Undefeated as Shot Putter

Husky Joe Vargo is shooting for an even dozen shot put victories.

Going into the Dundee Relays Saturday, Joe is Tecumseh High's lone undefeated trackman with 11 straight firsts this season.

His latest laurel was a first in the Lenawee County meet Monday, when he topped the field with a 46'11".

Joe's best put so far has been 48'11.

Preliminaries at Dundee begin at 10 a.m. with finals at 1 p.m. This meet concludes the '67 season for Coach Tom Fagan's tracksters.

Two of Joe's mates also cracked the winner's circle in Monday's action.

► Bill Goddard's 2:01.6 established a THS record as he won the half mile.

► Randy Robinson took the 120-yard high hurdles with a 15.7.

Lee Hannibal was runner-up to Randy in the highs and then ran third in the lows as Robinson came in fifth.

In both the 100 and 220-yard dashes, Roger Young was third.

Tom Storms ran fifth in the 440 and Lamar Rufner was fifth in the mile.

In the two-mile event, Richard Graf came in third followed by John Kennedy.

Tony Lopez was third in the pole vault, Steve Dalton fifth in the high jump and Mike Allen fourth in the shot put.

Going into the Dundee event, Coach Fagan's crew is 10 and 1 in dual meets, having lost only to Adrian. The Indians share the Huron League crown with Blissfield.

When Disaster Strikes, CB Provides Communication

By CAROL HOWELL

Hours after the 1965 Palm Sunday tornadoes ripped through Lenawee County, a small but specialized band of volunteers converged at the scene of the Devil's Lake disaster and set up an efficient communications network.

Calling upon more of their number for additional help, they continued to assist authorities until rescue operations were well under way.

The volunteers were Citizens Band operators, who had monitored police and sheriff's patrol calls during the emergency. They knew where their efforts would do the most good.

Out of this experience evolved a unique corporation that came to be known as the Emergency Citizens Band Radio Volunteers of Lenawee County — the Lenawee Emergency Volunteers, for short.

The LEV is a non-profit organization. Its members are duly licensed Citizens Band operators dedicated, essentially, to supplementing existing communications systems in times of emergency.

IN ADDITION members are pledged to cooperate with recognized authorities within the county in the securing of manpower and equipment when needed.

Their files include lists of vehicles and machinery — auxiliary power generators, chain saws, trucks, etc. — owned by local Citizens Band operators, that can be called into use quickly for rescue and cleanup operations.

The LEV procedure for emergency action has the endorsement of the Lenawee County Sheriff's Department and is outlined specifically for each of its members.

When recognized authorities decide that emergency conditions exist, a call is made to an LEV coordinator. He then initiates a "standby alert" to one of his area captains on CB Channel 9. (Channel 9 on the Citizens Band radio is known as the calling channel. It is monitored at all times and used by operators to establish contact with one another.)

THIS DONE, coordinator, captain and all LEV members switch to Channel 17 — their designated emergency channel — for information on location and nature of emergency, number of mobile units and type of equipment needed for service.

Detailed instructions follow and the LEV teams go into action.

Coordinators then proceed to the Sheriff's office to assist authorities wherever possible. Bulletins and calls for additional units are transmitted on Channel 17.

All units remain in operation until released by an "All Clear" from the Sheriff's office.

Although originally set up for weather emergencies, the system can be adopted to any emergency situation.

The LEV serves Lenawee County in many capacities. Volunteers with mobile units have assisted in searches for missing children. They accompany workers in the annual "Mothers' March on Polio" and others who canvass after dark.

THERE ARE approximately 100 active members of the LEV. However, in an emergency alert, 200 or more CB volunteers could be summoned into action under its direction.

The organization is divided into five area groups. They meet monthly in members' homes. An additional general membership meeting is held monthly in Adrian.

In Tecumseh, Area "C" meetings are held at 7 p.m. on the first Monday of the month at 606 Orcnard Lane, home of area leader Wayne Carpenter.

Principal item of business at an LEV gathering is discussion of means of increasing members' ability to work as a well-coordinated group in any emergency situation.

THE GROUP concept is adhered to firmly. A member can be identified by the amber LEV light mounted on the right hand side of the grille of his car, or by the red ID card in its window.

But you'll rarely be able to recognize him or his name from having seen it in print.

Except in cases where personal identification is necessary as a matter of information, the Lenawee Emergency Volunteers insist that no public recognition be given individual achievement.

Balloon Floats 112 Miles

BRITTON — Dale Svihl, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Maschino, 330 N. Main St., knows how to fly a championship balloon.

He was the winner of the plaque in the Baptist Church Sunday School contest.

Balloons were released May 7 with name tags and scripture verses attached.

The name on the card being returned from the farthest distance would receive an award.

Dale's card was returned by Mrs. Edward Bradley of Route 3, Ottawa, O., 23 miles west of Findlay and about 112 miles from Britton.

Of the 17 replies returned, 11 were from Ohio.

To each person responding was sent a pencil with the name of the church, a ribbon book-mark and a picture plan of salvation with a note from Pastor Duane McNeil.

One youngster wrote, 'I am six years old and I found the balloon May 7 on County Line 2, two miles west of Grand Rapids, O." Bradley A. Carson, Route 1, McClure, Ohio.

The theme for this venture was taken from Isaiah 55, verse 11. "So shall my word be that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it."

My grace
for thee.

Unsteady World Causes Many To Weaken Faith

The Connie Dew family of the Tecumseh congregation was among the more than 1,200 Jehovah's Witnesses convened at the Northville High School last weekend for a Bible educational forum.

Said Mr. Dew, "The present unsteady world has caused many serious thinking persons to weaken in faith, if not to lose faith entirely. Who can have faith in a God they declare to be dead?

"This claim has shaken many. We feel that we are greatly steadied by a detailed consideration of the Bible as was done at Northville," he declared.

The meet brought together 15 congregations from southeastern Michigan.

Mr. Dew was among the 150 volunteers who staffed the convention organization during the meet. He also participated in the Sunday program.

Years ago, one of the most popular methods of catching big bass was with the old, reliable bass bug.

Originally considered one of the most deadly of all bass baits, the bass bug was fished by means of a powerful flyrod and, admittedly, involved a lot of work in casting. Plop one down near a weed bed, let it lie quietly a moment, then give it a slight twitch.

The formula here called for a vicious explosion under the bug and you found yourself securely fastened to a big bass. Even today, a good bass bugger has little trouble catching bass.

Today's trend toward spinning gear, however, has caused a movement away from fly fishing. Bass bugs are too light to cast with spin gear, so most folks have forgotten about them.

Adaptation of bass bugs to spinning tackle is rather easy, though. By winding the bugs with lead wire just behind the body, enough weight will be added to make it cast easily. It is necessary to get just enough weight for casting but not so much that the bug will sink.

LEAD WIRE wrapping will also tip the bass bug in such a way that it will pop better than ever when it is twitched. A fisherman can flip one of these weighted bugs all day without getting tired.

Another slight change is needed in rigging up spinning gear for bug casting. A light monofilament line of about three-pound test is about right for the best casting.

To this should be added a short leader of six-pound material in order to minimize breakage if a bass should make a sudden turn and rake the leader with his dorsal fin.

ONE IMPORTANT consideration is to make sure the spinning reel is properly filled. Since the lure is going to be in the featherweight class, even with the extra wire wrapping, the reel should be filled right up to the lip. This will make it slip off the reel with a minimum of friction and results in longer casts.

For this type of fishing, a 7½-foot rod is just about right if it doesn't have too much tip action.

There is nothing wrong with the shorter, ultra-light rods for bass bugging but a fisherman may as well resign himself to the fact that he is going to lose lures when a bigg bass bulls his way into the weeds despite all the pressure he dares put on the rod.

Why not give this "new" brand of fishing a try next time you visit your favorite bass waters? You may be downright shocked to see what happens!

What A&P Quality Beef Does A&P Sell?

That's a fair question. But not an easy one to answer because we have our own quality standards, different from any other meat merchant.

These standards don't fit exactly the familiar terms you know for grades of meat. As an example, did you know that some beef, graded U. S. Choice, just doesn't meet our "Super-Right" specifications? It's true! You see... we don't buy by grade. We use our own high standards to bring you the best values.

That doesn't mean we don't approve of such grading—not at all. It just means we're very fussy about the beef we label "Super-Right." It stands to reason we have to be or A&P wouldn't be America's number one meat merchant.

If you haven't learned the true meaning of "Super-Right" Quality—try it. Let the taste be the test. After all, it doesn't matter what the label or grade is. It's the EAT in the MEAT that counts.

The EAT in the MEAT is unconditionally guaranteed in "Super-Right" Beef. Either you agree that the "Super-Right" Beef you buy is as flavorful, as tender as you think it should be or you get your money back.

Is it any wonder with a quality guarantee like that that "Super-Right" Beef is the choice of thousands?

Are "Super-Right" Meats a good reason for shopping A&P? They're one of many!

Through My Window

IT WAS EVEN BUSIER

Oh, my, and I thought that last week I had a busy Thursday to report. May 11th was a good warbler day but the 18th was even better. The tiny birds were everywhere and we literally did not know which way to turn. Last week's Thursday was all fun in the morning but the activity which we shall discuss today occurred in the afternoon.

It was most convenient timing, Mom was home and got in on all of the excitement.

May is the great warbler migrating month in this area. Almost every day we saw a few of the tiny ones.

They worked through the trees gleaning bugs and insects. Perpetual motion about describes their actions, they just never seem to sit still.

This coupled with their tiny size and complicated coloring makes identification an almost impossible feat.

I was looking out the west window, paying attention to nothing in particular but just enjoying the whole window-wide world of spring in general.

Suddenly Liz exclaimed that there was a little bird branch-hopping in the small mulberry tree by the screen porch. Going to the north window for a closer look, she found that the bush was full of the pint-sized birds.

One was orange, another greenish, there was yellow—. So many and they moved so fast, it was hard to sort them out. Mom was working at her desk, we called her in to help.

OCCASIONALLY one ventured my way but the action was definitely in that mulberry tree. Liz twirled my bed around and good heavens — she and Mom were not exaggerating, there really were warblers everywhere.

Taking the easiest one to identify, I know we had the prothonotary warbler. He was a gorgeous fellow with a brilliant orange head and breast, and a slight blueish cast to his dark wings and tail.

I suppose that some of the other little birds, some of the ones who were not as brilliant, were Mrs. Prothonotarys.

The next easiest to spot were the blackburnians. Orange and black head, orange throat, yellow-orange breast with black streaks, black wings with white bars, white patches on tail. Very, very pretty.

Fortunately the birds were close enough for us all to have good looks. Again, we assumed that some of the less flamboyant birls were the gals.

IN THE MORNING I had seen what most nearly looked like a cerulian warbler. It was out in back in the afternoon too, and — but, even at that distance I can only say I think.

It is so hard to be positive about any of these characters. These birds were blueish gray and white, they almost matched the picture in the book.

Just to complicate warbler matters further, the blue-winged warblers and the golden-winged warblers often mate and this, of course, produces hybrids.

We shall not delve further into the matter because the matings and cross-breedings can become terribly mixed up.

The Laurence warbler, however, is thought to be a child of a mixed marriage. We had one and he was a striking bird, olive back and dark yellow head and breast, but what set him apart was his black throat patch.

Gradually the birds started drifting away. Mom followed some of them to the west facing window and used the binoculars, Liz kept her position looking north at the mulberry tree and my bed was still twisted around.

Bird books were all over, I had one propped open on my knees and was franticaily trying to find pictures of what my two window watchers were describing.

It was quite a mad house type room that Dad found when he arrived home.

He came in to see what was going on, walked over to look at the phothonotary that Liz had just spotted and called our attention to a big fat woodchuck.

He was chomping weeds at the base of the mulberry tree and we had been so busy with the warblers that we had not even seen him. Who knows how long he had been there.

So it is that we thought the second Thursday of May was a busy warbler day but it turned out that the third one was — well, it was even busier!

Waldrons Visit John Hamilton Family in Lansing

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Waldron have returned from a visit in Lansing with the John Hamilton family.

While there they attended the elementary band concert in which Mark and Kimberly won high awards.

Later the grandparents were thrilled with the Everett High School concert in which Carol Hamilton was one of the Girls Glee Club.

The boys were Vikings and the girls Viqueens presenting a varied program under the direction of Tom Thompson.

Mr. Waldron said he experienced his dream of the winter by atttending a session of the state legislature and was presented to the Speaker of the House, the Honorable Mr. Robert Waldron from Grosse Pointe. Wilfred handed the Speaker his family tree for him to trace his relationship.

The Waldrons also watched their grandson, John play tennis. His team, the Vikings, played Adrian and Jackson while they were there.

The Hamilton family members formerly of Tecumseh, are all active in Mount Hope Presbyterian Church.

This weekend John and Winona have charge of a canoe trip with the youth group down the Muskegon River to Lake Michigan.

TREE HONORS NEILS — Mark Renfro, Tecumseh High English teacher, spoke recently when students planted a tree next to the study hall in honor of the late Neils Hansen, who was killed in an automobile accident. Neils was a graduate of THS, coming to Tecumseh as an exchange student.

The stature of a man is often measured by his possessions. And nothing you can own more proudly proclaims your attainments than a Continental, America's most distinguished motorcar. Continental stands supreme: in its matchless motoring enjoyment, in the care with which it has been crafted, in the esteem it enjoys wherever fine cars are seen and driven and admired. Owning a Continental is not just a fine and wise investment... it is a way of living. Come live the Continental life '67 style. All else is humdrum.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By RICK CURRIE

More than 2,500 saw the campus of Boysville during the annual Open House. Brother Donald, who directed the serving of the chicken bar-b-cue, said that about 1,600 dinners were served.

Late in the afternoon a 21" color TV was raffled off by the Associates of St. Joseph with Mr. and Mrs. J. Maciak of Warren, winning.

First place winners, each of whom received a steak dinner and photo equipment were:

Charles Bromirski — general.
Ron Hiler — nature.
John Borzack — portrait.

Second place winers, who received photo equipment, were Dave Kostka, Charles Bromirski, and Donald Lowe.

The contest was arranged by Boysville graduate of 1963, Pat Miron who now works in the photography department at Ford Motor Co.

Tecumseh Products was visited by several Boysville upper classmen.

Moliere's "The Doctor in Spite of Himself" was well-done as judged by some 90 Boysville students who saw the play presented by the senior class at Clinton High School. Mrs. Don Geiger extended the invitation to have Boysville attend the dress rehearsal.

Michigan Week was honored by the Boysville Drum & Bugle Corps, marching in two parades, one in Adrian and the other in Tecumseh.

Fastest high hurdler in the States Class C comes from Boysville. Sam Kirkland took a first in the high hurdles at 15.6 and second in the low hurdles. The meet was held at Mt. Pleasant for the final state championships.

The Knights' baseballers finished with a 6-6 record, ending with a thriller against Ida, which tallied four times in the 10th inning to win, 4-1.

Gary Anderson was the winning pitcher and Mike Gaudreau the loser.

Fourteen seniors spent this week at Washington, accompanied by Brother Thomas Friel and Brother James Reisz. The class traveled via B&O railroad and stayed at the Pick-Lee House.

Commencement exercises are scheduled for 30 Sunday afternoon with diplomas going to:

Richard Kayl, George Daly, John Yankoski, Max Phelps, Vito Brazieka, Ray Butterworth, Rick Currie, Ron Cook, Sam Kirkland, Gabe Durante, Rolland Reich, Willie Dozier, Don Chalmers, Lon Webster, Paul DeWaelsche, Nick Jurczak, Mike Gaudreau, and Sam Arrage.

Speaker will be Dr. Audrey Kirkland, professor of English at Wayne State University and mother of graduating senior Sam Kirkland.

Diplomas will be presented by Boysville's Principal, Brother Jeffrey and Director, Brother Robert Hormann.

S/5 Dennis Martinus received his discharge from the army May 15 and has returned to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Martinus. Entering the army June 3, 1965, he completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., and after further training at Fort Gordon, Ga., he left for Germany in December of that year. He served in the motor pool for the 18th General Supply Co., stationed at Dormstadt for 17 months.

From 7,500' They Aim at Tiny Disc

A sky-diving exhibition will be held Saturday and Sunday, at Meyers Airport.

This will be the fifth annual Memorial Meet sponsored by Parachuting Service.

Sky-diers from the surrounding states and Canada will participate in this event.

Jumpers will be leaping from altitudes up to 7,500 feet, aiming for a six-inch disc.

The two main events will be individual accuracy from 3,000 feet and the three-man team accuracy from 3,500 feet, reports Harold L. Lange, club president.

Sometimes Victims Must Sell Possessions

"Lenawee County workers are still looking for $3,000 to fill the Cancer Fund quota this year," Mrs. Lloyd Stites, Tecumseh chairman said Monday.

She remarked about a poor response from merchants, professional people and industry, at the same time stating that all of the real estate agencies and veterans posts have been prompt in donating.

She said the need is ever greater since cancer victims are sometimes required to sell possessions in order to obtain welfare aid and trips for treatment.

The chairman mentioned one 32-year-old widowed mother of five children in desperate need. Mrs. Stites urges those intending to make a contribution to do it soon.

Thomas Meyers Joins Celebration in Australia

USS MADDOX — A task force of U.S. ships has been visiting the "down under" continent of Australia, commemorating the battle of the Coral Sea, where 25 years ago, U.S. and Australian navies turned back a Japanese invasion armada that planned to occupy Port Moresby and then invade Australia.

Machinist Mate Fireman Thomas D. Meyers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Meyers, 1008 Red Mill Dr., took part in the celebration there, as a crewman aboard this destroyer.

The battle took place in the Coral Sea in May of 1942 as a Japanese fleet pushed hard for control of Australia and the many islands in that southerly area. Despite heavy loses for American and Australian forces, the air-sea attack was stopped and that part of the world remained free and strong.

While in port, his ship held "open house" for the many visiting Australians who came to see the task force of ships now involved in another struggle in Southeast Asia.

SHELL OIL BUYS CORNER LAND

Another Era Passes

CLINTON — Sale of the Lancaster corner property heralds the passing of another era of village history.

Announcement of the sale was made by Lois Lancester, who said the land is being purchased by the Shell Oil Co.

Located on the southeast corner of Clinton's main intersection, the land was owned by the estate of the late George and Bertha Lancaster.

It includes the Standard Service Station, operated by Roscoe Parker, the former Lancaster hotel building and the house which is directly south of the corner.

Demolition of all the structures is planned immediately by the new owners, Miss Lancaster said, and a new service station scheduled to be erected there.

Roscoe Parker began clearing out the service station last week, in preparation for his retirement from his duties. He has been employed at the station for 40 years.

The hotel building formerly housed a tavern, barber shop and one apartment tenant up to five years ago.

At that time another oil company took an option on the property, but the deal was not complete so the property remained unoccupied.

It has been a constant enticement for youthful vandals who caused considerable destruction to the interior of the buildings.

The corner building was built at the turn of the century and for many years was used as a hotel.

Philosophy for Living Outlined

CLINTON — The Rev. Blair Bashore, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Tecumseh, outlined a philosophy for living to 25 members of the National Honor Society, who were guests of the Rotary Club last week.

Forrest Swift of Stanton was a guest.

The Rotarians will attend the Tiger game in Detroit Thursday night.

Band Fails To Show Up

CLINTON — More than a ripple upset the 'Underwater Fantasy'' J-Hop when the orchestra failed to show up.

The Detroit band was contacted through an Ann Arbor booking agency, for Saturday's dance.

Chairman Joyce Korican, reported that an effort will be made to take legal action to recover the loss to the class, which plans to refund admission cost to more than 40 couples who attended.

Cost of the underwater theme decorations is estimated at over $300.

Those present danced for a while to recorded music.

A grand march was held and the King and Queen of the J-Hop selected were Axel Fedderson, exchange student from Chili and Brenda Bowman.

A group of nine eighth grade girls served refreshments. They wore long sheath dresses, sandals and their hair was adorned with crowns of flowers.

Chaperones for the event were Mr. and Mrs. George Bowman, Bill Heimerdinger and Evel Garrido and their dates.

Bugs Usher in $650 in Prizes

Have you been wondering what that "bug" business is all about?

Those little fellows flitting about the pages of The Herald the past couple of weeks were advance scouts for an army of Bingo Bugs.

Their job was to signal a fascinating and fun time for Herald readers, 13 games of Newspaper Bingo, which will pay a total of $650 in prizes.

Cards for the first game are now available at sponsoring business places, which are listed on Section B, page one. Complete rules for the action can also be found.

Without obligation or purchase, adults may pick up one card each time they visit a participating store. This can be done often and readers may play as many cards as they wish.

Blue cards are to be used for the first game, which runs from June 8 to 19. The first set of numbers are going to appear in ads of sponsors appearing in The Herald of June 15.

Each game $50 is being given. If more than one winning card is turned in the cash will be split. Should there be no winner, the next game would then be worth $100.

To play, folks can check Bingo Bug numbers against ones they have on cards and X out. When all 24 numbers on a card have been matched, it's a winner.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Jerome P. Marcotte is a distinguished funeral director, with business places in Windsor and Tecumseh Ontario.

Actually, I think the guy missed his calling.

He'd be great as an advance man for a circus, hawking a new movie or beating the drums for a championship hockey tournament.

Jerry was in our town last week to spread the word about what his hometown is cooking up for July 1. That's Dominion Day in Canada and also the 100th birthday of Tecumseh, Ontario.

By now, readers will probably be aware that everyone in Tecumseh, Mich., is invited to join in the fun, much as the celebrations about 17 years ago when the two communities had home-and-home festivals.

Folks still talk about those fun times and it appears as though the coming date will offer as much enjoyment.

Jerry said that his city of 4,500 is going to have the red carpet out for us with the spotlight on Memorial Park, where the new $35,000 swimming pool is to be dedicated.

A RUNDOWN of park features includes:

"1. Swings, round-abouts and slides.
"2. Good healthy trees for shade and green grass for a clean, soft carpet.
"3. Newly-painted tables and barbecue pits for family picnics.
"4. Plenty of open space to romp and roam.
"5. Finest ball diamond in Essex and Kent Counties, with lights for night games.
"6. Cemented pad for open-air dancing.
"7. Tennis courts.
"8. Ample Parking Space."

Jerry says that two ball games are planned for July 1, one with little leaguers and the other for adults. Maybe Jerry should get up a businessmen's team to meet a crew of merchants from here?

The Booster Club in Jerry's town has ordered $500 in fireworks for the evening and already has lined up two teen bands to play for dancing.

Our Ontario friends have been pulling out all the stops to get our townsfolk fired up about the July 1 affair and signs are now blossoming in store windows along Chicago Blvd.

Here's one of the notes, which came to David Hall, 116 S. Evans St.

"330 Burdick Crescent,
"Tecumseh, Ontario,
"June 1, 1967.

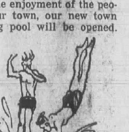
"Hi, David!

"I hope you don't mind a girl writing to you, but things just sort of worked out this way.

"I suppose you know about our celebration we are having July 1, and I am writing to invite you to share them with us. We have many ceremonies lined up.

"I suppose I should inform you of what you are getting yourself into if you decide to come. First off, in the early afternoon there will be a parade. It will contain floats, bands, bicycles, Boy Scouts, Guides, Rangers, Cubs, and other items of interest.

"For the enjoyment of the people of our town, our new town swimming pool will be opened.



Next, there will be square-dancing, and to make us feel at home, local teenage groups will be there for dancing.

"I'm 14 years old. I have brown hair, brownish eyes and am rather tall, about 5'7". My favorite sports are swimming, tennis and horseback riding.

"I can't say I have any favorite pop group, because they all are pretty great. I pass my spare time reading or listening to Bill Cosby records. He's cool.

"Are you in a group? I know a lot of guys that are in one or are starting one. Some of them are pretty good, too! A few guys in our class are in a group, and one of them is a terrific drummer.

"I've always wanted to learn how to play the drums. I guess I'm weird.

"I hope to see you at our celebration.

"Your friend,
"Laurie Willmott

Course Opening in 1968

Golfers of the area will have a new nine hole course on which to shoot next summer.

Being called Raisin Valley, it's to be located on a 158-acre plot south of Comfort Rd., bordered by the Raisin River on the east and Raisin Hwy on the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Porter, 4208 Comfort Rd., are the owners, with Mr. Porter doing the actual construction work.

He currently is putting in 12-hour days and has made considerable progress, with about half the fairways cleared, tees and greens gradually taking shape.

A crew of three men will be joining him later this month.

Mr. Porter's major equipment includes a crane, bulldozer, dump truck, pickup, two tractors with disc, plow, harrow and rakes.

Opening is already set bv the Porters — Memorial Day, 1968 — for the first nine holes. Second nine will be ready in the summer of 1969, according to the owners.

With more than 100 acres of the site loaded with Michigan peat, there is ample rich top dressing for the course close at hand.

In addition, three large springs are going to provide plenty of water for an underground watering system and the fashioning of two lakes.

Mr. Porter points out that one body of water will cover two acres, the other an acre.

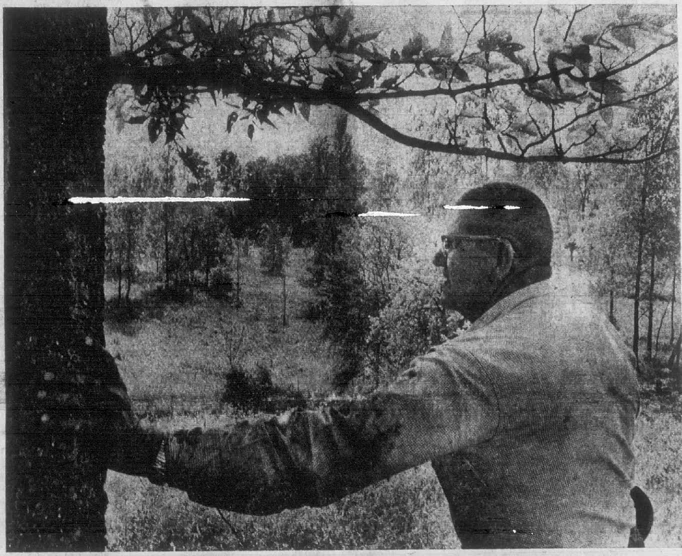
"It's going to be interesting to play," predicts the owner, who is a veteran golfer himself, carrying an eight handicap at Tecumseh Country Club. His wife, Frances, is also a fine player and one time women's champ of TCC.

Long tees and spacious greens will be featured on the 3,500-yard first nine and later on the 3,700-yard second nine.

Ample amounts of trees will dot much of the course and three of the holes are going to run along the Raisin.

The Porters plan a pro shop for next summer, with space for parking electric carts.

A club house will be fashioned later.



GOLF COURSE BUILDER WILLIS PORTER LOOKS OVER WHAT WILL BE FAIRWAYS ALONG RAISIN RIVER.

Jewelry Loss Is $7,000

Watches and miscellaneous jewelry, amounting to upwards of $7,000, were taken from Eggleston's Jewelry late Monday night or early Tuesday morning.

Dick Eggleston, owner, reports 118 watches were stolen plus a yet undetermined number of rings. Some of the watches retailed from $150 to $250 each.

The burglar — or burglars — broke into the downtown Tecumseh shop through a rear door, knocking the inside door casing off.

Discovery was made by Mr. Eggleston about 8:45 Tuesday morning when he prepared to open for business.

The watches were taken from their boxes, which were left strewn on the floor behind the showcases. There were still about 50 left in the cases, indicating the robbers probably were scared off before they were finished.

An attempt to rob the safe of its diamond rings was thwarted, although the combination knob had been knocked off.

A serviceman, cleaning floors at Hanna Insurance next door, told police he failed to notice anything when he left about 4 a.m.

Tecumseh and State Police from Jackson spent nearly three hours lifting fingerprints from showcases and counters Tuesday morning.

The store did not re-open until Wednesday morning.

American Legion Sale of Poppies Obtains $521

The Auxiliary of the Underwood-Orr American Legion and the Post obtained $521.45 from the sale of poppies last weekend.

The veterans at Hospital 100, Battle Creek receive $245 for making the little red memorial flowers and the remaining $276.45 is used for child welfare and rehabilitation of veterans in the Tecumseh area.

Co-chairmen Mrs. Louis S. Schneider and Mrs. Otto Baaske extend thanks to the public for the cooperation with the 25 volunteers including the junior members who conducted the sale .

Mrs. Schneider also expressed appreciation to Paul Maves for the use of the trailer at the intersection.

Bottle Floats 15 Years, Travels Through Straits

Gary Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hall, 312 W. Shawnee St. will be surprised this week when he receives a letter from Mary Harper of Harrison.

Fifteen years ago, while camping with the family at Two Rivers, Wis., on Lake Michigan, Gary placed his name and address in a bottle and set it afloat on the lake.

This week, Mary, 12, and a seventh grade student, writes that she picked up the bottle May 31 on the beach near her parents' summer cottage at St. Martins Point on Lake Huron.

It must have traveled through the Straits of Mackinac.

Gary, a resident of Santa Cruz, Calif., for the last five years, and a student at San Jose State College, will get the letter this week, his mother said.

Six from Area Are Named to Dean's List

Six area students have been named to the Dean's List for the Winter Semester at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo.

Students from Tecumseh are: Patricia Ann Lawson, 508 Cairns; George Moricz, 211 W. Logan; Michael David Rice, 500 Blanchard, and Paul Robert Surratt, 308 N. Van Buren St.

Also on the list are Paula McKenna, 111 W. Franklin, Clinton and Janis Linger, 4546 Whelan Rd., Tipton.

To be included on the Dean's List, a student must have received at least a 3.5 grade average while enrolled in at least 14 hours of class work.

Council Irate Over Dismissed Tickets

Dismissal of tickets, issued by the Tecumseh police, raised the ire of Council Monday night when officials took action to erase the problem.

Although no motion was made, Council authorized local police to send all ticketed motorists to a Clinton Justice of Peace in the future.

Apparently, Tecumseh Justice Ernest Oliver dismissed tickets issued to drivers at the S. Evans St. and Kilbuck St. crossing.

Police Chief Murell Clark showed a letter to officials from the highway department which had inspected the intersection and approved location of signs there.

Justice Oliver says the intersection is confusing and not properly marked.

Chief Clark also said the Tecumseh justice had dismissed speeding tickets in the past when motorists were caught entering the city from the east on M-50.

Golfer Aces 165-Yard Hole at Macon Course

Al Barrett, 601 Brook St., got a hole-in-one Sunday at the Macon Golf Course.

He is the first to make a hole-in-one this season and the sixth since the course was opened in 1960.

Mr. Barrett used a five iron on the 165-yd. par three No. 9.

Vote for Three Is Not Contested

Monday's school election vote is apt to be the lightest here in many years.

Only issue before the electorate is the election of three candidates — all three incumbents are unopposed for re-election.

Mrs. Donald Cobb and William Brown are seeking four-year terms and Dr. Harold Ocamb is after a one-year post.

Voting will be conducted at the high school cafeteria.

Al Krol's Brother Named Cardinal

One of the founders of Tecumseh Corrugated Box Co. is walking on Cloud Nine.

Al Krol, who lives in Monroe, is a brother of the Most Rev. John Joseph Krol, 56, of Philadelphia, named a cardinal in the Catholic Church last week by Pope Paul VI.

The news put the whole Krol family in an uproar.

They're frantically making preparations for a trip to Rome next week to witness the rites in which Archbishop Krol will receive his red hat June 26 along with three other Americans.

Al, 45, one of the founders of Tecumseh Corrugated Box and vice president in sales, received the news shortly after midnight one night last week.

"We were up all night and I've had butterflies ever since," he said.

He and his wife, Delores, and their five sons will leave Cleveland in a chartered plane.

"It's a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. The odds are pretty high," he said.

ARCHBISHOP Krol is the first native Clevelander to become a cardinal. The boys came from a family of seven children, born and raised in the Cleveland area.

Two other brothers and a sister are still living. Their parents are deceased and a sister, who was a nun, died in 1938.

Al worked for the River Raisin Paper Co. in Cleveland, was transferred to Monroe. In 1963, he and his partners formed the local box company.

His brother was ordained a priest in 1937 in Cleveland.

In 1943 he became vice-chancellor of the Cleveland diocese, chancellor in 1959 and auxiliary bishop in 1953.

He became archbishop of Philadelphia in 1961.

The new cardinal is an excellent athlete, according to Al, "He was a basketball player in high school, shoots a hot game of golf a few times a year and plays a mean game of handball."

HE IS described by Hiley Ward, Detroit Free Press religion writer, as "an extremely affable man, a tall six-foot lean man who could look a person in the eye in a dead-pan way and, with only his twinkling eyes a giveaway, delivers a hilarious line that totally disarmed a person."

Mr. Ward, who met the archbishop in Rome at the Vatican Council, called the new cardinal one of the funniest men in the business — in his own quiet way — a constant cigar smoker who survived even the most rigid of the Roman trials, the indominatable Roman traffic jam.

Church Parking Plans Sought by City Manager

City Manager Cal Zorn was asked by Council Monday night to write to churches in Tecumseh about their plans for providing off-street parking.

Heads of the local churches also will be asked to offer suggestions in eliminating congestion during hours of service.

Underwood Purchases 600 Acres

George Underwood, Jr., has exercised his purchase option on 600 acres of land along Tecumseh-Clinton Rd.

It has long been known as the Kuehman Farm.

The property will be owned by the County-Wide Holding Co., of which Mr. Underwood is president.

He revealed no specific plans for the land, but said it's going to be used for industrial and commercial purposes.

Granddaughter of Mrs. Service Is Graduated

Mrs. Rose Service attended the Blissfield High School commencement Sunday. Her granddaughter, Jill Goetz, was a member of the class.

A National Honor Scholar, she will attend Davis Business College in Toledo beginning June 19.

Jill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Goetz, held open house at their home in Riga, after commencement.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Ormand Socks.

Clinton residents attending included Mrs. Raymond Service and daughter, Marilyn, and Mrs. Glenn Lewis.

The Herald office was deluged with phone calls Thursday afternoon inquiring as to how many sections there were to the paper. Being accustomed to printing three sections, we accidentally let Section C be printed when it should have been "B". Darn those bugs.

Bids Are Sought for Swim Area New Facilities

Construction of a registration building and dressing rooms at the "Pit" took another step forward Monday night when Council authorized advertising for bids.

Plans were approved and City Manager Cal Zorn was requested to secure bids for the June 19, Council session.

If bids are favorable, city officials are hopeful that construction would start immediately.

Zorn told officials that a lift station for a sanitary sewer would not be necessary. He said the building would be constructed about one and a half feet higher, which would allow connecting a sanitary sewer with the main on Park St.

Cost savings were estimated at $5,000.

Several members of the Pact Committee for developing the Pit attended the meeting and inquired about floor covering and other construction materials.

As to an inquiry about fencing in the entire 22-acre Pit property, Zorn said he felt the building should come first.

3 Chosen To Study in Mexico

It was in the summer of 1962 when Mrs. Patricia Reed, and her four children, ranging in age from five to 11, and a niece, Mary Applegate, enrolled in a 10-week Spanish course given by Mrs. Leslie Calhoun in her residence on Rogers Hwy.

"I want my children to be bilingual," said the young mother with a great deal of pride and enthusiasm.

"I want them to practice and use what we learn everyday."

Mrs. Reed, who had taken the course the previous year, helped the children to learn and memorize their lessons.

Their progress was remarkable.

Then tragedy struck.

One stormy night, Mrs. Reed debated whether to come to class or cancel because of the weather.

After a few minutes of hesitation she decided that the family would come.

"We can't afford to get behind," she confided to her mother. The youngest boy was sleeping at the time, so was left under her grandmother's care.

En route on Britton Hwy., Mrs Reed found herself battling heavy winds and rain.

Suddenly a tornado swept across the road, pitching the Reed car into a field, instantly killing Mrs. Reed and two of the children. The other two children lay on the road critically injured.

MRS. REED'S efforts, enthusiasm and devotion were never forgotten.

They were the inspiration for the three $100 scholarships given this year to these three Tecumseh High School Juniors.

These scholarships were made possible, thanks to the interest and hard work of all members of the Spanish Club.

Cathy Beevers will go to the University of Morelos in Cuernavaca, Mexico. Kit Burns and Angela Fritz are headed for the University of Saltillo in Northern Mexico.

As for their instructor, Mrs. Calhoun, will be teaching and studying under a Fellowship at the University of Michigan.

MEXICO BOUND — Tecumseh High School students who will study Spanish in Mexico this summer are, from left, Cathy Beevers at the University of Morelos in Cuernavaca, Mex.; Angela Fritz and Kit Burns, both to University of Saltillo, Mex. Assembly of God Plans Vacation Bible School

"Soldiers of the Cross" is the theme of Vacation Bible School at the Tecumseh Assembly of God.

Classes will be held from 9 a.m. until noon Monday through Friday, June 12-16.

The Rev. Harold Speer invites area children to attend.

College Choir To Give Concert

"Music with a Ministry" is the theme of the concert by the 14-voice Chamber Choir from Friends Bible College, Haviland, Kan., appearing at the Tecumseh Friends Church June 9 at 7:30 p.m.

Attractive gospel hymn arrangements combine with serious compositions from all ages to present musical worship meaningful to all. Numbers by contemporary composers Strassburg, Berger, and Nelson round out the presentation.

A. J. Ellis, a graduate musician and head of the music department at Friends Bible College, breaks down the traditional concept of cold formalism in concert music, and with dignity and warmth introduces many contemporary religious melodies.

Varied talents in the group, under his direction, provide a warmth of personal spiritual feeling and attempt to project to the listener an intimate appreciation for the great heritage of sacred song.

With a combination of medieval sacred classics and modern day compositions and tempos, the Quaker singers create a friendly personal relationship between singer and listener that makes for an enjoyable and inspirational experience.

The church members are planning an evening meal for the youth and arranging for overnight hospitality in area homes.

Box Co. Buys Mill in Ohio

Tecumseh Corrugated Box purchased a paper mill last week at Jaite, O., and will start operations there next Monday.

The local company obtained the 185,000-sq.-ft. plant from Owens-Illinois, Inc., of Toledo, and will employ between 40 and 50, producing approximately 20,000 tons annually of lightweight chip and Sudo-Chem corrugating materials.

The mill, located near Cleveland, will be known as the Jaite Mill Division of Tecumseh Corrugated Box Co.

It will produce corrugating materials for other corrugating companies, but not for Tecumseh Box.

No personnel from the home office here will be transferred.

This is the first diversification of Tecumseh Box, which just two weeks ago announced construction of a new 21,000-sq.-ft. plant at Van Wert, O.

Although the company has expanded into Ohio, operations here will continue as usual, and officials already are updating their equipment in the Tecumseh plant.

Since being formed as a new company in March, 1963, Box employment has jumped from 18 to 120 and operations here are at capacity.

Helen Check, Tom Smetka Are Married

MRS. THOMAS A. SMETKA

Four attendants preceded Joan Helena Check down the aisle of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church Saturday when she became the bride of Airman Thomas A. Smetka in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Fr. Thomas Collins.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John Check, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smetka, all of Britton.

White wedding bells with lemon yellow and mint green decorations were used to enhance the altar.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a long gown of organza and lace fashioned with scalloped neckline, tapered long sleeves and a bouffant skirt with lace appliques. The detachable chapel train with lace appliques fell from her shoulders.

A double sunburst of lace, seed pearls and crystal teardrops secured her veil in place and she carried white roses and lily of the valley.

SYLVIA LUEGGE was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Lois Auten, Susan Eddinger and Elizabeth Studnicka.

Miss Luegge wore a floor-length empire dress of lemon yellow dotted Swiss with floating panel. Her matching floor-length veil of tulle was attached to a satin bow on her head.

She carried a cascade of white daisies.

The bridesmaids were attired in gowns fashioned like that of the maid of honor in mint green dotted Swiss. They carried yellow daisies.

Jan Henricks in a long empire styled dress of white dotted Swiss trimmed with mint green was the flower girl.

Frank Forgas attended the groom and the 500 guests were seated by Russell Lutton, Gary Check, brother of the bride, and Richard Smetka, brother of the groom.

WEDDING CANDLES were used to decorate the bride's table at the Tecumseh Products Union Hall where a reception was held.

JoAnne and Betty Smetka, sisters of the groom, from California, were the hostesses.

The young people are graduates of the Britton-Macon High School. The bride is attending Cleary College and before her marriage was employed in the Children's psychiatric hospital at the University Medical Center.

The groom is a specialist in refrigeration and air conditioning at Custer Air Force Station, Battle Creek.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents and his sisters, Betty and JoAnne Thursday evening at their home.

After a two-week trip to Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Smetka will live at Thunderbird Mobile Village, Lot 62, Battle Creek.

Barbara Randolph Weds Douglas Karpo

The Rev. Donald C. Porteous performed the double ring ceremony Saturday evening uniting Barbara Kay Randolph and Douglas Karpo in marriage at the First Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Randolph, 1451 E. Munger Rd., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Karpo of Clinton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a full-length gown with detachable train of imported silk organza and lace. The bodice featured a scoop neckline accented with pearls and sequins. Long lace sleeves tapered to points over the wrists.

A forward cap of petals and pearls secured her veil of illusion. Her only jewelry was single strand of pearls, gift of the groom. She carried a cascade of white carnations and gladioli.

The bride asked her cousin, Mrs. Richard Waters of Clinton to be matron of honor.

Mrs. Douglas Randolph and Valorie Johnson were the bridesmaids in identical floor-length gowns of pink brocade and nylon. Each carried variegated blue carnations.

Ronnie Karpo was his brother's bst man and Douglas and Robert Randolph, brothers of the bride, seated the guests.

A reception for 75 guests was held at the Odd Fellows Hall with Cheryl Randolph and Clara Warner serving and Linda Randolph registering the guests.

The newly-married couple are living in the Williams apartments in Tipton.

The bride is employed at Hoover Ball and Bearing Co. in Manchester and the groom at the Tecumseh Products Co.

Curb and Gutter Will Be Put In on S. Occidental

Although there was a lone dissenter over costs, Council approved a special assessment district for installation of curb and gutter on S. Occidental Rd. Monday night.

Dr. Harold Ocamb requested the city to include a portion of his property in the district and his request was granted.

Work will start this summer.

Race Track Acceptance Put To Vote

Petitioners for a referendum to vote for or against an auto race track in Cambridge Township have been successful in acquiring a sufficient number of signatures.

Township folks will vote on July 18.

A high speed, big car race track has been proposed for the township, just west of Cambridge Junction.

Local Waterball Team To Fight for State Title

Members of the Tecumseh Fire Department Waterball team will participate in the state contest Saturday at 1 p.m. at Port Austin.

Competition for the title will be held in connection with the State Firemen's Convention held there this weekend.

Fire fighters attending promise to equal the 700 population of the thumb village and they are taking their families with them.

Men on Tecumseh's team going to the gala event are Lonal Bishop, Dick Beasley, Wallace MacGeorge, Mahlon Sebring and Herbert Barnes.

With Fire Chief MacGeorge back on the line-up, chances look good for the hometown team. They took the second place trophy at Madison last Sunday against Cassopolis, state champs, without the chief's help, due to a foot injury.

Plans include a contest with firemen at the Tecumseh, Ontario, Canada, celebration July 1.

Rumor has it that the Canadians use a beer keg on the ground, so Tecumseh's team is wondering just how to prepare for the event.

MRS. NORMAN V. STEIN

Donna Rudd Says Vows with Norman V. Stein

Donna Marie Rudd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rudd, 506 Parkway Ct., and Norman V. Stein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Stein of Adrian, spoke their wedding vows Saturday morning at St. Elizabeth Church.

The Rev. Fr. Roger Stanley of Adrian's St. Mary's Catholic Church, officiated and Mrs. Donald Johnson was organist and soloist.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta fashioned with scalloped Sabrina neckline trimmed with pearls and sequins, tapered sleeves and chapel train.

Her shoulder-length veil of English illusion was attached to a crown of crystals and she carried camellias and lily of the valley.

Sisters of the bride, Helen and Ruth Ann Rudd, served as attendants.

As matron of honor, Helen wore an aqua floor-length gown in empire style with white lace bodice and matching aqua nose veil with sequins. She carried one large pink camellia.

Ruth Ann wore an identically styled gown in pink and carried a single aqua camellia.

Roger Seeburger of Adrian was best man and the guests were seated by Howard Seeburger and Randy Kaiser.

A buffet luncheon was served at the Tecumseh Grange Hall.

Mrs. E. Rudd of Meadville, Pa., grandmother of the bride, and other relatives from Pennsylvania were among the guests.

BOTH YOUNG people are 1964 graduates, the bride at Tecumseh High School and the groom from Adrian.

The groom is a student at Eastern Michigan University and is employed as a supervisor at the Fisher Body Tecumseh plant.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents at Bauer Manor Friday night.

After a week's trip to Expo '67 in Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Stein will live at 201 S. Union St.

OFF the TOP

By CHRISTINE FAIRBANKS

Well, it certainly has been a hectic week, one I'm glad is behind and not ahead of me.

Getting a son graduated from high school must be comparable to a launching at Cape Kennedy. At least, it seemed that way to me, having no experience at either.

After we had decided a number of weeks ago to hold open house for our graduate, the wheels began to turn as we mused over several projects which must be completed before the fateful day.

Long-neglected painting and touching up around the house had to be done, draperies and carpeting cleaned, pictures framed and hung, windows washed, and complete redecorating was slated for the bathroom.

A suitable wall covering was selected only to be delayed in its delivery by the truck strike and we were rather frantic.

Other activities continued. Invitations were issued, cake contracted for, dress sewed, suits sent to cleaners, gifts bought, shower installed.

Second son and daughter suffered from lack of usual attention, everything was focused on the needs and plans for No. 1 son.

The party must be just right. It would be our last opportunity to honor our first-born.

THE FINAL week began on a serious note, as we all attended Baccalaureate service Sunday evening. At Father's questioning, we looked up "Baccalaureate" in the dictionary, and found out it is "a religious service for graduates." Aha! Just as we thought.

Memorial Day was not a holiday for us this year. After taking our little Campfire Girl to the local parade and cemetery service, Dad attended to the planter and shampooed two rooms of carpeting, which was a monumental task.

I could never have accomplished everything without his steady help.

By Wednesday, the pace began to quicken. I was making cakes to put in the freezer. The kids were in the throes of final exams. Wednesday night we all went to Class Night and Awards.

The count-down continued.

Thursday, Dad was still doing some last-minute painting — and the Wall Tex arrived and was installed in the bathroom.

Somehow, I had not yet started the job of recovering daughter's rocker, so found myself up quite late Thursday evening completing that task.

KEPT LISTENING to the radio weather reports all day, not daring to believe the announcer's claim that there was no chance of rain for Friday.

We have a medium-size house and planned to let the party spill over onto the porch and patio. Rain would spoil everything.

Friday morning dawned bright and clear, a perfect day. Last minute details were attended to, as son went off for graduation practice.

Borrowed tables, chairs and extra silverware. Checked with friends to see how their plans were coming along. Discovered they were as busy as I was.

The family cat was unwillingly transferred to Dads repair garage for the night. He acted like he didn't want to miss the fun, the cat, that is. The kitchen was spotless at supper time, so we sent out for hamburgers. No one seemed to be hungry anyway.

Last pictures of the graduate were taken in cap and gown, and then suddenly, so suddenly it seemed there was no time left. We must be in the car and off to school.

The gym was almost full — and warm, as usual. No matter what the weather has been the preceding week, you can bet it will be hot for graduation.

THE CEREMONIES went off well, the young men and young women look quite ready to face whatever the future holds for them. Flashbulbs popped all over the place, as each smiling graduate received his treasured diploma.

Then through the receiving line, to say goodbye to some of these young people for the last time. Many of them have been together since kindergarten days.

Returning home, we found the house already full of guests. It was heartwarming to greet these friends, neighbors and relatives who stopped in.

It was truly a joyous occasion and I thought of all the homes in the community where the scene was being duplicated.

Parents of many of the young women and young men had been through the same labors of preparation and were now happily greeting the folks who came to honor their daughters and sons. And we were certainly proud of this group.

FINALLLY THE last guest departed, and we turned the lights out on the chaos, and collapsed in near-exhaustion. The house looked like a disaster area.

Mulling the events over in my mind as I was trying to get to sleep, I suddenly realized why everyone had crowded in the side kitchen door. I had forgotten to turn on the front entrance light! Oh well, too late now.

The reward for all this labor of love? To hear the offspring say, "Gee, that sure was a nice party, Mom and Dad — thanks a lot for everything."

June — the time of roses, brides, graduation — and strawberries. Calpurnia, Caesar's wife, was forbidden by her husband to use the famous Roman baths. So, on special occasions in her private bath at home she indulged in a tub of exotic fruit juices which she believed would give her skin a delicate pink glow, a special scent and softness.

Her bath recipe: 20 pounds of crushed strawberries plus two pounds of crushed raspberries.

Well, girls, you can do as you please, but I'm going to get my bath of strawberries internally. Mmmmm — Yummy.

Harold Schill Hurt Critically in Race Mishap

Harold Schill of Howell, son of Veryl Schill of Manchester, remained in a coma Tuesday in critical condition at St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor.

He received head injuries when his car overturned in the Australian Pursuit Race at the Manchester Speedway Friday night.

Harold Schill of Howell was the big winner at the Manchester Speedway Friday night, May 26.

Schill was the fastest qualifier, picking up the victory flag for the Pursuit and the trophy of the night for the 25-lap feature event.

Paul Whittaker of Tecumseh took the lead in the 20-lap feature, which saw a number of accidents.

MORE THAN 70 cars competed for the Memorial Day trophy races, with Harold Schill winning three trophies for the first heat, 10-car pursuit and 50-lap feature.

Paul Whittaker placed second and Jim Shook third in the 35-lap semi with 24 cars competing.

Races at the speedway are Friday nights with rain dates Sunday.

Gibson Triples, Slides Under Tag

Opening Pony League baseball game was a thriller.

The Eagles edged VFW, 6-5, in eight innings when Alex Gibson tripled and scored with a neat slide under the tag on Mike Mattison's fielder's choice to second base.

VFW pushed over three runs in the last frame of regular play to tie things up when Rick Schuyler unloaded a home run after Scott Dalton's single and Mike Randolph's walk.

Eagles' left fielder Art Lewis was the outstanding defensive player, according to Coach J. Bolden. Art made three fine catches, also held two hits to singles with fast throws.

Alex Gibson was the winning pitcher, although he caught the first seven innings while Mike Mattison was hurling 13 strikeouts. Alex took over the hill chores in the eighth.

Lawrence Getz of VFW went seven frames, striking out seven.

Robin Hatch, Sam Whitney and Gibson all had two hits for the winners.

Dalton got a pair, including a triple to pace the losers.

NEWSPAPER BINGO

Here How It Works:

PICK UP FREE BINGO CARDS: Each week (adults only, please) pick up your FREE Bingo cards from any of the sponsoring merchants listed below. Rules of the game allow the merchants to give you only one card on each store visit. However, you may make as many visits as you wish each day of the week. THE MORE CARDS YOU PLAY THE BETTER ARE YOUR CHANCES OF WINNING.

HOW TO PLAY: To play, check the ads in each week's issue of The Tecumseh Herald. The ads of the merchants listed below will contain one or more "Newspaper Bingo" numbers in the "Bingo Bug" symbol (shown above). Occasionally numbers, in the "Bingo Bug" symbol, may be found elsewhere in the newspaper. Check the classified ads for additional numbers. IF YOU CAN MATCH (JUST CIRCLE OR "X" THE MATCHING NUMBERS) ALL 24 NUMBERS ON ANY ONE OF YOUR BINGO CARDS — YOU HAVE A "BINGO" — AND YOU ARE A WINNER!!

AT LEAST $50 WEEKLY!! Winners will share a weekly prize of $50 issued in "Bingo Bucks" that spends like cash at any of the sponsoring merchants. If there is only one winner, he wins all of the $50. If there is more than one winner, all winners will share the $50 in equal amounts. If there are no winners any week, the $50 weekly prize money will be added to the following week's prize fund.

CHECK EACH ISSUE OF THE TECUMSEH HERLAD: Each game is complete in each week's issue. A new game will start each Wednesday and be completed the following Monday. A new set of Bingo numbers will be published each week in the sponsoring merchants' ads and possibly elsewhere in the paper and these new numbers only must be used. A new color of Bingo cards each week will be available at the participating stores. To be eligible to win, you must play Bingo cards of the correct color for that week's game. The color of the cards for each week's game will be announced on this page.

IF YOU ARE A WINNER: If you have a winning Bingo card, ON WHICH ALL 24 NUMBERS HAVE BEEN MATCHED WITH THE NUMBERS APPEARING EACH WEEK IN THE HERALD, write your name, address, phone number, and the name of the store where you got your winning card on the back of your card and mail to The Herald. The envelope containing your card must be received by 5 p.m. Monday of the following week; or bring your winning card to the office by 5 p.m. Monday of the following week.

NEWSPAPER BINGO

Rules of the Game

NO OBLIGATION OR PURCHASE NECESSARY: There is no obligation or purchase necessary. A copy of the paper is available for playing the game at the office of this newspaper — also at the public libraries. You may play as many cards as you wish — they are free. Get additional cards — one at a time — each day of the week — from the friendly merchants listed below (adults only, please).

DIFFERENT COLORED CARDS EACH WEEK: The color of the cards changes each week. To be a winner, you must play Bingo cards of the correct color for that week. Mutilated or altered cards will not be honored. ALL 24 NUMBERS ON A CARD MUST BE MATCHED TO WIN.

CHANCE DETERMINES NUMBERS: Bingo numbers for each week's game are drawn at random from a revolving Bingo number dispensing cage at the office of this newspaper. Some duplication of Bingo numbers may appear in the merchants' ads. This duplication does not affect the game or the total numbers drawn. All numbers for each week's game will be some place in the sponsoring merchants' ads and possibly elsewhere in the paper. Employees of this newspaper and their families are not eligible to win any of the prizes.

Our man with the Armed Forces

Because beer is such a favorite with service men, we brewers like to do all we can to keep its surroundings right. So USBA representatives serve as adviser members of the Armed Forces Disciplinary Control Boards throughout the country.

These men from the USBA operate hand in hand with service and civilian police, with malt beverage licensees, public boards and committees: military, civil, professional. Object: to protect those who are underage, and to insure strict observance of the law.

We're proud of the work they do.

4-H CLUBS

By MARY HANSON and BILL WALTER

4-H leaders from Lenawee County are invited to attend a three-day workshop on flower arranging at Camp Kett 4-H leadership training center near Cadillac, June 13-15.

Major objective of the workshop is to help leaders do a better job of teaching flower arranging.

In addition to harmony and rhythm in flower arranging, they'll learn about other design principles — orientation, symmetry, dominance and contrast.

The 4-H Club Foundation of Michigan is sponsoring the event in cooperation with the 4-H youth programs division of the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University.

"Teen Citizenship" is the theme of the State 4-H Club Week at Michigan State University June 14-17.

More than 1,000 members — including 25 from Lenawee County — will attend.

Each day's program will give emphasis to different areas of citizenship.

Thirty different club groups will serve as resourceful people. The entire program has been planned by a committee of 4-H-'ers selected from last year's delegates.

The young people will travel "around the world in 120 minutes" as they meet and visit with Michigan State students from other countries.

They'll also have the opportunity to use the recreational facilities of MSU and attend a special program at the Abrams Planetarium.

Parents of the delegates have been invited to join them for the Friday evening and Saturday program on a "teen-parent search for understanding".

City kids as well as farm kids enjoy 4-H photography projects — more than 70,000 boys and girls are learning setp-by-step methods of good picture taking.

More information about the photography program and how to enroll or be a club leader can be obtained by contacting county extension agent in charge of 4-H.

$3 for 25 Months

Beware the fast-talking telephone magazine salesman.

The Tecumseh area is currently being worked over. So far we've heard of one woman nailed for $104, another $83.

"If you answer this question correctly, you will receive absolutely free subscriptions to five leading magazines," is the way the sweet voice starts.

That opening disarms the housewife.

Mrs. X fell, later telling us, "You answer the question, they ask to come and see you to verify that you are you, but while they are there, out comes a receipt for you to sign to show they called and collect $3 for postage."

She signed, not bothering to read that she was to be billed $3 for 25 months for postage.

When this housewife decided to ignore the monthly statement, there came a call from "the bailiff" at the "court house" demanding that she call a certain number in Detroit, which she did and was promptly informed to rush $83 immediately to a collection agency.

Ignoring the order brought a judgment in the mail two days later.

That meant contacting a lawyer and the battle still rages.

Advises Mrs. X, now well-versed on the magazine gimmick, "If your phone call starts with a question, tell them the baby is rolling on the floor — anything — but leave the receiver off the hook and don't go back to the thing for 10 to 15 minutes and then hang up.

"If you do answer the question and they asked to come and verify, say 'No!' If they come anyway, don't sign anything."

This is the soundest advice to be offered — take it from a $104 loser.

There is nothing free in these "free magazine offers" and you'd better believe it.

Mystery of Bugs Solved

Well, the mystery of the bugs is solved and now the real fun begins.

Starting next week, Herald readers will be able to play Newspaper Bingo, searching out numbers for their cards on the funny bugs, which will dot ads throughout the paper.

Nearly 30 business establishments are taking part in this Bingo business and that's where folks are going to be able to pick up cards.

The Herald guarantees that $650 will be given away right here. This is strictly a Tecumsehland game, the weekly $50 prizes going to our readers.

Adults may now pick up opening game cards from various sponsors and then watch the coming edition for the first set of numbers.

With His Bare Hands

With his own bare hands, Willis Porter is building a golf course along Comfort Rd.

His 12 hours of daily labor are taking shape and in a few weeks he'll be joined by a crew of assistants.

You've got to hand it to a man with such determination and we'll be willing to predict right now a giant crowd for his grand opening May 30, 1968.

Tees and greens are already showing preliminary contours, fairways in many instances are in medium stages of being shaped. By fall they should be ready for seeding.

Besides having a natural terrain for a links, the area owned by Mr. Porter contains more than 100 acres of peat, the perfect topping for fairways, plus three springs to provide water.

It should be a fine asset to the area.

News from Boysville

By RICK CURRIE

"Just For Fun" the eighth grade, freshmen and sophomores went on class picnics to Cedar Point in Sandusky, Ohio.

The classes enjoyed themselves all day, riding the many different amusements that copy somewhat those found at Disneyland in California.

Eats and soft drinks were provided for the students at a picnic area reserved for Boysville. The eighth graders and freshmen went on May 31 and the sophomores June 2.

Achievement awards were presented to all the students at Boysville who had worked hard all year.

Presentation of awards was preceded by a roast beef banquet.

After the supper Brother Eugene Polinski from Monroe Catholic Central delivered an address in which he emphasized that the students being honored were the kids who might rightly be called "cool."

The athletic department awarded monograms to all participants in the major sports of football, basketball, track, baseball, wrestling, and cheerleading.

Special trophy awards went to John Yankowski as outstanding lineman, Don Chalmers as outstanding back and most valuable player in football.

Tim Malenfant won the most improved JV football player. Mike O'Dea was awarded the outstanding basketball player trophy and Henry Bell most improved JV player.

Most valuable player awards went to Mike Gaudreau in baseball and Sam Kirkland in track. Richard Kayl won the Sportsmanship Award.

Awards [illegible] then given out by Brother Jude the Prefect of Discipline for good conduct over past years and the current year.

Brother Jeffrey, Principal of Boysville, then presented Scholastic Monograms. To receive a Scholastic Monogram a boy had to be on the Honor Roll all four marking periods and had to have accumulated 44 honor points.

William Kostka received the highest number of points with 69. Other winners were: Donald Lowe, 58; Noman Ocelski, 49; Paul DeWaelsche, 57; Rick Currie, 46; Ron Hiller, Patrick Downey and Daniel Hamel, all with 45.

Brother Steven Davis closed the awards banquet with his presentation of the Glee Club and [illegible] & Bugle Corps pins.

Boysville terminates for the summer this Friday at 10 a.m. Seniors left after graduation exercises Sunday. This week the rest of the student body took final exams.

The Boysville News Bureau has enjoyed bringing to Herald readers the happenings of the campus and looks forward to sharing news from the school again next year.

TO THE EDITORS:

During a recent visit in Tecumseh, somewhat to my amusement, my attention was called to an item which appeared several months ago under "Behind Page One" in which Mrs. Leon Vealey of Pinelleas Park, Florida, in commenting on an earlier article "Old Timer Remembers" stated she could go back further.

She wrote that she could remember when my sister used to push me over to her house in a baby buggy while I sucked on a bottle with a long rubber tube. I too remember that, but what she didn't know was that on those trips I always faked a sore toe to keep from walking and to avoid getting mixed up in her silly game of making mud pies. Also, the bottle contained hard cider instead of milk.

3rd Hale Son Gets Medal

By KAY STEELE

Scouting's God and Country Award was presented Sunday morning at the Tecumseh Methodist Church to James Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hale, and to Larry Mauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Mauer, by the Rev. Donald Porteous, pastor.

James is the third son in the Hale family to receive the coveted medal.

Brothers Jerry and Dick are also among the 50,000 having earned the God and Country Award from a possible 30 million Boy Scouts.

Not desiring to leave the Scout's religious development to chance, the God and Country Award Program, which takes at least one year to earn, directs the Scout to active participation in his own church.

Under the guidance of the minister or priest, the program is intended to help the Scout develop a better understanding of his life as a Christian.

It requires systematic study and service, in addition to the regular Christian education activity of Scouts.

Through this program it is intended that the Scout will grow in his Christian faith and develop an inner discipline.

The God and Country program is divided into three stages and in each stage there are five areas: Christian Faith, Christian Witness, Christian World Outreach, Christian Citizenship and Christian Fellowship.

Each of the stages is developed to provide four months of study and service. Service projects are assigned for each four month period in which time two new ones must be completed.

Accompanying the Scouts to the altar for the presentation of the awards were their parents. Each mother was presented with a pin.

ONE-YEAR EFFORT CLIMAXED — Jim Hale receives God and Country medal from the Rev. Don Porteous as Larry Mauer watches. Two Scouts spent one year in various pursuits to earn the coveted award.

Through My Window

OUR BLUE NEIGHBORS

The bluejays must have been reading over my shoulder several weeks ago when I discussed the "wheres" of birds' nests. They learned the lesson well, followed instructions perfectly and built their home-sweet-home in the sturdy crotch of a tree where a main limb branches away from the trunk. Fortunately, the tree is on the creek bank very close to my window.

The jays could not be 100 percent cooperative, though, they had to do a bit of teasing and provoke a little frustration — the nest itself is right smack in back of a clump of leaves. Had they used the most precise instruments, it could not have been lined up better.

When the wind blows, and this seems to happen every day lately, we have a good look at the nest and, if things get desperate enough, I suppose we could move all the furniture so that the bed can be jockeyed into a fairly good looking spot. So far, however, our normal position in front of the window has let us in on lots and lots of bluejay fun.

FIRST OF ALL we noticed a pair of jays dining at the feeder together, sitting side by each on the top rail of the fence and carefully looking over several trees in the neighborhood. Loud hoorays were shouted when they settled on our creek-side tree.

These birds are usually so scrappy, but, oh my, they do carry on a tender courtship. They were almost dainty about selecting the choicest sunflower seed and placing it in the other bird's bill.

When the nest building started in earnest, both birds proved to be tireless workers. Twigs, strips of bark, dried grass and weed stems were collected from near and far. And they were collected in big mouthfuls, too.

We laughed at one bird who was finding weeds and grass in the yard. He would pick up and discard, pick up and discard until his bill was so full that it looked as though he had a big shaggy mustache.

He was extremely fussy and would not take anything unless it suited perfectly. We wondered what his standards were and why. When his bill was crammed full to overflowing, he would take off but never directly to the nest. Following a devious route, which usually involved four or five stops before reaching the home site, he was repeating a practice familiar to many birds. They are sly and protective, by not going straight to the nest they do not give its location away quite so easily. During the building, the incubation and even the family feeding, it is unusual to see a bird go directly to its nest.

GETTING BACK to our bluejays. After delivering "a load of material" he seldom put it in place himself but instead handed it over to his mate. (Perhaps I should say he billed it over.) There is no color difference between the sexes of bluejays and so perhaps right here I should explain that when I say he or she it is merely guess work on my part.

I assume that Mrs. Jay built her nest and Mr. Jay did the heavy work. During the rough construction we saw both birds with sticks but when it came to the finishing, she sat inside and arranged things to her own liking.

As soon as they had decided upon the tree in which they wanted to build, both birds showed fierce possessiveness of the area. Their particular concern seemed to be the squirrels; in fact, there was a declared war between the bluejays and the squirrels. Even the big elm, which is four trees away, was off-limits.

There would not be a bluejay in sight but just let a squirrel scamper along the big limb which heads this way and it was a full scale alert.

Both jays would roar in and employ the most sophisticated air attack procedures. They repeatedly dive-bombed the poor squirrel, sometimes nipping and pecking and at other times scoring near misses which must have been equally terrifying.

One time, when a harassed squirrel was crossing from one tree to another on a small limb-bridge, a jay hit him with such force that he lost balance and had to scramble to catch hold of a lower branch. With this type of belligerence shown during the nest building, we are wondering what will happen when there are nestlings.

So it is that there are jays around and we refer to their color not their mood when we talk about our blue neighbors.

Catholics Being Asked for Opinions

Archbishop John F. Dearden announced what may become the most massive adult participation program in the Detroit area's history.

Its goal is to seek out the opinions of the 1,500,000 Catholics on the future legislation of the Catholic Church of the eight-county Archdiocese, including Lenawee.

The Parish Participation Plan, scheduled for operation in September as part of the Archdiocesan Assembly phase for the 1968 Synod, is a widespread effort to encourage the communication of ideas, following the people's participation in parish-based programs of study and discussion on the major concerns of the modern world.

OUTDOORS with GORDIE

by GORDON CHARLES

The people of Michigan have had many narrow escapes from individuals and groups who would like to exploit our natural resources for their own personal benefit.

Who can ever forget the bitter battles that raged over attempts to give portions of lovely Porcupine Mountains State Park to the lumber and mining interests?

Nor can we forget the barefaced attempts by some members of both political parties, at one time or another, to throw natural resource management back into the political patronage system.

In the midst of these and many other epic struggles revolving around our state and natural outdoor resources, one willing champion of all the people's rights has been there—Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

MUCC has been carrying on this role for 30 years now and it shows no sign of slackening its pace. Indeed, if anything, it is showing a remarkable maturity as it gives less attention now to questions like: "Is a 7-inch size limit for trout too small? and devotes an increasing amount of time to giant-size resource problems.

On June 22-24, MUCC will hold its 30th Annual Convention at Manistee and items on its agenda will center around resource problems touching the lives of every man, woman and child in Michigan.

QUESTIONS of clean air and waters, greater recreational opportunities, the litter menace and the increase of federal pressures on our natural resources are but a few of the "big ones" which will come under discussion.

Not that these are new. They're not. MUCC has been fighting these battles for most of the past three decades — far longer than any of the many, moneyed private and government - sponsored groups which have only recently hopped onto the outdoor bandwagon.

YOU CAN'T find a more democratic organization than MUCC, either. Made up of some 65,000 individuals who belong to close to 400 clubs who are affiliated or associated with MUCC, it is truly Michigan's only state-wide conservation organization.

Groups within MUCC represent not only hunters and fishermen but farm groups, organized labor, educators, bird-watchers and many others with an appreciation for the outdoors and conservation of our natural resources.

MUCC is also set up to work just like a sort of "Conservation Congress," which not only urges each member of an affiliated club to bring worth-while problems and solutions to the very top, but acts as a reservoir of responsible strength when conservation battles must be fought.

This effectiveness is a matter of record.

THE EASIEST way to understand the workings of this highly-respected organization, of course, would be to attend the Manistee convention. Guests are always welcome.

There, delegates elected from each member club will help chart the course of conservation for their membership. And, looking back into past years for reference, there is a good chance that some of their decisions will eventually become conservation policy in Michigan, with possible impact on the national scene.

MUCC happens to be composed of very earnest people who give of their time, money and energies to assure the very best for future generations.

Who can possibly argue with a philosophy like that?

Evelyn Witherell, David McKee Are Wed

CLINTON — Marriage vows were exchanged by Evelyn Mary Witherell and David Thomas McKee of Plymouth Saturday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Witherell, 5305 US-12, rural Tipton.

The bridegroom's mother and stepfather are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Allen of Stratford, N. J.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ozro Priest, retired minister of the United Church of Christ, before a background of palms and bouquet of white gladiolus and chrysanthemums.

The bride wore a white knitted suit dress and her headpiece was a circular veil held by a single flower. She carried a nosegay of yellow roses and daisies and white chrysanthemums.

Alberta Rasmussen came from the University of Wisconsin to be maid of honor. She wore an A-line dress of pale yellow dacron. Her bouquet was formed of white and yellow daisies.

Thomas Blouits of Detroit was the best man.

MORE THAN 50 guests attended a reception after the ceremony. Yellow and white daisies and chrysanthemums circled the tiered bride's cake and enhanced the candle holders on the bride's table, which was skirted in bouffant yellow net.

Mrs. Elvin Witherell, aunt of the bride, served the cake and Mrs. Ben Mahrle II poured the coffee.

The bride is a 1963 graduate of Clinton High School. She attended Ferris State College and was employed at Bendix, Electro Optics Division.

Mr. McKee is a graduate of Western Michigan University with a BA and MA in psychology. He is a member of the Pi Gamma Mu, National Honor Society and is employed as a Labor Relations Analyst at the Livonia Transmission and Chassis Division of Ford Motor Company.

Mr. and Mrs. McKee planned to visit New Orleans, La., and Guatamala on their way to British Honduras, South America, where they will spend two weeks with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Piper, who are serving with the Peace Corps there.

When they return they will be at home at 12899 Heritage Dr., Plymouth.

Joan Sharpe has been awarded a scholarship from the Interlochen Music Camp to attend the All-State High School Band Camp for two weeks beginning June 26. Joanne, a sophomore in Clinton High School, has played clarinet four years and has appeared in the all-county band two years and has been a majorette for two years. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sharpe.

Rick Welch Gets Sousa Recognition

CLINTON — Sousaphone player, Rick Welch, was presented the John Philip Sousa trophy, pin and certificate at the graduation concert in Clinton High School Thursday evening.

Rick was selected for the honor by his fellow bandsmen for having made the greatest contribution to the band.

He was president of the Band Council and last fall was chosen to play the sousaphone with the National FFA band in Kansas City. He has played in the dance band three years and has served as equipment manager. He is the son of Mrs. Janet Welch.

THE CADET band opened the concert with a selection of marches. A novel presentation was "The Three Little Pigs," narrated by Megan Feldkamp with amusing sound effects.

The symphony band gave performances of the "William Tell Overture," selections from the musical, "South Pacific" and several marches.

Making their last appearance with the band were nine seniors, Melissa Mattis, Pamela Weasel, Diance Schuler, Rick Welch, Pat Martiny, Jeanne Lancaster, Mary Rynd, Ray Johnston and Eva Green. Each will receive a pin in recognition for service in the band.

A piano solo was played by Melissa Mattis.

The rousing rendition of Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever" brought the audience to its feet with applause, a fitting climax to an entertaining performance.

A scrapbook of band activity photos and a cash gift were presented by the band to Karl Wirt, who has resigned to accept a position in Belding.

Helms Gets Top Award

By DOROTHY GRIGG

"And that service to humanity is the best work of life," concludes the Jaycee creed so beautifully exmplified in every phase of the annual awards banquet of the Junior Chamber and the Auxiliary Saturday evening at the American Legion Home.

Emotions were near the surface as Dyke Helms was presented a Junior Chamber International Senatorship climaxing a well-filled evening of presentations.

Ray Shelton is the only other local Jaycee to hold the honor bestowed to only a few of the 25 million members throughout the world.

Dyke's is the 6753 membership to be accepted. He and Mr. Shelton were given life memberships.

Dyke and Fred Johnson were also given "exhausted roosters" and their wives "pooped pullets."

Mrs. Helms, outstanding Jaycette at the local, district and state level, was given a Japanese Blood Maple for her lawn. Mrs. Johnson received a sewing box.

Spoke, sparkette and spark plugs were presented to relatively new members.

Mrs. Helms and Mrs. Walter Wonderly were given honorary memberships in the auxiliary.

The Jaycees Follies Committee, chaired by Jack Lundi assisted by Mrs. John Howell, received the committee of the year award.

The football lights project chaired by Dyke Helms took the honors as project of the year.

Ron Albert, treasurer, was the recipient of the presidential award for helping President Tom Morgan most.

Charles Robinson received the key man award for his participation in activities throughout the year.

THE HIGHEST tribute given by the local group is the Dick Beemer award received by President Morgan.

This presentation was made by Frank Sandhoff, last year's winner.

Mrs. Elwartowski was presented with her past president's hat and pin, also a charm bracelet and charms of her three daughters with their birthdates.

Mr. and Mrs. Helms presented the Auxiliary with an electric roaster.

Certificates of appreciation were presented to WLEN radio, Eggleston's, Dean Shelton, Mrs. William Flanders, Perry Satterthwaite, Dr. Robert Laidlaw, The Tecumseh Herald, Mrs. Lyle Grigg, Mrs. Raymond Puffer and to members of the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Walter Elwartkowski made the presentations to Auxiliary members assisted by Mrs. Thomas Morgan and also installed officers for the coming year in a candelight ceremony.

MRS. MORGAN is the District Vice-president of the Auxiliary.

District Vice-president of the Jaycees Al Smith and his wife of Adrian were present and National Director David Schoonover watched as his wife, Maria, was installed as new local president.

John Day, as president, and the other officers of the Jaycees were installed by outgoing president Tom Morgan.

Ron Coleman and Mrs. Elwartowski assisted by Mrs. Ric Creswell chaired the arrangements of the dinner dance with Mrs. Helms in charge of dainty swing centerpieces for each table.

Mrs. Morgan decorated the stage highlighted by a swing that was used for taking pictures of couples wishing it by Dave Schoonover.

Mrs. Schoonover had charge of the programs carrying out the "Swing Out of Spring" theme as did the name tags made by Mrs. Doug Osworth and committee.

Mrs. Robinson handled the door prizes, a pole lamp won by the Al Smiths, an ashtray by the Frank Sandhoffs and a centerpiece by Terry Haughn.

Other centerpieces were also given away.

Many gag gifts lightened the evening of outstanding award presentations.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

The economy of our whole nation — producers, workers and customers — faces a real danger today from regulatory overkill.

This danger arises from those who agree on consumer sovereignty in principle but do not have enough faith in it to put it into practice.

The doubters argue that industry, not the customer, controls and manages demand today, telling the customer what he wants or should have, and managing the customer's life. If they are right, then the next logical step is for government to step in and do the manipulating in order to protect the customers.

But I believe they are wrong.

I believe that consumer sovereignty is the keystone to our competitive enterprise system. I believe it has worked miraculously well.

I believe substitution of government sovereignty is bad news for the consumer and bad news for the economy.

Government has a tendency to move in too fast, to go too far, to stay too long and to make its regulations too rigid.

Sooner or later, governmental regulation stifles initiative, innovation and progress.

I am not opposed to government regulation that strengthens consumer sovereignty.

There will always be those in any activity who will mistake freedom for license, and who will abuse the opportunity our free competitive economy affords. So there will have to be some government regulation.

BUT WHATEVER government regulation is needed, must be restrained. I suggest three guidelines for government restraint in the development of necessary regulation:

1. Government should regulate only when private industry either refuses to move, or has demonstrated it cannot handle the problem without government direction.

2. Government should constantly review its regulation. Regulations once on the books, bureaucracies once established, should not be immune to change, improvement, or elimination.

3. Another vital consideration is whether the regulation will strengthen the role of the customer as the principal regulator of our economy.

And if government is to practice restraint — as it should — then private industry must practice responsibility — as it should.

To avoid unnecessary regulation, industry must on its own initiative do its full part in solving public problems resulting from its own activities.

BY STEPPING forward to do its part, industry and other segments of our economy can provide the most effective rebuttal to the thinkers who want a planned economy, and to the bureaucrats who want to take over more and more responsibilities.

Our economy is still based on service to the individual. The customer is still partly in the driver's seat. But his position is increasingly threatened today by unwise federal policies.

22 Pages — Ten Cents

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Perry Satterthwaite stepped up to the brass cage and gave the handle a quick flip.

His years on the tennis court served Perry well for this delicate but demanding task.

Out came a wooden ball, Perry eyed it carefully and then in strong voice announced:

"G-52."

The action had officially started in Newspaper Bingo.

Fifty bucks are now on the line for this week's game and maybe you'll be grabbing the prize or sharing it with another lucky person.

If nobody is able to produce a card with all numbers Xed out, the $50 will be added to the second-week prize, putting $100 up for grabs.

When the 13 weekly bingo games are concluded, $650 will have been given away to readers of The Herald.

THE GAMES are all free and cards can be picked up at 27 business establishments around the area, to-wit:

- Adrian Federal Savings & Loan
- Al's Sunoco
- Bud's A & W Drive-In
- Chicken Basket
- Decorating Center
- DesErmia's Furniture
- Les Dallas Dodge
- Du-Ro Wood Products

- One-Hour Martinizing
- Ruhl's Citgo
- Rusty's Drive-In
- Selder's Standard
- Sluyter's Gifts
- George Underwood Fordland
- Wolf's TV & Appliances

EACH GAME will last seven days with cards of different colors signaling new action. The current go is blue.

To find the 57 numbers drawn for this week's action, search through the pages of The Herald and you'll find Bingo Bugs like this fellow, each with a different digit, in ads of sponsors and elsewhere. When they match numbers on your card (or cards), X them out.

If you can click for 24 on one card, you've got a winner. Hustle it to The Herald before Monday at 5 p.m.

Keep collecting those blue cards and checking the bugs.

It's got to be good for some laughs — and maybe $50.

Speedway Victim To Receive Purse

Douglas Harvey, sheriff of Washtenaw County, is sponsoring a benefit race Friday at the Manchester Speedway for Harold Schill, recently injured in a speedway accident.

The full purse will be donated to the injured driver.

Veryl Schill, owner of Manchester Speedway and father of Harold, said Tuesday, "We are honored and we appreciate the donation that the drivers are making. They will drive for nothing that night, only receiving the prestige of winning."

He said that his son, a patient at St. Joseph Hospital, is showing daily improvement. Harold, a veteran stock car driver, was critically injured June 2 and remains in a coma.

Chartered Buses To Join Caravan

'On To Tecumseh!" — Ontario, that is, as local citizens prepare for the July 1 caravan to our sister city in Canada.

Shortway Lines buses will leave at 10 a.m. from in front of City Hall, returning by midnight, said Linda Easton, chairman of the caravan and the daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Harold Easton, 702 Center Ct.

Deadline for reservations is Sunday at 9 p.m. Tickets will be delivered the same day as ordered by local Jaycees.

Ticket sale, $4.25 per person, begins today and phone reservations will be taken by calling:

Mrs. George VanCamp — 423-2589
Mrs. Dyke Helms — 423-4458
Mrs. Walter Elwartowski — 423-2288
Thomas Morgan — 423-2462
Linda Easton — 423-2589

There is no entry charge to the festivities.

Prearranged clearance through customs and police escorts have been provided to make the two-hour trip more enjoyable. Individual cars leaving earlier can join the caravan in Windsor, Linda said.

A 50-star American flag will be presented to Tecumseh, Ont., and entertainment will include two teenage bands, baseball games, square dances, fireworks, tennis, picnicking and the dedication of a new $35,000 swimming pool.

Several restaurants are located in the city but participants are advised to pack picnic lunches.

Thieves Caught in Stolen Auto

Three youths, one from Michigan, were arrested here Tuesday afternoon in a stolen car from Toledo.

Tyrone R. Huffman, 18, Toledo; Carlyle Huffman, 17, Zephyrhills, Fla.; and Daniel W. Burmeister, 17, Lambertville, were turned over to the Toledo police department.

The boys had attempted to sell a tire in Britton, where suspicions were aroused and Tecumseh police notified.

500 Daily Go To Pit To Cool Off

The coming of hot, summer days has seen over 500 persons per day enjoying the weather at The Pit.

"We end up babysitting for the young kids whose parents leave them with us," said Ted Todd, waterfront director at The Pit, but other than that we don't have many problems.

"There is some vandalism at night," he said. The Pit is open from 9:30 a.m. 'til dark.

Sue Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith of 5542 Milwaukee Rd., works at The Pit as both lifeguard and in the refreshment stand.

Linda Oberlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oberlin of 406 Wildwood, works at the entrance where charges are 35 cents per person, $1 per family and $25 handles season passes.

"Construction is scheduled to begin on the new Pit facilities in the near future," said Todd.

Bride, Groom Shop Opens Saturday to Plan Weddings

Sue Brown is opening her new bride and groom shop Saturday.

Specializing in bridal consultation, Mrs. Brown renovated a shop at 128 E. Chicago Blvd., where she will advise newly-engaged ladies on the art of preparing for the up-coming wedding.

Experienced with 25 years of tailoring, Mrs. Brown will do her own work on gowns, fitting, styling and the actual sewing.

She formerly had a shop in her own home here where she serviced local establishments with alterations and repairs.

Mrs. Brown, a widow, is presently living at Detroit Beach, Monroe, with one of her four children. She plans to move to Tecumseh soon.

Her office hours will be from noon to 6 p.m.

VIRGINIA DOLLISON, class salutatorian, told her fellow classmates that " . . . our own destiny lies within us. What will we do with our lives? — how will we shape our future? These are questions that cannot be answered for us but ones we must each answer for ourselves.

"We have the added responsibility of not only making a decision that is right for us but also one where we may make a meaningful contribution to the outside world.

Miss Dollison concluded with these remarks: "Do not let your past mistakes ruin your future success, nor let your past success replace your future ones."

VALEDICTORIAN James Goodman noted that " . . . we must face up to the fact that today we leave the cherished halls of this school and step out into another school — the school of reality, the school of life where it is of the essence to be an individual and realize your true capacities.

"We must at this time throw off the shackles of apathy which have for so long enclosed us in a web of conformity and uncertainty, and confront life on its own terms, realizing that man's spirit is truly unconquerable.

"To me," Mr. Goodman continued, "the real tragedy of life is not that a man be limited to one talent but is, instead, the failure of such a man to use that one talent.

"One must, therefore, rise above the tendency to merely 'lead a life of quiet desperation' and, instead, seek to discover his true self and capabilities.

"In conclusion I would like to say speaking directly to my fellow graduates: May the doors of a happy future be wide open to all of you."

Hands of Clock Go Ahead Twice in Huey Holt Home

It was bound to happen.

Mrs. Huey Holt of Jasper an employee of Gray Mfg., set the clock at her home ahead one hour about 10 p.m. Tuesday.

At 11:30, hubby Huey, not realizing his wife had done the job, also turned the hands ahead another 60 minutes.

Come the dawn, Mrs. Holt was off to work. She pulled up in into Gray's parking lot at 6 instead of 7.

However, as it turned out she wasn't the only oddity. There stood her work buddy, Mrs. Leslie Truitt of Addison, who also was slightly mixed up.

The girls adjourned to Kerby's Hamburg Shop to sip coffee for an hour and tell Fern Cutler's customers about their little goof.

A post script to Mrs. Truitt's trouble is that her husband also arrived one hour early for his job at Tecumseh Products, which is still on Eastern Standard Time this week, changing over with Monday's first shift.

As she left for Tecumseh, Mrs. Truitt mistakenly awoke her hubby and told him to rise and shine.

Curth, Conners Set to Coach THS Indians

Two coaches, new to the Tecumseh staff, but well known locally, have been hired for the Indians.

Pat Conners, head football coach at Boysville, will be varsity line coach and head coach for the Indians' wrestling program.

Jim Curth, outstanding Tecumseh lineman a few years back and former coach at Clinton and Milan, will be a varsity assistant under Coach Tom Fagan. He'll also help Ted Todd with the freshman squad.

Both are apt to pick up other athletic assignments for the 1967-68 school year.

Voter Turn-out Lightest in Years

Lightest vote in memory for most folks occurred here Monday when only 55 cast ballots for three candidates running for the School Board.

None of the candidates were opposed.

Dr. Harold Ocamb polled 55 votes for a one-year term on the Board and William Brown and Mrs. Donald Cobb, seeking four-year terms, pulled 54 and 51 votes, respectively.

Although the vote was exceptionally light, the cost per vote could well run over $5, school officials state.

TV Cable Reaches Tecumseh

Construction of a television coaxial cable network in Adrian and Tecumseh is progressing at a steady pace.

According to GTEC Cable TV Manager Gene Baril, five crews, composed of 20 men are involved in the project.

The northeast section of Adrian has been completed and crews are now working in the Tecumseh area.

VITAL ASPECT of this work is the testing of the coaxial cables both before and after they are placed in the air. Rigid electronic tests and careful connections are made to insure that all sections of the cable will carry television signals with no distortion or interference once the system is in operation.

Starting point for the Adrian-Tecumseh Cable TV system, Mr. Baril said, is the 200-foot tower and antenna system located between the two cities on Valley Rd., near Occidental Hwy., in Raisin Township.

Specially designed antenna will pick up signals of 11 TV stations. Because of the extreme height and design of the antennas, the Cable TV system accepts signals, which are processed by electronic equipment to boost strength and screen out interference.

These signals are then piped right to the customers TV set by the coaxial cable system.

Subscribers will no longer need antenna or rotor system.

A 12TH CHANNEL, reporting local weather conditions and the correct time, will also be provided.

Channels to be carried on the Adrian-Tecumseh Cable TV System, Mr. Baril added, will be 2, 4, 7, 50 and 56 from Detroit.

Channel 9 from Windsor, and 11, 13 and 24 in Toledo; 6 from Lansing and 10 from Jackson are others.

GTEC Cable TV, a division of GT&E Communications, Inc., will open a business office in Adrian at 118 N. Winter St. this week.

Youth Dies In Stabbing

Emanuel Reece, 20, of 206½ Shawnee St., was fatally stabbed in an argument between two groups Sunday at a swimming area called North Quarry at the northeast city limits of Monroe.

Monroe City Police said Wednesday that Jackie Lee Reed, 20, has been charged with manslaughter. He stood mute and is out on $2,000 bail.

According to police, the stabbing occurred at 8:45 p.m. Reece was accompanied by Nicholas Cornett, 20, of 430 E. Logan St. They were driven to the Quarry by a Monroe friend who returned later.

The young men came upon Reed and a 16-year-old girl companion. An argument followed and the victim was kicking Reed when Reed pulled a knife and stabbed Reece in the chest and side.

Monroe Police said that the knife entered the rib cage, veins and the aorta above the heart.

Reece was loaded into a car by a friend. A flat tire necessitated transfer to another vehicle and he was dead on arrival at Monroe Mercy Hospital.

Local SPEBSQSA Singing Group Affiliates with National Organization

Growing steadily in number since its first meeting last month, Tecumseh's new chapter of the SPEBSQSA (Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America) is now affiliated with the national organization . . . officially, that is.

The group meets every Tuesday night at 8 in the Jaycee Club Rooms. Any male, 16 years or over, is eligible for membership.

Next week's meeting will include appointment of officers for the year.

"If you like to sing — even if you aren't very good — drop in and give 'em a chance to sign you up," said one enthusiast, John Howell. Most of the weekly song-fest is done in chorus.

For information, phone John at 423-2361.

Cancer Fund Misses Goal

Joe Fortunato, American Cancer Crusade chairman, reports that to date $15,475.91 has been received, about $525 short of the goal for Lenawee County.

Mr. Fortunato, the Lenawee County Board of the American Cancer Society and recipients of this aid are truly grateful to the many volunteer workers and contributors to the Cancer Society.

Contributions may be sent to the American Cancer Society Office, 204 N. Broad St., Adrian.

"Your help in combating this rapidly increasing disease will be greatly appreciated by its victims in Lenawee County," said Mr. Fortunato.

"Loan closet items — beds, bedpans, commode, suction pump — are available for use by cancer patients," he added.

Dressings which are made by volunteers under the direction of Mrs. Bernard Patmos, as well as help with medications and transportation for treatments, are also available by simply calling at the cancer office.

Anyone desiring more information may contact the cancer office.

VICTOR LAWSON

Teacher of Year Award to Lawson

By KATHY HALL

"The 1967 Tecumseh High School Teacher of the Year Award goes to a man who is known for his 'quizzerroonies', picayune tests and bad back after a hard night correcting them. This man is well-known at THS, as he excels on the court as well as in the classroom."

Those were the words of Jim Mobley, president of the Student Council, which annually presents the award to that teacher who demonstrates his teaching skills in his ability to get along with students while at the same time helping them to learn.

The winner this year is Victor Lawson, affectionately called by most THS students as "Coach," "Coachie" or "The Ol' Coach."

Lawson has 15 years of teaching at Tecumseh behind him and is proud of the 12 varsity basketball teams he has coached.

His daily duties this year included teaching three U.S. History classes, two physical education classes and supervising a study hall.

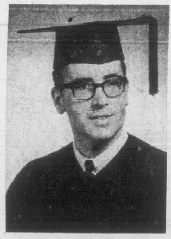
After-school hours would inevitably find him involved some way in sports: he coached the undefeated JV football team and the JV track team, in addition to his fine work with varsity basketball.

Lawson's summer chores include teaching swimming lessons at the pool where he is supervisor and a two-week trek to Grayling National Guard camp.

"Coachie" and his wife, Louise, have three children: Pat, who will teach at Kalamazoo next year; Jim, whose talent won him a berth on an all-state basketball team two years ago; and Bob, a sixth-grader who plans to play for his father in a few years.

The Lawsons have countless other "children" who know that the door to the Lawson home is always open.

"The words Lawson and sports are synonymous," commented one student. Another added, "Mr. Lawson makes learning fun."



Raymond Charles Osburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Osburn, 231 Park St., will be among those graduating June 18 from Ferris State College, School of Pharmacy at Big Rapids. President of the Pharmacy Class, the graduate will intern for six months at St. Joseph Hospital to complete his education. His aunt, Mrs. Al Dolan, and three children of Seattle, Wash., arrived Thursday for the festivities and will remain in the area for a month visiting relatives and friends.

Louise Stutesman Marries Norman Barnard

Britton Bethel Baptist Church was the scene of the ceremony uniting Louise Stutesman and Norman Barnard in marriage June 3.

Participating pastors were the Rev. Duane McNeil, host pastor and the Rev. Lowell Barnard, father of the groom.

The altar was enhanced by large baskets of gladioli and a decorative memory candle bordered with carnations and lily of the valley entwined with ivy on a linen covered table.

The ceremony featured the lighting of the memory candle from two chancel candles, symbolizing the union of the bride and groom.

The Rev. McNeil expressed the couple's thankfulness for God's blessing and dedication for missionary service.

Soloist Merlyn Jones of Cedarville College sang 'Submission" and the Rev. Barnard offered a prayer of dedication while the couple knelt.

Organist was Mrs. David Holly.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Walter L. Stutesman of 113 S. Maumee and the late Mr. Stutesman and the Rev. and Mrs. Lowell M. Barnard of Kingman, Ind.

THE BRIDE was given in marriage by her brother, James Stutesman of Grand Haven. Her gown of lace over taffeta was fashioned with a floor-length train attached to an oval neckline. The skirt with paneled inserts belled slightly from the taffeta encircled waist.

The bride wore a single pearl set with a diamond on a silver chain, gift of the groom.

MARY ALICE Stutesman, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her ballerina length gown featured a pink lace bodice and full chiffon skirt. The oval neckline and long lace sleeves were edged with satin piping.

She carried an arrangement of pink carnations and lily of the valley and wore a pink chiffon headpiece with shoulder length veil.

Sherrill Hesler of Kingman, Ind., attended the groom as best man.

The groom's parents were hosts at the rehearsal dinner Friday evening. They were assisted by Mrs. Lauren Gall of Britton.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Cedarville College, Cedarville, Ohio. After a short honeymoon in northern Michigan, the couple will reside at 213 E. Chicago Blvd.

The groom plans to continue his education in preparation for missionary service in Peru.

SEBEWAING — The entire Sebewaing community is gearing its activities to the third annual Sebewaing Sugar Festival to be held June 30 and July 1.

Begun in 1965 to commemorate the growing sugar industry in the Thumb, the Sebewaing Festival increased tremendously last year and was a unanimous choice to be repeated in 1967. More activities have been added each year, so the 1967 event is designed to be chock-full of events throughout the Festival weekend.

Booster pins and barbecue tickets are on sale now and the reception has been very good, said Arthur E. Mast, general chairman of the Festival.

Flanders Celebrate 25th Anniversary

An open house will be held June 23 from 7 - 9:30 p.m. for Mr. and Mrs. William M. Flanders at their home, 305 Miami Court, in observance of their 25th wedding anniversary.

William M. Flanders and Betty Jane Rossbach of Ann Arbor were married June 23, 1942, in Napoleon, O., by Justice of the Peace Dallas Young.

Mr. Flanders was stationed at Fort Riley, Kan., with the U. S. Army at the time and was home on only five days' leave. He left for Fort Riley the day after the wedding and she joined him the following week. They spent two and one-half years in the states before he went overseas.

William R. Martin of Ann Arbor and Anna Mae Klein of Saline, the attendants, were married also in the double ceremony and plan to come to the open house.

Mr. and Mrs. Flanders have three children, Sgt. Van R. Flanders with the U. S. Army in Korea; Gary L. and Bonnie Jean at home and one granddaughter, Michelle Ann.

The Flanders operate the Flanders Music Store. They ask that gifts be omitted.

4-H Members Jack-of-all-Trades

"You have to be a jack of all trades to be a leader," observed an 18-year-old 4-H Club boy.

Any youngster can enroll in the national 4-H Leadership program. It is only a training ground for subject matter leaders in safety, health, electric, livestock, home economics and public speaking, but also a springboard for future businessmen, teachers, lawyers, doctors and civic leaders.

The national program is sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, a long-time 4-H backer.

Self-determination, responsibility and perseverence are among prime requisites for successful leadership, according to the Cooperative Extension Service which sets up guidelines for the program.

As incentive to reach their goals, The Sears-Roebuck Foundation offers recognition and awards for superior achievement.

Persons interested in 4-H Junior Leadership opportunities are invited to contact the Lenawee 4-H Office in Adrian.

Here How It Works:

PICK UP FREE BINGO CARDS: Each week (adults only, please) pick up your FREE Bingo cards from any of the sponsoring merchants listed below. Rules of the game allow the merchants to give you only one card on each store visit. However, you may make as many visits as you wish each day of the week. THE MORE CARDS YOU PLAY THE BETTER ARE YOUR CHANCES OF WINNING.

HOW TO PLAY: To play, check the ads in each week's issue of The Tecumseh Herald. The ads of the merchants listed below will contain one or more "Newspaper Bingo" numbers in the "Bingo Bug" symbol (shown above). Occasionally numbers, in the "Bingo Bug" symbol, may be found elsewhere in the newspaper. Check the classified ads for additional numbers. IF YOU CAN MATCH (JUST CIRCLE OR "X" THE MATCHING NUMBERS) ALL 24 NUMBERS ON ANY ONE OF YOUR BINGO CARDS — YOU HAVE A "BINGO" — AND YOU ARE A WINNER!!

AT LEAST $50 WEEKLY!! Winners will share a weekly prize of $50 issued in "Bingo Bucks" that spends like cash at any of the sponsoring merchants. If there is only one winner, he wins all of the $50. If there is more than one winner, all winners will share the $50 in equal amounts. If there are no winners any week, the $50 weekly prize money will be added to the following week's prize fund.

CHECK EACH ISSUE OF THE TECUMSEH HERLAD: Each game is complete in each week's issue. A new game will start each Wednesday and be completed the following Monday. A new set of Bingo numbers will be published each week in the sponsoring merchants' ads and possibly elsewhere in the paper and these new numbers only must be used. A new color of Bingo cards each week will be available at the participating stores. To be eligible to win, you must play Bingo cards of the correct color for that week's game. The color of the cards for each week's game will be announced on this page.

IF YOU ARE A WINNER: If you have a winning Bingo card, ON WHICH ALL 24 NUMBERS HAVE BEEN MATCHED WITH THE NUMBERS APPEARING EACH WEEK IN THE HERALD, write your name, address, phone number, and the name of the store where you got your winning card on the back of your card and mail to The Herald. The envelope containing your card must be received by 5 p.m. Monday of the following week; or bring your winning card to the office by 5 p.m. Monday of the following week.

Rules of the Game

NO OBLIGATION OR PURCHASE NECESSARY: There is no obligation or purchase necessary. A copy of the paper is available for playing the game at the office of this newspaper — also at the public libraries. You may play as many cards as you wish — they are free. Get additional cards — one at a time — each day of the week — from the friendly merchants listed below (adults only, please).

DIFFERENT COLORED CARDS EACH WEEK: The color of the cards changes each week. To be a winner, you must play Bingo cards of the correct color for that week. Mutilated or altered cards will not be honored. ALL 24 NUMBERS ON A CARD MUST BE MATCHED TO WIN.

CHANCE DETERMINES NUMBERS: Bingo numbers for each week's game are drawn at random from a revolving Bingo number dispensing cage at the office of this newspaper. Some duplication of Bingo numbers may appear in the merchants' ads. This duplication does not affect the game or the total numbers drawn. All numbers for each week's game will be some place in the sponsoring merchants' ads and possibly elsewhere in the paper. Employees of this newspaper and their families are not eligible to win any of the prizes.

Any Think

By JUDY FIELDER

Hey, Mom — School's Out!

Whee — No more time schedules.

The kids can sleep in and we can eat breakfast in leisure (between 8:30 a.m. and 9 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. swimming lessons) at the picnic table — it's nice to be able to hose the spilled milk off the floor.

School uniforms are packed away for three whole months.

T-shirts are "in" and blouses that have to be ironed are worn only in dire necessity.

Goodbye shoes.

AM WAITING anxiously for the new storm-screen door to be delivered. We ordered it last December, but somebody at the yard forgot to call us . . . then when they did, someone else had sold it.

Meanwhile, the front door is locked because conferences with neighborhood buddies can't be held either indoors or outside — conversations MUST take place with door ajar, one foot in, one foot out.

It's a race track — in the back, out the front or vice versa.

BESIDES, the dog, who has lost her collar three times in the last week (maybe we should glue it to her), thinks she's just one of the kids and zips out with them every time the door is opened.

Chained to her doghouse, some heartfelt crony takes pity on her — poor Precious — and unfastens her hook so she can play too.

She loves everybody, including garbage, mail and milkmen, so when the poor dogcatcher came to the door the other day to say someone had complained about her being loose — making another dog bark — about 15 kids encircled Precious, standing guard so to speak, and gave him the eagle eye.

Yes sir — she has a new collar now (buckle type) and we're keeping her tied up (lock and key).

Boy — does it seem good to be out of the "haul diapers, playpen, extra clothes, powder, sunbonnet, formula, baby food, stroller" stage.

Now we just have to haul blankets, suntan oil, lawn chaise (for mother), towels, picnic lunch, sunglasses, transistor radio, comic books, life preservers and bug spray.

MOMS WITH fair-skinned babies and youngsters — please note! Get the best sunscreen cream available. Experience with our redhead's bad burn two years ago has taught . . . don't take a chance with the little ones in the sun.

EMU Degrees Received by Nine

Commencement exercises at Eastern Michigan University saw nine local students receiving degrees.

Tecumseh scholars who earned masters degrees included Raeola J. Lasky and Norbert H. Marsh.

Noel W. Kohl, MaryAnn Mead, Rhineheart P. Radant Jr., and Mary A. Stutesman all from Tecumseh, received bachelors degrees.

From Clinton, Lee A. Groeb earned her bachelors and Ellen W. Miller received her masters.

Sharon L. Risch of Britton earned her bachelors degree.

Commencement speaker was Harlan Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan.

Mike Vaillancourt Serving on Decks of USS "Flattop"

First Lieutenant Michael R. Vaillancourt, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Vaillancourt of 1007 River Acres Dr., is in Long Beach, Calif., serving aboard the Pacific Fleet support aircraft carrier USS Kearsarge.

The 41,000 ton "flattop" has returned from conducting anti-submarine warfare exercises off the coast of California.

For their performance in the Gulf of Tonkin last year, personnel of the Kearsarge have received more than 400 Air Medals, as well as Silver Stars, Navy Crosses, Distinguished Flying Crosses and Purple Hearts.

Earlier this year, the carrier received the Battle Efficiency "E" Award for scoring the highest number of points, for overall combat readiness, while in competition with other support ships of its class.

PROMOTED — Jack Brown, life-long resident of Tecumseh and night superintendent at Tecumseh Corrugated Box, has been made plant superintendent in charge of manufacturing and personnel at the company's new plant in Van Wert, O. He joined Tecumseh Box when it was formed here in 1963 and has progressed rapidly. Mr. Brown and his family will move to Ohio in August.

Traffic Control Changes Eyed

Traffic control changes in the vicinity of the Junior High and High School were discussed last Monday night by Council before officials asked City Manager Cal Zorn to determine the costs for the changes.

A study of the area was made by AAA of Detroit and several suggestions offered:

- ► School crossing, flasher lights on N. Ottawa near Logan St.
- ► No parking, west side of N. Ottawa between Logan and Shawnee.
- ► Install beam-type guard rail on N. Ottawa at curve just north of Shawnee.
- ► Set back sidewalk along curve.
- ► Make Shawnee St. one-way east to N. Maumee.
- ► No parking on Shawnee during school hours.
- ► Have schools load buses on Shawnee instead of Ottawa.
- ► Have schools pave parking lot and have students park in lot.
- ► Have schools to have a closed campus," prohibiting students from driving cars during noon hour.

School and city officials have discussed the recommendations but apparently arrived at no decisions.

Police Chief Murell Clark reported that an investigation of the S. Evans St. intersection at Kilbuck was properly marked by traffic signs.

TEA Gives OK

Tecumseh Education Association ratified a new salary contract last week which calls for an increase here in base salaries from $5,503.52 to $5,700.

In an addition to the base increase, the teachers negotiated for 70 percent of any increase in state aid over the amount given to the schools for 1966-67.

The approximate cost to the schools, if approved by the School Board at its June 19 meeting, will be $72,000. No additional millage for teachers' salaries will be necessary, according to Supt. James McDowell.

The new maximum for a teacher with a degree will be $7,980 plus $228 increments every five years. A teacher with a master's degree will start at $6,270 and after 10 years can reach $8,550.

Board officials, Aden Meade and Dr. Harold Ocamb, along with Supt. McDowell and Norval Bovee, Assistant Superintendent, met with TEA representatives for the past several weeks in negotiating a contract.

Negotiations are still underway with school custodians, bus drivers, maintenance employees and secretaries.

Whether teachers here won a victory in their negotiations is debatable. Other schools are contemplating base salaries of $6,000 to $7,500.

Adrian's base for 1967-68 is $5,850 and could well be one of the lowest — if not the lowest in Lenawee County. If there's no increase in state aid, Tecumseh will rank last in teachers' pay.

Both Clinton and Britton are negotiating master contracts, which includes new salary schedules. Supt. William Saxton of Britton and Supt. Richard Wegner of Clinton anticipate ratification within the next two weeks.

The date of the Hawaiian garden and pool party has been changed to June 26 instead of July 4.

The event will be held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Murray at 6:30 p.m. instead of 7.

WILLIAM PERRY HAYDEN, VIOLIN VIRTUOSO, AT THE AGE OF THIRTEEN.

Wins Acclaim as Violinist

By DOROTHY GRIGG

William Perry Hayden, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hayden of New City, N. Y., formerly of Tecumseh, recently won acclaim from an audience of friends, music teachers, students and music-minded New Yorkers.

The talented young violinist played a concert of compositions by Mozart, Greig, Kreisler and Bartock, accompanied by his mother, Faith Hayden.

A staff writer, Mariruth Campbell, of the Journal-News in New York referred to Mrs. Perry Hayden's grandson as "a quiet young man of 13, who stands tall and cool, made his full-concert debut at Pardington Hall, Nyack Missionary College."

She was generous with praise for his performance saying that a hush fell on the audience during young Hayden's rendering of Bartock's "Rumanian Folk Dances."

TECUMSEH friends and acquaintances will remember the beautiful piano played by Mrs. Hayden here when her son was but a babe. Writer Campbell brings pleasant thoughts to Tecumseh readers when she mentions the young man's playing of Gluck's "Melodie" with its beautifully-held closing note and Dvorak's "Slavonic Fantasie" with its opening "Songs My Mother Taught Me" theme, exquisitely played.

Also Mozart's "Sonata No. 1 K.305 in A Major" in which the violin holds lovely conversations with the piano.

Miss Campbell wrote, "This extremely promising young violinist obviously knows, respects and loves his instrument. Understanding its scope, its limitations, its best usage, he brings to each composition evaluation of mood and theme."

"WITH SIMPLE honesty and fine musicianship he creates tonal structures of gracious proportions. When a fresh crispness is needed, he supplies it, when lyricism best projects, he makes his strings sing," she continues.

"Hayden produces soft tones that are no more than a beguiling whisper. His forte is clear, full and rich. His pizzicatos range from light and carefree to vigorous and meaningful. His fingering is swift and sure, his bowing very personalized and effective," she concluded.

The violinist's latest accomplishment was the winning of $15 in the state contest of the New York Branch of the Music Teachers' National Association in the advanced intermediate category held at Tarrytown, N. Y.

Since leaving Tecumseh some years ago, Bill and Faith Hayden have become the parents of three little girls, Deborah, Barbara and Nancy, in addition to young Bill.

Guests have come from all parts of the world, says Mr. Carpenter, including Japan, South Korea, South Africa, Australia, Argentina, Italy, Iran, Germany, France, Sweden, England, Canada and Mexico.

WREN SURVEILLANCE REPORT NO. 1

Oh, my, this is a case of please do as we say not as we do. I have been known to rattle on at great length about putting bird houses out early and having them cleaned properly. So, what happens — this year our wren house stayed in storage until very late and for some unexplainable reason, it had not been cleaned out last fall.

Please don't ask how a bird house can be hung up and the fact that it is full of an old nest not be noticed. It can happen, though.

Fortunately, the wrens overlooked our mistakes. Dad put the house up and the very next day one of the tiny brown birds started investigating it. Unlike past years the wrens did not fiddle around trying to make up their minds, they looked us over for only a couple of days and then moved in.

Thus began our wren surveillance.

MAY 19: Thanks to us, the poor little wrens must move out the household furnishings of last year's tenants before they can move their things in. Twig by twig the dismantling process goes and interestingly enough, they are not merely brought to the door and pushed out, they are carried away.

As the little birds worked, we can almost hear them sputtering about poor housekeepers and neglectful landlords.

May 21: Our tenants are extremely efficient. Today they are still lugging last year's nest away and late in the afternoon we noticed that, on the return trips, they are bringing new material in.

Wish we could peek inside to see how they are keeping things separated.

May 22: Nothing but new material today. Surprisingly long sticks are carried to the roof and there the wren juggles them in her bill until she has a hold close to one end. She then hops down to her round doorway and has no trouble getting through.

May 23: Wren-watching neglected; gorgeous indigo buntings have arrived.

May 24: Oops, we have forgotten the trick of getting long sticks into house. On six consecutive trips the wren, holding her little branch in dead center, flew to the doorway, tried to bang her way in and finally dropped the stick.

Talk about your one-track-mind: the bird does not seem to realize what has happened — she starts for the house and in she goes even though empty-billed. By afternoon the ground beneath the little house is well-littered with small sticks. Wrens finally start picking them up.

May 25: Our wrens believe in singing while they work. During the day their songs are lovely, but at 5 o'clock in the morning, my sense of music appreciation is a bit strained. The loud-mouths start screaming and wake me up.

My thoughts are not the kindest. Sparrow who lit on the roof of their house is quickly driven away by both wrens. The nest-building pace still quite fast, weed stems are principal materials now and apparently they take longer to arrange because the birds are spending more time inside with each load.

May 26: Rough construction work must be finished, finer lining material is going in today.

May 29: Alterations are being made, we are back to the sticks but there is also still much lining material. Tiny rootlets and scraps of something white.

May 30: The popularity of flowered bed linen has reached the bird world. Our wrens are carrying in petals from the yellow Flowering Rose of China bush. Won't they make a nice bed for the eggs, though.

May 31: We are either sleeping sounder or the wrens have given up greeting the dawn. We miss the rude awakenings not the least bit.

June 1: Spoke too soon; the wren alarm clock in operation again. At 4:45 it went off loud and clear.

June 2: The pace of building definitely slackening off. They are not goofing off but there is no frantic hurry now. The singing, still glorious, by 8 oclock I really do enjoy it. Five singing perches are popular: on the roof of their house, our feeder close to the window, the wind arm of the new feeder, the fence and someplace out in back.

June 6: Very little building, much, much singing, both birds at house together — one clinging to doorstep and the other perched on top of the roof.

So it is that we end this, our "Wren Surveillance Report No. 1."

St. Elizabeth Seniors Wear Caps and Gowns

"As Christ told his apostles, it is now time to put out into deep water and lower your nets," Fr. Thomas J. Collins told 24 high school graduates who are members of St. Elizabeth.

Wearing caps and gowns, they were honored at Sunday's 8:30 Mass.

The pastor's sermon to the seniors followed the theme of last week's gospel when Christ urged His followers to become fishers of men.

Schools from which they received degrees include Tecumseh, Clinton, Britton, Adrian Catholic Central and St. Mary's Academy of Monroe.

Many of those honored four years previously had been graduated from the parish elementary school.

Dawn Patrol Ticket Sale

Robert Ries presented slides and spoke concerning his recent trip to Portland, Ore., to the Presbyterian Church Conference.

Ray Dollison directed further planning for the Dawn Patrol July 2 and distributed tickets to the members for advanced sale at reduced prices.

Breakfast tickets the day of the event will be $1.25 for adults and $1 for children.

Mrs. H. H. Hanna Addresses WSCS

"Love is the motivation that creates acceptable behavior." This was the heart of Mrs. H. H. Hanna's message when she spoke to the Women's Society of Christian [illegible] Tecumseh Methodist Church on June 7.

Mrs. Hannah of Tecumseh Protective Services reconstructed a hypothetical composite case that might have appeared before the Juvenile Court. She called the case "Judy Needs Love."

In describing Judy's case, Mrs. Hanna emphasized that children need love and discipline in order to operate within themselves, in the family and in society. The speaker stated that parents set profound examples in these areas.

A potluck supper preceded the program. During the business meeting President Mrs. William Steele, Jr., presented the past president's pin to Mrs. Carroll Sprague, who has served on the WSCS executive board for nine years and held the offices of president and treasurer.

The group voted to serve the monthly dinners for the Business and Professional Women and to make surplices for the Carol choir.

Stites Seeks Safer Boating

Michigan's House of Representatives has passed a bill that completely revises the state Marine Safety Act.

Sponsored by Representative Robert C. Stites, it has been titled the "Stites Marine Safety Bill."

The bill will raise the three-year license fee for motorboats from $3 to $5 effective Jan. 1 and as Rep. Stites says "this will make marine enforcement self-supporting. The additional money will go entirely to support water enforcement in counties, which is conducted by the local sheriff."

Present matching funds ratio of two-thirds state and one-third county funds would not be changed by the bill.

Administration and accident reporting procedures would also be facilitated by clarifying the wording and regulations of the act. The measure also provides arrest and citation procedures which are absent in the current act.

"Another significant feature of the bill," said Rep. Stites, "is the section dealing with young motor boat operators. If the Senate approves this legislation, youngsters between the ages of 12 and 16 years of age would be required to pass a state-approved safe boating course before being allowed to operate a motor boat alone.

"Children under 12 would not be allowed to operate a motor boat unless accompanied by a person 16 years of age or older. This provision does not relate to power boats with motors under six horsepower, or to non-motorized watercraft."

Rep. Stites added that this provision "is a step toward taking the same safeguards of safe operation for beginning motor boat operators which are currently taken with beginning drivers through the driver education programs."

By CHRISTINE FAIRBANKS

Sunday is Father's Day.

So let him take it easy in his favorite chair, or go fishing or golfing, if that is what he likes. Many activities will be planned for dad on his day, but if a vote were taken among the fathers of the nation, I would guess that over 90% would prefer to relax in comfort at home, with their feet up.

A man gives up the days of carefree bachelorhood when he marries. For the most part, he accepts the responsibilities of marriage and parenthood with a happy toleration.

THE ARRIVAL of the first child brings a great change in his life. He views the offspring with a combination of alarm, bewilderment and secret pride.

He handles the baby with awkward hands. But in his heart he feels that HIS child is destined for great things.

Soon daddy is seen proudly airing baby in the stroller or buggy and then leading the little one beside him, as the youngster tries to match his tiny steps to father's strides. Many happy memories are born at dad's side.

As the children grow, dad is busier and busier. More and more demands are made on him. His job is of major importance, his family depends on him. Suddenly he becomes acquainted with the PTA, as the first-born goes off to school.

His time to himself, like Mother's, is almost non-existent. Their life is child-centered as they concentrate on raising the family.

DAD'S AMBITIONS and dreams for himself begin to fade a bit, as the years slip by. But these are happy years, with his family around him. The hours spent with the children are satisfying and fun.

And a feeling of peace with the world comes in the evening when the youngsters are all in their beds, and dad is secure in the knowledge that they are all safe at home and under his protection.

By the time the youngsters reach their teens, dad frequently wears a harried look and gray begins to appear at his temples. But he is proud of his family, and bores his fellow-workers with the tales of their accomplishments.

He relives his own youth through their adventures. Their successes and their failures touch him deeply.

The time then comes when the last of the children have left the nest, in pursuit of their own identity, and dad is once more alone at home with mother.

The house seems too large and too quiet. They wait for the arrival of grandchildren to bring life to the house again.

Hand in hand, if they are so lucky, they face the sunset years. Their children are only visitors in their home now.

THE LAST quiet years arrive all too soon. Dad is now slow of step and seems content to wait out his numbered years with patient heart.

His eyes dimmed, and his own faded dreams of greatness laid aside, he still hopes that life will be kind to his children.

Sunday is Father's Day.

So whether the dad in your life is young and just starting out on this great adventure, or nearing the conclusion, or somewhere in-between, make it a good day for him.

Studded Tires Are Approved

Studded tires will soon be legalized in Michigan after House passage of a bill introduced by Senator Gilbert Bursley.

"The most important aspect of this legislation," Senator Bursley said, "is that it can materially reduce traffic accidents during the icy winter months which most of Michigan experiences each year. Tests have shown that skidding on glare ice with locked brakes is reduced by 40 percent and that traction on ice is increased by 125 percent."

"Another way of putting it," Senator Bursley explained, "is that a car going at 20 mph on glare ice can put on its brakes and stop three car lengths sooner."

"I have personally driven in a car that went 8,000 miles with a pair of studded snow tires. Traction on icy parking lots and in traffic was greatly improved. When the tires were removed and washed, all studs were still present and not unduly worn."

"Experts advise that the best combination of tires for increased safety would be studded snow tires on the rear of the car and studded regular tires in front."

"Let me caution everyone," Senator Bursley added, "that this measure only helps reduce accidents. The driver must continue to be just as alert and careful as if he had on a pair of slick, worn tires ready for the junkyard."

The bill has now received both Senate and House approval and has gone to Governor Romney for signature.

Stites Co-Heads Arms Examination

A resolution passed by the Michigan House of Representatives will create a study committee to probe existing firearms legislation and inter-state agreements.

According to one of the cosponsors of the measure, State Representative Robert C. Stites (R-Manitou Beach), this study is necessary because of the increase in crime, particularly crimes involving the use of firearms.

Stites, a former Lenawee County Sheriff, estimated numerous robberies, assaults and senseless killings recently have raised questions about the adequacy of existing firearms laws.

Rapid and easy access to neighboring states has caused an uninhibited flow of firearms into Michigan, resulting in a rise in major crimes, Stites said.

The resolution calls for the appointment of a five-member committee by the Speaker of the House that would operate now and during the interim between the 197 and 1968 sessions of the legislature.

The committee would report its findings and recommendations to the 1968 legislature, Stites said.

by GORDON CHARLES

Sunday is Father's Day. So this gives us a chance to pay tribute to one of the most devoted dads to be found anywhere.

This particular pappy is not the type to be showered with neckties on his day. If he got one he wouldn't know what to do with it. Truth of the matter is, his family doesn't give him anything but a big fat headache every year.

Even his wife always seems to take off every year and leaves him with a gang of day-old youngsters.

Old Pappy Bass is our candidate for the prize father. Just look what he has to put up with.

In early June he swims up out of the depths to set up housekeeping. He cruises in near shore, picks out a likely spot to build a nest and gets to work.

Standing almost straight up in the water, he whips his tail around like a broom and swishes all dirt from what is to be the spawning area.

A SPOT OF two or three feet in diameter must be perfectly clean, since eggs will not properly incubate in dirty surroundings.

The small-mouth bass, a fussy housekeeper, will even stand on his head and turn each stone to make sure the area is really clean.

Largemouths settle for twigs, roots or even snail shells that have been swept clean of all silt.

When the nest is clean and ready to be occupied, the male bass goes hunting for a lady bass. He usually finds her cruising around somewhere in the vicinity and the courtship begins.

He tries to guide her back to the nest but, like a typical female, she seems to enjoy playing hard to get. Finally, though, he nudges his bride over the threshold.

AS A DEVOTED mother, the lady bass is a complete failure. She spawns in the nest, then almost immediately leaves home.

Raising of the abandoned family is left strictly up to the male from that time on.

He doesn't seem to mind too much, though. He hovers over the eggs, gently fanning them and protecting them from enemies.

In a week to 15 days, the eggs hatch out and the little bass seek protection among the stones and debris of the nest.

The father bass keeps them schooled for as long as two or three weeks, until they can go into shallow water and fend for themselves.

At that point, Old Pappy Bass, no doubt plumb exhausted from raising a few thousand frisky youngsters, takes off and goes about his chosen career of smashing fishermen's plugs and flies. If he acts a little ornery about the whole thing, he's got good reason.

Or, if he seems to just come slashing out of the water to slap your lure, maybe it is only a sign of exuberance at being relieved of his family-raising duties for another year.

At least that's the way it looks.

Thresher Reunion

As temperatures rise, so does steam pressure, and there will be plenty of steam hissing around the Fulton County Fair Grounds, Wauseon, O., June 22 - 25, at the 23rd annual reunion of the National Threshers Association, Inc.

She Recalls Olden Days

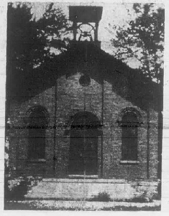
Elsa Daisher lives at 2804 Laurence Ave., Toledo, but she grew up in Tecumseh and, although she is 77, she has a vivid memory of events of her childhood and youth.

Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Daisher, who managed the celery farm on Ives Rd., in Raisin Township. The Otto Baaskes of S. Union St., are cousins, whom she visits occasionally.

Miss Daisher's reminiscences will be printed from time to time, with some of the photos she has

By ELSA DAISHER

Clara and James Waldron went to country school (Colvin School on Green Hwy.) south of Tecumseh, when I did. We were in our teens. (The school building is now a residence.)



Clara and James had a goat and sometimes brought it to school. At recess or noon time the children had stores along the board fence and sold vegetables. The goat and cart had to deliver the goods. Then, when we children had a chance we went for a ride.

I got tipped out and did not care to ride again.

When I was a baby we lived on a Celery Farm. These days, Father, Ernest Daisher, had to hire a livery team of horses and drove back home to get mother and me and Mother's parents, We then went the 12 mile drive to church.

When the horses became frightened over something, Father told the rest of us to jump out. Mother threw me out first. Dr. Charles Waldron came to catch the horses. Though I was well wrapped, this caused my shoulder bone to be raised, but not hurt. An x-ray years later showed I had injured that shoulder although it had never bothered me.

say Dad... ever wonder how Mom got the money

Come Sunday morning, will you be one of the millions of fathers who are forever amazed?

Will you look at your new fishing reel or power tool or camera... and wonder:
"How did Mom get the money?"

You'll know she didn't rob a bank... and she didn't sell the car.

Maybe, just maybe, we can give you a hint.

Is Mom an A&P shopper?
Could it be that the savings she makes each week of the year add up to so much?

Why not ask her?

Before you do though, better take a quick look in the garage to make sure the car's still there.

HERALD PHOTO BY TOM RIORDAN

TROUBLE SPOT — When a driver rolls north on Evans St. to the intersection of Kilbuck St., this is the view he has. Straight ahead is a warning, "STOP. DO NOT ENTER." Further to the right is the designation "NORTHBOUND USE OTTAWA." Then, at the extreme right is a standard "STOP" sign. What is happening is that motorists are reacting to the "do not enter" and are simply turning right or left onto Kilbuck. Time after time, they completely miss the fact that there is also a "stop" requirement. AAA officials were asked to comment by the city and they said all signs would be seen by "observant drivers." Justice Ernie Oliver disagreed and recently dismissed 21 "failure to stop" citations, prompting Council to lash out at his decisions. The hassel brought a letter to The Herald, which is printed above right.

Letters to the Editor

Council Wrong

TO THE EDITORS:

It was with great dismay that I read in The Herald of action taken by the City Council in regard to Justice Ernest Oliver over the dismissal of tickets issued at the intersection of S. Evans and Kilbuck Sts. I was one of those to receive a ticket.

I should like to state that I have no quarrel with the police department. In my numerous contacts with them they have been most helpful, courteous and polite. In issuing tickets at this intersection they were only doing their duty.

However, I am in complete agreement with Justice Oliver that the intersection is not properly marked. I suggest that perhaps the Highway Department has made an error in their assessment of the situation.

I parked at this intersection to observe traffic, and during a 15-minute interval 40 vehicles approached from the south. They made left turns and right turns, but not so much as one of them stopped.

I don't believe that 100% of these drivers are scofflaws. They simply don't see that stop sign across the railroad tracks, and the one on the barricade only means to them that they are not to enter the one-way street.

I spoke with one Council member about the intersection and he informed me that he had been too busy working on Mayor Exchange Day to look at it.

I think that Justice Oliver is to be praised rather than censured for his efforts on behalf of the community.

Sincerely,
Sevedus A. Maples,
607 Herrick Park Dr.

Dr. Bagshaw Gets First Place in Soaring Meet

TO THE EDITORS:

As you wanted to hear from us once in a while in our travels, I have a news item which I think would be of interest.

We attended the Northwest Regional Soaring Contest which lasted for four days over Memorial Day at Marysville, Calif.

We were very happy that Dr. Malcolm Bagshaw placed first. He will participate in the National Contest the first week of July which will be held in Texas.

I am afraid that like so many Americans, we are hooked on the gypsy way of life. We enjoyed very much the trip out here with the camper and camping at the Soaring Meet. In a couple of weeks, we expect to head for the great Northwest and Canada.

Sincerely,
Doris Bagshaw.

Chairman Extends His Appreciation

TO THE EDITORS:

I wish to extend my sincere appreciation for the fine publicity and support which you and your staff gave me during Michigan Week.

The endless hours of preparation would all be in vain if the citizens of our community were not able to learn of the proposed festivities.

Again, thank you for your support.

Sincerely,
Donald G. Sunderland,
Tecumseh Michigan
Week Chairman

Birds Were Poised To Go After 'Bugs'

TO THE EDITORS:

Sorry about the dirty typewriter keys. Some of the o's seem to look like e's. Perhaps one of the little bugs who has been running around the pages of The Herald lately will have to come to our rescue.

Glad you explained their "mission in life" this week. Some of our birds are great bug eaters, you know — they were about ready to jump out of the column and start gobbling.

Marda Gene Duncan.

Humor Helps Folks Over Darkest Hours

Gags always seem to spring up during the most trying circumstances, proving we suppose that man's sense of humor pulls him through many a dark hour.

"Did you hear a report of the big tank battle on the Sinai Peninsula?" one of our Jewish friends asked in the heat of the Israeli-Arab conflict. Without awaiting a reply, he added:

"One - hundred - fourteen Arab tanks were destroyed. The Jews lost 64 Cadillacs."

Such surface humor covers a Mideast crisis which stretches back a few thousand years. The re-establishment of Israel as an independent state following World War II put the focus sharply on the situation.

It blossomed into gun fire during 1956 with a full-scale war. Britain and France got into that one and were about to help the Israeli over-run Egypt when the United Nations stepped in. UN troops were based at tender points for 10 years, until a few weeks ago, when U Thant pulled them out.

Immediately, Nasser began a move towards another war, signaling his intentions with the blockade at Aqaba.

When the fighting came, it lasted 90 hours, with the Arabs completely routed by Israeli troops. Who fired the first shot will probably never be known, but that point is immaterial.

Everything boils down to the fact that Arab hates Jew and Jew hates Arab.

Pious pronouncements from the UN and Washington will never change this. Only a miracle can turn the trick and the last one in that part of the world was 2,000 years ago.

Apparently, the wisest course for the United States and Russia is to stay out, quit trying to tell these Mideast antagonists what to do.

It's obvious the outnumbered Israeli can take care of themselves. We know this, so does the USSR. Most important, the Arabs know it.

LBJ made a delightful comment following the cease fire "about a peace in which Arabs and Jews can live together in harmony." What a dreamer. If a Westerner can figure out the workings of the Middle Eastern mind, he'd be worth millions.

We wouldn't dare pose as an expert with just a few weeks in Egypt back in 1963, only say there is little parallel in the method an Arab and an American thinks.

They have their way, we have ours. Neither should try to make the other switch over. As for settling the differences between Jew and Arab, let's leave it up to them.

Youthful Tracksters Shine

Tipton fifth grader Carol Freeman leads field in 200-yard relay race . . . . . .

There was fun and excitement for everyone at the track meet last week for fourth, fifth and sixth graders.

Kids taking part in the various events gave it everything they had. Fellow students, teachers and parents in the stands were on the edge of their seats watching each bit of competition, cheering lustily for their favorites.

Physical education teachers John Korican and Mrs. Jack Whelan are to be complimented for organizing the affair, which we hope will become an annual spring fixture.

A lot of other school folks pitched in to help officiate the action and they too rate plaudits.

We might suggest that before the next meet rolls around various PTA groups go into the T-shirt business by ordering up colored models with the school name emblazoned on the front — making certain there are no color duplications.

This would help judges as they sort out four flashing figures roaring over the finish line, not to mention aiding photographers trying to determine who is whom in the print.

One other idea emerges. Would it be possible for a meet or two like last week's be held on summer evenings under the lights, giving the kids an opportunity to run again and allow more adults to watch?

This would mean someone taking over the organization and lining up of officials.

. . . . with Brenda Carswell of Herrick Park rolling along in second place.

Like 'Coat of Black Paint'

Just last week, we issued a warning on the purchase of magazines via telephone solicitation — except, the high-powered salespeople call it "giving them away. All you pay is the postage."

In one incident, a Tipton woman was caught for $104.

Now come the driveway resurfacing crews.

As we told readers on the magazine deal, go slow on this newest proposition.

It takes courage to admit you spent $70 and then found you didn't get what you thought you would. One Tecumseh man called to say he had his drive covered with what is about equivalent to "a coat of black paint."

This fellow takes pride in his property and he knows when an existing concrete drive is covered, the cracks should all be filled as a preventative to water leaking down during winter months and freezing. This can really raise havoc with a slab of concrete.

Well, when he inspected his recent job, the cracks were all there and he realized he'd been the victim of a lick-and-a-promise operation.

If you are tempted to OK a resurfacing for your driveway, call The Herald and we'll point out one block in town where several driveways were recently done by a transient operator.

Should he be the same one trying to hustle you, there's the chance to examine his work before the $70 changes hands.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Grigg Manor was really bursting at the seams last week and seven kin folk not too well acquainted, because the length of the continent has been between them for years, had a fun-filled time.

Aunt Tillie and Cousin Ella and her husband, Glenn, from Yakima, Wash., arrived Saturday evening and their son, Phillip, drove up from Texas Christian University, arriving Sunday evening.

The amazing Glenn has seen our Irish Hills Home from both the ground and the air. He copped a ride with somebody in the area that has his own plane and circled the lakes Thursday morning, going so far as to see the Ambassador bridge. That man can do anything from cleaning asparagus to repairing the shower and it was such a pleasure to have him and his family as houseguests.

Our "cozy" nest looked awfully empty Monday night when Pa and I arrived home from work but there was the most tremendous surprise. The house was spic and span even to the beds, all made up with freshly-laundered linen.

Marv's remark, "Hey, Mom, where's a sheet. They didn't do mine in the garage." (Plot fizzled. Been trying to get our 6' 2" baby out of that three-quarter bed for several years, but he won't have it. Brr-ump.)

Charles Beland and daughter, Mrs. John June, of Washington, D. C., returned to Metropolitan Airport Monday night from Reedsburg, Wis., where they attended the funeral service of Mrs. May B. Yenor. She was the mother of Mrs. Beland. Mrs. Yenor died June 9 after a brief illness. Her body was returned for burial in Macon Cemetery. Mrs. Beland remained in Wisconsin temporarily with her father.

Robert Lupton has resigned at the Singer Co. in Adrian and will enter the Air Force at Selfridge this month. Employed with Singer since Dec. 1966, when he was discharged from the army, he will retain his rank of technical sergeant and expects to go to the Philippines in July. Mrs. Lupton plans to join her husband.

Diane Schooley left Sunday evening to spend the week with her uncle and aunt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Berry of Tiffin, O. She will return home Friday evening.

T/Sgt. John H. Kopka, USAF, is hospitalized for surgery at Scott Air Force Base, Ill. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John A. Kopka, 8 Water St. His wife, Marie, and two daughters, reside in Duluth, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. John Seay and three children left June 2 for a round-about Kentucky and Arkansas jaunt to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Seay in Miami, Okla. They will vacation for two weeks.

Mrs. Clifford McClure couldn't get into her home at 215 N. Maumee St., Sunday as she came from services at the Friends Church. Surprised, she rattled the door and then heard the gang inside shout, "Happy Birthday."

The 34 gathered to greet her on her 4th natal date anniversary were from Fairfield, Tipton, Brooklyn, Westland, Onsted, Gaylord and Tecumseh.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo H. Stoll returned to Bloomington, Ind., after spending last week with her father, Ernest F. Robison. They attended the memorial service at Macon Sunday.

This Week's Newspaper Bingo Game Will Pay $100

How does this sound — $100 in prize money for this week's Newspaper Bingo game?

That's the jackpot, since there was no winner in the blue card action. Red is the color for the $100 game, with 58 numbers appearing throughout this edition. They were spun out of The Herald's brass Bingo Cage by retiree Floyd Bryan, 209 W. Pottawatamie St.

Free bingo cards can be obtained at 26 area business places.

A player able to X-out all 24 numbers on a red card should get it to The Herald office before 5 p.m. Monday. A good idea would be to phone — 423-2174 — and say a winning card is on its way.

The Herald's 13 free Newspaper Bingo games carry a guarantee that $650 will be awarded to Herald readers between now and mid-September.

TRAGEDY AVERTED — For a few minutes Tuesday morning around 11:30 there was serious concern for residents in the Shady Lane and Cairns St. area when workers installing a storm sewer accidentally sliced through a natural gas line. A strong odor of the highly-flammable gas quickly filled the neighborhood. Shortly after volunteer firemen arrived, residents in 12 nearby homes were evacuated. Fireman Buck Maynard (in white shirt) is shown ordering people from nearby homes. Police also ordered out of the area large crowds of curious adults and children. Luckily a Consumers Power Co. crew was working nearby and rushed to the scene, also calling in several other trucks in the Tecumseh area. It took them about 10 minutes to re-seal the pipe. The call to the fire department was made by Gerald VanBrunt, 1107 Shady Lane, who witnessed the accident

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

For TAR, it was more like Father's Week than just plain old Father's Day.

The action started on Wednesday night with an hilarious adventure into western Wayne County, namely the communities of Plymouth and Northville.

With two other couples, the Riordans motored to the Hillside Restaurant near Plymouth, to be hosted by the Bill Sligers of Northville, where he has a desk, ordering people around as he draws a fabulous salary.

By now you can guess he's an editor and publisher, his sheet being the famous Northville Record.

Descending on the Sligers with us were folks who once called that area home, namely the Charlie Trickeys of Tecumseh and the Ben Duguids, of Adrian.

As the evening turned out, I hardly got a word in edgewise, what with Bill, Ben and Charlie reliving the old days and haunts.

Hillside is a great place to eat, especially Wednesdays because that's buffet night, with an array of goodies which staggers the imagination. Top these off with a spread of meat dishes — last week this included elk — and you might almost spend the evening eating.

WE COULDN'T do that, of course, because there was an important next stop and off we hustled to catch the opening one-mile conditioned trot at Northville Downs.

Bill arranged for our box seats, only when the usher showed us the way, we ended up under a rail at the top of the grandstand and were cautioned to watch out for carelessly-dropped cigarette ashes from horseplayers who lean on the metal divider as the races progress and shake more violently with each additional quarter of a mile run.

Most have cigarettes dangling from their mouths and seldom concern themselves with where the ashes may be going.

"You certainly must be giving the track some swell publicity," one of the freeloaders chided Bill.

But within moments, a young man was huffing and puffing up the stairs to ask Bill, "Are you Mr. Sliger?"

When Bill admitted to that fact, the fellow said we should be seated right down near the front.

(Interesting sidenote: It was from here that I spotted a distinguished Tecumseh businessman, who didn't see me, a Mr. D., no names please.)

Like a bunch of real turf experts, we soon were devouring the programs. Being what the education experts tag a "slow learner," I took four races before I could translate the data on each entry.

Water, Sewer Rates Go Up

Sale of $350,000 water and sewer revenue bonds was given impetus Monday night when Council approved fixing water and sewer rates at an approximate 49% increase for all users.

Bonds will be sold later this year when the city hopes to start developing a new well field, north of Tecumseh and just south of Staib Rd., near River Raisin.

When the new rates go into effect on Oct. 1, all residents and users will find a hike in their tab to the city. Most home bills will run between $9 and $16, depending on the size of the water line running into their homes and amount of water needed.

Next fall's bill will be even higher since the city will be billing for both water and sewer. Normally sewer charges are not billed until January.

Hardest hit by the new rates will be Tecumseh Products, the city's largest user at over one million gallons per day.

Products is now being billed at 5c per 1M gallons, regardless of the amount used and at 1½c per 1M gallons for sewage. When the new rates go into effect, TP will be on the city's rate structure which varies from 25c per gallon to 9c per gallon.

Sewage charges will be based on half of the water bill.

John Seeley, Ann Arbor engineering consultant for the city, said that the new rate structure would finance the bonds and development of the well field over a 12-year period.

He also told officials that other communities usually "soak" industries, but the new rate here was fair. It will increase city income from water and sewer from $120,000 to about $178,000 annually.

Although city officials have studied new water and sewer rates for the past couple of months, another hurdle has yet to be overcome.

George Underwood, new owner of the Kuehman farm, part the area wanted by the city for the well field, has declined to sell approximately 28 acres to Tecumseh. City Attorney James Beardsley has filed papers in court for condemnation, and expects the case to be heard in court in August or September.

Mr. Underwood says such a sale would hurt his chances of a satisfactory sale of the farm, which has long been considered an ideal industrial site.

He also Tecumseh has never made an official request to him for the property and that he has never discussed selling the property with the city.

Church Centennial Offers Enjoyment for Ridgewayites

Citizens of Ridgeway are celebrating the 100th anniversary of the Methodist Church as preparations for the Centennial weekend get under way.

A Singspiration will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday and area churches are invited to attend. Following the singspiration will be a reception with refreshments served by the United Worker's Class.

Saturday at 5:30 p.m. a buffet-style banquet will be served free of charge to the public. The history of the church will be presented in pantomime at 7:30 p.m. and recognition of guests, former ministers and members will follow.

Bishop Reed of Onsted will deliver the worship service Sunday at 10 a.m. Special music will be featured, including the four Dads of Tecumseh.

Members and friends of the congregation are asked to wear clothing appropriate to the centennial. The public is invited

Daily Agent Calls It a Day

After 40 years and six months on the job, Harold Sisson is retiring.

His chores as substation manager for both The Detroit Free Press and News were assumed this week by Robert Meadows, owner of the Country Market at Occidental Hwy. and Russell Rd.

Mr. Sisson will continue to handle Free Press sales at Tecumseh Products, which involves about 150 papers, each morning from 6 to 7:15.

A FAMILIAR FIGURE AROUND TOWN — HAROLD SISSON

STARTING in 1927 as agent for the Detroit dailies — including the old Times — Mr. Sisson's routine has long been unchanged, up every day at 3:45 a.m., followed by nearly 12 hours of labor.

Sunday afternoon was usually his only time off.

Down through the years, Harold trained nearly 800 boys as carriers and helped them learn the ropes of private enterprise. He keeps posted on most of them, many now being professional men and suceessful business executives.

He's had numerous brother combinations, probably the three Havilands of Herrick Park being the longest as his carriers, running more than 10 years, first Glenn in 1949, then Gary and finally Gordon.

THERE HAVE been many chuckles over the years.

Two years ago, Art Jepson, 314 Adrian St., called Mr. Sisson to complain about the late deliveries he was receiving from his carrier.

"You weren't so good yourself," Harold countered with a chuckle in his voice, helping to remind Art of his newsboy days under Mr. Sisson back in the late 1920's.

Herald Heads for the Hills

Over the river and through the dale,
To the lakes The Herald will go.
One thousand copies free to resorters,
For a full 10 weeks in a row!

Six Irish Hills lakes are included on the summer routes covered each Thursday morning during a 10-week period by Herald trucks delivering 1,000 complimentary issues to resorters.

From June 29 through Labor Day, a special News of the Irish Hills Section is printed, featuring events and activities of interest.

This year, a scheduling of church services will be added to the agenda.

Six delivery boys and girls leave The Herald office early each Thursday morning to place the "hot off the press" weekly issue in the hands of people in the Irish Hills. Often, resorters are waiting on their front porches for Herald carriers.

For the sixth year, cottage dwellers, permanent residents and campers in J. Hayes State Park and other camp sites in the Hills will receive The Herald.

Those returning regularly to the Hills, plan on receiving The Herald. Some wanting to keep up on local sales and news, have taken year-round subscriptions.

Response for Tecumseh merchants has been surprising with the influx from the lakes boosting local sales, making Tecumseh the market basket for resorters in addition to inviting vacationers to share in local summer ac-

Eaton To Leave for Short Course in Washington D.C.

Meryl Eaton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Eaton, 5695 E. Monroe Rd., is one of 12 4-H youths to be participating in a five week series of classes emphasizing citizenship in a world society.

The classes begin June 21.

Eaton, along with seven other youths, will then represent Lenawee County in the 1967 Washington Citizenship Short Course at the National 4-H Youth Center in Washington, D.C.

The course will run from Aug. 27 to Sept. 2.

Other participants in the local program, named as alternatives for the Washington experience, include David Bush of Tecumseh and Steven Daniels of Tipton.

Helzermans Still Confuse

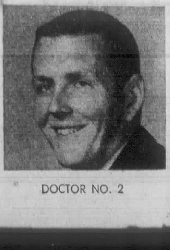
Don't be too confused when you read Dr. Ralph F. Helzerman in the paper these days.

There are now two.

Edna and Ralph Helzerman, long-time Tecumseh physician, have a son, Ralph, Jr., who just received his degree from the University of Michigan School.

For a time there was some mixup about the Marilyns in the Helzerman family.

Ralph, Jr., has a sister, Marilyn, who married Doug Aylesworth. Then the young doctor also married a Marilyn, a teacher at Herrick Park School.



DOCTOR NO. 2

Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Helzerman, at 2842 S. W. Sam Jackson Park Rd., are living in Portland, Ore. 97201, this summer, while the interns at the University of Oregon Hospital.

They will return to Ann Arbor in the fall where he will begin a three-year residency in ophthmalogy.

'Weekend' To Present Irish Hills

Many attractions in the Irish Hills area will be presented on the TV show, "Weekend," emceed by Ron Gamble July 25.

Mr. Gamble and his crew of photographers were in the hills June 17 to make the production.

Other visitors in the Hills recently were John Rogers and Carol Duvall and families and staff of the "Living" television show. They held a "paint out," doing scenes of St. Joseph's Shrine and the Towers.

School Board Votes To Oust Senior Trips

Tecumseh High School seniors have long taken annual senior trips, whether it be a cruise or a trip to New York or Washington, D. C.

Monday night, the School Board voted to end such junkets after the 1968 class graduates.

Senior trips came under criticism and punishment when 62 members of the this year's graduating class were sent home for drinking.

Since the juniors — soon to be seniors — had already raised some money for a trip, it was decided to allow them to go but to halt other senior excursions.

Long & Short

JUST FOR fun, how would you do?

In the third race, Our Frisky Sis, was noted as follows:

"6-7 Nor my 2100 clm"

Easy, isn't it!

Well, what it said was that Frisky Sis last ran June 7 at Northville on a muddy track in a $2,100 claiming event.

But that was just the start, here's more.

"m :32.2 1:07.4 1:404.4 2:16.3"

Naturally, you immediately will reply she is a mare and that the figures are times she had at each quarter-mile post.

Next comes the position in which Frisky Sis started, where in the field she was running at each post.

The program also told how many races Sis has been in this year and last, plus her first, second and third finishes.

Multiply this by five to eight horses on a 10-race program and you've got yourself quite a bit of examining to do of an evening — if you're serious about your choices.

Naturally, we really discussed things, that is the men did, as we were playing what is called a $6 parley, initially costing $1.50 each, and keeping us going on a couple of wins. This bet is on one horse, pays off on a win, place or show.

IN THE seventh race, Ben was high on Beau Jimmy, a 4 to 1 shot, but then Charlie checked more carefully and announced, "That horse hasn't run since last year."

Bill chimed in, "Guess he ought to be well rested."

That's the way amateurs lose their money at the track. But let me tell you how a real pro operates, namely my wife.

Leafing through the pages of the program like it was a copy of Ladies Home Journal, her eyes were pulled to the first in the eighth, Marj B. Abbe.

So naturally she went with her.

As Cherie collected her $21.40 in a long-shot win, she explained that she immediately thought of a Tecumseh friend, Mrs. James Beardsley, who goes by the nickname, Margie B.

That's the system.

THIS ALL was a fine way to start Father's Week and it went great through 10:30 p.m. Sunday, when the sun finally set and I called it a day.

As a gesture to "my day", my Sunday morning bass, son Bernard, let me stay in the truck as we circled his Free Press and News route, enlisting the aid of a classmate, Charles Albaugh, whom he had helped peddle Adrian Telegrams the day before.

As we neared the end of Bernie's route, he told Chuck that the houses to which he had dished out the fat Sunday editions "were ones Dad usually handles."

There were 27 holes of glorious golf with not a worry of rushing home (Remember, dear, this is your day," plus a late steak fry and a chance to relax in the evening sunset, chatting with friends.

To the guy who invented Father's Day (Week), I would like to say, "Thank you, sir."

Judith Mae Ohlman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Ohlman, 10253 Tipton Hwy., will be graduated from St. Vincent Hospital School of Nursing in Toledo June 25. She has accepted a position at Bixby Hospital and will go to work there Monday following graduation.

Krieghoff Co. Is Low Bidder for Pit Construction

Krieghoff - Lenawee Construction Co., of Adrian was awarded contract Monday night by Council for a new building at the Pit, Tecumseh's popular swimming site.

Bid was $51,500, $3,500 less than one submitted by Goodrich-Hazen, also of Adrian.

Council discussed using a limestone exterior or brick, which would have been $985 less. Officials decided on limestone and also a new paint-type coating for interior blocks.

Marr and Marr of Detroit, are architects for the building which will house a registration room, dressing rooms and restrooms.

City officials hope the work will start soon. Completion deadline is 80 days after commencing work.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG

"She's just as sweet as the day we got married," said the gentleman as he escorted his wife to Bauer Manor recently to celebrate their 52nd wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Kenneth Van Doren, owner of the Manor, said that the man told her that when he and his wife used to ride by in the horse and buggy or sleigh, his wife always wanted to stop there for dinner.

On their golden wedding anniversary, he decided that if that was where she wanted to go, that was where they would go.

Since that time, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Waldron, celebrate each year at the century-old stagecoach stop on US-12, across from Evans Lake.

Mrs. Elliot McLain attended the Adrian High School Alumni Association Banquet at Ritchie Hall on the Adrian College Campus Saturday evening. Her class was celebrating the 55th anniversary and after the banquet they all attended a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Hess.

Mrs. Helen Sisson, Mrs. David Sisson and Mr. and Mrs. John Sisson attended commencement ceremonies at Michigan State University June 11 when Mike Sisson was among the graduates.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dickinson were there, too, to see their son, Tom, in cap and gown.

Mrs. Laine Holden and Mrs. Jule Fosbender will leave Saturday to fly to San Francisco where they will attend the American Library Association convention with Mrs. Emma Sihler of Adrian. Mrs. Holden expects to visit Mrs. Margaret Williamson Lepon in Wilmington, Calif., for a few days.

Robert Wilt is home from Ferris State College with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wiit, for the summer recess.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton and family of Lansing spent the weekend at the Sand Lake cottage of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Waldron. Other guests at the lake were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton and family.

Gregg Hardy, 17, of Tipton, and Darlene Rice, 17, are Danforth Leadership Training Scholarship winners. They received their awards in ceremonies at 49th Annual 4-H Club Week which was held June 13-17 at Michigan State University. Hardy will attend MSU in the fall.

Curb, Gutter Construction Under Attack

Construction of curb and gutter, and poor condition of Occidental Rd., came under discussion at Monday night's Council session when a resident protested about the work there.

He said both sides of the street were torn up, curb and guetter installed and there was no place for residents there to park automobiles.

The city does not want traffic on the concrete until about a week after it is installed. Huge holes around the driveways prevented residents from using their drives.

Cal Zorn, city manager, said the driveways would be opened by the end of the week.

The resident also inquired if a reported petition for curb and gutter to the city was on file. It apparently was not.

If a petition had been filed about two years ago, the city would have paid a large portion of the cost. Residents now must pay the entire cost.

Dentist Suffers Painful Injury to Middle Finger

In a sail boating mishap Sunday, Dr. Robert Laidlaw lost the nail and tip of the middle finger on his left hand.

The injury gave him a two-day layoff from his dental duties, but he was planning to go back to work Wednesday.

He isn't quite certain how the centerboard on his 19-foot Lightning was able to cause the accident, which happened during a race with other Devil's Lake Yacht Club boats.

With him as crew members were his two oldest sons, David and Robert, Jr.

Little Action Seen as Traffic Sign Crisis Nears End

A letter from Ernest Oliver, local Justice of Peace, requesting a change in Council's action about sending ticketed motorists to an out-of-town justice raised little discussion at Monday night's Council session. (The Oliver correspondence appears on the last page of Section C.)

Officials cited letters from the state highway department and AAA of Detroit that the site under criticism was properly marked by traffic control signs.

Police here had issued tickets to numerous motorists who had violated a stop sign at S. Evans St. and Kilbuck. Oliver reportedly told officers the intersection was not properly marked and dismissed the tickets.

Council asked Gregg Forsthoefel, attorney, to check the legality of Tecumseh sending offenders out of town for prosecution. In his letter to Council, Oliver cited Michigan statutes and said it was illegal.

At the June 5 meeting, Council authorized Murell Clark, police chief, to take offenders elsewhere. As of today, none had been sent to Clinton, likely spot if police proceed to make a change.

Two Fires

BRITTON — The members of the local Fire Department had a busy night Friday during the rain and electrical storm, as two fire calls were answered.

The first call came from the Lawrence Hoagland farm on Hoagland Hwy., northeast of Britton. Lightning had struck their barn.

The bolt took the lights and phone service out. Mr. Hoagland drove to Britton to turn in the alarm.

Damage was confined to part of the roof and one end of the barn.

NO SOONER did the firemen return to Britton, than a second call came in, after lightning had struck the Jerry Benedict home on M-50.

No one was home at the time and a passer-by saw smoke coming out from under the eaves of the house. He stopped at a neighbor's to tell them but phone service was out all along the road so he drove to Britton to report it.

Lightning had struck the attic and the storage area. Its contents were completely destroyed. The ceiling joists and rafters were charred and the upper part of the nearly new home will have to be replaced.

The furniture and clothing were saved due to the quick action of the fire department and friends and neighbors who stopped to carry items out. The loss is covered by insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Benedict and their daughter Wendy are staying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Benedict of N. Britton Hwy., until the house is repaired.

Boy Scouts Rough-It on Trail

BRITTON — A tired group of 12 Boy Scouts from Britton Troop 23, and their Scoutmaster Neal Judkins, returned home Sunday after spending most of the weekend on the Freedom Trail.

Scoutmaster Judkins and the boys walked from Adrian to Tecumseh Saturday and camped near the Community Center on the Raisin River Saturday night.

Sunday, they made the trek back to Adrian via Raisin Center Highway.

Ridgeway Church Passes 100 Mark

By DONELDA S. ROBISON

In 1835, a Methodist Church "class" was organized at Ridgeway and it met in homes or the log schoolhouse with the pulpit filled by a circuit rider with the laymen helping.

By 1837 the Ridgeway Methodist Church was organized and a lot was bought for a building. In the fall of 1845 a frame building 28' x 42' was completed. This structure was the place of worship for 22 years and is now Taylor's Paint Shop.

In 1866, the time seemed right to build a larger church. Local areas joined together and in October, 1866, a lot was bought at auction from the estate of Jeremiah Harrington, south of the main corner on Ridge Rd. It was low and swampy and had to be filled in, but before winter set in, the foundation was laid for the new church.

In the spring of 1867, the building was started. Simeon Davidson and Christopher Barrett were out soliciting more funds and Cyrus Hoagland was the "Builder-in-charge". The Reverend Ira Donelson was pastor.

Family names of other trustees included Osborne, Remington, Underwood, Sanford, Pattison, Bass, Freer and Cadmus.

The church was in Gothic design, being 26' x 78' plus organ loft. The first story contained the vestibule and stairways, Sunday School room, four small class rooms, kitchen, pastor's study and the furnace room. The second story was the sanctuary seating 333 and a gallery to seat 50 more.

It was dedicated on April 28, 1868. The builder, Hoagland, died in February and never attended the church he designed.

The pews were numbered and rented to families to help support the church.

In 1872, 34 square rods at the back of the church were purchased and sheds were built for horses and buggies. The pipe organ was added in 1883; carpeting and memorial windows in 1905.

Electricity, central heating, modern rest rooms, a kitchen and numerous repairs have all been made over the years to keep the church in constant use as a place for worship.

As other towns in the area built churches, the membership and popularity of the large brick church began to decline. About 1922, the Nazarene Church was built just a short way south of the Methodist Church.

There were then two churches in this small village.

In August, 1942, the 75th anniversary was celebrated with the Reverend Albert B. Johns as pastor.

In the years 1962 through 1965, negotiations were under way for a merger of the Britton congregation and the Ridgeway congregation and on May 31, 1965, a merger occurred.

A new name was chosen and land was purchased. Plans for a new church building were made. The pastor during the proceedings was the Reverend R. Allison Mitchinson.

The new name selected was Grace Methodist Church of Ridgeway Township.

The church has now seen 100 years of service.

The pastor during the centennial is John D. Lover.

The Centennial Committee includes: Mrs. Paul Bailey, Mrs. Hazel Frazier, Elmer Pocklington, Mrs. Gertrude Birdsall, Mrs. Julian Strong, Pirl Ash, Mrs. Ellsworth Robison, Mrs. Dewey Sturtevant and the pastor as chairman.

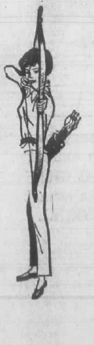
We Love Those Irish Hills!



OFF the TOP

By CHRISTINE FAIRBANKS

If your ego can stand it, girls, I know where you can get cooled off these hot days.

Desperate with mid-90 degree temperatures, I ventured to take daughter and her friend to the Tecumseh pool one sweltering afternoon.

This was to be for their benefit, not mine. But at the last minute I rummaged around to find my swim suit, which had been packed away in the attic with an assortment of beach paraphenalia, swim suits, towels and an empty tube of suntan lotion.

I didn't think I'd really go in. Yet, it was so hot, I carted along my swim suit just in case.

UPON ARRIVING at the pool, we scrambled down the hill, to the desk, where a tanned young man was in attendance.

"How much for the two kids to swim?" I queried.

"Twenty-five cents each," he replied.

"How much for a mother-type, like me?" was my next question.

"Thirty-five cents."

"Well, I don't know if I really want to go in," I stalled. But daughter was insistent, even though she had a companion, that I too should enter the water.

"It's really nice, I've been in three times today," said the young man. That was the clincher.

We entered the dimly-lit dressing rooms to discover that there were no curtains at the booths. Oh well, scramble into that suit anyway.

I was surprised how snug it fit. Can swimwear shrink during the winter?

Even more disturbing was the realization that I somehow bulged over the top of the shorts of the two-piece suit.

The models in all the summer magazines didn't look like that in THEIR suits. Must have eaten too many Christmas goodies, Easter goodies, just goodies, period.

WE RAN through the cold showers, and then to the water's edge. The pool was wall-to-wall with kids of all ages. Daughter and friend were over the side in an instant.

"Come on, Mom, don't be chicken," she teased, so I gingerly went down the steps and then ducked under the water when they began splashing me.

Was it ever cold!

I felt a bit conspicuous standing in the shallow end of the pool, surrounded by squealing youngsters. I made my way to the center of the pool, and took off through the maze of swimmers for the deep end.

Some of the young people momentarily stared at me. I expected to hear one say, a la Phyllis Diller, "Who's the big ugly one?" but they were too polite or too disinterested.

The deep water soon hid the fact that I was a bit out of place, with my pale skin and matronly figure, among the tanned and slender teen-agers.

THE KIDS were amazingly proficient in swimming and diving, which is a testimony of sorts to the excellent summer lessons arranged by Vic Lawson and his staff.

Swimming around in the deep end of the pool, I practiced some almost forgotten strokes I learned long ago, back when I was a teen-ager around Wamplers Lake.

Our family lived in that area, and I had spent many happy hours in and around that water.

Suddenly, an alarm sounded, and everyone started for the shallow end of the pool. My reverie disturbed, I asked the gal lifeguard where everyone was going.

"Time's up," she replied.

"Already?" That hour surely went fast. I made a mental note that we arrive earlier next time.

I COLLECTED the two youngsters, who had been happily playing all the while, and back through the cold shower we ran. We dressed hurriedly and went out into the bright sunshine, a little tired, but a lot cooler.

Covering my wet straggly hair with a scarf, I started for home and (what else?) a hot dog roast for supper.

So gals, if you won't mind being a sort of Jolly Green Giant among the kids in the pool, find your swim suit and jump in.

Last one in is a rotten egg!

Frances Carolyn Vaughn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Vaughn, Raisin Center Hwy., was among 67 graduates honored at the 73rd commencement exercises June 15 at the Aultman Hospital School of Nursing, Canton, O. Miss Vaughn, a 1964 graduate of Tecumseh High School, ranked eighth in her nursing class. She has accepted employment for the summer at Herrick Memorial Hospital, effective Monday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn entertained about 45 at a buffet supper Sunday afternoon honoring their daughter. Guests from Britton, Clinton, Tecumseh and Toledo, O., attended the reception featuring a pink and white cake decorated in the class colors.

Final Standings Sees B. Hoelzer Top Track Man

One of Clinton's great athletic stars, Butch Hoelzer, son of Mrs. C. W. Hoelzer, 117 W. Church St., has placed in Michigan's final track standings for high school boys.

Hoelzer, who will be entering Clinton High School as a senior, placed in the high jump division with a jump of 6'2¼". The best jump in this division was 6'6".

Tour of Isles Like 'Carnival'

Mrs. Neil Pearson told fellow members of the Abi Evans Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution of her three weeks' tour of England and Scotland at a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Herbert Munger on N. Adrian Hwy.

Mrs. Pearson's most particular interest was in seeing the countryside of Bedfordshire, the home of her ancestors.

Woburn Abbey, the county seat of the Duke of Bedford, was open to the public when the Duke discovered he needed more finances. It now resembles a "carnival atmosphere," with light lunches sold on the grounds, a curio shop and other attractions.

Mrs. Pearson discovered that all the people were very friendly and courteous. Her trip included tours through Edinburgh, Glasgow and Loch Loman, down the far side of England and Wales.

"Litterbugs" in Bedfordshire are punished by donning a white coat and spending a specified time picking up litter.

Also a guest at the meeting was the executive vice-president of the University of Michigan who spoke on "The Student and the University."

The decision was announced to present Virginia Dollison, a graduating THS senior, with the annual $100 scholarship for her interest in history.

The ladies heard a report passed by the National Congress in April that the DAR is to advocate legislation which would provide a penalty for violators of the Flag Code or for any who desecrates the U. S. flag.

Marion Whelan and Mrs. Arthur H. Brown reported on a recent dinner they attended which had included members from all surrounding DAR chapters.

by GORDON CHARLES

In days not too long past, the average "sportsman" was a person who went hunting or fishing with a single purpose in mind — to kill something.

An increasing number of people, however, are finding they don't necessarily have to kill off part of the outdoors in order to find enjoyment there. This can hold true, even though a person might actually be engaged in hunting or fishing.

It is likely that those who enjoy "just looking" already outnumber the combined total of hunters or fishermen.

If you take into consideration those sportsmen who are satisfied with a day spent outdoors, even though they may fail to get either game or fish, then the "just looking" group is already in the majority.

NOBODY has to be a rugged, he-man individual, such as the sportsman likes to portray himself in order to enjoy what he finds outdoors. Thousands of folks, for example, enjoy automobile drives through the countryside with no thought in mind other than to enjoy looking at scenery and other attractions.

Wildlife close to a road is always viewed with interest.

The first green-up early spring brings deer out near the roads and within easy range of amateur photographers or the "just lookers." Spring also brings sharptailed grouse onto their traditional dancing grounds.

In areas where these birds are still found, many a nature lover is willing to get up at 3 a.m. to move into a blind on these grounds to watch the birds perform their fascinating mating rituals.

Hiking is a year-round hobby with some who like to take advantage of the peaceful quiet found in roadless areas. They look for rare wild flowers to photograph, identify new bird species, collect rocks or possibly pick mushrooms or wild berries in season.

Trees are a source of enjoyment to some who like to look for new big tree records. Where snow or soft ground is found, there are bird and animal tracks to be observed.

SWIMMING, canoeing, water skiing, all leave a water surface unchanged and are legitimate uses of this resource. There are many, many other parts of the outdoors being used today by outdoor-minded people who can enjoy without killing something.

The hunter with a bulging game pocket or the fisherman with a heavy string of fish do not have any priority on the outdoors.

Neither is more important nor less important than other users of the outdoors.

Appreciation of the outdoors by a majority of all the people is an absolute necessity if there is to be any kind of future for our natural resources.

Jim Palmer Wins Mystery Car Prize for Good Service

Jim Palmer, an employe at Easton's Friendly Service on the corner of Pearl St. and Chicago Blvd., was recently awarded the Gates Rubber Company Mystery Car Award.

Palmer noticed a defective fan belt on a '62 Rambler driven by W. C. Bliven of California. He offered to replace it.

Bliven is part of a fleet of "Gates Mystery Cars" which regularly travels across the country, stopping at service stations, and awarding attendants who discover the purposely-defective fan belt and offer to correct the fault.

Palmer received a plaque bearing two uncirculated silver dollars, two Kennedy half-dollars and a specially-minted commemorative coin set in an automotive engine design.

The Denver-based rubber company sponsors the nation-wide contest which is now in its 35th year.

PAYS TO BE ALERT—This is the way Jim Palmer examined the fan belt of a California customer in Easton's Friendly Service recently. Jim discovered a flaw and saved the traveler no end of trouble by having the belt replaced. His action brought a commendation from the manufacturer when it learned of Jim's alertness.

Schneider, Osburn Injured as Truck Causes Mishap

Two Tecumseh businessmen and a friend from Blissfield escaped serious injury Friday afternoon when a lumber truck forced them off the highway near Manistique in the Upper Peninsula.

Karl Schneider, president of Tecumseh Finance Co., and driver of the car, suffered a broken collarbone and minor lacerations.

Jack Osburn, real estate agent, received numerous facial and skull lacerations.

Joseph Holubik of Blissfield suffered two broken ribs.

Civil Service Courses Are Under Surveillance

Complaints have been received by the U.S. Civil Service Commission from Tecumseh regarding the activities of salesmen representing so-called "civil-service schools."

Some of these organizations make exaggerated claims about job opportunities and about the help they can give in getting people jobs with the Fedral Government.

Some give the impression that they are connected with the government when they are not. Their salesman may sometime imply that if a person takes their particular course they will get a certain job in a certain Federal institution.

Often there is no such job, or if there is one, it is a job which the Federal agency seldom, if ever, fills by recruiting someone from outside the service because it is usually filled by promotion from within.

No "civil-service" course is required to take a civil service examination or to learn about job opportunities, said a commission representative.

Information about examinations for positions in the Federal Government may be obtained, without cost, from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D.C.

Anyyone contemplating taking a so-called "civil-service" course check with one of these sources to learn of employment opportunities and job requirements before signing a contract or paying their money, the spokesman said.

Caravan Music is Available

Tecumseh Cadet and Senior Band students, who are making the July 1 Tecumseh, Ont., trip are to meet in the cafeteria (band room) at 9 a.m., July 1 to receive music for the parade alignment and practice music.

Buses will be loaded at 9:30 a.m. for the trip.

Jeannie Meyers and Donald Quick Exchange Vows

CLINTON — Jeannie Beth Meyers and Donald M. Quick spoke their marriage vows before an altar arrangement of white rose topiary trees and lighted candelabra Saturday afternoon in the Clinton Methodist Church.

The ceremony was performed at 2:30 p.m. by the Rev. David Liscomb, new pastor of the church, assisted by the Rev. Rial Simons of Flat Rock, a former pastor of the Clinton Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Meyers of 214 Jackson St. and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Quick of 413 High St., Marshall.

Richard Wegner played a prelude of nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Ronald Hartung, aunt of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Empire-styled gown of white silk organza, with a scoop neckline trimmed with lace and pearls and long sleeves. A matching mantilla of organza, edged with scalloped lace, formed a chapel train.

Judy Valade of East Detroit was the maid of honor. Dede Meyers and Marcee Meyers, sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids.

The bride's attendants were gowned alike in apple green silk organza, featuring scoop necklines, Empire waistlines and A-line skirts.

Green daisies formed their headpieces, and each carried a basket of white daisies and blue cornflowers.

Geoffrey Quick, nephew of the groom, carried the rings on a pillow made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. R. A. Hartung of Adrian.

Dr. Alan Quick of Mt. Pleasant, was his brother's best man.

The ushers were Howard Schrader of Clinton, Larry Harmon of Dearborn, and Howard Wolfe of Detroit.

HERRICK HOSPITAL NURSES NORMA MOLL AND ROBERTA DERANEK GET DATA FROM CARL KAMHOUT OF DETROIT.

Coronary Care Protects Lives of Heart Patients

Nurses Mrs. Norma Moll and Roberta Deranek of Herrick Memorial Hospital were among 28 nurses who graduated Friday from an intensive two-week course in the operation of Coronary Care Units.

The course which has 25 instructors, was held in the Nurses' Home of Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids.

It was sponsored by the Michigan Heart Association, a Michigan United Fund Agency and is the third in a state-wide series of such classes.

The oscilloscope, which looks just like a TV set — and a modified TV set is what it is — is one of several types of cardiac monitors used in Coronary Care Units.

On the screen, it shows a line tracing of the electric currents generated by the patient's heart, telling the trained nurse of abnormal conditions within the patient's heart.

DR. CARL B. BEEMAN, Grand Rapids internist and president of the Heart Association, explained that Coronary Care units, in addition to supplying intensive care, are designed to combat a special risk of heart attack — sudden heart stoppage.

All patients in a Unit are connected to electronic monitors which sound an alarm if the patient's heart stops or goes into fibrillation (uncoordinated fluttering) or into an abnormal rhythm that can precede a stoppage.

Because of the specialized skills involved in the care of heart patients and in the restarting and retiming of distressed hearts, doctors and nurses in the Units need to be highly trained, Dr. Beeman explained.

THE BRAIN can suffer fatal damage if deprived of blood for more than a few moments and the nurses and doctors must know how to take immediate emergency action to restart or retime the heart.

He said they use, among other things, electric shock, drugs and/or Closed Chest Cardiac Resuscitation.

Research has shown that use of the Units during the first seven to 14 days of a heart attack has cut mortality about 25%, Dr. Beeman said.

WATCHING THE BEES

The cardinals had us confused. We know they had a nest nearby — their frequent trips to the feeders and their many visits to the yard were almost proof positive that they were living not very far away.

But where?

For a number of years the cardinals always built a nest in the sprawly honeysuckle vine by the garage door. This spring, however, a fat robin appropriated the bush. With the usual robin industriousness she worked hard and out of mud, grass and weeds fashioned her nest.

We anticipated an exciting session of robin rearing. However, shortly after the eggs were laid, disaster struck — disaster in the form of a cat.

Mom checked the nest one morning, one side of it was torn and the robin and her eggs were gone. This is definitely not the time for me to discuss cats.

BUT BACK to nicer things — the cardinals. It had been an even better than usual cardinal day, both Papa and Mama C. were making almost continuous trips to the feeder. They didn't stay long but they certainly came often.

Early in the afternoon we noticed a pattern forming — the birds seemed to be following the same route, they swooped in from the north, and after their quick snacks, headed back in the same direction.

Could be something was happening out in back.

I asked Liz to check from the porch and see if she could see where the birds were going.

Before one came her way, something else attracted her attention and our cardinal watching was quickly sidetracked. The "something" was draped over and hung down from a joint of the mulberry tree.

It was dark in color and a close look showed a — good heavens, we had a swarm of bees!

WHAT A fascinating thing — none of us had ever seen such a sight. People are always talking about swarms of bees and imagine, there was one not more than four feet from the porch.

My bed was twisted around and the rest of the day was spent looking at and talking about bees. We tried calling several people who might know about such things but received only busy signals and no answers.

All afternoon and most of the next day the swarm just hung there. The outside layer of bees was in constant motion. Some were flying away, others were coming back and the rest just seemed to be crawling around.

They say that when bees are in a swarm like ours were, they are easy to collect and take to a new hive. At this time of year, at the very beginning of what we hope will be a nice long summer, it should have been a good time for a beekeeper to start a new hive.

We thought it should be interesting to watch someone handle the bees, too — interesting as long as there was the sturdy screen of the porch between them and us. But as mentioned before, no one seemed to be answering their telephones.

THE NEXT day we started reading about bees. We checked our books and several from the library. It seems that when a hive is full, full to the point of over-crowding, the queen takes about three-fourths of her workers and starts out to find a new home.

This traveling group is the swarm.

The queen lights someplace, in our case it was apparently on a limb of the mulberry tree, and her retinue clusters around forming this cone-shaped mass. Scout bees are then sent out in search of a suitable homesite.

Bees communicate with each other by means of tail-wagging dances. Each returning bee reports on his inspection trip and the enthusiasm of the dance is a measure of his find.

An excited dance indicates a good prospect.

Other bees fly off to look the situation over and gradually, by a process of elimination, the best possible site is settled upon.

Finally, when everyone is in agreement, off they go — they must go quickly, too, because we checked our swarm at 3:15 p.m. and everything was in order but by 4 p.m. everyone had gone.

So it is that we started out to play Peeping Tom on the cardinals but wound up watching the bees.

THS Gridiron Completely Rebuilt at Cost of $5,000

Instant football field — that's the top technique, says Paul Burns.

Tecumseh's vocational agriculture teacher and also a specialist in lawns and shrubs, Mr. Burns sodded the THS gridiron last week.

Offering assistance were volunteer Indian athletes and other students.

Prior to the sod laying, Mr. Burns re-contoured the field's base so that the center now has an 18" crown, which will facilitate fast drainage.

The old crown was five inches above the field sidelines.

More than 900 yards of top soil were needed to raise the center of the field and provide a new base.

This was topped with 5,300 yards of sod, one and one-half inch thick, obtained from a grass farm in South Lyon.

Mr. Burns explained that three strains of Kentucky blue grass seed — Merion, Windsor and Newport — were mingled on a mineral soil base, which should keep it healthy and strong under extremely rugged usage.

Using a trio of varieties is advisable since each has immunity to different weeds, indicating that problems should be minimal.

IN ADDITION to the new sod, Mr. Burns advised purchase of a mobile, lightweight irrigation system, which can water the entire gridiron at one time.

Featuring a series of two-inch aluminum pipes, it can be easily assembled and provide water in moments.

The entire project cost $5,000.

Sodding is better than seeding, explains Mr. Burns, in that there is a guarantee of tight grass coverage on an excellent base.

Board of Education members William Brown and Dr. Fred Freeman helped Mr. Burns select the top soil.

THS football players and students, under the chairmanship of Doug Schwartz, organized work parties to assist.

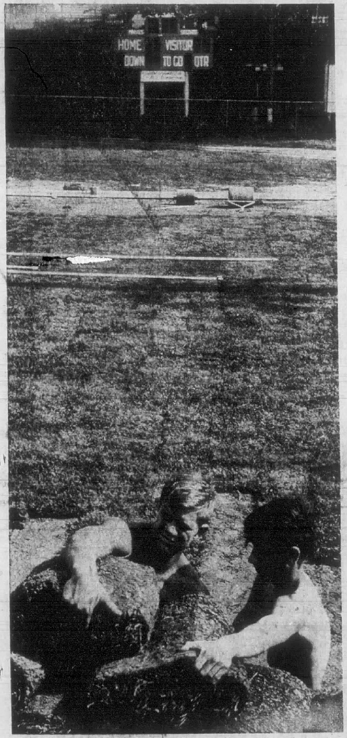
HELPS ON CONDITIONING — If anything can build rock-hard muscles, it's lifting and toting, as these Tecumseh youths will attest, after helping lay 5,300 yards of sod on the THS gridiron last week. The entire field has been rebuilt and the Kentucky blue grass turf should absorb a lot of heavy, crunching foot beats next fall.



UNLOAD SECTIONS — John Anderson and Mike Fox unloaded strips of rich sod, which they then unrolled into place on the football field.

Senator Bursley's LANSING REPORT

The Legislature is now considering its most important bills — those that raise and spend money.

The Senate Appropriations Committee has reported out bills covering such important areas as Higher Education and Mental Health at a level about $60 million below the Governor's recommendations. The House Ways and Means Committee has prepared its share of the budget bills at figures approximating the Governor's recommendations.

But the House has yet to pass a tax reform program that will raise the money to meet the bills it is recommending. The Senate has passed a fiscal reform program but until it is law the Senate felt lower budget figures are the only responsible course to follow.

Hopefully the House will act on fiscal reform this week. Its version in such a case would probably differ from that the Senate has passed and a final product would be worked out by a joint House-Senate conference committee. A final acceptance or rejection by both Senate and House would then be necessary.

It is thus perfectly obvious that the previously-scheduled day for completing action — Friday — is no longer realistic. It will probably take at least two weeks longer. I do hope that the adjournment date of July 20th can be met.

Any Think

By JUDY FIELDER

Jim called me out to the barn Monday afternoon and said, "Take a look. Which color do you like best?"

He splashed a square of dark brown paint, another of olive green, onto the barn.

We were unanimous that the house should be painted dark brown with white trim . . . no problem.

But the color choice for our weather-beaten barn was an entirely different matter. Although we liked both colors, I was for brown, Jim, green.

The kids sided with their dad, green, making the vote an even 5-1, creating a stalemate. (I felt it was even.)

"Oh, no!" exclaimed Bob Titley, who's been working for Jim, as I campaigned for brown votes.

"I'm neutral," said the coward.

AFTER A HARD campaign, threatening not to cook for a week and still getting no votes switched — not wanting to keep a stalemate and itching to get the barn painted, I conceded.

The boys started working on the house the day before the day before the barn. All the neighborhood kids and some parents came to see what was going on. Some were skeptical (give it time to grow on me), but we liked it.

Several of the kids asked to help, so we told them, "Tomorrow you can help Judy paint the barn. Make sure it's all right with your mom, wear old clothes and bring a paint brush."

Wednesday morning (the first kid came at 6 a.m.) the brush brigade began.

It took a while to clean off the old dirt and nail a few hanging boards back up, so we didn't start full force until about noon.

TWO KIDS to a can (one-third [illegible] — to insure much paint wouldn't be spilled at one time) and brushes, size mini to 10 inches, started whipping.

The kids tore through the prepared parts of the siding, then set to the trellis, inside of barn door, house trim and even the neighbor's shed — anyplace I could think of to keep them busy.

"Mrs. Fielder, this is all done. What can I paint now?" was asked most often.

A COUPLE of them even painted each other.

One boy took a too-wide swipe in an artistic moment and caught Cheryl in the mouth as she turned to refill her brush.

Everybody, except Cheryl, roared before I washed off the half-green face. (Yeah, that's right, washed — this new latex house paint is the ONLY kind to use with 10 kids working at once.)

That evening, Jim came out to survey the job. "Boy, I think you got more painting done on the barn than we did on the house."

"When my crew goes to work they really crack," I smugly replied. "Besides that green is easy on the eyes."

Mark Twain never had it so good.

Craft Registration Urged by Hare

Motorboat owners have been urged by Secretary of State James M. Hare, to register all craft before boating season gets into full swing over the July Fourth holiday.

Motorboats may be registered for $3 at any branch office of the Secretary of State.

Already in Lenawee County over 4,114 boats have been registered. A total registration for all Michigan totals to more than 320,000.

Of these craft, nearly one-third were constructed of aluminum, which has supplanted wood as the most popular hull building material for motorboats.

Justice Says Council Can't Bypass His Cou rt

OUR READERS WRITE

(Editor's note — This is a copy of the letter sent from Justice Ernie Oliver to City Council and read at Monday's meeting.)

DEAR SIRS:

I was shocked to hear about and dismayed to read the account of the Council meeting held on June 5 in which apparently my disposition of certain ordinance violation cases in the City of Tecumseh came under discussion.

I was not made aware of the fact that this subject was to be brought up, nor was I aware that there was any complaint or dissatisfaction on the part of the chief of police with regard to the manner in which I have conducted my Court.

It is true that I dismissed numerous tickets which were issued by the Tecumseh police department due to the problem involved at the intersection of S. Evans St. and Kilbuck St., because of the confusion that resulted to drivers at that intersection, due to the signs and their placement and location. I understand that the chief of police and the mayor did not disclose to the Council the letter received from an irate citizen regarding the manner in which this situation was handled at the time the mass issuance of tickets occurred.

The statement that I have dismissed tickets for speeders entering Tecumseh from the East on M-50 is entirely false. There has never been a ticket dismissed under these circumstances to my knowledge.

There have been occasions when certain traffic violations have been reduced as far as the severity of the offense has been concerned, but these occasions have been solely through the offices of the city attorney and the police department, or both.

I wish to remind the City Council that, as an elected official, I wish to cooperate with every phase of city government to the best of my ability, but that I am expected to run an impartial court for the benefit of all of the citizens of the City of Tecumseh.

Further, I wish to point out that the jurisdiction of the Justice Court for the City of Tecumseh as a home-rule city under Sec. 5.2109 Michigan Statutes Annotated and the opinion of the Attorney General No. 2851 issued Dec. 17, 1965, gives my court exclusive jurisdiction for handling all violations of ordinances of the City of Tecumseh, Mich.

I WOULD consider it an honor to appear before your Council to respond to the charges made by Police Chief Murell Clark.

I do, however, want it clearly understood that I have the utmost regard for the police officers of the City of Tecumseh and their honesty and integrity has never been questioned by myself, and my experience with them has always been that I would defend their honesty and good services.

In conclusion, I would like to say it would be my considered judgment that, in retrospect, the Council will certainly reconsider the suggestion that they made, without motion, to send ordinance violation cases to another Justice of the Peace outside of the City of Tecumseh, when such action would obviously result in illegal jurisdiction and undoubtedly a dismissal of the charge.

And further, the added expense of travel for the police officers, witnesses, and the persons accused in any action is unnecessary, wasteful, and in fact, illegal.

Therefore, I suggest that you withdraw your prior suggestion to the police department regarding ordinance violations being transferred outside of the city, and that in the future if any complaints as to the manner in which I run my court are brought to your attention, that you will discuss them with me before any public attack is made upon my court, keeping ever in mind that a court is a judicial function, impartial in nature, with serious and grave responsibility, and I intend to keep it that way.

I remain,

Respectfully yours,
Ernest H. Oliver,
Justice of the Peace.

Blissfield Woman Blasts Policeman

TO THE EDITORS:

I have before me the article from your paper concerning the dismissal of tickets issued to drivers at the S. Evans St. and Kilbuck St. crossing.

As I am one of those drivers, I thought perhaps you would be interested in some additional facts.

First of all the crossing is posted clearly, but when you see that barricade, children on the intersection, oncoming traffic, plus trying to find a sign that indicates which direction to turn, it can be confusing, (even the arresting officer agreed there should be a caution light there.)

That day and that particular traffic trap, there was utter confusion. In my opinion, the traffic trap was improperly conducted. If the traffic turned left without stopping, (of which there were quite a few) no tickets were issued, because as the officer stated, "I can't chase them; if they come this way, I'll get them."

It was too big of a job for the one officer.

My own experience was very trying, so much so that my husband and I wrote a letter of protest to the chief of police, of which a copy was sent to your mayor and the prosecuting attorney of Lenawee County.

I feel a great injustice has been done to Justice Oliver and the people of Tecumseh, as I am sure that Justice Oliver tries to fairly and honestly mete out justice.

In fact he told me that there was so much confusion that he was not sure at that time what would be done, but he would let me know.

I am enclosing a copy of the letter of protest that was sent to your police chief and mayor which was on their desks before the Council meeting.

As I believe that your paper is fair and unbiased, you want to inform your reading public of the injustice that has been done to Justice Oliver.

Sincerely,
Margreet L. Bays
309 Victory St.,
Blissfield.

(Editor's note — Below is the letter Mrs. Bays sent to the Tecumseh officials.)

Chief of Police
Tecumseh, Michigan

DEAR SIR:

My husband and I wish to register a strong protest against one of the officers of your department.

This complaint is directed at Officer William Memi for actions, attitude and conduct displayed during a period of time of approximately one and three-quarters hours.

At approximately 1:05 p.m. Thursday, April 27, 1967, I approached the barricade at the corner of Kilbuck and Evans St., when I observed a woman driver and a child approaching the intersection on my right going west.

I stopped and waited for her to get through the intersection then I turned right (east) and as I crossed the railroad tracks I observed a policeman and two men in business suits in the middle of the street.

The officer stopped me and told me to pull to the side of the street and park. Assuming that they were conducting some kind of traffic survey, I waited for them to come to the car and explain the delay.

After a period of time I called out to them and asked why I had been stopped, they turned around and looked in my direction, but did not answer me.

After waiting for another period of time during which a truck and two more cars had been stopped and told to park I asked again what was wrong and I explained that I had to be in Ann Arbor at 2:30 p.m. for an appointment, and again I received no answer.

At 1:35 p.m., I got out of the car and walked to the police car and asked what this was all about. The officer pointed to the west and said, "Stop sign." I looked at him and the two men in business suits and said, "What?"

One of them said, "you didn't stop."

I said, "Yes, I did, I waited for a lady to get through the intersection."

The officer spoke up and said, "Look, lady, I've got two witnesses."

I said, "I don't care, but I did stop. I waited for that lady and if you think I was going to drive over those rough, rutty rails, you're nuts."

One of the two men said, "Well, don't look at me."

During all of this time the two were shouting, "Here comes another one, he's not going to stop."

The officer would get out of his car and wave that driver to stop.

At 1:45 p.m. I went back to the officer and stated again that I had stopped and he said, "I'm not going to argue with you, but I will answer your questions."

I said, "Then let's get this over with."

He said, "You'll have to wait your turn."

I then asked if I could walk to a telephone and call my doctor.

He said, "Yes."

When I returned, the two men in business suits were gone, I asked where they were and he said, "Oh, they got their tickets and left."

He then started to write my ticket, then stopped and waved two more cars to a stop.

The officer did apologize twice for delaying me for so long. At 2:50 p.m. I was finally allowed to leave.

Margreet L. Bays.

P. S. The following is a note from my husband:

DEAR SIRS:

I most strongly protest the treatment which my wife was subjected to on April 27, 1967.

My wife's health condition is very bad due to much sickness and a very serious operation performed about one year ago which she barely survived.

Needless to say, a great deal of inconvenience, missed appointment (with the specialist that performed the operation), much nervous frustration and mental anguish was caused by this inconsideration.

I have talked with my attorney (Kenneth Glaser) about this affair and he explains, quote, "If an officer stops you, he must explain, take appropriate action and send you on your way with quick dispatch."

My own feelings are complete in utter disgust and disrespect for a public servant that would place himself into a position of such high authority as was exercised in the stated case.

I do expect an apology to my wife from the officer and police department for the inconsideration given her.

A copy of this letter is being sent to the mayor of Tecumseh and the prosecuting attorney of Lenawee County.

Thank you,
Curtis Bays.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Almost Over the Hill

Another car almost did a chute-the-chute over the athletic field hill last Friday.

Heading north on Ottawa St., just beyond the library, a driver was apparently going too fast and suddenly swerved over the curb, wheeled down the sidewalk and back into the street.

All this, with a mad screeching of brakes.

Rubber marks along the sidewalk still can be seen. It's lucky nobody happened to be walking there at the time because if someone had, there would probably be an extra funeral for this week's edition.

A 14-year-old youth, riding his bike on Ottawa, nearing Evans St., reported the incident to us. He and a friend, also on a bicycle, were thoroughly scared, and who wouldn't be?

Once again, this points up the need for attention to the bend in Ottawa, from Shawnee to Evans, where it curves around the edge of the athletic field.

The sidewalk should be protected with a continuous barrier, dotted with reflectors to warn drivers of danger and show them the sweep of the turn.

More one-way signs are still needed in that area, plus additional postings all along Evans and Ottawa. Motorists continue to go the wrong direction on both strets.

But for a little luck last week, we'd be reporting another vehicle spinning out of control off Ottawa — and maybe the death of its driver.

Vote on Super Race Track

Not too much has been appearing of late on the proposed super speedway.

But that doesn't mean plenty hasn't been happening.

Not at the 600-acre site in Cambridge Township in northwest Lenawee County (note arrows on map below), but in the world of high finance.

Investors for the $3½ million sports extravaganza are being lined up, with much of the cash already pledged, reports an Adrian man who will be serving on the Michigan International Speedway's board of directors.

What everyone is now awaiting is the vote July 18, in which residents of the township (exclusive of Onsted Village) will either OK or turn down the whole idea.

They have the right to nix action taken by the Cambridge board of supervisors, who have approved a switch in zoning from residential to commercial for two sections of the township near the junction of M-50 and US-12.

The 600 acres is situated within this area.

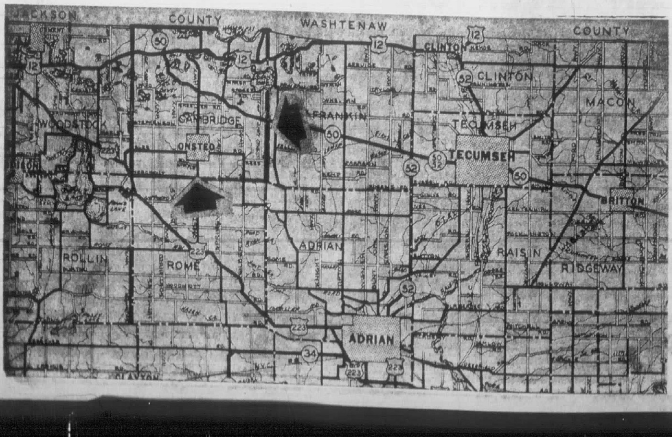
Eligibility for the vote is strict — limited to residents with mailing addresses within Cambridge Township.

Charles Schultz, the clerk in Cambridge, reports considerable interest in who can vote. Like the man from Tecumseh who owns a cottage near the track site. He wanted to cast a vote, but to do so would have to cancel his vote privileges in Tecumseh and start getting all his mail at the cottage before he'd be eligible.

He has also had to tell citizens residing in Onsted Village that they may not take part.

About 1,200 people can check ballots at the fire hall in Onsted between 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. that fateful 18th day of July.

Looks like Cambridge is going to have some real excitement next month.



Big Clock Would Help Pit Swimmers

TO THE EDITORS:

"Dear Life Guard—please send Johnny home at 3 p.m. because he has a dental appointment."

"Mr. Todd, would you please tell Cathy when 3 p.m. comes as she has to have her bangs trimmed."

Foolish! Not on your life.

Life guards at the Tecumseh Pit should not be bothered with anything but saving lives. They are not there to be baby sitters or time consultants.

Why not place a clock where swimmers and sun bathers can easily check the time — then they won't miss their paper routes, visits to grandma or any other important engagement.

This would relieve the pressure from those in charge and then irate mothers would not hear "but I didn't know what time it was."

Surely the city can afford a clock!

A frustrated mother.

(Editor's Note — Maybe somebody would like to donate a large-faced clock for The Pit?)

Methodist Church Greets Members

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Back in the summer of 1939, I learned to type. Taught myself, the famed hunt-and-peck system.

When someone sees me hammering at the keyboard, he usually stares in wonderment for a few moments, then inquires: "How in the world can you get anything on paper that way — and so fast?"

My stock answer usually goes, "Don't ask me. I just keep struggling and it all seems to just happen."

Of course, one time I'll hit the "e" with my left index finger, the next time it might be with my middle digit, sometimes a thumb. I haven't the slightest idea which one it will be. All of which makes getting out a piece of copy a sort of adventure.

Well, '39 was the time it all began, during summer vacation between my junior and senior years in high school. I was on my first full-time job (you can't count part-time delivery work for the Puritan Beer Store near our home), laboring as a "belt inspector" at the headquarters of Western Union in downtown Detroit.

The belts to be inspected were really conveyors, which ran all over and between the upper three stories, carrying telegrams from one department to another.

If one accidentally fell off, or maybe was blown by a sudden July breeze, my job was to snatch it up, stamp a time on it, record the find and get the message quickly on its way again.

All of this eight hours a day for the princely stipend of $18 a week. I roamed my regular route, hour after hour, trying to be careful that nary a telegram was delayed en route through the building during the 4 p.m. to 1 a.m. shift.

As I recall now, about 5,000 telegrams would sail in and out of the place each eight hours. Few actually fell or flipped off a belt, but when one did, I usually managed to miss it.

This would always bring my supervisor charging up to me, blood in his eyes, as I strolled along the third floor, to say I overlooked a telegram that got tangled in a belt on the second floor 15 minutes before.

Those were the days of competition, Postal Telegraph still being in business, and one-quarter of an hour delay was like the Black Death to my company. (Of course, with Western Union having it all to itself now, a quarter of a day or even quarter of a week's hangup doesn't matter much. They even often mail 'em now, since delivery boys have long disappeared.)

When I gophered a stray message, the little incident which followed with the boss was always upsetting. You know how it goes for a serious 17-year-old, eagerly awaiting punch-out time, with thoughts of eating a delightful coney island while taking that 35-minute Second Avenue bus ride home.

So much for the problems.

ON THE second floor, which was part of my territory, there was a long section of telephones and typewriters. During the busy business day, they hummed with activity. But during my time on the job, the whole line-

Caravan To Canada To Roll with 1,000

It's off to Tecumseh, Ontario, Saturday.

A bus, car and truck caravan will depart promptly at 10 a.m. from city hall with an expected 1,000 local residents.

Two chartered buses will carry 82 passengers.

Linda Easton, who is serving as caravan chairman, will have streamers for each vehicle. The Herald is going to furnish window cards for identification of each caravan participant.

Police cars will escort the caravan all the way to the Windsor tunnel. Canadian customs officials have been alerted and will hustle through all vehicles in the lineup from here.

Tecumseh, Ontario's mayor, Hector Lascasse and his party, will officially welcome Mayor Harold Easton on the Canadian side of the tunnel. From there, the host city will provide an escort.

Festivities are slated to begin with a giant parade the moment the caravan from Michigan arrives, states Henry Hayes, general chairman of the celebration, the 100th Anniversary of the Confederation of Canada.

A dozen floats are expected for the line of march, plus decorated bikes, horses and horse-drawn vehicles, Scouts, Girl Guides and two rock-and-roll groups.

This city's high school band, under the direction of Don Johnson, will lead off the parade, which is going to start in the downtown area near St. Anne's High School, and proceed one and one-half miles to the city's spacious park. The Aowakiyas as baton group is also going to be in the line of march.

There trophies will be awarded to the builders of the outstanding floats. The Ontario community's new swimming pool is being dedicated by Canada's minister of exterior affairs.

Other activities planned are two ball games, a square dance exhibition by the Shawnee Squares, dancing for teens to the Canadian combos and a water-ball fight between the two city fire departments, all capped with fireworks.

The park offers ample room for picnicking and recreation activities for all ages.

Many Michigan guests will carry lunches. The Ontario city also offers eating establishments.

Everyone Welcome

TO OUR TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, FRIENDS:

For Canada, 1967 is much more than just a new year. Millions of citizens from other nations, largely from the United States will come to Canada to participate in celebrations marking the centenary of Confederation in Canada.

They will go to one or more of the provinces forming the Canadian Federation to call on relatives, friends, to re-visit places which remain dear to them. Others simply will seek to know our country and people better.

It will be an honour and a joy for Tecumseh to welcome you and other U. S. friends and preparations are now under way to celebrate your presence. Such a welcome obviously is a tribute to your personal prestige but it is more, for it will bring the friendship of your citizens. And we always are deeply moved by words and facts which express sentiments of brotherly love.

For all of us 1967 is much more than 365 days. It is our intention to foster and promote the significance of this year for those that follow.

I wish to send a personal message of gratitude to those who in their thoughts and actions join in our celebrations. In our memories you, too, will be a part of us throughout these happy days.

Bienvenu a tous nos amis de Tecumseh, Michigan.

Mayor

PGA Golf Star Will Play Here

By JIM LINCOLN

Golf fans throughout the area will have an opportunity here Sunday to see one of the nation's top professionals in action.

Dave Hill, 30-year-old pro from Jackson, who has been on the circuit for nine years, will play an exhibition Sunday afternoon at 1:30 on the Tecumseh Country Club course.

He's been paired with his brother, Mike, Tecumseh pro; Leo Bishop, former Tecumseh pro; and Jake Fassezke, former Jackson pro, now living in Adrian.

It's the first time in a dozen years that an outstanding national golfer has toured the local links. Frank Stranahan, onetime Toledo great, played a match here with Bishop when TCC was just nine holes.

For the past two years, members have enjoyed 18 holes, most of which are tightly trapped, giving golfers a fair test.

Dave has visited his brother here in the past and will be no stranger to the course. His best round has been 66 for the par 72 layout.

Less than a month ago, TV showed the Jackson pro winning the $20,000 Memphis Open, and in the recent U.S. Open at Baltursol, N.J., Dave placed 17th among the elite of all golfers.

Since the Open, he's taken a rest and will not rejoin the tour until the PGA at Denver, July 20-23.

Although the exhibition is not scheduled to start until 1:30, fans will have a chance to watch him loosen up at 1.

Admission is $2 per person,

They were posted at Manistee the day before by her sons, John and Bob, just before they and other members of Boy Scout Troop 4 started in canoes down the waterway.

What got Jean all keyed up was that John's card was fully addressed with Zip code and everything, but Bob just wrote, "Dear Mom," gave a long report, then signed it, "Love, Bob." There was no name or address. A post office worker in Manistee figured it was for Tecumseh and gave it a 49286. When it arrived here, a local postal clerk figured out the rest.

Mrs. George Hunter, 208 W. Logan St., is competing with Rae Frank for longest time in a leg cast. Mrs. Hunter fell Jan. 28 and still uses crutches to help her move her heavy foot around home to do the housework.

Otto Beaubien better known as "Boob" rates "most considerate husband" award for Tuesday, June 27. He gave his lovely wife, Evelyn, a gorgeous planter filled with foliage in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary. See it displayed atop the refrig at the Quick Lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hunter of 413 N. Evans, will observe their 25th wedding anniversary July 9. An open house will be held from 2 - 4 p.m. at their home. The couple was married in Napoleon, O., July 11, 1942, and have lived in Tecumseh all their married life. Mr. Hunter is employed at the Tecumseh Products and Mrs. Hunter is employed at Kerby's Restaurant. There is one son, David. The couple requests that gifts be omitted.

Long & Short

up was deserted.

It didn't take me long to discover this, also that after the dark hardly a person wandered into the area.

That's when I decided it was time to learn to type, since I knew reporters had to master the skill and I was going into the news game.

So each evening about 8 or 9, as things slowed down for me and my supervisor got lost, or tired of chasing after me, my eager feet would take me to the second floor.

Those first few sortees were especially exciting. I was both goofing off on my job (and this is a delight to most young workers) plus doing something new and different.

Plenty of blank telegram forms were available and I helped myself like a hungry guest when the sandwich tray passes by.

At first I had difficulty discovering how the various levers, shift keys, margin locks and assorted other gadgets worked on those ancient Underwood uprights.

Gradually, these mysteries sort of unfolded themselves and soon I was rattling off real stories.

Those were the golden days of sandlot baseball games every morning at Hally Stadium (this is another story) with the Byerlein brothers, Pat, John and Ace, the Reaults, Bob and Jack, plus an assortment of other neighborhood lads.

MY NIGHTLY reports were fast-paced resumes of game action of the day Pat was the long-ball hitter of the gang and when he'd unload a homer, my story gave every vivid detail, capped with something like "when last seen, the battered horsehide was sailing high over the cyclone fence in center field, heading for the Normandy Avenue home of Helen Solomon."

The next day, I'd preesnt the story to my teammates, who loudly predicted someday I would be replacing H. Salsinger as sports editor of The Detroit News, unless of course, I decided to stay with Western Union and rise through its ranks to the presidency.

That summer of '39 was a profitable one for me. Not in savings. My salary went for good chow (i.e. delicacies such as the coney islands), quarts of chocolate milk to gulp down at one sitting following a ball game, hot fudge sundaes at Wilson's on Livernois and tickets to the Varsity Theatre.

My major dividend was the new-found skill as a typist. By the time school opened, I was adept at the keyboard. Not accurate, but as long as my fingers kept from being stuck between the keys, rapid.

I shall never forget those batteries of Underwoods on which I learned my art.

Like the first car a fellow drives, the Underwood No. 4 became my favorite model typewriter. Funny, I never owned one, mostly just portables over the 28 years since then (did I say 28? Man, my Western Union days are back a long ways.)

What prompted this whole thing was an ad Coca-Cola is currently running in journalism trade magazines.

"Announcing our first annual trusty typewriter award" is the headline and underneath is "An Early American fruitwood frame" in which there's a "trusty typewriter".

Darned if it isn't an Underwood No. 4.

The ad explains:

> "As you know, a trusty typewriter is one which absolutely will not, under any circumstances, make mistakes with the trade-marks "Coca-Cola" and "Coke". It always remembers to capitalize both words and never, never to use them in the plural or possessive.
> "And since we're sure your typewriter is truly trusty at heart, we'd like to reward you. With (what else?) our Trusty Typewriter Award. There're also 25 Honorable Mentions which are almost as nice.
>
> "First, though, you have to enter a little contest of sorts. Which will prove undeniably how hard you've tried. (Good intentions count, too.) A select committee of your journalistic peers will be the reasonably unbiased judges.
>
> "So fill out and mail the entry blank. We'll be waiting."

Naturally, I'm all excited about entering the Coke Contest.

If the CC folks knew how much winning one of the Trusty Typewriters would mean to me, I'm sure they'd create a special catagory for "Any 17-Year-Old Who Taught Himself To Type On an Underwood No. 4," automatically insuring that he be on the prize list.

My fingers are crossed. (Just the way they usually are when I type.)

1917 Alumni Are Honored

Celebrating its 50th anniversary, the Tecumseh High School class of 1917 was honored at the annual alumni gathering Saturday evening in St. Elizabeth auditorium.

Thirteen of the 17 living graduates received a standing applause after being presented with rose certificates recognizing them for attending.

Barbecued chicken dinner was served by the Jaycee Auxiliary to 150 seated at tables decorated with bouquets of roses, symbolic of the 10-year and 50-year class flower.

Following invocation by the Rev. Fr. Leon Begue, toastmaster John Naser of Albion, a member of the host class of 1957, introduced Mrs. Harold Black of the class of 1942, who gave the welcome to the class of 1967. Her daughter, Debbie, responded from this year's graduating class.

SEVERAL rose awards were given, including one to Mrs. Duaine Service for attending 47 alumni banquets since her graduation 50 years ago; Wilfred Waldron, the oldest graduate present; Zorah Dickinson McWilliams and Zelah Dickinson Cotton of California for traveling the farthest distance and Janet Martin of Colorado for class of 1957 member traveling the farthest distance.

The rose award to the 1942 male graduate who had lost the most hair went unclaimed.

MEMBERS of the 1957 class, Harry Teets gave the treasurer's report and Mrs. Donald Sprague, the secretary's.

Muza Rice Grove of the class of 1917, recited the memoriam and benediction prayers.

Dance music afterwards was provided by the Raisin River Rats, featuring Mrs. Glenn Driscoll playing an organ donated by Flanders Music Store, Mr. Driscoll, Mrs. Herbert Dillon, Robert Moore, Norval Bovee and Vern Manwaring.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON, all the members of the class of 1917 except Morris Palman of Toledo met at the Holiday Inn at Adrian for dinner.

American Beauty roses in bud vases centered the tables and places were marked with individual photos from graduation pictures.

Guests were Oliver Blum of Ypsilanti; Lucile Conlin Hoefer and her husband of Dearborn; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cuthbert of Dayton, O.; Zorah Dickinson McWilliams of Whittier, Calif.; Zelah Dickinson Cotton of Englewood, Calif.; Doris Koffenstein Hunt of Muskegon; Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Lowry of Birmingham; Muza Rice Grove of Curtice, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Amos D. Wilson, Gladys Bowerman and her husband and Fern Murphy Christinsen, all of Clinton and Gladys Bowen Drewyor, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Boyce, Russell Comfort, Lillian Kennedy Service, Mr. and Mrs. Faye Van Valkenburg, all of Tecumseh.

Wamplers Lake Resort in the Hills Sports New Chef

Leo Noraski of Detroit is the chef at the Wamplers Lake Resort on the east shore of the big lake in the Irish Hills.

Handling large banquets and wedding receptions in the Detroit area for a number of years, Mr. Noraski specializes in Italian and sea foods.

"The menu at the resort will feature dinner specialties," owner Dick Russ remarked.

In conjunction with the resort, Roy Biandis and Howard Herman cordially invite the public to the new, recently opened Wamplers Lake Pavilion.

The owner emphasizes that the Pavilion will be used for community projects all year around.

Name bands are scheduled to appeal not alone to teen-agers but for adult dancers as well.

He will provide special assistance to congregations that are required to earmark investments to underwrite a future loan from the Church Extension Fund.

Public Pool Was Closed for Cleaning

An unfortunate, costly mishap at Tecumseh's swimming pool Monday afternoon closed it with a re-opening tentatively scheduled for Thursday.

One of some 70 youngsters swimming at the time went potty — and the pool's not the place.

Health authorities required drainage of the pool, a rinsing, thorough cleansing with an acid, two more rinsings and then a complete drying for 24 hours.

It takes about 12 hours to empty and fill the 155,000-gallon pool and approximately the same time to warm the water.

Don Moffatt, recreation director, says revenue loss ran somewhere between $100 and $150. It cost the city several man-hours in labor, and hundreds of youngsters missed their swimming lessons.

The lessons have been rescheduled for make-up on Saturday and Sunday.

Jamie Danforth Ready To Attend Fine Arts Camp

Jamie Danforth received a scholarship to Blue Lake Summer School of Fine Arts Camp.

The camp is located in the heart of Manistee National Forest, ten miles north of Muskegon.

Jamie, a member of the Tecumseh Music Makers Club, will attend the high school choir session from July 3-16 under the direction of Lawrence Gray.

Jamie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Danforth, 804 Outer Drive. She has been accepted at Eastern Michigan University summer choral workshop to begin July 23 to Aug. 4 under the direction of Professor Blaine Ballard.

Mrs. G. Heeman Visits Husband on Waikiki Beach

Mrs. George H. Heeman returned Thursday from Hawaii after spending six days with her husband in Hawaii. He and James Tonneberger arrived in the islands on the same plane from Vietnam for rest and relaxation.

The couples enjoyed several meals together while there.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Heeman and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Crawford surprised the George H. Heemans with reservations at the Waikiki Circle Hotel on Waikiki Beach.

George telephoned his parents twice during their stay, once on Father's Day.

Stage Play Entertaining

By DENICE ANDERSON

It's that kind of a play.

At times you laugh. At times you cry. But mostly you just sit there and smile.

"The Sound of Music," Rogers and Hammerstein's musical, opened the 1967 season at the Clark Lake Playhouse June 22 under the direction of G. L. Blanchard.

Performances will continue June 2,9 30 and July 1, 6-8. $2.75 tickets can be reserved by calling 529-9141 or 529-9512. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Despite her slight stature, Brooke Hetherwicke carried the large lead of Maria exceedingly well.

She convincingly portrayed the role of the young postulant sent to be governess of the seven children of Captain Georg von Trapp, the sea captain who kept his house in ship-shape condition and trained his children as he did his sailors — with discipline.

George Carr, as von Trapp, changed visibly on the stage from a gruff, stern captain to a loving, devoted father and husband.

His few appearances during the first act seemed to be just that, appearance.

But as the play progressed, so did the character of von Trapp and the audience was charmed not only by the gentle man he turned out to be, but also by his voice, which resounded throughout the Playhouse with such tunes as "The Sound of Music" and "Edelweiss."

As for the youngsters, "The children are spunky. They've caught the spirit of the play," said one theatre patron.

They were delightful. Pep and energy zoomed through them and they seemed as comfortable on stage as if they had been in their own homes.

One could see by their swaying bodies and giggles that they were enjoying themselves and their voices blended beautifully in such ditties as "Do-Re-Me" and "So Long, Farewell."

Miss Hetherwick has a clean, soprano voice that did much justice to "The Sound of Music," "Favorite Things" and other catchy show tunes that were sprinkled throughout the play.

Connie Murray was Mother Abbess, the devoutly religious and understanding head of the Abbey. Perhaps it was her kindness, or her stout stature in flowing robes, or her pleasant voice, but whatever it was, she came through her performance magnificently as an ideal Mother Abbess.

Her singing was superb with "Climb Every Mountain." And the audience was sent into gales of laughter when she exclaimed to one and all after singing "Favorite Things," "You're right. It's that kind of song!"

The scenery was simple but exact, and costumes were basic.

Gregory Wilson, Wendy Wells, Jerry Glaser, Lisa Climer, Debbie Davis and Julie Dudt, were dressed alike, and Miss Hetherwick was resplendent in the Abbey castaways.

Richard Wilson was musical director and Barbara Stark, choreographer.

The nuns, the remaining cast and the musicians all contributed to a very successful opening night for the Clark Lake Players.

As one fellow commented, "They sure know how to put on a play."

"Any Wednesday" will be the next Clark Lake Playhouse production, with performances scheduled for July 13-15 and 20-22.

Stites States Position

TO THE EDITORS:

The so-called, "Fiscal Reform" better known as the "Income Tax" is of vital concern to all the people of Michigan.

Therefore as your representative from Lenawee County I would like to explain my position.

First, I would like to state that I am not opposed to a "Fiscal Tax Reform" program for the State of Michigan that would permit good government without waste and extravagance in state spending.

Tax reform to me means economy of state spending, concentration directed toward cutting cost in many areas without cutting services and close cooperation and encouragement be directed toward the "Governors Trim committee" composed of civic leaders now studying ways to trim state expenditures.

Therefore tax reform should not be a program just to obtain money by adding a bigger tax burden on the people of Michigan.

If an income tax is passed by the legislature it will not have a constitutional safe-guard against an increase above 2½%, therefore it could be raised next year by a vote of legislature to any percent that would be needed to take care of the 1968-69 budget.

I also opposed this program without it being presented to the voters of the state before it becomes effective. (On the present package, if passed by the legislature, the people would not have the chance to vote on it until Nov. 1968.)

It has been estimated that to set up a department to collect the income tax will be from $7 to $9 million. Then if the people should vote it down in November 1968, the state has wasted the millions of dollars to collect it.

Therefore I maintain that this tax package should have a constitutional ceiling on it, and that the people vote on it now, rather, than 1968 then throw away the millions of dollars if the people are not in favor of income tax.

The legislature could very easily extend the sales and use tax to include certain items that are exempted and also services that are not included at the present, and by doing so raise approximately $240 million for penny cost of collection due to the department already in operation.

I wish to express my gratitude to the many people who have called, sent telegrams and letters, supporting the position that I have taken relative to the tax program.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Somebody must like this fast time we find ourselves on, but not this gal. It's bad enough to have to get up in the dark in winter, let alone in June.

Whoever heard of driving to work with the lights on during the month of brides? Phooey. Losing an hour's sleep every night adds up to just one big fatigue for me. I'm tired of waking those birds up so they can sing at dawn.

Don Goddard of Houghton Lake, former Tecumseh resident, who, with his wife, now has the Lucky Strike Resort there, said Saturday that the bluegills and sunfish are biting right off from his dock. They have also been getting walleyes and northern pike, more this year than any since they left Tecumseh in 1950.

Sandlot Managers Asked To Turn in Team Rosters

Managers of all Cub League — major and minor — and Pony League teams are asked to bring complete rosters of their clubs to The Herald.

This will allow checking for correct spelling of names, plus provide first names when they're not turned in with game reports.

The Herald is anxious to mention every youngster who turns in an outstanding performance, but it's sometimes difficult when the newspaper does not get complete reports.

Winning managers are asked to bring filled-out game report forms to The Herald, across from the fire station, as soon as possible following the action. There is a mail chute in the door, so reports can be left 24 hours a day.

ON TO BOYS' STATE — These area boys are delegates who attended the 30th Annual American Legion Boys' State which began June 14 and was held at Michigan State University. They traveled on the Forty and Eight Box Car. Those elected to offices included Phil Van Valkenburg, Mike Jackson, Jim Mobley, Gary Flanders, Meryl Eaton, Gus Bishop, Charles Gillies, Doug Schwartz, Bruce DesErmia, Richard Hale, L. George Surratt and Lynn Palmer.

1967 Wolverine Boys' State Creates Mythical Government

By BRUCE DES ERMIA

Without the generosity of several Tecumseh businessmen, civic clubs and industries, 21 local boys would never have had the unforgettable experience of spending eight days on the Michigan State University campus attending Wolverine Boys' State.

Those attending included August Bishop, Arthur Brazee, Gary Easton, Merle Eaton, Gary Flanders, Charles Gillies, Richard Hale, Michael Jackson, Barry Lamkin, Jim Mobley, Robert Murray, Rand Robinson, Douglas Schwartz, Carlton Sheley, Reed Skinner, Glenn Stoner, George Surratt, James Upell, Phillip Van Valkenburg, Richard Work and Bruce DesErmia.

Our experience began early June 14 after a night of sleep cut short an hour by the time change. We boarded the American Legion 40 & 8 and headed west out of town with bells and horns in full harmony, letting everyone in Tecumseh know we were headed for Boys' State.

Arriving on campus, together with 1,300 other boys from all over Michigan, we were registered and assigned a room according to the city in which we would reside for the next eight days — each dormitory floor consisting of a city.

My city was Garfield in Begole County.

Boys' State is actually a mythical 51st State run by the boys in attendance. It is divided into 12 counties and 24 cities.

It was time to turn politician.

Thursday nominations were held for city offices. I was nominated as a Garfield City councilman on the Federalist ticket. The 50 boys in our city nominated 16 to run as councilmen and, in turn, elected eight to serve.

Our duties consisted of making the laws for our city and appointing city officials such as the city dog catcher, street commissioner, fire chief, etc.

While our city was busy getting organized, the five Wards in the city each elected a delegate and an alternate to attend the State Convention. I was chosen as an alternate.

Reading about a political convention, or seeing one on television, can never give one the true picture of government in action. It was an educational experience I will never forget.

Sunday was the big day as the citizens of Boys' State went to the polls and voted for the County and State Officials. Tecumseh can be proud of the many state and county positions won by boys sent from here.

While "politicing" took up a good share of our time, there were many rewarding extra-curricular activities.

A Law Course was given by lawyers in the Lansing area. A fifty-piece Concert Band was formed, as was a boys' chorus and four from Tecumseh were in the band which performed for parents and friends Sunday.

There were several different clinics on sports held by the coaches from MSU and there was plenty of opportunity to play basketball, hand-ball, paddle-ball or swim during free time.

The stay at Boys' State was climaxed on the last day by a 3.4 mile hike to the State Capital where Gov. George Romney and Lieutenant Governor William Milligan spoke to us on the Capital lawn.

It had been a week filled with unforgettable experiences and countless opportunities to be a part of a government in action. We met many new firends and carried home many happy memories of serious, as well as humorous, happenings.

I'm sure all of the boys thank the American Legion and the sponsors for making their trip possible.

Floral Designer Speaks

"Mechanics in Flower Arranging" was the topic as John "Kukini" Pribble, floral designer from Clinton, presented his program for the Little Garden Club June 20 at the home of Mrs. Charles Gross.

In discussing the mechanics, he showed the basic holders for flowers such as frogs, needlepoint pin holders, foam, oasis and the new wax coated foam.

By using various greens from the gardens, like peony and barberry branches, Mr. Pribble made various arrangements that were easy and pleasing to any decor.

He explained how to preserve flowers until they are needed for arranging.

President Mrs. Donald Moffatt thanked the members for sending her to the State Convention of Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan. She explained the awards received by the club and showed the certificates of award.

The Pool Party at Dr. and Mrs. Robert Murray's home on Green Hwy, will be July 4 at 7 p.m. Co-hostesses for the evening will be officers of the club. Husbands are invited guests.

A tour of Hidden Lake Gardens will be taken July 18 and a sack lunch enjoyed on the grounds. A tour of the greenhouse and accompanying gardens will be taken after lunch.

Assisting Mrs. Gross for the evening were Mrs. John Walper and Mrs. Judson Miles.

BONDS AUTHORIZED

Section 5. To pay the cost of acquiring and constructing said public improvements and part of the cost of refunding said outstanding bonds, including the payment of legal, financial and other expenses incident thereto and incident to the issuance and sale of the bonds, including call premiums on the bonds to be refunded, it is hereby determined that the City shall borrow the sum of Three Hundred Fifty Thousand ($350,000.00) Dollars, and that revenue bonds be issued therefor pursuant to the provisions of Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended, which bonds are referred to in this Ordinance as "the bonds."

Whenever the words "revenues" and "net revenues" are used in this Ordinance, they shall be understood to have the meanings as defined in Section 3, Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended.

Whenever the words "outstanding bonds" are used in this Ordinance, they shall be understood to mean the Water Revenue Bonds of the City dated July 1, 1956.

DETAIL OF BONDS

Section 6. Said bonds shall be designated WATER SUPPLY AND SEWAGE SYSTEM REFUNDING AND IMPROVEMENT REVENUE BONDS, and shall be not general obligations of the City, but revenue bonds payable out of the net revenues of the System after provision has been made for the payment of expenses of administration, operation and maintenance and shall consist of three hundred fifty (350) bonds of the denomination of $1,000.00 each, or seventy (70) bonds of the denomination of $5,000.00 each, but not both, dated as of October 1, 1967, numbered in direct order of maturity from 1 upwards, and maturing as follows:

$30,000.00 July 1st of each year from 1968 to 1977, inclusive;
$25,000.00 July 1st of each of the years 1978 and 1979.

Said bonds to bear interest at a rate or rates not exceeding five per cent (5%) per annum, payable on July 1, 1968, and semi-annually thereafter on January 1st and July 1st of each year, both principal and interest to be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at a bank or trust company to be designated by the purchaser of the bonds.

Bonds maturing in the years 1968 to 1975, inclusive, will not be subject to prior redemption.

Bonds maturing in the years 1976 to 1979, inclusive, will be subject to redemption prior to maturity, at the option of the City, in inverse numerical order on any interest payment date on or after July 1, 1975.

Bonds called for redemption shall be redeemed at par and accrued interest to the date fixed for redemption, plus a premium as follows:

2% of par value on each bond called for redemption prior to July 1, 1977;
1% of par value on each bond called for redemption on or after July 1, 1977, but prior to maturity.

Thirty days' notice of the call of any bonds for redemption shall be given by publication in a paper circulated in the State of Michigan which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds. Bonds so called for redemption shall not bear interest after the date fixed for redemption provided funds are on hand with the paying agent to redeem said bonds.

Said bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the City Clerk and shall have the corporate seal of the City impressed thereon, and shall have interest coupons attached bearing the facsimile signatures of the Mayor and City Clerk. Said bonds shall be delivered by the City Treasurer upon payment of the purchase price therefor.

CREATION OF LIEN

Section 7. Said bonds and the attached coupons shall not be a general obligation or indebtedness of the City, but shall be payable solely from the net revenues derived from the operation of the System, and to secure such payment there is hereby created a statutory lien upon the whole of the net revenues of said System, to continue until the payment in full of the principal and interest on said bonds, said lien being a statutory first lien subject only to payment of principal and interest and call premiums on the outstanding bonds, sufficient funds to permit payment of the same on January 1, 1968 to be deposited in trust with the paying agent for said outstanding bonds prior to or at the time of delivery of the bonds authorized by this Ordinance.

REMEDIES OF BONDHOLDER

Section 8. The holder or holders of said bonds or coupons representing in the aggregate not less than twenty per cent (20%) of the entire issue then outstanding may, by suit, action, mandamus or other proceedings, protect and enforce the statutory lien upon the revenues of said System and may by suit, action, mandamus or other proceedings, enforce and compel performance of all duties of the officers of the City, including the fixing of sufficient rates, the collection of revenues, the proper segregation of the revenues of the System and the proper application thereof: Provided, However, that the statutory lien upon said revenues shall not be construed as to compel the sale of the System.

If there be any default in the payment or the principal of or interest upon any of said bonds, any court having jurisdiction in any proper action may appoint a receiver to administer and operate said System on behalf of the City, and under the direction of said court, and by and with the approval of said court to perform all of the duties of the officials of said City, more particularly set forth herein and in Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended.

The holder or holders of any such bonds or any coupons therefrom shall have all other rights and remedies given by said Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended, for the collection and enforcement of said bonds and the security therefor.

MANAGEMENT OF SYSTEM

Section 9. The construction, alteration, repair and management of the System shall be under the supervision and control of the City Council. The City may employ such person or persons, boards or commissions, in such capacity or capacities as it deems advisable to carry on the efficient management and operation of the System, subject to the approval of the City Council. The City Council may make such rules, orders and regulations as it deems advisable and necessary to assure the efficient management and operation of the System.

RATES

Section 10. The rates to be charged for water and sewer services furnished by the System until Oct. 1, 1967 shall be at the rates presently in effect in the City. Commencing Oct. 1, 1967, said rates and the procedures for collection thereof shall be as follows:

All minimum water and sewer charges are to be based on the size of the water meter serving the residential, commercial, or industrial premises as follows:

5/8" and 3/4" meters — $ 5.00 per quarter
1" meter — 6.50 per quarter
1¼" meter — 10.25 per quarter
1½" meter — 11.50 per quarter
2" meter — 16.50 per quarter
3" meter — 29.00 per quarter
4" meter — 39.00 per quarter

Under the minimum rates established above, 6,000 gallons of water per quarter are allowed at no additional charge. For quarterly water usage in excess of 6,000 gallons, charges are to be as follows:

Over 6,000 to 100,000 gallons — 25 cents per 1,000 gallons
Over 100,000 to 1,000,000 gallons — 20 cents per 1,000 gallons
Over 1,000,000 to 10,000,000 gallons — 16 cents per 1,000 gallons
All over 10,000,000 gallons — 9 cents per 1,000 gallons

Sewage disposal charges are one-half of the total water charges.

SPECIAL RATES

For miscellaneous services for which a special rate should be established, such rates shall be fixed by the City Council.

BILLING

Water and sewer rates and charges shall be billed and collected quarterly, and all bills shall be due and payable at the office of the City Treasurer within thirty (30) days after the date specified in the bill. For all bills not paid when due, a ten per cent (10%) penalty shall be added.

ENFORCEMENT

The charges for water service which are, under the provisions of Section 21, Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended, made a lien on all premises served thereby, unless notice is given that a tenant is responsible, are hereby recognized to constitute such lien and whenever any such charge against any piece of property shall be delinquent for six (6) months, the City Council shall certify on or before April 1st of each year to the City tax assessing officer the fact of such delinquency, whereupon such delinquent charge shall be entered upon the next tax roll as a charge against such premises and the lien thereof enforced in the same manner as general City taxes against such premises are collected and the lien thereof enforced; Provided, However, where notice is given that a tenant is responsible for such charges and service as provided by said Section 21, no further service shall be rendered such premises until a cash deposit of Fifteen ($15.00) Dollars shall have been made as security for payment of such charges and service.

In addition to other remedies provided, the City shall have the right to shut off and discontinue the supply of water to any premises for the nonpayment of water and sewer rates when due. In the event water and sewer charges for services furnished to any premises are not paid within thirty (30) days after the due date thereof, water service to said premises shall be shut off and discontinued and shall not be restored until all such charges and penalties plus a turn on charge of $4.00 has been paid.

NO FREE SERVICE

Section 11. No free service shall be furnished by said System to to any person, firm or corporation, public or private, or to any public agency or instrumentality.

RATE COVENANT

Section 12. The rates hereby fixed are established to be sufficient to provide for the payment of the expenses of administration and operation and such expenses for maintenance of the said System as are necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order, to provide for the payment of the interest upon and the principal of all the bonds as and when the same become due and payable, and the creation of the reserve therefor required by this Ordinance, and to provide for such other expenditures and funds for said System as this Ordinance may require. Such rates shall be fixed and revised from time to time as may be necessary to produce these amounts, and it is hereby covenanted and agreed at all times to fix and maintain such rates for services furnished by the System as shall be sufficient to provide for the foregoing.

FISCAL YEAR

Section 13. The System shall be operated on the basis of an operating year commencing on July 1st and ending on the last day of June next following.

DISPOSITION OF REVENUES

Section 14. From and after July 1, 1967, the revenues of the System shall be set aside, as collected, and deposited in a depositary account in the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh, Tecumseh, Michigan, a bank duly qualified to do business in Michigan, in an account to be designated WATER SUPPLY AND SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM RECEIVING FUND (hereinafter, for brevity, referred to as the "Receiving Fund"), and said revenues so deposited are pledged for the purpose of the following funds and shall be transferred from the Receiving Fund periodically in the manner and at the times hereinafter specified.

(A) OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE FUND:

Out of the revenues in the Receiving Fund there shall be first set aside, quarterly, into a depositary account designated OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE FUND, a sum sufficient to provide for the payment of the next quarter's current expenses of administration and operation of the System and such current expenses for the maintenance thereof as may be necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order.

The City Council, prior to the commencement of each operating year shall adopt a budget covering the foregoing expenses for each year, and such total expenses shall not exceed the total amount specified in said budget, except by a vote of three-fifths (3/5) of the members of the City Council.

On June 30, 1967, there shall be transferred from funds of the System then on hand to the Operation and Maintenance Fund a sum sufficient to meet operation and maintenance expenses of the System for the quarterly period beginning July 1, 1967.

(B) BOND AND INTEREST REDEMPTION FUND:

There shall next be established and maintained a separate depositary account, designated as the BOND AND INTEREST REDEMPTION FUND, the moneys on deposit therein from time to time to be used solely for the purpose of paying the principal of and interest upon the bonds hereby authorized. The moneys in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account hereinafter established) shall be kept on deposit with the bank or trust company where the principal and interest on the bonds herein authorized are currently payable.

Out of the revenues remaining in the Receiving Fund after provision has been made for expenses of operation and maintenance of the System, there shall next be set aside, quarterly, in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, a sum proportionately sufficient to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest upon all outstanding bonds payable from the revenues of the System (except those for which funds have already been set aside), as and when the same become due and payable. Commencing July 1, 1967, the amount so set aside for interest each quarter shall be not less than one-third (1/3) of the interest becoming due on July 1, 1968, and thereafter commencing July 1, 1968, the amount so set aside for interest each quarter during the first six months of each operating year shall not be less than one-half (½) of the total amount of interest maturing on the following January 1st, and each quarter during the last six months of each operation period shall be not less than one-half (½) of the total amount of interest maturing on the following July 1st. The amount so set aside for principal during each quarter during each operating year, commencing July 1, 1967, shall be not less than one-fourth (¼) of the amount of principal maturing on the July 1st following such operating year. If there shall be any deficiency in the amount previously required to be set aside, then the amount of such deficiency shall be added to the current requirements.

There is hereby established in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund a separate account to be known as the Bond Reserve Account into which there shall be paid in equal quarterly installments from the revenues of the System after provision has been made for the Operation and Maintenance Fund and the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, the sum of Ten Thousand ($10,000.00) Dollars during each of the operating years beginning July 1, 1967, 1968, 1969 and 1970 and the sum of Five Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars during the operating year beginning July 1, 1971, so that there has been accumulated in said Bond Reserve Account the sum of Forty-Five Thousand ($45,000.00) Dollars. The moneys in said Bond Reserve Account shall be used solely for the payment of the principal and interest on said bonds as to which there would otherwise be default. If at any time it shall be necessary to use moneys in the Bond Reserve Account for such payment, then the moneys so used shall be replaced from the net revenues first received thereafter which are not required by this Ordinance to be used for operation and maintenance or for current principal and interest requirements: Provided, However, that such Bond Reserve Account shall not be regarded as moneys otherwise appropriated or pledged for the purpose of determining the sufficiency of funds available for redemption of callable bonds.

No further payments need be made into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund after enough of the bonds have been retired so that the amount then held in said Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account) is equal to the entire amount of principal and interest which will be payable at the time of maturity of all the bonds then remaining outstanding.

(C) REPLACEMENT FUND:

There shall next be established and maintained a separate depositary account designated as the REPLACEMENT FUND, which shall be used solely for the purpose of making major repairs and replacements to the System. There shall be deposited into said Fund on June 30, 1967 from funds of the water system now on hand, the sum of Ten Thousand ($10,000.00) Dollars. If at any time it shall be necessary to use moneys in said Fund for such purpose, the moneys so used shall be replaced from the net revenues in the Receiving Fund which are not required by this Ordinance to be used for the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account), so that said Replacement Fund shall again total Ten Thousand ($10,000.00) Dollars.

(D) IMPROVEMENT AND REPAIR FUND:

There shall next be established a depositary account to be designated as the IMPROVEMENT AND REPAIR FUND, into which there shall be placed each quarter after meeting all of the foregoing requirements such sums as the City Council shall determine to be used for the purpose of acquiring and constructing improvements, additions and extensions to the System and for the purpose of making repairs and replacements to the System.

(E) SURPLUS MONEYS:

Any moneys remaining in the Receiving Fund at the end of any operating year, after full satisfaction of the requirements of the foregoing funds, may be transferred to the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund and used for the purpose of calling bonds for redemption in the manner herein specified, or transferred to the Improvement and Repair Fund and used for additions, improvements and extensions or repairs and replacements to the System or used for any other purpose permitted by law. If, however, there should be any deficit in the Operation and Maintenance Fund, the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account) or the Replacement Fund, on account of default in setting aside therein the amounts hereinbefore required, then transfers shall be made from the moneys remaining in the Receiving Fund at the end of any operating year to such funds in the priority and order named, to the extent of such deficits before any other use is made of said moneys so remaining.

(F) BANK ACCOUNTS:

Moneys in the Receiving Fund, the Operation and Maintenance Fund, the Replacement Fund and the Improvement and Repair Fund may be kept in one bank account in which event the moneys in said bank account shall be allocated on the books and records of the City to said funds in the manner and at the times as above provided.

USE OF FUNDS ON HAND

Section 15. On June 30, 1967, all cash on hand belonging to the System, which shall include all funds covered by the Ordinance authorizing the outstanding bonds and any other funds pertaining to the Water System or Sewer System of the City and not specifically allocated for a definite purpose, shall be used as follows and in the following order of priority:

First, a sum sufficient to pay operation and maintenance expenses of the System for the quarterly period beginning July 1, 1967 shall be placed in the Operation and Maintenance Fund.

Second, a sum sufficient to pay the principal becoming due on said outstanding bonds becoming due July 1, 1967 and the interest thereon becoming due July 1, 1967 and interest becoming due on the outstanding bonds on January 1, 1968, shall be placed in trust with The Detroit Bank and Trust Company, Detroit, Michigan, paying agent for said outstanding bonds, and shall be used to pay the principal and interest on said bonds becoming due July 1, 1967 and interest on said outstanding bonds due January 1, 1968.

Third, the sum of Twenty-Two Thousand Nine Hundred ($22,900) Dollars shall be placed in trust with The Detroit Bank and Trust Company, Detroit, Michigan, paying agent for said outstanding bonds and shall be used to pay part of the cost of redeeming said outstanding bonds and paying the call premiums thereon.

Fourth, the sum of Ten Thousand ($10,000.00) Dollars shall be placed in the Replacement Fund established by this Ordinance.

Fifth, the balance of said moneys shall be placed in the Receiving Fund established by this Ordinance.

USE OF FUNDS IN CASE OF DEFICIT

Section 16. In the event the moneys in the Receiving Fund are insufficient to provide for the current requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, any moneys and/or securities in other funds (except the bond proceeds) of the System shall be transferred, first, to the Operation and Maintenance Fund, and, second, to the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund to the extent of any deficit therein.

INVESTMENT OF FUNDS

Section 17. Moneys in the several funds and accounts herein established, including the moneys derived from the proceeds of sale of the bonds, may be invested in obligations of the United States of America, subject to the limitation provided in Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended. In the event such investments are made, the securities representing the same shall be kept on deposit with the bank or trust company having on deposit the fund or funds from which such purchase was made. Income received from such investments shall be credited to the fund from which said investments were made.

SALE OF BONDS

Section 18. Said bonds shall be sold and the proceeds applied in accordance with the provisions of Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended.

PROCEEDS OF SALE OF BONDS

Section 19. The proceeds of the sale of the bonds herein authorized to be issued shall be deposited in the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh, Tecumseh, Michigan, a bank insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. From the proceeds of sale of the bonds there shall be immediately transferred to the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, the accrued interest, and premium, if any, received on sale and delivery of the bonds and there shall next be immediately transferred from said proceeds of sale of the bonds to The Detroit Bank and Trust Company, Detroit, Michigan, the sum of One Hundred Thousand One Hundred ($100,100.00) Dollars, which said sum shall be deposited in trust with said bank to be used together with other funds to be deposited as herein required for the refunding of the outstanding bonds. The balance of such proceeds shall be applied solely in payment of the cost of the public improvements hereinbefore described and any engineering, legal and other expenses incident thereto and to the financing thereof. Payments for construction, either on account or otherwise, shall not be made unless the registered engineer in charge of such work shall file with the City Council a signed statement to the effect that the work has been completed in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor, that it was done pursuant to and in accordance with the contract therefor, and that such work is entirely satisfactory.

Any unexpended balance of the proceeds of sale remaining, after completion of the public improvements herein authorized, may, in the discretion of the City Council, but not more than Thirty-Seven Thousand ($37,000.00) Dollars, be used for further improvements, enlargements and extensions to the System, provided that at the time of such expenditure such use be approved by the Municipal Finance Commission. Any remaining balance after such expenditure shall be paid into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund and shall be used for the redemption of callable bonds, or prior to the first call date only, purchasing bonds on the open market at not more than the fair market value thereof, and at a price in any event not exceeding the first call price.

COVENANTS OF CITY

Section 20. The City covenants and agrees with the successive holders of the bonds and coupons that so long as any of the bonds remain outstanding and unpaid as to either principal or interest—

(a) The City will maintain the System in good repair and working order and will operate the same efficiently and will faithfully and punctually perform all duties with reference to the System required by the Constitution and laws of the State of Michigan, including the making and collecting of sufficient rates for water and sewer services rendered by the System, and the segregation and application of the revenues of the System in the manner provided in this Ordinance.

(b) The City will cause to be maintained and kept proper books of record and account, separate from all other records and accounts of the City in which shall be made full and correct entries of all transactions relating to the System. Not later than sixty (60) days after the close of each operating year, the City will cause to be prepared on forms furnished by the Municipal Finance Commission, if such forms be available, a statement in reasonable detail, sworn to by its Chief Accounting Officer, showing the cash income and disbursements of the System during each operating year, the assets and liabilities of the System at the beginning and close of the fiscal year, and such other information as is necessary to enable any taxpayer of the City, user of the service furnished, or any holder or owner of the bonds or anyone acting in their interest, to be fully informed as to all matters pertaining to the financial operation of the System during each year. A certified copy of such statement shall be filed within ninety (90) days after the close of each operating year with the Municipal Finance Commission, and a copy sent to the manager of the account purchasing the bonds. Such statement and books of record and account shall at all reasonable times be open to inspection by any taxpayer of the City, user of the service or holder or holders of any bonds or anyone acting in their behalf. The City will also cause an annual audit of such books of record and account for the preceding operating year to be made each year by a recognized independent certified public accountant, and will mail a copy of such audit to the manager of the syndicate or account purchasing the bonds. Such audit shall be completed and so made available not later than three (3) months after the closing of each operating year. Said audit may, at the option of the City, be used in lieu of the report on forms of the Municipal Finance Commission for all purposes for which said forms are required to be used.

(c) The City will maintain and carry, for the benefit of the holders of the bonds, insurance on all physical properties of the System, of the kinds and in the amounts normally carried by public utility companies and municipalities engaged in the operation of water supply and sewage disposal systems. All moneys received for losses under any such insurance policies shall be applied solely to the replacement and restoration of the property damaged or destroyed, and to the extent not so used, shall be used for the purpose of calling bonds.

(d) The City will not sell, lease or dispose of the System, or any substantial part thereof, until all of the bonds have been paid in full, both as to principal and interest. The City further will cause the operation of the System to be carried on as economically as possible, will cause to be made to the System all repairs and replacements necessary to keep the same in good repair and working order and will not do or suffer to be done any act which would affect the System in such a way as to impair or affect unfavorably the security of the bonds. The City will not grant any franchise that will result in the operation of a water facility or sewer facility that will compete with the System.

ADDITIONAL BONDS

Section 21. The right is reserved, in accordance with the provisions of Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended, to issue additional bonds payable from the revenues of the System, which shall be of equal standing with the bonds herein authorized but only for the following purposes:

(a) To complete the public improvements in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor, and such bonds shall not be authorized unless the consulting engineers, or the successor engineers in charge of construction, shall execute a certificate evidencing the fact that additional funds are needed to complete the public improvements in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor. If such certificate shall be so executed and filed with the City Clerk, it shall be the duty of the City Council to provide for and issue additional revenue bonds in the amount stated in said certificate to be necessary to complete the public improvements in accordance with the plans and specifications.

(b) For subsequent extensions and improvements to the System: Provided that no such additional bonds shall be issued unless the net revenues for the last preceding completed operating year of the System shall be equal to at least one and one-third (1-1/3) times the largest annual principal and interest requirements thereafter maturing on the bonds herein authorized, on any then previously issued bonds of equal standing with the bonds herein authorized, and on such additional bonds then being issued. Prior to the issuance of any additional bonds pursuant to this paragraph, there shall be filed with the City Clerk a statement showing the net revenues for the immediately preceding completed operating year and the annual principal and interest requirements on all outstanding bonds payable from revenues of the System and the bonds proposed to be issued. Said statement shall be executed by a certified public accountant appointed by the City. Permission of the Municipal Finance Commission (or such other State body having jurisdiction over the issuance of municipal bonds) to issue such additional bonds shall constitute a conclusive presumption of the existence of conditions permitting the issuance thereof.

Except as herein authorized, no additional bonds having equal standing with the bonds of this issue shall be authorized or issued.

FORM OF BOND AND COUPON

Section 22. Said bonds and coupons shall be in substantially the following form:

My Horse — Penny

By ELSA DAISHER

EDITOR'S NOTE — Elsa Daisher, 77, of 2804 Laurence Ave., Toledo, recalls her early days in Tecumseh. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Daisher, who managed the celery farm on Ives Rd., in Raisin Township, and later moved to a home on W. Chicago Blvd.

When Dolf Heeson bought his first automobile, he had a black horse, a racer, and Henry Van Duser took care of the horse named Penny.

The Heesons were our neighbors on W. Chicago Blvd. Dolf Heeson did not like to part with such a pretty horse on the day he sold her to my father.

I taught Penny to shake her head "yes" or "no", and in winter when sleighing was good, I taught her, by using a pull on the lines, not to let any children on the cutter.

Of course, the children who saw Penny racing down the streets just had to look.

When I planned to take someone for a ride, I told Penny their name and she soon learned to go to that house and stop.

She even knew the Dewey's place where we took a basket of eggs once in a while, and she knew the church and other places to stop.

Father used to take George Handford to his farm and to the celery farm once in a while. When I asked if George was with father on a certain day, she would shake her head "yes" or "no", with the right answer each time.

When I drove Penny in the country, going over a narrow bridge, if an automobile or buggy wanted to go first across, Penny shook her head so I had to wait to let others go first.

The Brittons, who lived in John Nyland's apartment house next to us had twins, a girl, Dorothy and a boy, Donald, about four years old. Penny knew them apart and I couldn't fool her.

Penny learned how to unlatch the hook on the box stall door. Father put wooden bars on the top gate and she watched how we moved them, then she got out again and got into the garden one summer night.

Penny knew where to go when she needed new shoes — to James Elliot's blacksmith shop.

Penny was 27 years old when we had Dr. Charles Waldron put her to sleep.

Food Specialists Offer Suggestions for Home Canning

If you're canning this summer, avoid future disappointment by heeding these words of caution from Extension Food specialists at Michigan State University.

Dr. Portia Morris recommends that when canning with glass jars, be sure jars are out of drafts when removing them from the canner. If they do not have self-sealing lids, complete the seal immediately.

Don't keep jars from cooling Put them on a rack or folded cloth, but do not cover them. Be sure the jars are top side up.

If you're using tin cans, you can stop the cooking and speed cooling by plunging the cans in cold water as soon as they are removed from the canner. If you remove cans from water while they are still warm, they will air dry.

To speed final cooling when you stack cans, stagger them to allow air to circulate between them.

After the containers have cooled, it is wise to wipe them and label each jar or can with the date of canning and contents. If several lots are canned in one day, you can ease your labeling job by marking them by lot number.

Store canned products in a cool, dry place away from sunlight. Also, protect them from heat and freezing, the specialist recommends. Dampness also may cause cans or metal lids to corrode or leak.

1966 Season Sees Rising Incomes for Local Farms

Combination dairy - general farms in southern Michigan were more profitable in 1966 than in either '64 or '65, according to an analysis of nearly 100 farms in the Michigan State University TelFarm program.

Ralph E. Hepp, MSU Extension agricultural economist, says higher milk prices and better yields of crops, combined with more stable costs, improved the income picture.

Return for investment and operator's labor and management for the average farm was $9,412 in 1966 TelFarm reports, compared to $5,398 in 1965 and $6,237 in 1964.

With the average price of milk up about 50 cents a hundredweight, income in 1966 over 1965 increased by about $3,000 per farm, the records show.

LEFT-OVERS

Last week's reading about bees left us with a stack of notes almost six feet high.

Bees are marvelous little insects who live in an extraordinary complex society. The women folk do all the work, of course, and their "life of toil" begins early.

In fact, as soon as the bee chews its way out of the little six-sided cell in which it changed from cocoon to bee, it is work-work-work.

For about 10 days it is nurse, feed and care for others; the next 10 days are spent as housekeepers and comb builders. By now the bee is on the verge of old age but there is no such thing as early retirement in their world.

The old bees are the ones who collect the pollen and nectar. Once a bee leaves the protection of the hive its life expectancy is not great.

The outside world is full of hazards. If a natural enemy does not capture it, the strenuous work of food gathering soon takes its toll.

THIS BEING the Refrigeration Capital of the World and since many Products units wind up in air-conditioners, I found it interesting that the bees have perfected a very effective method of heat control.

Even on the hottest days the inside temperatures of a bee hive are quite comfortable for their way of life.

One of the housekeeping chores is working in the air-conditioning detail. Near the entrance to the hive two rows of bees line up facing away from each other, the outside row faces the entrance and the other is turned towards the inside.

The rapid beating of wings circulates and cools the air.

If the furious wing beating does not keep things cool enough, and on some of our extremely hot and humid days it probably wouldn't, then the reserves are called out.

The command is given and some of the bees fly out to collect water. One drop per bee is brought back and the moisture plus the wing beating produces enough evaporation to maintain the proper temperature.

The speed with which the water is taken from the carrier bees indicates how quickly they must perform their duty. When the air-conditioning system is straining its limit, there is great need for the cooling water and, as the bees come in, the drop she brings is "grabbed" immediately.

She rushes off for another one. However, if the temperature is about right and the urgency of a hasty cool-off has past, no one hurries to meet the water carrier—the emergency is over and she realizes that the frantic pace is no longer necessary.

This bee talk could go on and on but there are other things which demand attention too. Our nesting bluejays for instance.

The thick curtain of green leaves is piled tightly around their nest now. Only occasionally does the wind part it enough for us to have a look at what is going on.

There is action outside the nest though, lots and lots of action.

THE JAYS continue to be as protective of the area as ever. In fact, I really don't know why the squirrels even try to come our way.

If they take a ground route and stay away from the creek bank, the birds don't mind quite so much. But a squirrel in any of the near-by trees is trouble.

The harassment has reached such a stage that the squirrels actually have a lookout spot. It is about midway on the limb of the big elm tree, the limb which is their favorite route into the yard.

When a squirrel reaches this point, he stops, looks around to see where the bluejays are and then decides whether it is safe to proceed or not.

If he decides to continue our way, he makes a mad dash along the limb, jumps frantically into the mulberry tree and almost falls down its trunk to where he can jump to the safety of the fence.

Having run such a dangerous course, we have actually seen friend squirrel crouch low on the fence rail and take several deep breaths — "There, I made it again!"

Of course, it often appears that the bluejays trick the squirrels by appearing not to be at home when they really are. Some of the air attacks are unbelieveably fierce.

Squirrels can run fast but with two bluejays in pursuit, well, for the squirrel, it cannot be fun but I must admit that for us the looking is mighty good.

So it is that my pile of notes is now down to four feet, thanks for helping me get rid of a few leftovers.

WIN

THIS WEEK

Here How It Works:

PICK UP FREE BINGO CARDS: Each week (adults only, please) pick up your FREE Bingo cards from any of the sponsoring merchants listed below. Rules of the game allow the merchants to give you only one card on each store visit. However, you may make as many visits as you wish each day of the week. THE MORE CARDS YOU PLAY THE BETTER ARE YOUR CHANCES OF WINNING.

HOW TO PLAY: To play, check the ads in each week's issue of The Tecumseh Herald. The ads of the merchants listed below will contain one or more "Newspaper Bingo" numbers in the "Bingo Bug" symbol (shown above). Occasionally numbers, in the "Bingo Bug" symbol, may be found elsewhere in the newspaper. Check the classified ads for additional numbers. IF YOU CAN MATCH (JUST CIRCLE OR "X" THE MATCHING NUMBERS) ALL 24 NUMBERS ON ANY ONE OF YOUR BINGO CARDS — YOU HAVE A "BINGO" — AND YOU ARE A WINNER!!

AT LEAST $50 WEEKLY!! Winners will share a weekly prize of $50 issued in "Bingo Bucks" that spends like cash at any of the sponsoring merchants. If there is only one winner, he wins all of the $50. If there is more than one winner, all winners will share the $50 in equal amounts. If there are no winners any week, the $50 weekly prize money will be added to the following week's prize fund.

CHECK EACH ISSUE OF THE TECUMSEH HERLAD: Each game is complete in each week's issue. A new game will start each Wednesday and be completed the following Monday. A new set of Bingo numbers will be published each week in the sponsoring merchants' ads and possibly elsewhere in the paper and these new numbers only must be used. A new color of Bingo cards each week will be available at the participating stores. To be eligible to win, you must play Bingo cards of the correct color for that week's game. The color of the cards for each week's game will be announced on this page.

IF YOU ARE A WINNER: If you have a winning Bingo card, ON WHICH ALL 24 NUMBERS HAVE BEEN MATCHED WITH THE NUMBERS APPEARING EACH WEEK IN THE HERALD, write your name, address, phone number, and the name of the store where you got your winning card on the back of your card and mail to The Herald. The envelope containing your card must be received by 5 p.m. Monday of the following week; or bring your winning card to the office by 5 p.m. Monday of the following week.

Rules of the Game

NO OBLIGATION OR PURCHASE NECESSARY: There is no obligation or purchase necessary. A copy of the paper is available for playing the game at the office of this newspaper — also at the public libraries. You may play as many cards as you wish — they are free. Get additional cards — one at a time — each day of the week — from the friendly merchants listed below (adults only, please).

DIFFERENT COLORED CARDS EACH WEEK: The color of the cards changes each week. To be a winner, you must play Bingo cards of the correct color for that week. Mutilated or altered cards will not be honored. ALL 24 NUMBERS ON A CARD MUST BE MATCHED TO WIN.

CHANCE DETERMINES NUMBERS: Bingo numbers for each week's game are drawn at random from a revolving Bingo number dispensing cage at the office of this newspaper. Some duplication of Bingo numbers may appear in the merchants' ads. This duplication does not affect the game or the total numbers drawn. All numbers for each week's game will be some place in the sponsoring merchants' ads and possibly elsewhere in the paper. Employees of this newspaper and their families are not eligible to win any of the prizes.

FUN AT THE PIT — The hot summer days seem much cooler when spent at The Pit, playing on the beach or swimming in the water. Lifeguards man the beach and keep an eye on the kids.

Hunger Is Seen on Mission Tour

Mrs. Robert Manogg, Huntington Woods, representing the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, spoke most challengingly of her three month tour of Baptist schools, churches and mission stations abroad and showed colorful pictures at the family night sponsored by the Women's Society of the First Baptist Church June 12.

Assam, Burma, India, Okinawa, Formosa, Japan and the Philippines became alive as the families listened to her true story and pictures.

A highlight — while in Hong Kong, she visited Church World Service quarters where 30,000 meals per day were prepared for hungry school children.

Because of lack of facilities, classes are staggered there. In India, because of dire poverty and the extreme heat, most children wear no clothes until seven years of age, aside from in school and at church.

She witnessed the baptism of 260 candidates in a river.

Mrs. Bertram Updike presided and circle chairmen were hostesses with Mrs. Eddie Kirkland, hospitality chairman.

Mrs. Vern Manwaring, love gift chairman, collected $17.08.

Members were urged to attend the State Women's Conference at The Michigan Baptist Assembly at Grass Lake June 19, 20 and 21.

All present were reminded of the dedication of new buildings and the barbecue supper June 17 at MBA.

4-H Share-the-Fun Contest Has Local Talent as Winners

"This Small World" was the theme of the annual 4-H Share-the-Fun contest held June 19 at the Madison Elementary Auditorium.

Eleven acts of talent competed for honors, four being chosen to represent the county at district competition June 26 in Jackson.

Those chosen in the small group category were Rita Pace of the Tecumseh Top Notchers with her ballet dance, "Blue Bird," and Shirley Allen and Susan Ries of the Tipton Jets Club with a skit, "Lem-me".

A group from the Tipton Jets was selected for further competition with their skit "Ain't Nobody Movin' for that Fire?"

The group consisted of Darlene Daniels, Jan Daniels, Jill Feight, Cindy Jackson, Jim Linger, Martha Osburn, Susie Platt, Gary Ries, Debbie Stockinger and David Whelan.

Centennial Successful

The June 25 banquet celebrating the 100th anniversary of the Methodist Church in Ridgeway was well attended.

Those who were in the historical sketch of 100 years of Methodism in Ridgeway included the following head persons: Thomas Smith, narrator and Mrs. Paul Frazier and Mrs. Julian Strong, directors.

The cast included LaVern Thomas, Harley Slick, Dewey Sturtevant, Mrs. A. Crutchfield, Mrs. K. Judkins, Louis Wagner, Raymond Bird, Mrs. Dewey Sturtevant, Mrs. Gertrude Birdsall, Rev. John Lover, Tom Bailey, San Dee Bailey, Mrs. Raymond Bird, Mrs. Charles Bishop and daughters, Mrs. George Forsyth, Mrs. Clifford Southard, Cindy Dean, Tom Smith, Jr., Bill McElroy, Paul Bailey and Delmar Dunham.

The former pastor, Rev. R. Allison Mitchinson, was present as was former members Mrs. Miriam Ryle and her two daughters from Flint, Edith Haviland, Raisin Center, and others.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Williams of Clinton. Mrs. Williams is the granddaughter of Rev. William Clack, minister in Ridgeway from 1884 to 1888.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Schingeck, District Lay leader, were Saturday evening guests who gave the closing prayer and benediction.

Sunday Dr. John Dawson, Adrian College President, preached in place of Bishop Reed who was called to Iowa for a funeral. Rev. Joseph Edwards gave closing prayer and Benediction.

Classic Car Rally Highlights History

Visitors to Greenfield Village will see antique automobiles in action in several special events this summer as auto activities highlight much of nearly 75 years of motoring history.

Cars of 1925-1942 vintage will be on display July 8 on the Village activities field, for the Midwest National Classic Car Rally, which will draw nearly 100 of the fabulous vehicles of the period.

The first National Tour of the Model "T" Club of America will converge on the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village July 16 as restored Model "T" Fords arrive from many points in the United States and Canada for the first annual conclave.

Antique Lincoln automobile owners will bring their 1921-1939 vintage classics to Greenfield Village July 29 for a one-day program. At least 50 beautifully-restored Lincolns are entered in the annual summer program.

Highlight of Summer 1967 is the 17th Annual Old Car Festival scheduled at Greenfield Village for Sept. 16-17. The renowned motoring history event will present over 300 restored antique automobiles in action for the two-day festival.

The historic Glidden Tour of Antique Autos travels through Michigan during the week following the Old Car Festival.

Admission charge to the Village is $1.75 for adults and 75 cents for children.

The Village and adjoining Henry Ford Museum are located in Dearborn just off Interstate Highway I-94 and the Southfield Freeway, 15 minutes from the heart of downtown Detroit.

Thresher Reunion Has Live Action

By MAXINE CALHOUN

Real live action best desrcibes the show put on by the National Threshers Association for four days last week at the Fulton County Fairgrounds near Wauseon, O.

Manned by their grey-haired owners, most of the great steam behemoths of a by-gone era were fired up and were moving about the grounds.

Awed youngsters and their nostalgic parents by the thousands watched the threshing of barley.

As the bags of grain were filled a heaping mound of golden straw belched forth from the swinging spout.

Another steam engine was belted up to a saw mill, where an old-timer performed the task of placing knarled logs at just the right angle to be sawed into a smooth pile of lumber.

Small boys were quick to make off with the curled strips of veneer from a veneer machine which was operated by a steam engine.

At another spot, shingles were sawed in the old-fashioned manner and samples were handed out to the youngsters.

THE GRANDSTAND was filled as the last parade passed and the spit-and-polished power horses of yesteryear were shown off.

Percy Sherman of Palmyra, who has had a steam engine collection for many years, exhibited two of his engines at the reunion Sunday.

The Rev. Blair Bashore of the First Baptist Church delivered the morning church service Sunday at the thresher's 23rd annual reunion.

Did you ever HEAR a summer day?

So rare are the days in summer when the temperature is mild and the breeze just right, when it isn't necessary to have the distracting "whirr" of the electric fans throughout the house.

Several days last week were like that. The sound of summer pervaded my consciousness and I became aware of it as I went about my household tasks.

Childish voices squeal in fun — and a neighbors dog yips in eagerness to join the games.

A small plane hums aimlessly overhead as its pilot looks down on lush green lawns and whispering fields of heavy-headed wheat.

Congregations of birds are chattering and stridently about the weather forecast of showers as they watch the gathering clouds.

A bright red motorbike turns in the driveway and the staccato "put-put" fades slowly as a neighbor gives his small son a ride on his Dad's latest plaything.

A wailing siren shrieks on the distant highway as troopers give chase to a reckless motorist. Slugging clutches and squealing tires give notice to us a mile away that traffic is heavy on the big road.

HONKING horns signify a wedding wish for some young couple being driven about the village.

A noisy muffler in a passing car interrupts the "rat-a-tat" of the hammer as the new house across the road begins to take shape.

Lids bang repeatedly on the waterers as the hogs try to nuzzle out some water to wallow in.

Shep pants warmly in my face as he comes up to seek a drink — then he laps noisily from the pan of water I put out for him.

The screen door slams — the refrigerator door thuds open against the nearby cupboard — and remains open while some sweaty hand reaches for a tinkling pitcher of tea.

Ice rattles into the glass and lips smack in satisfaction.

A zooming jet streaks overhead, but even that offensive screech is drowned out by the sound of summer.

Have you heard it?

Sandra Ann Broussard Weds Paul D. Gilliland III

Sandra Ann Broussard became the bride of Paul DeVere Gilliland III, in rites solemnized June 17 at St. James Catholic Church in Port Arthur, Tex.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald J. Broussard of Port Arthur and Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Gilliland, Jr., 109 W. Brown St.

Attending the bride were Leta Loughridge as maid of honor; the bride's mother as matron of honor; Mrs. Charles S. Sims and Mrs. Michael E. Borne as bridesmaids; Cheryl Ann Broussard, sister of the bride, as junior bridesmaid; and Rita Lynn Van Deusen, niece of the groom, flower girl.

The bride chose a formal gown of candlelight Alencon lace and silk organza, the lace forming the bodice of the A-line design and appliques for the pattern which cascaded down the front of the floor-length sheath.

Her flowing chapel train of candlelight illusion was attached at the gown's high-waisted back.

Her bubble headdress was jeweled with pearls, crystal sequins and teardrops over appliques of the lace and held her bouffant veil of candlelight silk illusion. Lilies-of-the-valley fashioned her bouquet.

The bride's attendants were attired in floor-length gowns of lime green organza styled in the empire line with bands of olive velvet ribbon accenting the waists and edges of the trumpet sleeves. They carried cymbidium orchids and wore bow headpieces of organza and ribbon.

Attending the bridegroom were Albert Bolden as best man, and Randy Burger, Ralph Heikkinen and Glenn Broussard, brother of the bride, as groomsmen. Bolden and Heikkinen and the groom flew from Grosse Pointe to be in the wedding party. They have been friends of the groom since the fourth grade.

Guests were seated by Michael Borne, Charles Sims and James Boneau, an uncle of the bride.

The Rev. Walter Montondon was officiant for the afternoon rites and Tim Felix was at the organ and Homer Smith, vocalist.

The floral decor at the church featured arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Vern Claybourne served the four tiered colonade bride's cake and Mrs. Barbara Van Deusen, sister of the groom, served the groom's cake with Mrs. Morris Baker at the coffee service.

Inez Richards presided at the punch bowl and the guests were registered by Mrs. Dick Scully, aunt of the bride.

The bride is employed by Lenawee Intermediate School District in Tecumseh as speech therapist.

She graduated from Bishop Byrne High School and Lamar Tech where she was affiliated with Sigma Alpha Eta national speech and hearing sorority.

Her husband holds a degree from the University of Tennessee and is a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity and Student Council.

He is a teacher and assistant coach at Clinton High School and attends Eastern University where he plans to obtain a master's degree.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Florida and the Bahamas. They will live in Tecumseh.

This Version of Snow White Had Following of 25 Dwarfs

HERALD PHOTO BY TOM RIORDAN

KING-SIZE FRY PAN — Mrs. John Hoelzer of Clinton, better known in day camp circles as "Skipper," uses a giant griddle to do up a trio of cheese sandwiches during the final meal last week. Mrs. Hoelzer served as business manager.

By LORI EGLI

Once upon a time, (isn't that how storybook tales begin?) the Wizard of Oz with all his friends, Alice in Wonderland and her group, Peter Pan and his entourage, and Snow White and the 25 dwarfs (that's right, I said 25) all met in a nearby woods and had a wonderful time together!

Translation: It was the annual week of Girl Scout Day Camp held again this year in Osburn's Woods, northwest of Tecumseh, June 19-3.

The name chosen for the camp was "Storybook Land" and each camp unit then selected a particular tale as their theme.

The Brownie unit consisted of 18 girls, seven through nine, from Tecumseh and Clinton under the leadership of Mrs. Richard Egli (Peter Pan) and Mrs. Charles Staples (Wendy).

They chose to have a "Never-Never Land" complete with Captain Hook and Tinkerbell.

With the help of a little pixie dust, the Brownies learned how to build campfires, cook a few simple items such as Somemores, baked apples and hotdogs on a stick.

Between hikes and song fests, they made pebble animals and plastic hats, learned about laying trails, how to use a jackknife, how to tie knots and some new games.

JUNIOR GIRL Scouts, under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Pokorny (Snow) and Mrs. Gerald Rendell (White) had 25 Dwarfs.

Their time was occupied in working towards the Gypsy Badge and the Observer Badge as well as the Foot Traveler Badge.

Hikes were taken, trails laid, meals cooked over a campfire, plastic hats made, leaves studied and enclosed in plastic, and a host of new camp songs mastered.

Other Junior Girl Scouts were under the leadership of Mrs. Paul Henning (Scarecrow), Mrs. H. C. Kronberg (Dorothy) and Mrs. Lavon Retan (Tin Man).

They chose to live in "The Land of Oz" with the girls being the "Munchkins." This group of Juniors also worked on Gypsy and Observer Badges.

They learned to prepare chili and vegetable stew over a campfire, made nature collages, took hikes, made plastic hats for themselves and the nursery children, laid trails and each girl made her own set of lemmee sticks, which are used to beat out rhythms to chants.

A group of Cadette Scouts formed their own "Alice in Wonderland" group. Their time was spent in helping the other larger group with their activities, teaching lashing, knot-tying, games and generally helping to direct the various plans laid out by the unit leaders.

Day Camp began at 9 a.m. with a flag ceremony, which was held in center camp. Each unit then went to their own tent to begin planned activities.

Camp was over for the day at 3 p.m. after the flag was taken down and Taps sung.

Thursday night was the overnight for all Junior Scouts and Cadettes. Festivities began at 7:30 p.m. After a hike there was popcorn and Kool-Aid for all followed by a giant-size songfest.

Carol Riordan, one of the invaluable program aides taught the girls a number of songs, which will no doubt echo all over Tecumseh and Clinton this summer and for many summers to come.

Sleep didn't come until very late.

Mrs. William Norris, neighborhood chairman for the Tecumseh Neighborhood of Girl Scouts was the camp director.

Mrs. John Hoelzer was the camp business manager. Dr. Carleton Cook donated his time to perform the initial health examinations during the first day of camp.

A nursery under the experienced leadership of Cheryl Frolich took care of the pre-school children of the unit leaders. They were known as the Camp Snails and took part.

They had fun roasting marshmallows, going on hikes, visiting some nearby horses and crowned their activities with a Hobo Day.

LAST DAY of Camp was full of surprises for all.

It began with an all-camp, cook-out for lunch — grilled cheese sandwiches, carrot sticks, potato chips, celery and milk.

This feast was crowned with watermelon, all each Scout could eat.

At 2 p.m. there was open house for mothers. This was topped by a treat of ice cream Dixie Cups for all, courtesy of the Clinton Scout neighborhood.

It was an exciting week for everyone, full of fun, interesting things to learn and do, with many new friends made.

SIX-YEAR-OLD CONNIE RETAL, 307 MAIDEN LANE, LOVED WATERMELON.

DAY CAMPERS ENJOYED SONG SESSION CONDUCTED BY CAROL RIORDAN, ALL WITH PLENTY OF MOTIONS.

Fisher Body Putting Out Red Carpet for Big Chief

Thursday will be Donald Fleser Day at Tecumseh Fisher Body.

Mr. Fleser, general factory manager of all trim fabrication plants, and a General Motors vice-president, played a vital role in setting up operations here.

He's retiring now, after 40 years of service to General Motors.

Tecumseh personnel are hosting Mr. Fleser with a special luncheon Thursday and an extended tour of the plant so that Mr. Fleser can say goodbye to his many friends on production and in the offices.

A representative here noted, "Mr. Fleser was particularly instrumental in the start-up and operation of the Fisher Body Tecumseh plant and his contributions of knowledge and experience will be long remembered by all of the employees of that facility."

A native of Kalamazoo, Mr. Fleser joined Fisher Body at the Flint No. 2 plant upon graduation from Michigan State University in 1927. He rose through several supervisory capacities and became Plant Superintendent, continued to move up in Atlanta, Flint and Livonia, being named to his present position in 1959.

Carillon Inspires More Music

Carillon music began ringing out in Pittsburgh today, due in large part to an inspiration from the Adrian College Herrick Carillon Tower.

A new $30,000 carillon in the tower of the 88-year-old Allegheny County Courthouse was dedicated in the memory of all war veterans Tuesday afternoon in Pittsburg with President John H. Dawson of Adrian College, one of the contributors to the subscription project, and a native of Pittsburgh, on hand for the dedication.

Judge Loran L. Lewis, 1925, president of the Adrian College Board of Trustees, was the link between the Adrian carillon and the new Pittsburgh carillon.

Last summer, Judge Lewis was awarded an honorary degree by the college and the Herrick carillon was played at that time.

On his return to Pittsburgh, he started a campaign to have a 183-bell carillon located in the downtown Pittsburgh area. After just one year, the subscription drive headed by former Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway was completed and the carillon was installed.

The same firm which placed the 124-bell Adrian carillon, Schulmerich of Sellersville, Pa., also installed the one in Pittsburgh.

CABLE TV IS COMING TO TECUMSEH
What Will It Mean To You
- Cable Television brings a whole new quality of entertainment to your TV screen.
- Cable Television is dependable . . . no fading - flickering - flipping - tipping - no ghosts - no snow - more clarity - more channels.
- No interference — because Cable Television signals come in shielded coaxial cable, interference from neighbors' power tools, fluorescent lights or passing autos and airplanes is no longer a problem. A constant signal level is maintained for each TV station. COLOR SHOWS are brilliant because they're snow-free and fade-free.
- Two, three or more TV sets can be operated simultaneously in different rooms of your home — with same picture quality on all sets.
- So easy — so simple your children can operate it. No rotor, no booster, no jumping up and down to compensate for fringe area fading.
- Forget the bother, the worry and the old-fashioned antenna TV reception. Real enjoyment can be yours in a modern Cable Television system.

Fun in the Sun (And Under the Lights) at Irish Hills Sports Park

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Golfers visiting or vacationing in the Irish Hills will want to try the tricky nine-hole course at the Sports Park this season. It's short, but the hills and dales provide a challenge for both the experienced and novice swinger.

The terrain is such that it plays differently every time.

Some greens are perched on summits that take delicate approach shots, but often this is the one operation light hitters can perform best and their score cards make them dream of going on the PGA Circuit.

King-size clouters meet their match on the longer holes, so the Sports Park course offers something for everyone.

Golfing under the lights provides a new thrill for many visiting the Hills for the first time. The after-dark play is available every Friday and Saturday. This gives a whole new approach to the sport of golf (if you'll excuse the pun.)

Owner Gene Sell has a dream setup for after-work golf-

Recreation Notes

By DON MOFFATT, SUPT.

The four Tecumseh playgrounds spent a comparatively slow and quiet week last week. The theme was "Handicraft Week" and approximately 145 children at Shady Lane, Herrick Park, Patterson and Tecumseh Acres worked on leather goods and made lanyards and key chains.

Those at Shady Lane, along with Leader Diane Lake, enjoyed softball games throughout the week. Tuesday the girls whipped the boys, 11-4.

Shady-Laners had a big scare Tuesday as a gas line broke and the children were told to leave the playground. The houses on Cairns were evacuated.

This week is Bicycle Safety Week. Monday and Tuesday were spent cleaning up and fixing up bicycles and Wednesday a policeman visited each playground and safety-checked all bikes.

Thursday is a free day on the playgrounds and Friday will feature the weekly picnic. Children are asked to bring sack lunches. Drinks will be provided.

Next week is Bicycle Decoration Week and the children will use red, white and blue crepe paper to decorate their bicycles for the Fourth of July.

Playgrounds will not be open the Fourth. Wednesday, a special parade will be held and Friday will feature a picnic.

All children four and over are invited to participate in playground activities which will continue through the second week of August.

GIRL'S PEE WEE SOFTBALL

Nineteen girls, 6-8, were divided into two teams last week to constitute the Girls' Pee Wee League.

In a short scrimmage the Red Sox defeated the Indians, 24-23.

GIRLS' JUNIOR SOFTBALL

Three teams make up the newly-organized Girls' Junior League, with a fourth team planned if more girls join.

Games will be played each Tuesday and Thursday on Nelson Field at 2:30 p.m. Interested girls may join by phoning Kathy Hall at 423-4603.

Lake's Frogs, coached by Diane Lake, has Natalie Hopson as captain. Her teammates are Denise Osburn, Joan Upell, Karen Ashenfelter, Beverly Murphy, Nancy Dustin, Rita Aebersold, Rose Opel, Mary Banda, Judy Gittings, Vickie Felton, Lydia Torres and Debbie Hollister.

JoAnn Biscupski's team chose JoJo's JoJos as a name and Cris Koeplin for captain. Her teammates are Peggy Upell, Elaine Aebersold, Karen Bird, Jan Felton, Pam Creger, Kathy Fuhrman, Susan Baaske, Becky Stormes, Jean Lemanski, Ann Kennedy, Susan Frasier, Cheryl Pobuda and Lynn Seitz.

The three teams scrimmaged briefly Thursday and regular games begin this week.

Nancy Dustin is the girl to watch, as she hit a grandslam home run during the scrimmage.

MOMS' SOFTBALL

Mom's softball began Wednesday and will play each Wednesday at 8 p.m. on the athletic field.

Mike Allen began tennis lessons this week with about 30 students attending. The students were divided into six classes and will play one hour each Tuesday and Thursday for five weeks.

Adult swimming lessons began last Tuesday night at the pool. Classes will meet each Tuesday and Thursday evening for six or seven weeks, announced Vic Lawson.

Those interested may register at the pool any time this week.

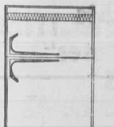
I'VE HAD IT!



"Honestly, I'm not a complaining woman. But I'm tired of messy defrosting! Tired of waiting for the great "spring thaw"—then mopping the kitchen afterward. Tired of being embarrassed because I ran out of ice cubes at a party...of doing the "water watusi" as I try to balance a brimming tray between the refrigerator and sink. It would take a magician to get enough food for entertaining and holiday time into my little, round-shouldered relic. Wouldn't it be grand to never have to defrost again?

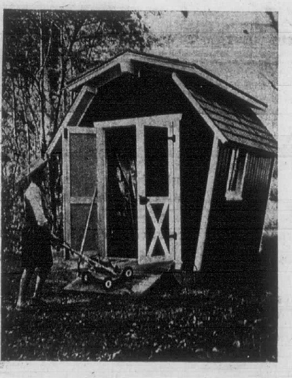
The Country Look Moves Outdoors with This GARDEN PLAY BARN



A LITTLE RED BARN for your back yard, where it can be a delightful playhouse for children or a handy storage building for garden tools and supplies, can be built by the amateur craftsman.

A door at each end adds to its usefulness. The double door in back (shown) is wide enough to admit a riding mower or garden tractor; in front is a charming Dutch door and another window.

Good appearance and durability are assured by use of hardboard panel siding, which is dent resistant and easy to paint. Interior is lined with heavy duty peg-board for hanging equipment.

Rough sawn cedar shakes cover this roof, although asphalt shingles may be used instead. The lower roof is hinged to give access to the loft, a storage area out of the reach of children.

Sturdily constructed, the barn will give years of service and, in its playhouse role, be a center of happy activity for your children.

FREE PLANS FOR BUILDING AND DECORATING THIS HANDSOME ADDITION TO YOUR YARD MAY BE OBTAINED BY SENDING A POSTCARD TO THE MASONITE HOME SERVICE BUREAU, BOX B, DEPT. HL, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS 60690. PLEASE REQUEST PLAN AE-109.

A&P

Is it square to be patriotic?

If it is...
then, by golly, we're square.
Because we're proud of our American heritage... grateful for the free enterprise system that has afforded us the privilege of serving the American people for more than a century.

The United States is today,
and has been since its founding, the land of opportunity.

We've been first-hand witnesses to this fact for a long time.
In our business, we've seen good, sound competition grow and prosper.
We welcome it.
It keeps us on our toes.

As July 4th approaches, we want to go on record as saying:
"We're proud of being Americans."

As we said:
"If this be square, then we're square."
